One realizes here, perhaps as never before, what it means to be poor—that you are the first victim, not alone of epidemic and contagion, but of man's violence and fraud; that because you have not great things, the little that you have shall be taken away. He realizes, too, what such a service may do toward restoring the quality of the poor man's food, and he understands why it is that the proudest boast of M. Girard and his associates is that they have helped to give the Paris working man better bread and meat and wine.

The name of the article, the date of its receipt, the address of the depositor, and that of the merchant said to have sold it, are noted, and a receipt given the applicant, with directions when to return for the result. The kind of analysis desired is also entered; that is, whether simply a judgment on the quality of the goods presented—the analysis usually asked for by the public and for which there is no charge—or a quantitative analysis, which is a report on the exact chemical constitution. Though the quantitative analysis is less frequent than the qualitative, it yields a revenue not to be despised. In 1889 this amounted to thirty-nine thousand and seventy-five franks.

The laboratories into which the heterogeneous collection of wines and liquors, milk and water, sugar and butter, brass pans and toys, bon-bons and spices, meats and vegetables, fire-crackers and dynamite bombs, pickles and canned goods goes are, in principle, like all laboratories, but still have an air of their own. The scientific operations, too, are those familiar everywhere, yet the direction they take is decided by Parisian habits, and makes the laboratory in a way a reflection of the domestic economy of the city.

Thus no one of the rooms I visited was busier than that devoted to wine. In fact, in 1889, out of eighteen thousand one hundred and seventeen analysis made, six thousand four hundred and fifty were of wines. The proportion is only in keeping with the consumption of the city, which averages about one hundred and fifty million dollars a year, and it is in harmony with the numberless evils which, from the beginning to the end of the life history of a bottle of French wine, combine to ruin its character.

Though alcoholic drinks are in excess in the laboratory, I found that they did not absorb it. Milk, "the wine of the children" has been since the beginning one of its chief objects of investigation. In 1881, when the investigations of the milk supply of Paris began, 50.6 per cent. or the samples analyzed were "bad." In a year, thanks to the vigor of the service, this percentage was reduced to 30.7. In 1889 10.6 per cent. of impure were found in three thousand seven hundred and ninety five analyses.

This water department of the Municipal Laboratory has rendered another service to Paris in showing the danger of using the wells, of which there have been a great number within the walls. The well water is heavily impregnated with lime, and the Paris bakers claim that a sponge mixed with it is much lighter and better than that mixed with hydrant water. If in baking all possible germs were killed, there would be no danger in allowing the practice, but the laboratory has found that the heat of the oven is not sufficient. Typhus and cholera microbes both might pass through a baking unharmed. When this was established, the inspectors began a vigorous campaign against the wells, destroying them from the foundations.

The importance of thus superintending the bakers is evident when it is remembered that in Paris no one bakes at home, and that bread and pastry are always bought. Nothing could be more inviting than the public boulangeries and patiserries. They are models of neatness, good taste, and tempting displays. But "things are not always what they seem," and there are more points to over see in the shops than the water with which the bread is mixed.

The flour gives the Municipal Laboratory no little trouble. It is found mixed with sand, chalk, plaster, alum, phosphate of lime, carbonate of magnesium, even sulphate of copper. Wheat flour is adulterated with cheaper kinds, as rye, barley, corn, pease, beans, lentils, rice, millet, buckwheat, potatoes, even with fine sawdust. Then butter is replaced by oleomargarine; the sugar with that "sweetened illusion" saccharine. If the cakes escape the adulterated flour, butter and sugar, they still run the chance of being colored with some injurious substance. A cake is a work of fantasy in Paris. It imitates everything created or manufactured, from a canary bird to a Swiss chalet. To carry out such ambitious designs, colors must be employed, and frequently they are poisonous, though the laboratory has published a careful list of what materials can be employed safely in coloring sugars and bonbons.

The inspection of the markets is an especially interesting part of the service, for the cleverest devices are practiced in disguising tainted fruits, vegetables and meats, and in keeping the attention of the inspector away from the weakest spot in the stock. The agent must match address with address. In case fraud is found in any of the perishable articles, it is confiscated on the spot.

The first point is regulated by establishing shops especially for the sale of horse meat. Or, if it is sold from a cart or in a regularly licensed butcher's shop, by requiring that it should be marked plainly. The sale of horse meat has grown to enormous proportions since the first shop was established in 1886. The estimate is, that it is eaten now in a third of the Parisian households. In 1891 twenty-one thousand two hundred and thirty-one horses, sixty-one mules, and two hundred and seventy-five asses were sold in Paris shops. The meat costs about half as much as beef.

I was particularly struck by the number of cooking utensils I saw heaped up in one of the rooms at the laboratory. "Confiscations of the inspector," said the chemist.

"Do you survey kitchens, then?"

"Certainly," he responded. "Every dish used in a public restuarant of Paris, either in the kitchen or for the table; every pot, pan, and utensil in the bakeries; and every beer faucet in the wine shop—in short, everything used in preparing or serving foods, is under the care of the inspector. The law forbids the use of lead, zinc, and galvanized iron in the manufacture of cooking vessels. In order that all copper vessels be tinned and kept in good condition, it directs that pottery which is covered with a glaze containing enough oxide of lead to yield a feeble acid be seized. It orders that tin can never be soldered on the inside, and that the materials used in their manufacture be conformed to a certain standard. It is the inspectors' business to look after all these things."

"And the results?"

"That depends. There are establishments in Paris like the great restaurants which employ a skilled tinner regularly, and their utensils are always kept in order. In many little shops kept by women the copper vessels are the pride of the establishment, but in many others they are, unhappily, neglected. In 1889, out of two hundred and fifteen samples analyzed here, ninety-seven contained lead."

Dismissed the Servant Girls.

DEBS TIRED OF STRIKES.

He Says He Will Not Have Any Official Connection With Another.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Eugene V. Debs arrived from Terre Haute yesterday. He returned to Chicago to preside at a convention of the A. R. U., which will be held to-day at Uhlich's hall, to decide whether the railway strike shall be officially declared off, or, if it be continued, to formulate a new plan of operations. If the delegates think as Mr. Debs does, and there is little doubt they will defer to his judgment, the convention will probably conclude that there is nothing to be gained by continuing a strike in which they are beaten.

"I will never again have any official connection with a strike," said Mr. Debs, and in what followed he admitted for the first time that the A. R. U. strike had resulted in failure.

"The organized elements of society are opposed to strikes," he continued, "and so long as strikes are repugnant to society it is useless to inaugurate them. We might start in now and organize a strike on a most extensive plan, but it would end inevitably as this one has. We had the railroad managers whipped, every one knows that, until they tied our hands with injunctions and brought out the troops. General Miles came here for the express purpose of beating the strikers, not to preserve order. He immediately went into consultation with the managers. He did not try to get our side of the question, and two days later he announced triumphantly that he had broken the backbone of the strike.

"Under these circumstances it is vain to hope that anything can be made by striking. We must vote out of office those men who seem to think labor is entirely wrong and capital always in the right when there is a dispute between the two interests. The strike has served a good purpose in that it has been another object-lesson to show the masses how they must achieve their rights. I do not say the A. R. U. will become a political organization, but I think there will be a spontaneous awakening of all organized labor to the necessity for unified action at the polls."

HARCOURT WILL NOT RESIGN.

Liberal Members of the Commons Give Their Leader a Dinner.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was entertained at dinner in the Metropole Hotel last evening by Liberal members of the House of Commons. The meeting was intended to demonstrate Sir William's strength as a party leader, although held ostensibly to celebrate the passage of the budget. Jacob Bright, advanced Liberal member of Parliament for the southwest division of Manchester, presided. In proposing the toast of the evening he denied that Sir William expected to retire soon from his office. Rumors to that effect were utterly unfounded.

Sir William was received enthusiastically. Whatever remained of him in the future, he said, would belong to the party. He thanked the rank and file of the party for supporting the budget, and spoke with special praise of the loyalty of the Irish members. Most of his speech consisted of political platitudes.

Koestler is lying in the Emergency hospital between life and death. Mrs. Falvey is under arrest for murder. The woman worked at Koestler's house and is the mother of several children. The stabbing was the result of a quarrel in which Koestler attempted to eject the woman from the premises.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

An Order-in-Council Respecting Schools in the Northwest.

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—The order-in-council recommending the Legislatures of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories to modify their school regulations to remove the cause of the Catholic minority's complaints, has been passed. It has been signed by his Excellency. The order-in-council contains a copy of the petition sent by the Catholic clergy of Canada to the Dominion Government and recommends:

"The committee beg to observe to your Excellency that the statements which are contained in this memorial are matters of great concern and solicitude in the interests of the Dominion at large, and that it is a matter of the utmost importance to the people of Canada that the laws which prevail in any portion of the Dominion should not be such as to occasion complaint of oppression or injustice to any class or portion of the people, but should be recognized as establishing perfect freedom and equality, especially in all matters relating to religious and religion and practice;

"And the committee therefore humbly advise that your Excellency may join with them in expressing the most earnest hope that the Legislatures of Manitoba and of the Northwest Territories, respectively, may take into consideration at the earliest possible moment the complaints which are set forth in this petition, and which are said to create dissatisfaction among Roman Catholics, not only in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, but likewise throughout Canada, and may take speedy measures to give redress in all the matters in relation to which any well-founded complaint or grievance be ascertained."

Yesterday began the revision of the Parliamentary voters' lists upon which the next general election is likely to be fought. According to the act passed at the last session in amendment of the Redistribution Act of 1892, the preliminary revision must be completed by October 1, and the final revision by February 28, 1895.

THE TROUBLE AT ST. JEAN.

Taxes Will Be Collected Under the Protection of Police.

QUEBEC, Aug. 2. — Three Dominion policemen came down from Ottawa to reinforce the men at St. Jean. Trouble was anticipated, but Inspector O'Leary ordered the captain of the boat to stand off the wharf so that no goods could be landed. The policemen simply refused the men of the steamer Brothers to fasten any ropes on the wharf posts. Captain Jean returned to St. Jean, Island of Orleans, and goods were landed in row boats. A collector will be named by the Government agent here, Mr. Gregory, and the dues will be collected from the inhabitants of St. Jean under the protection of the police.

A Dutch Steamer Sunk.

The Man Who Knows It All.

He bears within his massive girth the meat and essence of all worth. The stars round him revolve; the sky rests on his mighty shoulders high. And so he walks, erect and grand, the solar system in his hand; and matched with him the sun looks small, the mighty man knows it all!

Then let the sun go out at noon and throw a towel o'er the moon; and let the stars remote and high, drop, like loose buttons, from the sky, and send to Night's Plutonian shores, your selectmen and sophomores; but spare him for the good of all, the mighty man who knows it all!

Ah! when he dies will wisdom die, the sun of knowledge leave our sky, and we'll be left in dark and doubt, like Moses when the light went out. Oh! leave us not in darkness blind, thou luminary of mankind, through dark blind ways to grope and fall, oh, wondrous man who knows it all!

Give to the vulture and the shark your statesmen and your men of mark; give to the beasts who know no pity, the members of your school committee; let bear and lion do their work upon your learned city clerk; spare not the mighty and obese and portly justice of the peace; but save, oh save, we humbly call, the wondrous man who knows it all!

With him all truth, all lore begins; omniscience and this man are twins. All wisdom's water mains outspread, from the main cistern of his head. And should this mighty cistern burst, then all the schools would die of thirst. So spare, kind fate, we humbly call, this wondrous man who knows it all!

BIG FIRE IN CHICAGO

More Property Destroyed Than Since the Conflagration of 1872.

THREE MILLION DOLLARS LOSS

Millions of Feet of Lumber Destroyed Together With Electric Apparatus, Car Materials and Buildings —Over a Half Mile Square Burned Over.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Flames last night destroyed more property and in shorter space of time than any fire which has visited Chicago since the big conflagration in 1872. Over $3,000,000 worth of lumber, electrical apparatus, cars, car wheels, castings, stoves, patterns, buildings and other materials, were consumed in a blazing furnace of over a half mile square within less than three hours. The scene of the fire was what is known as the lumber district. The territory burned over was bounded by Ashland avenue on the east, the south branch of the Chicago River on the south, Blue Island avenue on the north and Roby street on the west.

There were many casualties among the firemen and spectators. The only death so far as heard was that of a boy who fell from a lumber pile in a river slip and was drowned.

The firms whose property was destroyed up to 10 o'clock and the estimated losses are as follows:

Siemens & Halske, electric company, works completely destroyed; loss $800,000. Wells & French, manufacturers of car wheels, loss $300,000. Perley, Low & Co., lumber dealers, 15,000,000 feet of lumber destroyed; loss $300,000. Martin Lumber Company, 33,000,000 feet of lumber and the offices consumed; loss $700,000. R. E. Conwar, cedar posts and blocks, loss $150,000; Barber Asphalt Co., asphalt stock, two-storey brick building and machinery destroyed; loss $150,000. Chicago stove works, loss $250,000. Longley, Lowe & Co., lumber yards, loss $100,000. Shoemaker & Higbee, heavy lumber yards; one quarter saved, loss $100,000. Keystone Lumber Company, yards partly destroyed, $150,000. Edward Hines Lumber Company, yards destroyed; loss $200,000. Wakefield Rattan Co., works destroyed; loss $75,000. Griffiths Machine Co., loss $50,000.

Four frame dwellings occupied by employes of the burned-out firms were destroyed; loss, including contents, $10,000.

The insurance will probably not exceed half the amount of losses.

A WAR AGAINST LIQUOR.

Archbishop Corrigan Determines to Enforce Mgr. Satolli's Decree.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Perhaps no event of recent days has given greater satisfaction in temperance circles than the recent happenings in the Catholic Church in America. The rulings of Mgr. Satolli, the apostolic delegate, in which he announced that he had withdrawn his approbation from any and every Catholic society or branch or division in his diocese that had a liquor dealer or saloonkeeper at its head or anywhere among its officers; and that he would suspend every such society from the rank and privileges as Catholic society until it ceased to be so officered and further that absolution should be refused to all members of the Church who sold liquor illegally has given rise to a battle between the Catholic Church and the liquor interests.

Fully two-thirds of the liquor dealers of the country are Roman Catholics and it was thought that Archbishop Corrigan would never dare to enforce the decree and the Wine and Spirit Gazette, a leading organ of the liquor interests, even went so far as to openly defy this dignitary of the church.

The Archbishop replied to the defiance of the Wine and Spirit Gazette by a brief and pointed letter to its editor.

In this letter he says that he "loyally accepts the principles laid down by His Excellency Mgr. Satolli, both in the spirit and the letter."

He adds that no Catholic can refuse to accept them. He acknowledges the apparent threat in the tone of the Gazette's utterances by saying that he has "yet, thank God, to learn what fear is in the discharge of duty."

Discontent in Brazil.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The Herald's Valparaiso despatch says: Private letters received from Rio Janeiro say the restrictions there are worse now than during the revolution. Passenger travel is not allowed by land, while a departure by ship calls for the utmost scrutiny on the part of the authorities. There is a widespread opinion that the military are preparing a plot to prevent President-elect Moraes from taking his seat. Considerable discontent exists in the provinces outside the capital.

Cotton Mills Close Down.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Aug. 2.—Notices were posted in the Peabody cotton mills this afternoon announcing a shut down during the month of August owing to dullness in the cloth market.

A Protest Against Cleveland's Letter.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 2.—The Minnesota State Democratic committee, by a vote of 20 to 3, rejected a resolution endorsing President Cleveland's letter to Mr. Wilson.

JAPAN'S FORCE ROUTED

Twenty Thousand Chinese Troops Marching Upon Seoul.

PREPARING FOR A NAVAL FIGHT

The Japanese Fleet Gathering at the Mouth of the Seoul River—The Kow Shing Disaster — Japanese Fired at Seamen Swimming in the Water.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The Times' despatch from Shanghai says that reports have been received from foreign officials at Seoul, the capital of Corea, that the Chinese, under General Yes, on Sunday last defeated the Japanese forces near Asan. It is added that the Japanese withdrew to Seoul. Twenty thousand Manchurian Chinese troops have crossed the Corean frontier and are marching upon Seoul.

The Daily News says that nothing learned yesterday changed essentially the impression left by the Kow Shing disaster.

The Earl of Kimberley has demanded a strict inquiry on Japan's part into the Kow Shing affair and insists that a British consul attend the court martial of the Naniwa's commander.

The German Government has instructed Col Von Hanneken, who was aboard the Kow Shing, to give all information in his possession to the British Consul in Seoul.

The Daily News correspondent in Berlin says that a German colonel commands the Japanese forces in Corea. Major Freiherr von Gotschreiber, formerly of the German general staff, is organizing the national general staff of Japan.

The Kow Shing Inquiry.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Times says: "The inquiry into the Kow Shing affair was conducted by the commissioners of customs in Tien Tsin in the presence of the foreign consuls. It was concluded yesterday. Forty-five survivors stated that on the morning of the 25th the Japanese ordered the Kow Shing to anchor off the Island of Shopsioul. The transport remained there until noon, being twice boarded. Without having given any provocation she was struck with torpedoes and sunk. The Japanese fired with gatlings at the swimmers long after the Kow Shing had foundered."

The Russian and British ministers informed the correspondents that China had shown the utmost moderation and had won the sympathy of foreigners.

The times says editorially: "If the declaration of the Russian newspapers that no power will be permitted to occupy a portion of Corea is a hint to England, it is scarcely necessary, for not even the most sincere desire on our part to see Corea decently governed would lead us to interfere with that interesting but dangerous country."

A Big Naval Fight Expected.

The Daily Chronicle's Tokio correspondent says that the Japanese fleet is concentrating off Kangh Wa, at the mouth of the Seoul river, and a great naval fight is expected.

China Accepts the Defiance.

TIEN TSIN, Aug. 3.—The Emperor of China has issued a manifesto in response to Japan's declaration of war. The manifesto declares that the Emperor accepts the war which Japan has thrust upon her. The Emperor throws the whole blame for the shedding of blood upon the Japanese, who, he asserts, are fighting in an unjust cause. The Emperor has expressed a desire to come to Tien Tsin in order to be near the centre of interest, but Viceroy Li Hung Chang is opposed to the movement on the ground that Tien Tsin does not afford suitable accommodation for his Majesty. A council of war was held here yesterday. Afterward the Viceroy told the representatives of European powers that he was confident of the ultimate result of the war. He had no fears of an attack on Taku, as the garrison there had been strongly reinforced.

Coast Steamers Carry the British Flag.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 3.—Although the treaty ports are exempt from hostilities during the war the precautions taken to block the Yang Tse Kiang have rendered navigation unsafe except in broad daylight. The lights at the entrance of the river have been removed and many torpedoes have been laid. The Chinese steamer plying between this port and Ningpo has hoisted the British flag. The Smith and Cass local Chinese coasters have raised the American flag.

For some reason not ascertainable the Pei Yang squadron returned to Che Foo yesterday. The affidavits of Capt. Galesworthy and Chief Officer Tamplin, of the transport Kow Shing, which was sunk by the Japanese cruiser Naniwa, have been laid before the Japanese authorities. They agree in the main with the previous account of the affair.

Li Hung Chang in Disfavor.

The Emperor has divested Li Hung Chang of the Yellow Jacket in consequence of supposed remissness in prosecuting the war.

Twenty thousand Chinese have crossed the Yellow River, and 8,000 have left Monyden for Seoul.

Ships' officers have been promised double pay. Deserters from Tien Tsin have been beheaded.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 2.—It is stated here that the Japanese government has withdrawn all its troops from Seoul. The statement is also made that 30,000 Chinese soldiers have crossed the Corean frontier from Manchurin. Advices received here from different points in China and Japan state that the Japanese in China and the Chinese in Japan have placed themselves under the protection of the United States representatives in those countries.

Japan's Declaration of War.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Yesterday the Japanese legation received an official copy of the note which on July 31 the Japanese Minister for Foreign Affairs addressed to the representatives of all the foreign powers in Tokio. The text of this declaration is as follows:

"The Japanese government having exhausted every honorable means to bring about a just and lasting settlement of the differences existing between Japan and China, and those efforts having proved unavailing, the undersigned has the honor in fulfilment of the duty devolving upon him to announce to you that a state of war exists Japan and China."

The Corean King Submits to Japan.

Despatches also received at the legation make the following presentation of facts: The King of Corea has appointed his father, Tai In Kun, to have the control of the administration of public affairs and to direct the reforms which the king has determined to institute. The Japanese minister was summoned to the palace several days ago and was informed that reforms had already been inaugurated with reference to which he would be consulted from time to time. It thus follows that, notwithstanding the repeated refusals of China to even consider the subject, the reforms upon which Japan has laid so much stress will be effected by the government of Corea in accordance with the commands of the king and by officers whom he has appointed. The information is also confirmed that the good offices tendered by the United States have been accepted to the extent that Japanese subjects in Chinese ports will be under the protection of the American flag as will also Chinese subjects in Japanese ports.

Russia Will Watch Other Powers.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 3.—It is reported from a semi-official source that the government here, desiring a prompt settlement of the Japanese-Chinese conflict, is willing to act in complete accord with Great Britain. Should the joint efforts fail to restore peace Russia is determined not to let any power take possession of any part of Corea.

NEWS OF WALTER WELLMAN.

The Explorer and His Party Safe on Weldon Island.

CHRISTIANA, Aug. 3.—The fishing vessel Malagen has arrived at Tromso from North Spitzbergen with Captain Bottolfsen and three seamen of Walter Wellman's Ragnvald Jarl aboard her. They report that after several struggles in the ice the Ragnvald Jarl arrived May 12 at Table Isle, one of the seven islands. The ice compelled the party to return to Walden Isle May 24. Wellman set out with thirteen men, forty dogs and provisions for 110 days. Four days later the Ragnvald Jarl was crushed by ice. Only some stores were saved. A message concerning the disaster was sent to Wellman and it reached him on Marten's Island. Wellman, Dodge and two others returned to Weldon Island. They built there a solid house of the wreckage. The house accommodated the majority of the crew and would afford ample shelter to the explorers should they be compelled to winter on Weldon Island. Wellman departed May 31 for Marten's Island. The last news from Wellman was received June 17, when Winship and another left the expedition six miles east of Platen Isle. There the party had come upon an impassable ice field. Wellman was waiting for the opening and all were well.

A new vessel will be chartered to bring back the expedition. Meanwhile Wellman and his companions are crossing the ice, probably in the direction of Gillelland. The ice conditions in the early part of the expedition were exceptionably unfavorable. Trygve Heyerdahl, the young philosophical student who accompanied the expedition, has gone to Danes Island to join Peter Oyen, the geologist.

Change in the K. of P. Constitution.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 3.—A secret meeting of the committee of the Knights of Pythias which has in charge the revision of the constitution of that order has completed its session and adjourned. The report will recommend sweeping changes and a complete revision of the constitution of the order. The titles of the officers will be changed and they will simply be designated as a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. The executive power is in the president, the senate will be the governing power and there will be a tribunal to consist of judges which shall try all disputes which may arise in the order. The ritual has also been revised and modernized.

The A. R. U. Abandons the Strike.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—The American Railway Union will not officially declare the railroad strike off, and neither will it advise the continuance of the strike. The members of the organization of each road will be allowed to return separately if they so decline or remain out, but they will receive neither orders nor advice from the union as a whole. This was the sense of the convention which assembled in this city to discuss the situation.

The Lords Will Reject It.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The Daily News says that at a meeting of the Unionist members of the Parliament Leonard Courtney, Sir Henry James and Sir George Russell strove earnestly to save the evicted tenants bill from destruction in the House of Lords. As the Duke of Devonshire, leader of the Liberal-Unionists, opposed them the News thinks there is little prospect of the bill becoming a law.

Buffalo's Fourth Fatal Assault.

BUFFALO, Aug. 3.—Martin Sudy and Frank Dieler, employes of the Barber Asphalt Co., quarrelled on Saturday in the course of a drinking bout. Dieler struck Sudy on the head with a heavy shovel. The latter is now dying and has been unable to make a statement. His will be the fourth death from personal assault in as many days.

Two Boys Drowned.

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 3.—William Glasson and Dennis Rahill, two two twelve-year-old boys, were drowned while bathing in the Hudson river at the foot of Spencer street yesterday. A man saw the drowning, but was too far away to render assistance. The bodies were recovered.

Maxim's New Flying Machine.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The Times says that Hiram Maxim has made a successful flying machine. He and two others have traveled some 500 feet with it. The machine is about 100 feet wide. It has four wings and is propelled by two screws which are driven by two compound engines.

SANTO CASERIO'S TRIAL

The Youthful Assassin of Carnot Examined at Lyons.

HIS REMARKABLE COOLNESS

He Defends Himself Against the Accusations of His Connection With Anarchists—The Blood-Stained Dagger Creates a Sensation in Court.

LYONS, Aug. 3.—The trial of Santo Caserio for the murder of President Carnot began here yesterday morning. Caserio was transferred from the prison to the Palace of Justice under a strong escort of gendarmes. The parapet along the river Saone was crowded with sightseers.

Caserio was ordered to be placed in the prisoner's dock. He is a mild-faced, common-place youth. His complexion is fair, and there is a faint suspicion of down upon his upper lip. Altogether his appearance is effeminate, and the remark of one of the spectators that he "looks as though he wouldn't hurt a fly" pretty accurately describes him.

Judge Breuillaic began an interrogation of the prisoner. This magistrate does not bully a prisoner as some of the Parisian judges do, and the departure from the Parisian method was favorably noticed by everybody present. Under the questioning of the judge Caserio recapitulated his antecedents.

He was born in November, 1873, and his father was a ferryman. When questions were repeated to him he easily lost his temper, like a petulant child, and it was necessary to translate the queries into Italian. In several cases where this was done it was claimed by several of the press reporters the queries were badly translated.

Being asked about his choir boy days, when he represented John the Baptist in church processions, he said: "I was a child then, and children, you know, unwillingly act stupidly."

The judge then discussed Caserio's presence at the revolutionary lectures of Signor Gori, a lawyer in Milan, in spite of the expostulations of his family, whereupon Caserio exclaimed, "Humanity is greater than family."

The prisoner denied knowing a single anarchist.

Judge Breuillaic—"Coming to Lyons you stopped at Vienna and went to an anarchist barber?"

Caserio—"I admit I naturally went to a barber. I couldn't get my hair cut at a baker's (Laughter.)

Throughout this examination the prisoner defended himself against accusations of connection with anarchists with rare skill, fighting the ground inch by inch.

There was a profound sensation when Assistant Registrar Mathieu removed the covering from a dagger and handed it to the judge. The weapon was still stained with the blood of the murdered President, and as the magistrate held it up a thrill of horror ran through the assemblage.

"Is this the one you brought from Cette?" asked the judge.

"Yes," replied Caserio, unflinchingly, as he nodded toward the still bloody dagger.

As the judge handled the weapon before passing it to the jury, the prisoner was not in the least disconcerted, and as the dagger was handed to the jury the criminal calmly brushed a fly from his cheek.

Caserio detailed his journey from Cette to Lyons, and said: "When I saw M. Carnot's carriage arriving I unsheathed my dagger. I ran forward and planted the dagger, turned and withdrew, when I was struck down. M. Carnot looked me straight in the eyes."

Judge—"Did you not have some sensation of the enormity of your act when you saw the eyes of your victim fixed upon you? Hasn't remorseful memory troubled you since?"

Caserio—"No. I have felt nothing whatever."

He denied that the crime was the result of a plot in which the assassin was designated by lot.

The Judge said: "You claim to be the executor of a popular justice, yet you are both the accuser and the executioner."

Caserio—"Here we are dealing with the facts of the case. I am not inclined to discuss theories."

Judge—"You are very young to pretend to judge the father of a family."

Caserio—"Youth is immaterial. Soldiers equally young were guilty of worse crimes in shooting down the Sicilians."

Judge—"But they were obeying orders."

Caserio—"They were imbecile criminals to obey a murderous chief, instead of obeying their ideas of justice as I did."

Doctor Pencet, who attended the President, gave a description of the nature of M. Carnot's wound, an illustration of the operation performed upon him, and a statement showing the President's heroic stoicism and his extreme gratitude to those who were endeavoring to aid him. During the doctor's examination the prisoner sat with an expression of mute elation, drinking every word with the avidity of a student thirsting for knowledge.

M. Fechier read an affidavit from Mme. Viala, wife of Caserio's employer at Cette, which stated that Caserio was the centre of a group of anarchists in Cette. She related how Caserio had said that if he should ever mount the scaffold he would be more courageous than Henry. Caserio interrupted and said that was incorrect. "Henry," he said, "was courageous to the last. He could not have done better."

The trial was adjourned.

The Labrador Lowers Her Record.

MONTREAL, Aug. 3. — The Dominion liner Labrador, not satisfied with already holding the record for the quickest passage from Moville to the St. Lawrence, has lowered that record another point on her present trip. She passed Heath Point at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, three hours ahead of her record time. She is due at Quebec at 1 o'clock to-day and is expected to reach Montreal to-morrow morning.

Fire at the Sarnia Oil Works.

THE PATERNAL DOMINION GOVERNMENT.

"The paternal Dominion Government," should be "writ sarkastic." They are not for the people, they are for the few — and the first of that few is themselves, and the second are those monopolists and other forces that will contribute to keeping the Ministry in power. Taxes of a "protective" character are levied on the many for the benefit of the few. The poor man pays protective duties directly and indirectly, that the few wealthy may become wealthier—that sugar combines, cotton combines, cordage combines (till the Ontario Government put Central Prison manacles on this particular octopus), and all other sorts of combinations. Public money wrung from the pockets of suffering and long suffering tax payers is poured out like water to benefit the Government. Over four millions voted last session for subsidies to railways, a large share of which, to judge by the past, will be squeezed from contractors and devoted to a corruption fund to be distributed by some minister for the purpose of bribing the people with their own money. Then we have also the expenditure upon the notorious Curran bridges presenting the most flagrant case of open and unblushing stealing the history of crime in government contracts affords. The estimated cost was $122,000, while the actual cost was $430,425, a difference of $308,425. What does this $308,425 represent? Stealings and stealings for the benefit of the government, a contractor having sworn that the stealing was justified, because he had to make such heavy contributions to Dominion election funds to retain the "paternal" ministry in power. To please a great railway corporation and to secure their friendship in behalf of this paternal government, a drawback is made in iron bridges and material that will amount to something like a million. A loss of $150,000 in duties, thrown off by the adoption of the French treaty to keep the Tuppers in line. A further sum of $250,000 devoted to the revision of the voters' list under the Dominion Franchise Act, a scheme entirely in the interest of the Dominion Government, by which officers of its own selection are entrusted with the making of the lists in the behalf of Dominion Government. Everything bends to the power-holding purposes of the Government. The public interest is entirely lost sight of. Monopolies are pandered to, encouraged and enriched at the expense of the many, not at all for the exclusive benefit of the monopolist, but to increase their gains, that Red Parlour contributions may be increased. Every public interest must bend to the interest of the Government and those who contribute the "sinews of war." An example is afforded by an extract from the report of Tuesday's meeting of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council, before which Mr. Meredith, city solicitor, Toronto, appeared :—

"Mr. Meredith (in a surprised tone)—Does the committee say that the public interest is not paramount to that of a private corporation? Mr. Haggart—Most decidedly. Suppose it is in the public interest to have a crossing there, why should the railways be called upon to bear the expense? Mr. Meredith—Because they take their charters subject to the public interests. The rule is that the public interest is first and the railway interest second. Mr. Bowell—You cannot sacrifice the property of the railway."

The idea that the public interest is first must have come as a severe shock to Ministers whose policy for the past sixteen years has been to place private interests first on every occasion where they have come in conflict with the public good.

A WONDERFUL NATION.

Price Collier in the August number of the Forum presents the following facts in an article, "How Englishmen Spend their Money," which shows what a wonderful nation England is :

The area of Great Britain is 121,000 square miles ;

The area controlled by the United Kingdom is over 9,000,000 square miles ;

The population of the British isles is thirty-eight and a half millions ;

The population embraced in the various colonies and dependencies is over 346,000,000.

The people of Great Britain spend annually :—

$17,500,000 for elementary education ;

$19,000,000 for justice ;

$185,000,000 for butter and cheese ;

$270,000,000 for bread ;

$405,000,000 for milk, sugar, tea, coffee and cocoa ;

And $700,000,000 for whiskey and other strong liquors.

Of the 72,000,000 acres of land in the United Kingdom no less than 50,00,000 acres are held by 15,000 persons, and for farm rents $300,000,000 a year or $8 per capita is paid.

GENTLEMEN.—I have used your Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, sprains, scalds, rheumatism, croup and colds. All who use it recommend it. MRS. HIGHT, Montreal, Que.

A letter in the Buffalo News contains information that Customs officers on the Niagara frontier are still collecting duties on the contents of lunch baskets brought over by American picnic parties. "When, asks the Toronto News, will our Government stop this picayune folly on the part of dough-headed officials?" The News need not jump upon the dough-headed officials. The "dough" was in the heads of the "statesmen" who conceived a system that permits of such outrageous imbecility.

MILLBROOK furnishes an example of the fact that the licensing power of the commissioners is not the "political machine" it is alleged in some quarters to be. At the recent sitting of the commissioners in that village the two licenses granted were to two "Tories," and the license cut off was a "Grit," a man named Crocker. Licenses are granted in view of other considerations than the political opinions of the applicant.

A LADY BARRISTER.

Miss Martin's Appearance before Judge McDougall Aroused Interest.

Toronto's only lady lawyer, Miss Clara Brett Martin, appeared in her capacity as solicitor in Judge McDougall's court on Tuesday.

After the judge had seated himself on the throne of justice, Miss Martin, removing her hat, said : "Your honour, I appear to make a motion for judgment in the case of Dominion Bank v. Lemon."

In answer to the judge's request for her affidavit, Miss Martin in a most matter of fact manner, searched through a package of formidable looking papers she held in her hand, and soon produced the necessary document.

As the solicitors for the other side were not represented, Miss Martin was granted her order. She was obliged to wait the customary half-hour, however, before this order was granted.

The fair lawyer during her stay in the court room aroused much curiosity, but this did not appear to trouble her much. She was quite composed, and handled her case with the grace and confidence of a veteran barrister.

THE SAFETY OF CANOES.

All Depends on the Handling—And a Good Deal on the Girl.

"There is, says the Toronto News, absolutely no reason for this outcry against canoeing.

Canoes are not experiments. They were used in the navigation of the lakes, in almost all weathers, before the white man ever saw America. To-day, Indians on Georgian Bay are out in them constantly during the berrying season and a drowning from one, that was not the result of white man's fire water, has yet to be reported. A birch bark or a well built wooden imitation will, if skilfully handled, live out any storm that ever blew either on Humber Bay or Toronto harbor, and is safer in a sea than plenty of the excursions steamers to which people trust their lives every day. It is all in the management. In the hands of a skilled canoeist there is no danger whatever in the use of these convenient and pretty, but much maligned craft." If the News man knew as much about canoeing as he ought to, he would revise his positiveness. Does he think there is anything like safety in a young man taking a cruise with a young lady, and remaining on his knees and looking into her innocent, wooing eyes for a whole afternoon or evening? Many a man who has lost his heart and his liberty to a lass in a canoe, would like to know where the safety is. There is a great affinity between canoebial and connubial conditions.

The Dimple Cheeked Village Maid may not retain her dimples and rosy cheeks "blooming with health," until she finds a good husband. A little neglect or accident may bring about some one of the many "female" diseases and "weaknesses," to which the sex is subject, and health may be forever impaired, and hopes and happiness be at an end. Thanks to Dr. Pierce, his Favorite Prescription, prepared by him for women, cures the worst cases of uterine diseases, nervousness, neuralgia, irregularities, and "weaknesses." It is a great invigorating tonic and nervine, and rapidly builds up the health and strength.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets, for constipation, sick headache, billiousness, indigestion. Once taken, always in favour.

To remove worms of all kinds from children or adults Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is a safe and sure remedy.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga Tenn., says : "Shiloh's Vitalizer SAVED MY LIFE. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For Dyspepsia, Liver or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 25c. Sold by Geo. A. Schofield.

I was attacked severely last winter with Diarrhœa, Cramps, and Colic and thought I was going to die, but fortunately I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and now I thank this excellent remedy for saving my life.

A New Jewel.

The newest coats, whether cut with long basques or snipped off into garcon jackets, seldom fasten across the bust, but are finished at that point with button holes opposite each other. This is done to give place for a little trinket that has captivated the fancy of womankind. An unusually handsome specimen had an exquisite miniature set in a Louis Seize frame of old silver studded with diamonds, the whole pin being about the size of a fifty-cent piece. This fastened over the right hand buttonhole, and from it extended a silver chain that slipped through the opposite hole, knotted once about itself and ended in a silver ball completely crystalized with brilliants.

No Sleep for Eighteen Years.

James T. Hightower, loom repairer in the Warsaw, Ill., woolen mill, is a hearty, stout, able-bodied man of nearly sixty years, but for the last eighteen years he has never been known to sleep. He goes regularly to bed, and if out a few hours later of evenings than customary he experiences the same sleepy sensation that ordinary mortals do; but no matter how late he remains out, or how many nights in succession, he cannot sleep—he simply rests—and will answer any question put to him promptly at any hour of the night. Local physicians have made a study of his case, but are unable to solve the problem.—St. Louis Republic.

How Dehorning Originated.

Dehorning cattle did not originate from fashion as did the docking of horses, but from a necessity on the farm, the ranch, the cars and the boat. The goring of cattle costs the stock raiser hundreds of dollars annually. Packing for transit on cars is much safer if animals are polled or buffalo headed, and when it comes to packing cattle on board ocean cattle boats, the advantage is decidedly perceptible. When one animal with a weapon furnished by nature for protection gores another from pure devilment, as is frequently the case on large cattle ranches, it is natural that the owner should interfere and remove the weapon.—Orange Judd Farmer.

The Quantity Required.

A couple of old stagers in the fish line went off on a fishing jaunt, and when they returned, one of them was telling their experiences.

"By George," he said, "we saw fifty snakes."

"Come off!" protested the listener.

"But I tell you we did, and I'll swear to it."

"And I say come off," insisted the listener. "You took along only a quart of liquor, and I know that it would require at least a gallon to get you two up to where you could see that many snakes."

"Chastity of Honor."

Who is the original author of the phrase, "chastity of honor," used by Lord Rosebery on a recent occasion? Last week I mentioned that it had been used by Lord Beaconsfield. A correspondent of mine has now found the same phrase in Burke's "French Revolution." There is nothing very original or remarkable about the words by themselves, and they might easily be as old as Adam—if Adam had spoken English. —London Truth.

Delicate Weighing Instruments.

The scales used in the London Mint can show a difference in the weight of a card after a name has been written upon it.

A gold-weighing machine in the Bank of England is so sensitive that a postage stamp dropped on the scale will turn the index on the dial a distance of six inches.

In the Train.

"Beg your pardon, sir, but you seem to be staring at me in a strange fashion. Do you see anything about me that is familiar to you?"

"Yes, sir, my umbrella."—Intransigreant Illustre.

Remember now and always that life is no idle dream, but a solemn reality based on and encompassed by eternity. Find out your task. Stand to it. The night cometh when no man can work.—Carlyle.

How to Get Rid of Fat.

Superfluous flesh is a disease. Fat women are seldom rugged or long-lived. Obesity may be simmered down to two causes—laziness and self-indulgence. It is pleasant to loll about in hammocks, rocking chairs and couches, and to indulge every whim of the appetite. The very dishes that delight the senses of the women inclined to obesity are the very ones they should not eat. The first step towards a cure for "lazy" matter is self-sacrifice. It was petting that piled up the billows, and only the severe lines of something approaching asceticism will scatter them. Fat girls who leave college and go into active business or professional life, and great wives of the men who meet with reverses of fortune, necessitating self-help from every member of the family, lose flesh in a year under the new order of things, proving that exercise of the right sort is demolishing as well as ennobling—New York World.

The Queen's Two Names.

It is probable that most of Her Majesty's loyal subjects know the Queen only by her royal title, Victoria, and that such of the remainder of them as are aware that she bears another name and that that is Alexandrina believe that the latter is the second and therefore, in some sense, the inferior name. The well informed, however, know that the Queen's names are Alexandrina Victoria, and a sentence or two in a letter of her father, the Duke of Kent, written a couple of months after her christening and sold a few days since in Paris, may account for the choice of the second as the principal name. "Her first name," the duke wrote, "is Alexandrina; Victoria, by which name she is always called at home, is her last, being that of her dear mother. The first she bears after her god-father, the Emperor of Russia."—St. James Gazette.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please," an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

The Cathedral Choir Outing.

The excursion of St. Peter's Cathedral choir around the circle of the lakes, yesterday, was not very largely attended. The train left the G. T. R. station at nine o'clock for Chemong, where the Mary Ellen was boarded and the trip around the lakes made. Butcher's orchestra accompanied the excursionists. The Cathedral clergy present were Rev. Fathers Scollard, Collins and O'Connell. Dinner was partaken of at Burleigh, where a short stay was made. The excursionists reached home, by way of Lakefield, at 8:30.

The Toronto Excursionists.

The large excursion of the Yonge street Methodist church, Toronto, of which Rev. J. H. Locke, late of the George street church, is pastor, pulled out of the C.P.R. station for the Queen City at 7 o'clock last night. During their stay in town the excursionists patronized the street railway very liberally and were able to take in the sights of the town. Owing to the state of the weather, the parks were not so inviting as on other occasions, but nevertheless the excursionists are loud in their praise of Peterborough and its scenery. Quite a number stopped over until to-day with friends.

Those Meddlesome Boys.

Complaints have been received at police headquarters from residents living near the corner of Rubidge and Sherbrooke streets, of the actions of a large number of boys in the neighbourhood. They take great delight in tormenting the residents in that locality by firing mud into the open doors of the houses and, besides, committing other acts of lawlessness. While Mr. Bullen, grocer, and his two daughters were seated at the door, a missle was hurled at them, which struck Mr. Bullen on the foot. The chief has given the boys fair warning time and again and he has their names in his possession. He will give them one more chance. The lesson taught the young boys in the police court this week should have a salutary effect upon the actions of the unwashed.

It Comes But Once a Year.

Only once a year is the opportunity afforded the citizens of Peterborough to go to Niagara Falls and Buffalo at mere fractional fares. Thanks to the Executive Committee of Court Littlejohn Foresters, our civic holiday has been fixed as the day for this annual trip, so that our citizens may go without making any special sacrifice. The tickets are the same price as on previous years—$1.75 to Toronto, $2.25 to Niagara Falls and $2.75 to Buffalo and return. You have the privilege to go to either place you like for the sum named. But the trip is made even more attractive this year than before. The ride from Queenston, Niagara Falls and Buffalo and return is over the line of the wonderful electric railway, on the Canadian side of the river, which runs along the banks of the Niagara river, in observation cars, and in full view of all the many points of interest which abound along the route. Rock ballast, no dust, no smoke, no cinders. dtf.

After the business of the evening had been transacted, a debate took place on the subject, Resolved "That Married Life is Preferable to Single Life." The affirmative was championed by three speakers and the negative by the same number. The speakers dealt with the subject of debate in an able manner, and their arguments were well put forth, but the jury, Messrs. Jas. Stubbs, Geo. Crothers and C. Dawson, after a serious and earnest deliberation, decided that it would not be advisable to render a verdict that evening, and they withheld their decision until next Thursday evening.

This is one of the largest pilgrimages ever run to the shrine, and among the pilgrims may be counted many of the most influential and leading people of Central Ontario. The party will return by special train, passing through Montreal on Friday.

They are in Trouble Again.

The following from the Lindsay Watchman refers to two characters who were arrested in Peterborough a few weeks ago for being drunk in a public place and who were ordered to leave the town at once. They claimed they were from Omemee and were on their way to Toronto and when put on the train at noon escaped and were captured and put on the five o'clock G. T. R. train for Omemee: "On Tuesday morning Mary Harrison and Elizabeth Johnston appeared before P. M. McIntyre to answer to a charge of vagrancy. They were arrested on the streets at a late hour on Monday night by Chief Bell and Constable Reeves. Their companions made good their escape. The Harrison woman was sentenced to six months in the Mercer Reformatory, while the Johnston girl was found guilty and will be sentenced on Friday."

The Seamless Garment School.

A pretty specimen of the faultless fit and form of the new system of seamless dress and garment cutting was shown today on one of the pupils of the school which is now open for teaching the system at No. 426 Water street. The young lady who wore the garment, Miss M. Pratt, of 271 Simcoe street, who can boast of the possession of a very good figure, but the admirable fit given by the new seamless system enhanced the gracefulness of the natural form. The garment was a close fitting scarlet waist with Eaton points and revers up to the shoulders and was trimmed with a narrow gilt braid. There were no seams in the back, front or shoulders in either the goods or the lining, nor any darts or other substitutes for seams—each section of the waist being cut in one piece. Miss Pratt succeeded in drafting, cutting and making the waist herself after only three lessons, which certainly speaks well, both for the pupil and the system. The school is open from 9 a.m. to 10 p. m. 1d

POLICE COURT.

Mr. Cavanagh and Mr. Connors Fined $40 and $20 Respectively for Sunday Liquor Selling.

Friday, July 3rd.

At this morning's session of the police court Mr. Cavanagh, of the Balmoral hotel, was charged with a breach of the License Act by selling liquor on Sunday, July 22nd. The hearing of the case occupied several hours. At the discretion of the magistrate the charge was held as a second offence. Inspector Cochrane testified that Mr. Cavanagh's license had been extended, but that he (the inspector) had been unable to collect the fees, every facility being allowed defendant to meet his obligations in respect of the fees. Constable Stewart swore that he found defendant and another party in the bar in the act of drinking Sunday morning, July 22nd. On the other hand, Mr. Cavanagh contended that he was merely sweeping out the bar, as was customary on Sunday mornings, and that two gentlemen came for a drink of water, which being bad, he gave them "lemon sour." After hearing the evidence, the magistrate imposed a fine of $40 and costs.

Martin Connors was charged with a breach of the Liquor License Act on the same day—Sunday, July 22nd. Chief Roszel testified that he went to Mr. Connors' bar and found it occupied by the bartender and an outsider and that there was a light in on the bar. The bartender, on behalf of the proprietor, gave evidence that he was not selling liquor to the outsider, but was merely showing him to the rear part of the premises. At the request of the magistrate, the Chief amended the information from a third offence, which carries a fine of $100 and a term of imprisonment, to a first offence, which was considered proven and a fine of $20 and costs was imposed.

ACCIDENT IN NORTH SMITH.

Mr. W. J. Nicholls, of Smith, Sustains Severe Injuries in a Runaway.

On Wednesday evening between 7 and 8 o'clock, Mr. W. J. Nicholls, son of Mr. Wm. Nicholls, of the 11th concession of Smith, aged 21 years, in company with Mr. Alex. Rose, were engaged drawing whey from the cheese factory in North Smith, having a half dozen barrels on the wagon. When leaving the factory the front axle broke, which started the horses on the run. Mr. Rose was thrown out and knocked senseless, and some distance from him lay the body of young Nicholls. He was picked up and carried into a house near by and Dr. Fraser, of Lakefield, summoned. Later on Dr. Bell arrived and it was found that a large hole, said to be an inch in diameter, was made in the back of the head and the brain could be noticed in the opening. There was another large wound on his forehead about six inches in length, and one below the left eye about three inches long. His lip was badly split and his whole face cut and bruised in a frightful manner. He was placed under chloroform and after the doctors had attended to his injuries, he was removed to his home by kind friends. He is unconscious yet and the doctors hold out no hope for his recovery.

Alex. Rose is suffering from the shaking up he received, and it will be some time before he thoroughly recovers from the shock.

SPRIGHTLY SUMMER SPORTS.

On the Lacrosse Field, the Cricket and the Diamond.—Triple A. Topics.—The Bicycle and Football.

LACROSSE.

The junior team of the Peterborough's will probably play the second Tecumsehs of Toronto on August 13th, and Cannington twelve on Aug. 15th.

THE GUN.

The Gun Club did not shoot yesterday, a number of teams of horses being engaged close to the traps on the raceway and the rifle reports caused them to become unmanageable.

BASEBALL.

The wine clerks nine will not go to Port Hope to-morrow to play Ambrose & Winslows' brewery nine of that place. In the meantime they are practising steadily—trying to hit a beer keg rolled slowly down a slight incline.

Ottawa baseball club will make a western trip this fall. Cobourg will likely be visited.

The Guelph Maple Leaf play Cobourg Tuesday, Port Hope Wednesday, Bowmanville Thursday, and Lindsay Friday,—and why not Peterborough Saturday?

The wine clerks and Peterboroughs are playing ball, at Lakefield, this afternoon.

The proposed tour of the Lindsay baseball club has fallen through.

CRICKET.

The Bankers of Peterborough have at last "collected" enough courage to challenge the Town to a game of cricket. This match will be of great moment in our financial sphere, not that it might decide the war between China and Japan, or inspire the Times with the desire, folly though it might be, of challenging the EXAMINER to a game of baseball, lacrosse, marbles or porker, but it will most assuredly show the coin counters of this town that they have yet to learn a great deal about cricket. We would not advise people to make a "run" on the town banks, as all the bankers will be legally bound not to wager more than two days' pay, or give odds greater than 100 to 1. Owing to the inability to get returns promptly bulletins will not be posted on the market square as was at first intended. Step ladders will be placed at short intervals along the fence, thereby facilitating the Bankers in getting some balls which might otherwise stroll into the next township. The members, friends, enemies and backers of the Lime Juice Club are expected to attend in uniform. They will "sit under the tree." The game will commence at 2.30 o'clock sharp, and will end—well—sometime. The following compose the town team: S. Ray, W. A. Stratton, R. B. Rogers, D. M. Rogers, T. H. Allison, W. Stocker, P. Goldsmith, C. H. Halliday, Geo. Horkins, H. Burnham, A. S. McKee, H. Strickland, G. M. Hatton, Jno. Comstock.

Bankers team—Leefe, (capt.), Parker, Montgomery, Wonham, Moffat, Smith, Thompson, Ritchel, Lewis, Holdsworth, (pro.), Sheriff, Lewis, H.

LAWN TENNIS.

A lawn tennis team went to Millbrook yesterday to play a team of that village. Peterborough won the first two games when the rain forced them to leave the lawn.

CHEMONG PARK AND BRIDGENORTH ITEMS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Owing to Mr. W. B. Kelly feeling indisposed, your correspondent was unable to gather the information as to whether his burned mill would be rebuilt, but every assurance was given that it would be done at once. Though Mr. Kelly's loss is estimated roughly at $12,000, yet the loss to the village will be felt still more, as Mr. Kelly gave employment to about 25 men, who looked to him as their chief means of support. That Mr. Kelly, very unlike many worried men, bears his loss manly, is but a small thing to say, but he has feeling and appreciation for all the services rendered him by his workmen, and will endeavour to give employment to them, so as not to deprive them of their means of support for themselves and families. The mill and contents were partly insured, and the cause of the fire was supposed to originate from the engine room. Not only does Mr. Kelly appreciate the prompt action of the Peterborough Fire Department in responding so quickly to the call for assistance, but the entire village, as it was outside the fire limits and a very bad road; yet within one hour from time of telephoning for assistance, your noble and gallant firemen from Peterborough were on hand with engine, salvage wagon and went to work at once, but the fire had gained too much headway. Had the wind been blowing from the lake instead of to the lake the chances are no buildings would be in Bridgenorth to-day.

The park itself is lively and fishing never was better. Miss Sadie Rutherford aged 11 years and her younger sister, 8 years, on Tuesday evening took out a boat and trolling line and within five minutes caught a 15 pound maskinonge. To land such a fish would be felt proud of by any old fisherman, yet Mr. Thomas Rutherford, the father of these girls ought and no doubt does feel proud of his daughters for landing the largest fish here of this season.

Mr. E. F. Turk and family, of Rochester, the noted legal light of that city, who has been sojourning here in company with his brother-in-law, S. E. Champenay, wife and family, of Buffalo, N. Y., for the past two weeks, will be greatly missed, as owing to pressure of business, they have been hurriedly called away, and whilst here have added in every way to the enjoyment of all. Mr. Turk is a beautiful singer, having a rich, deep bass voice, and both he and Mr. Champenay are sports with the rod, and return home with the best wishes of all here, and a hearty welcome on their return. This has been their first season here, although they have, for the past five years, visited Canada, but pronounce Chemong Park the most charming of all resorts.

The new steamer, "Idle Hour," has been laid up this week, owing to the proprietors making some valuable improvements on her. She will again commence running Friday, and those taking a trip on her will find one of the swiftest and steadiest boats on the lakes, and all the latest equipments on her.

The hotel still continues in popular favour. Amongst the many new arrivals this week, are Mrs. and Miss Fairweather, Peterborough; Mrs. W. Hopwood and family, Toronto; J. Lackee, Toronto; Chas. James and child, Toronto; J. H. Beer, Port Hope; L. Walters, Rochester, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Fuller, Ottawa; Miss Shewell, Ottawa; W. H. Morrey and wife, Ingersoll; H. Hoyt, Syracuse, N. Y.

The thunder storm, which came yesterday morning and evening, and was accompanied by a fall of rain, came very acceptable, as it not only cooled the air, but laid the dust, and has already made everything look fresh.

Mr. and Mrs. Lazier, of Belleville, a brother of Judge Lazier, who are taking a drive all through the Canadian lakes, arrived at the hotel this evening and are already so delighted with the place that they purpose remaining a week. Mr. Lazier draws the ribbons over one of the finest and most fashionably bred teams in Canada, being Oysterman, jr., stock, a rich chestnut in colour, matched perfectly and the whole turnout is complete in every respect, and Mr. Lazier knows how to have them turned out properly.

THE OUTFALL SEWER BY-LAW CARRIED.

A Very Small Vote Polled—The Way the Work is to be Done—Necessity of Speedy Beginning.

The voting on the by-law to authorize the issue of debentures for $21,000, for the purpose of building an outfall sewer for the town of Peterborough, was passed yesterday, as the following figures will show, by a majority of 70:—

| | | For. | Against. | Maj. For |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| No. 1 Ward | ..... | 56 | 25 | 31 |
| " 2 " | ..... | 27 | 10 | 17 |
| " 3 " | ..... | 34 | 19 | 25 |
| " 4 " | ..... | 17 | 11 | 6 |
| | | 134 | 65 | 69 |

There seemed to have been very little interest taken in the bylaw. Out of a total of 1,500 votes, only 199 were polled. It is remarkable that the people should have shown so great an amount of indifference to one of the most important bylaws that has of late years been voted upon—a bylaw that proposes the expenditure of $21,000, and upon which the important question of sewerage turned. The people need not complain of mismanagement in the expenditure of public moneys if they exhibit so much apathy in the expenditure of a sum like $21,000; and the small vote polled shows that there is not a very deep interest taken in the important matter of sewerage. The chairman of the committee states that as soon as the council passes the third reading and authorizes the purchase of the necessary material, the work of construction will go on. It is proposed that the town purchase the material—brick, vitrified pipe and cement, and that the contract be let for the construction. It is to be hoped that matters will be expediated as much as possible, so that the many persons out of work may be given employment.

SEVEN LODGES WILL ATTEND.

The Sons of Ireland Delegates to the Number of Seventy Will Also be Here on Aug. 13th-15th.

The local lodge of the Sons of Ireland Protestant Benevolent Association, is making arrangements for the reception of seven lodges of the above society, besides the delegates of the Grand Lodge to the number of seventy, who will arrive here for the Relief of Derry celebration on Aug. 13th, and will go in session on Aug. 14th and 15th. A billeting committee, composed of members of the local lodge is making arrangements for the reception and accommodation of the visitors. It is expected the leading lights in this association will be present at this session.

The Sons of Ireland Protestant Benevolent Society is increasing in membership every day, not only in this town, but throughout the province, a number of societies being organized during the past week. The week beginning Aug. 13th, will be a memorable one in the history of Peterborough.

ASHBURNHAM IMPROVEMENTS.

The Work Being Done on the Dickson Company's Mills in the Village and Also to the Raceway.

The Dickson Company is at present engaged in overhauling and repairing some of their property in the village, especially the old Rogers' saw and flour mills and the raceway, a large number of men being employed at the work. As mentioned before, the water has been turned out of the raceway for some weeks and the result is that the bed of the race is perfectly dry, thereby allowing the company to not only repair the flumes, but to also clear the raceway of water logged timber and other refuse. In rear of the two mills the old crib work and flumes have been torn away and are being replaced by new ones, five piers being built which will last for years. New flumes have also been put in, both for the flour and saw mills, and the timber work under the saw mill repaired. Below the flumes in the wasteway between the two mills workmen have been engaged digging, the stagnant water being pumped up by means of a John Abell engine. Below the mill, on the south side of Elizabeth street, the raceway is also undergoing repairs, crib-work being placed on the eastern bank, and farther down, along the Riverside Park, five teams and a number of men are engaged levelling the bed of the creek.

Besides the work on the raceway, the flour mill has been partially renovated, though it is understood more repairs will be made later on. Another story or elevator has been added to the top flat with the object of giving increased accommodation and room. Workmen are to-day engaged in sheeting the new addition with iron. The mill improvements will not be commenced until the present work on the raceway is completed.

The Rogers' dam has also been attended to and made stronger than ever. The crib work and piers have been strengthened and repaired, and the coffer dam portion thoroughly overhauled. A foot bridge has been erected over this portion, which will enable the men to attend to all necessary repairs without running the risks of former years.

When the work on raceway and mills are completed the Dickson company will have additional and more serviceable water power and better mill accommodation.

A SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

The Mangled Body of Mr. John Deyell Found on the Railway a Few Miles From Millbrook.

On Sunday morning while, Mr. Black, who lives near Millbrook, and two lady friends, were on their way to the Summit to attend church they were horrified to find a mangled body of a man on the railway track. Upon investigation it was seen that the body had been cut in two by a passing train. The body proved to be that of Mr. John Deyell, a chopper, who had just returned from the woods and who keeps bachelor's hall in the vicinity of Millbrook. It appears that the unfortunate man was in Millbrook Saturday, and on part of his way home he was accompanied by one, Thomas Thoore. On his way Deyell dropped into his brother-in-law's house, Mr. Black, (who found the body) and the family asked him to stay till morning but he refused, saying he would call next morning for breakfast. In going home it is supposed he took the railway track, and becoming tired he probably sat down to rest and fell asleep and in this manner met death. It is the opinion of some that he dozed off to sleep while in the act of filling his pipe, as his knife and smoking material were found close to the body. The remains of the unfortunate man were intered on Monday.

EPIGRAMS OF HISTORY.

The Leisure Hour offered prizes for wise sayings connected with historical events. The editor awards the first and second prizes, both of which are won by women.

He says: "A careful analysis proves beyond all doubt that the most popular instances of wise sayings connected with history are the following:

"Oliver Cromwell's—'Put your trust in God, but keep your powder dry.'

"Cardinal Wolsey's dying words—'Had I but served my God as diligently as I have served my king, he would have not have given me over in my gray hairs.'

"Latimer to Ridley at the stake—'We shall this day light such a candle, by God's grace, in England as, I trust, shall never be put out.'

"Sir Robert Walpole, in the declaration of the war with Spain—'They may ring their bells now, but they will soon be wringing their hands.'

"Nelson's—England expects every man to do his duty.'

A Bug Six Inches Long.

The Hercules beetle (Dynastes Hercules) is one of the largest, if not really the largest, known species of the Cleoptera of beetle family. They are not found in the United States proper, but I understand that a fine specimen is occasionally picked up on the islands off the coast of Florida and in the West Indies. I have two dried specimens of Dynastes, one of which is 6½ inches in length, measuring from the tip of his upper mandible or "horn" to the end of his body. The head of the "varmint" is jet black, and the upper mandible or pincher is notched and covered with stiff, golden colored bristles. The under mandible is perhaps an inch shorter than the upper, and the two form a pair of nippers that would cause the stag beetle or common June bug to die with envy.

FINANCINL AND INDUSTRIAL.

The Egyptian cotton crop is healthy and forward everywhere.

Louisville, Ky., has the largest tobacco warehouse in the world. It can store 7,000 hogsheads.

During the last ten years the value of assessed Dirtrict of Columbia property was more than double, being now $191,417,804.

There are 15,000 salaried employes on the lists of New York city, and the total expenditures of the city government were $89,000,000 for the year.

The world's chief supply of platinum comes from the mines in the Ural mountains. The mines are being worked to their fullest capacity with orders for two years ahead.

The greatest handle factory, where handles of axes, hammers and all sorts of tools are made of the best hickory, and are shipped by the millions to all parts of the world, is located at Louisville, Ky.

To Purify Water.

Dr. Leffmann recommends to housewives a simple means of precipitating turbid water by the use of a solution of alum. One hundred and thirty grains of crystallized alum dissolved in one pint of water will produce a large quantity of the purifying liquid, as it is only used in the proportion of one to two grains of alum to a gallon of water. That would require three teaspoonfuls of the solution to every two gallons of water. After stirring it in, let the water stand a few hours, and it will be perftctly clear and ready to be poured off from the thick deposit in the bottom. If it is then filtered it will be in good condition for drinking. Even without filtering it will be safe to drink the water if it has not stood very long, as it has been found that the addition of the alum greatly reduces the number of bacteria. The taste is not affected, as the alum decomposes in the water, and sets free compounds that attach themselves to the muddy elements in the water and cause them to settle. This remedy is not for contaminated water, which should always be boiled.—New York Evening Post.

Scrofula humors and all diseases caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

ANTIQUITIES.

Egyptian mounments represent hats in nearly the shape of the Mexican sombrero.

It is estimated that one of the largest stones in the pyramids weighs fully eighty-eight tons.

The "rock cork" mentioned by Pliny and other ancient writers is thought to have been asbestos.

In an old Indian burying-ground in St. Simon, Ga., the remains of a warrior over eight feet long were exeavated recently.

A prehistoric human skull found at Anniston, Ala., in 1890, measured 34 inches in circumference just above the ears.

Petrified horse tracks are among the curiosities attributed to Missouri. They are said to be found in the bottom of a creek in Ray county.

Officials of the Smithsonian institute have discovered evidence which lead them to believe that the mound-builders were the progenitors of the modern Indians.

Pliny says that bricks and tiles so light as to swim in water were made in Italy, Spain and Greece. The peculiar art of this manufacture was recently discovered by an Italian gentleman.

FLOWER AND TREE.

Tulips are indigenous to south Europe.

The box elder is probably the best of the quick growing trees.

The wallflower in floral language signifies fidelity and misfortune.

A brier rose, though not desirable for its flowers, which are single, spreads fragrance all around through its foliage.

Sweetbrier is one of the most delightful of common plants with which to decorate sitting-rooms, for its fragrance, though very sweet, is pleasant.

A Texas plant, with a grayish green leaf, resembling the left foot of an ox, is known in the Lone Star and adjoing States as the "Devil's Cattle."

The largest tree in the world lies broken and petrified at the end of a defile in northwestern Nevada. The tree measures 666 feet in length and 60 in diameter at the butt.

Zinnias make a great show for very little money, though they are rather coarse compared to more tender plants. They are in bloom all summer if the faded blossoms are picked off.

THE CHINESE WAY.

The men wear skirts and the women trousers.

The men wear their hair long and the women wear it short.

The men carry on dressmaking and the women carry burdens.

They begin dinner with dessert and end with soup and fish.

Note first that the Chinese compass points to the south instead of to the north.

They launch their vessels sideways and mount their horses from the off side.

Books are read backward, and what we call foot notes are inserted at top of the page.

They shake their own hands instead of the hands of those they would greet.

The surname comes first instead of last.

The spoken language of China is not written and the written language is not spoken.

The Chinese dress is white at funerals and in mourning at weddings, while old women always serve as bridesmaids.

THE NATURALIST.

The blowing viper, when brought to bay, makes a pretence of committing suicide.

At the end of each hair of a cat's whiskers is a bulb of nervous substance which converts the hairs into exceedingly delicate feelers.

The average whale is from fifty to sixty-five feet in length and thirty-five feet in circumference. The jawbones are twenty to twenty-five feet long, and a tongue has been known to yield almost a ton of oil.

Almost every kind of an animal seems to have what may be called a weather instinct. The approach of rain is indicated by the flight of cranes and swallows, by the cries of waterfowl, by the actions of cows and pigs.

The flying dragon of the Indian archipelago can suspend itself in the air for fully thirty seconds. Some naturalists assert that it can leap, with the aid of its batlike membrane between its forelegs and head, a distance of sixty feet.

Number of Shingles Needed.

Any one may easily calculate for himself how many shingles are needed to cover a given space. As a rule, a thousand shingles, laid with four inches exposed to the weather, will cover 100 square feet of surface, and five pounds of shingle nails will fasten them on. With a foot rule and five minutes' figuring anybody can ascertain the expense of a new roof.

The Streets of London.

There are 1,364 miles of streets in London, which have water pipes constantly charged with water and these are provided with 25,504 hydrants and 58,842 fire plugs for use in case of outbreaks. The number of miles of water pipes in the whole metropolis is, according to a return made up to the end of February, 3,312.

MRS. LANGLEY'S CASE.

Despatches to American Papers From London Cause a Furore Among the Good People of Lansing, Mich.

LANSING, Mich., July 23.—A despatch to a local paper from London, Ont., concerning a former resident of this city, has created a furore among our people. Mrs. Wm. Langley, of 21 Euclid Ave., London South, was during the latter years of her residence here, constantly subject to fits, which doctors of this city and Detroit failed to cure. The despatch received here says that Mrs. Langley is now completely cured. Two months ago she began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. From the first she improved and now is perfectly well. The natural inference is that her fits were caused by diseased kidneys, for which there is no remedy equal to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

performed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one in particular being that of a little daughter of a Church of England minister. The child was literally covered from head to foot with a red and exceedingly troublesome rash, from which she had suffered for two or three years, in spite of the best medical treatment available. Her father was in great distress about the case, and, at my recommendation, at last began to administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which effected a complete cure, much to her relief and her father's delight. ## IN PLEASANT PLACES.

ARE LINES CAST BY FISHERMEN IN NOVA SCOTIA RIVERS.

Trout and Salmon Fishing in the Clyde and Tusket—A Wild Back Country With Arcadian Simplicity in Living, and Low Prices.

According to trustworthy information furnished by habitual sportsmen, more salmon have been killed in Yarmouth county this season than in any other May and June during the past decade, and it is generally admitted that the time has come for a rigid enforcement of the game laws, in order that the fish and birds may be preserved for future generations of destroyers.

The salmon season of this out-of-the-way corner of the world begins late in May and lasts until after the middle of July. The best streams are the Tusket, Clyde, Jordan, Shelburne, and Harrington rivers, all of which are accessible by highway from Yarmouth, the extreme southwestern corner of the province. The Tusket has thus far, according to current estimate, furnished the greater number of fish, partly because it is the largest of the streams and partly because it lies within ten miles of Yarmouth and is therefore more persistently fished than any of the others. It is also popular as a fishing ground because it consists of a series of beautiful lakes connected with one another by means of rapids, nearly all of which are navigable, some at very low water; and, as the black fly season is well over, the sport may be enjoyed in its waters in most luxurious fashion.

Nearly all the salmon taken here since the season opened have been the prey of Yarmouth sportsmen, and of the Indian, French, and other guides, many of whom are in the habit of resorting to nets, in defiance of the law and to the detriment of all future sport.

George Bates, one of the most determined and crafty fishermen that ever cast a fly in this vicinity, has been fishing the same Tusket pool for the past fortnight and at last accounts had killed but a single fish. George W. Munro and Samuel W. Bowles, Jr., however, have been at much less pains to secure their fish.

Mr. Bowles, who is well-known as a bridge engineer, and has killed hundreds of salmon in Labrador, New Brunswick, and Lake St. John, secured two the first day he threw a line into the Tusket, while Mr. Munro, the New York publisher to whom salmon fishing was an absolutely novel diversion, killed a fine specimen the other day, and reported that his little boy had had a fierce strike from a big fish in the same pool. Although a heavy dealer in serial fiction and romance, Mr. Munro confined himself to a plain, short story about the captured fish, which, according to him, had been hooked by his Indian guide and landed by himself after a forty-minutes' struggle.

Trout fishing has also been exceedingly good this year in the lakes and streams about here, and although but few of these fish remain in such large watercourses as the Tusket and lower Clyde, there is plenty of excellent sport for those who will take the trouble to follow the trout to their summer haunts in the more remote ponds and streams of Yarmouth and Shelburne counties. Inspector Cauldwell of the Custom House in Yarmouth, whose scent for fish and game is as keen as it is for contraband goods in tourist's trunks and who would be set down for a genuine sportsman on sight, spent three hours in the woods near Rockingham a week ago and, with the assistance of a guide, caught fifty fine brook trout, weighing in all about twenty-six pounds.

But, according to general testimony, there is no trip to be made anywhere within a reasonable distance of Yarmouth that is to to be compared with that down the Clyde River from its head waters in the northwestern part of Shelburne county to where it empties into the ocean, some sixty miles to the east of Yarmouth on the old post road.

Clyde village is accessible by stage coach from Yarmouth, but if one desires to travel more enjoyably and at the same time to impart to the journey a flavor of bygone days, he may order a post chaise and chaise and cover the distance, by means of frequent changes of horses, in one day or two, as his taste may dictate.

It is true that the post chaise now in use is not the sort of vehicle employed by eloping couples of an older day, if the English Christmas weeklies are to be believed, but it serves the same purpose and is probably far more comfortable. Moreover, those who ride in it may enjoy the sweet reflection that they are passing over what is probably the only remaining post route on the Continent, and one which is in danger of being replaced within a year by a railroad or that modern abomination, the trolley.

Another and a much cheaper way of making the journey is by the little steamer La Tour, which follows a picturesque course along the coast east of Yarmouth, threading its way among the innumerable islands where the Arcadians pasture their sheep, and thus avoiding the heavy seas which are the terror of all travellers.

At Clyde village, or Port Clyde, guides or "pilots" as they are often termed in this maritime region, are engaged, a boat and provisions for three or four days are loaded into an open waggon, and the fishing party makes its way through a country, which is for the most part without sign of human habitation, to the upper waters of the Clyde River. The stream has its course in the midst of wide, rolling, moose barrens, the home of innumerable moose, caribou, bears, foxes, ducks, and partridge, and is rarely visited by any but the most adventurous sportsmen. Thomas Robertson of Shelburne affirms that once, on a clear September morning, he stood on a commanding rise of ground by the upper Clyde and counted no less than thirty-six lakes and ponds that lay within his range of vision, and in the greater number of these he is confident that no fly has ever been cast.

The trip from the source of the stream to salt water, a distance of about sixty miles, should consume about three or four days and afford fairly good sport nearly all the way, even as late as the middle of July, for, of course, the best fishing is in April and May.

The great charm of this river and, indeed, of the whole country about here lies in the fact that it has not yet been spoiled by summer boarders, or voracious "sportsmen" of the kind that inflate prices wherever they go, frighten fish, beast, and bird by their harlequin sporting attire, and leave behind a dreary waste of ruined territory. There fish sped away: not flying, but supported in the air by the wing-like fins which acted as parachutes. The momentum acquired by rising the tail forced the fish ahead and the fins prevented it from falling. In all instances the method of procedure was the same.

The flight, as I have said, was extraordinary in its length, ranging from one sixteenth to one eighth of a mile, sometimes longer, for the flier would pass entirely out of sight still on the wing.

The tunas must have numbered hundreds, and were driving the terrified flying fishes up the coast at a speed of about five miles an hour. Returning to the shore and ascending a high elevation, I saw the white caps six or seven miles away, showing that the reign of terror was still in progress. The flying-fishes were driven in shore in great numbers, many flying into boats and out on to the beach in their efforts to escape the common enemy.

Mysteries of the HUMAN BRAIN!

The latest discovery in the scientific world is that nerve centres located in or near the base of the brain control all the organs of the body, and when these nerve centres are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid, or nerve force, are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centres will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force; that is, when a nerve centre is deranged or in any way diseased it is impossible for it to supply the same quantity of nerve force as when in a healthful condition; hence the organs which depend upon it for nerve force suffer, and are unable to properly perform their work, and as a result disease makes its appearance.

At least two-thirds of our chronic diseases and ailments are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centres at the base of the brain, and not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organs and not the nerve centres, which are the cause of the trouble.

The wonderful cures wrought by the Great South American Nervine Tonic are due alone to the fact that this remedy is based upon the foregoing principle. It cures by rebuilding and strengthening the nerve centres, and thereby increasing the supply of nerve force or nervous energy.

This remedy has been found of infinite value for the cure of Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Paroxysms, Sleeplessness, Forgetfulness, Mental Despondency, Nervousness of Females, Hot Flashes, Sick Headache, Heart Disease. The first bottle will convince anyone that a cure is certain.

South American Nervine is without doubt the greatest remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all Chronic Stomach Troubles, because it acts through the nerves. It gives relief in one day, and absolutely effects a permanent cure in every instance. Do not allow your prejudices, or the prejudices of others, to keep you from using this health-giving remedy. It is based on the result of years of scientific research and study. A single bottle will convince the most incredulous.

BALZAC'S WISDOM.

Love is a counterfeiter who is constantly passing off copper for gold, but who sometimes turns gold into copper.

I have spent my life in seeing people die, not of their ailments, but of that great and incurable disease, the want of money.

The moral world has gutters where dishonored persons try to splash the mud in which they are wallowing upon men of honor.

To an observer there is something saddening in the spectacle of poverty made up like an old woman trying to give the lie to her face.

In political life men frequently turn their characters inside out, and it often happens that the public does not know which is the right side.

In the heart of the woman who loves there is such a wealth of hope! It requires many a dagger thrust to kill them. They love and bleed to the last.

Happiness has no history. Story tellers of all countries understand this so well that the phrase "they lived happily ever after" ends all adventures of love.

A New Lingerie Material.

Women who are fastidious concerning the daintiness of their lingerie will be pleased to hear of a new material for making the undergarments. Heretofore French batiste has excelled all other fabrics in delicacy of texture; elegantes have for some time past refused to buy any other stuff. But really batiste is shockingly expensive, and besides it is too frail to endure the rough handling usually meted out to one's cloths in the laundry. Fancy, then, what a boon is the discovery of China linen, imported direct from the Orient and possessing every imaginable virtue. The goods is woven of attenuated threads of ramie, is thin and light, has a marvelous gloss and is cool as rose leaves next the skin. Its wearing qualities are surpassing, and even from the crudest washing it comes out crisp and smooth as satin. The best grade is 35 inches wide and costs about 95 cents a yard and once used it wins and holds its own.

Being Agreeable.

"Harry," said the hostess to her son, "why don't you make yourself agreeable to the gentleman in the corner?"

"Who—the inventor?"

"Yes."

"I tried," was the despondent answer, "but he won't talk of anything except his airship."

"Can't you say something about that—something nice and encouraging?"

"I did."

"What was it?"

"I told him that, judging from his description, there were no flies on it."

WOMEN AS A WOMAN SEES THEM.

Vanity is woman's conscience.

A woman's day should begin at night.

Where there is a will there is a woman.

If you want to know a woman, marry her.

Women are very good to eat, but very bad to digest.

Many women can make every home happy but their own.

A woman's love is bewildering, till you get it, then it is embarrassin.

A woman is strongest when she is weakest; a man is weakest when he is strongest.

Tell a child that he is good, a man that he is great and a woman that she is beautiful.

Women are always wishing that men were true; men are always wishing that women were new.

A woman generally makes the worst of a good husband; a man generally makes the best of a bad wife.

Any man with a heart is attracted towards those who suffer; any woman who has a heart is attracted toward those who prosper.

As an after-dinner pill, to strengthen the stomach, assist digestion, and correct bilious tendencies, Ayer's Pills are considered the best. Being sugar-coated, they are as agreeable as any confection, and may be taken by the most delicate.

Skin Diseases are more or less occasioned by bad blood. B.B.B. cures the following skin diseases: Shingles, Erysipelas, Itching Rashes, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Eruptions, Pimples and Blotches, by removing all impurities from the blood from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

DEAR SIRS,—I have been using Burdock Blitters for boils and skin diseases, and I find it very good as a cure. As a dyspepsia cure I have also found it unequalled.

THAT CUSTOMS CIRCULAR.

Officials at Ottawa Explain It—Haggart Goes to Inspect the Soo Canal.

OTTAWA, Aug. 3.—Customs department officials were seen in reference to a Washington despatch which asserted a blow had been struck at American exports into Canada by a circular recently sent out by the Dominion Government ordering that to the price paid for goods purchased in bond there should be added in calculating ad valorem duties, the internal revenue charges collected by the government of the country whence the goods were imported when such goods were used in that country for home consumption. Commissioner of Customs Watters said while such circulars had recently been sent to customs collectors, the regulations were not new. This has been the Canadian customs law since 1893. The circulars were sent out merely to ensure a uniformly correct interpretation of the law at all ports of entry, in order that one importer may not through a misinterpretation of the act by a collector be given an unfair advantage over a competitor at a different port.

Returns just received at the fisheries department show that the enormous number of 160,000,000 young lobsters have been hatched out at the departmental establishments in Nova Scotia this season. The Canadian experts have been singularly successful in the artificial propogation of lobsters. It was first tried in 1890, when seven million young fry were hatched out and safely placed in their natural haunts. Next year 63,000,000 were produced; in 1892 the hatchery turned out 68,000,000 healthy young shell fish, and last year the product of the hatchery amounted to the large output of over 153,000,000.

Hon. John Haggart and Collingwood Schrieber, chief engineer of canals, have gone to the Soo on a tour of canal inspection. They will spend a couple of days at Sault Ste. Marie investigating the lock, prism, gates, culverts and general equipment of the new canal before the canals are cut and the water admitted for the final test.

G. T. R. AND THE STRIKE.

Mr. Seargeant Interviewed as to the Losses Incurred by the Company.

MONTREAL, Aug. 3.—General Manager Seargeant, of the Grand Trunk, when asked whether the company had figured up the loss by the recent strike said:

"We have not. The accounts have not been made up by the railway companies, and I do not therefore know precisely what the damage really is as yet. The damage is principally of a consequential character, loss of receipts in the Chicago and Grand Trunk, of which I am the president, and in the Grand Trunk.

"There has been an immense depletion of revenue, and consequently a depletion in the revenue of the connections east and west. It was one of the most ill-advised and wicked strikes ever inaugurated against railway companies, and has resulted in incendiarism, destruction of property and murder. In the case of the Chicago and Grand Trunk, many were injured, and one poor fellow deliberately murdered in consequence of his train being purposely derailed at Battle Creek."

A Crook Arrested at Sarnia.

SARNIA, Aug. 3.—A young man put up at the Union Hotel at Port Huron, Mich., as A. Hespeler, of Winnipeg, Man. He cut quite a figure and appeared to be long on money. The landlord of the Union cashed for him an order of $20 on the First National Bank of Indianapolis, Ind. Being somewhat suspicious the First National Exchange Bank communicated with the Indianapolis people, with the result that the check was declared to be bogus, and Hespeler unknown in that city. Chief of Police Stoddard and Detective Buckeridge followed Hespeler to this place and had him arrested. At the police station he signed himself "A. Hespeler, banker, aged 30, Winnipeg, Man." On being searched he was found to have a quantity of blank cheques, some Armour bills and letters of recommend from New York and Chicago people. It is believed that he came to Sarnia to work the banks here, and that he is wanted in Canada, as he seemed anxious to go back to the United States. He claims that his father is a banker at Winnipeg.

Neighbors Much Interested in the Story—Everyone Thought the Youngster Would Die but he's Very Much Alive Now.

DUNDALK, July 30.—Hugh Lamont, of McIntyre, has a young son who is an object of interest throughout this whole section of country. From infancy the boy had dropsy, and was bloated and swollen all over. It seemed to the parents that death could be the only release to one attacked so young by this disease. They heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and began giving them to the child. With the first box, the bloating and swelling began to disappear. Six boxes effected a perfect cure and the boy is now just as healthy a youngster as stirs up the dust on the high roads of Western Ontario.

CRUSHED UNDER A WALL

Detroit Firemen Buried Under the Ruins of a Burning Building.

ONE DEAD WHEN TAKEN OUT

The Fire Breaks Out in Lumber Yards Causing a Loss of Fifty Thousand Dollars—Half a Dozen Loaded Freight Cars Were Also Destroyed.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 3.—Fire which started in Huston, Miles & Week's lumber yard at 240 Frankling street, caused a loss of more than $50,000 and the death of one fireman and the more or less serious injury of five others. The list of dead and injured is as follows: Dead—Eugene McCarthy, pipeman of engine No. 19. Injured—Henry T. Trapp, pipeman engine No. 6, skull fractured and body bruised. Geo. W. Lyons, pipeman engine No. 6, body and head bruised. Lieut. Luca Tate, engine No. 6, right foot crushed and knee dislocated. Thomas Scheble, pipeman engine No. 19, body badly bruised and severe scalp wounds. Charles Boeberitz, pipeman engine No. 6, body bruised.

The fire started in a shed in the lumber yard and was soon beyond control. It communicated to the two-storey brick planing mill of E. G. Richards, which was quickly destroyed. While six pipemen were playing on the mill about an hour after the fire started the east wall fell without warning, burying the men beneath the debris. The work of rescue was quickly begun and five of the men were taken out without very serious injuries. It was twenty minutes, however, before the sixth man was reached and when he was lifted out he was dead.

The fire burned fiercely for more than two hours. Huston, Miles & Weeks' loss is estimated at about $30,000, partly insured. E. G. Richards' loss on mill and machinery will reach $30,000, also partly insured. Half a dozen loaded freight cars standing on the Detroit, Grand Haven and Milwaukee tracks were also destroyed.

Flour and Cement Sheds Burned.

DETROIT, Aug. 3.—The Michigan Central flour shed and Hoble & Company's cement and salt shed, together with ten loaded freight cars on the Michigan Central tracks, were destroyed by fire yesterday. The flour shed was filled with 4,500 barrels of flour consigned to local firms and $13,000 worth of paper consigned to Detroit daily papers. Loss, $40,000, partially insured.

PLOTTING TO RESTORE MONARCHY.

White and Native Hawaiian Royalists Holding Secret Conferences.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—The following Honolulu advices per the steamer Alamada arrived yesterday:

Since the proclamation of the republic perfect quiet has reigned. Royalist protests have ceased and the general situation is perfect acquiescence in the present form of government. Registration for the coming election has commenced. The election will probably be held in October. It is rumored, however, that two secret conferences have been held within a week between white and native royalists looking to the restoration of the queen.

Mutiny on Board a Steamer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Captain Muller, on the British steamer Polea, from Vera Cruz, reported on her arrival at Quarantine, that three of his crew had mutinied during the passage. One of the firemen pretended illness and refused to work in the fire-room and his two companions, sympathising with him, refused duty also. The men were ironed and locked up on the afternoon of July 30. The mutinous firemen stated that they were taken sick and unable to work below and so informed the captain, who placed them in irons and confined them in a small room at the after-end of the ship without ventilation. They were without food, save bread and water and received the most barbarous treatment at the hands of the captain. Captain Muller will make a report to the British Consul.

Discovered a Dangerous Counterfeit.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A most dangerous counterfeit of United States money discovered for years is announced from the treasury department. It is very difficult of detection. The counterfeit is of the $10 legal tender note, series of 1880, check letter B, face plate number 2250, back plate number 2292, signed by W. S. Rosecrans, register, James W. Hyatt, treasurer, and bearing a portrait of Webster and a large round seal.

The Mine Strike Broken.

DUBOIS, Pa., Aug. 3.—All the miners at Patton resumed work yesterday except at Reilly colliery at 40 cents per gross ton. The Reilly miners expect to start work this week. The strike is practically broken in this district.

Business Portion of a Town Burned.

LAMOURNE, N.D., Aug. 3.—The business centre of this town was destroyed by fire yesterday. Four blocks of stores were burned, besides the county court house from which none of the records were saved. The loss is $200,000.

Balfour's Son to Go Farming.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—James Balfour, son of Jabez Spencer Balfour of the late Liberator Building and Loan Society, is about to start for California, where he will enter the business of fruit farming.

THE CONFEREES AGREE

Prospect of an Early Adjustment of the American Tariff.

THE SENATE BILL THE BASIS

A Differential Duty of One-Fifth in Addition to the Forty Cent Ad Valorem, Fixed Upon in the Sugar Schedule, is Accepted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—After the meeting of the Cabinet yesterday four members announced each to a different person that an agreement had been reached by the Senate and House conferees on the tariff bill. The basis of agreement was not disclosed, but one of the most distinguished members of the Cabinet said to United Press representative; "You can announce that the President will sign a tariff bill within ten days."

The bulletins announcing a tariff adjustment spread rapidly through the city and caused much excitement. No one of the Cabinet officers who spoke of the settlement would divulge the terms, but the inference was strongly conveyed that the Senate bill with not very material concessions is the basis of the agreement. From reliable sources it is learned that the sugar schedule that will be agreed to and which has been accepted by the House conferees is as follows:

"Forty per cent. ad valorem on all raw sugar and the same amount on all refined sugar, the duty to be collected, however, on the basis of the saccharine strength. In addition to this there is to be a differential to the refiner of one-fifth of a cent a pound and a discriminating duty against those countries that pay an export bounty on refined sugar equivalent to the bounty so paid."

If any faith can be put in the signs that manifest themselves about the capitol to-day will witness the beginning of the end of the tariff conference. There is every indication that the Democratic members will get closer together than they have at any time yet, because the sugar schedule is practically out of the way. The House conferees have always held that there was hidden away in the schedule of the Senate bill a protection to the trust that greatly augmented the differential one-eighth that was given them, and they have contended that this should be removed. This they say has now been done.

The next step after the House agreed to accept the schedule was to find out if the refining interests would take it. It is understood that the Senators who have cared for this interest were consulted and that they reluctantly accepted the schedule as the best that could be had and agreed that it would not be antagonized. It is rumored, however, that the Louisiana Senators and Messrs. Allen and Kyle, the latter representing the beet sugar industry, will not accept the proposed schedule. If this be true, it is not apparent how the Democrats expect to pass the bill. There is no provisions in the schedule for the bounty for 1894, and both the Louisiana Senators have declared that unless this bounty is put in the bill they cannot support it. It is probable that by tonight the situation will have crystallized in something tangible and that the outcome will be known with some degree of definiteness.

The American Sugar Scandals.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Senator Gray, chairman of the Sugar Investigating Committee, has presented the report of the committee to the Senate. Secretary Carlisle is exonerated, and the parts of the article in the Philadelphia Press reflecting on him declared to be without foundation. The conduct of Mr. Edwards, says the report, in publishing specific charges against men without his personal knowledge calls for serious reprobation of the Senate. The report then goes on to say that there was no evidence tending to show that the sugar schedule was made up in consideration of any sum of money paid for campaign purposes of the Democratic party. The committee also unite in saying that no evidence had been adduced to show improper dealings on the part of those engaged on the framing of the sugar schedule on the tariff bill.

Fatally Hurt by Highwaymen.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Howard Abbott, a Rochester tobacconist, was found dead in his room at the Cottage Hotel, Ontario Beach, under circumstances indicating that he received wounds at the hands of highwaymen. There have been three highway robberies at the Beach within a week, and it is believed Abbott was knocked down by robbers. He was 24 years old and unmarried. He was a hard drinker.

A Chinaman Murdered.

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 4.—Yesterday a Chinaman, a stranger in this city, went into the laundry of Chu Hing on South Pearl street, and shot him in the back. The assailant was captured. Hing died before medical aid could be summoned. It is believed that the murderer was in the employ of one of the secret Chinese societies.

A Colored Man Turning White.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 4.—A freak has been discovered here in the person of a colored man aged 45 years, who is gradually turning white. Some of his skin is as fair as a child's, and he thinks that in the course of a year he will be entirely white.

CRISIS FEARED IN CHINA

Li Hung Chang's Disgrace May Be Followed by His Overthrow.

ANOTHER COLLISION IN COREA

After the Battle of Yashan the Japanese Meet the Chinese and Gain a Big Victory — Another Reason Why the Kow Shing Was Sunk.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 4.—The action of the Emperor in divesting Viceroy Li Hung Chang of the order of the Yellow Jacket has fallen like a thunderbolt here, as it is feared the incident will lead to his complete overthrow. He is regarded here as the only leader capable of coping with Japan in the inevitable long war. The Emperor has been influenced in his action by members of his family hostile to the Viceroy's pro-European policy. It is expected that Sir Robert Hart, the British representative, will assert his authority and support Li Hung Chang.

The Execution of Deserters.

The soldiers beheaded at Tien Tsin for desertion pleaded in extenuation of their offence hunger and exhaustion. Before they were executed they were stripped of their uniforms and their pigtails cut off. The example has terrified the army. An edict has gone forth that the army will receive double pay henceforth during the war with Japan and a large bonus has been offered to officers competent to navigate the Chinese naval vessels and transports.

The Viceroy's Degradation Verified.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Sir Halliday McArtney, councillor of the Chinese legation and the new Chinese minister called at Osborne House yesterday and the minister presented credentials. While at Osborne the minister received a Pekin despatch which announced the degradation of Li Hung Chang. The Central News says that the Japanese legation is supposed to be preparing another statement of the Kow Shing affair. At the Cabinet meeting yesterday the war in the east was the chief subject of discussion. After the meeting the Earl of Kimberley sent messages to many British agents in the east.

Japan Scores a Victory.

The Daily Chronicle's Tokio correspondent says it is reported that a fresh collision has taken place in Corea. After their defeat at Yashan the Japanese assembled their whole available strength, attacked the Chinese and achieved a decisive victory.

The Times' correspondent in Tien Tsin telegraphs: The preamble of an imperial edict just issued recites that the Chinese now claim in Corea merely the Suzerainty which has existed for hundreds of years. China has constantly assisted the vassal king, it says, to subdue rebellions. Recently she sent forces to Corea for this object. Japan, without any right, also sent troops and refused to withdraw them. Moreover the Japanese sank a Chinese transport. Other powers have not hesitated to condemn Japanese action. The Emperor places all the military authorities under Li Hung Chang to protect the rights of the empire, and orders that Japanese ships, wherever found, be captured and destroyed.

The Times remarks that this despatch seems to conflict with the announcement of Li Hung Chang's degradation.

Japanese Victories.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Secretary Gresham yesterday received from the Japanese legation in this city formal notice of the existence of a state of war. No despatches were received from American representatives in China, Japan or Corea.

A cablegram was received at the Japanese legation last evening saying that on July 29 a portion of the Japanese troops stationed at Seoul made an advance upon the Chinese position at Shan Yeng, which contained a larger number of soldiers than in the Japanese body and after a fight that lasted several hours the Chinese were routed and driven from their stronghold. Many prisoners and munitions of war were captured and after the victory on the morning of the 30th the Japanese troops proceeded to Gasan.

The legation has not yet received any news of a fight at the latter place and believes, in view of what has been received about the battle at Shang Yeng, that the reports of the Chinese victory at Ashan or Yashan have been confused with a battle which took place at Gasan.

The Japanese Were Grossly Insulted.

The legation received a despatch confirming the accounts of the sinking of the British transport Kow Shing and reiterating the assertion that the fight was begun by the firing of a torpedo from the Chinese warship Chin Yuen upon the Japanese cruiser Maniwa Kan. The report shows that the Japanese acted only after considerable aggravation, the Chih Yuen having displayed a white flag above the Japanese ensign, which constitutes the most unpardonable insult known to naval warfare.

It is reported a number of Americans have signified to Japanese officials in this city their desire to enter the military service of Japan during the war with China.

German Warships Go to the Scene.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—The German warships Alexandrine, Arcona and Marie, now on the west coast of the United States, have been ordered to proceed to the scene of naval operation between China and Japan.

The Black Plague Breaks Out.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 4.—A black plague has broken out among the Chinese soldiers at Asan, it is reported here, and the death rate is very high. There is said to be no medicine and no medical attendance for them. Great disorder, according to advices received here, is prevalent throughout the Chinese empire. Riots are occurring in nearly all sections. The Chinese are leaving Japan as fast as possible.

Sandbagged and Robbed in Detroit.

DETROIT, Aug. 4.—Nicholas Black, of Glencoe, Ont., came to Detroit and during the evening struck up an acquaintance with a young man. When near the corner of Brush and Franklin streets the stranger suddenly hit Black over the head with a billy, knocking him senseless. He then robbed him of $167 in money. The police are working on the case.

BY THE GUILLOTINE

Santo Caserio Sentenced to Death for the Murder of Carnot.

HE MAINTAINS HIS DEFIANCE

And Receives His Doom With the Usual Anarchic Bravado — His Counsel Gives Notice of an Appeal — The Condemned Makes a Statement.

LYONS, Aug. 4.—There were few people around the Palace of Justice yesterday when the trial of Santo, the assassin of President Carnot, was resumed. The prisoner seemed even more defiant and took his seat with a mocking smile upon his face.

Leblanc, the soldier who was a fellow prisoner with Caserio at Marseilles, testified that Caserio told him that he intended to kill President Carnot, probably at Lyons when the chief magistrate visited that city.

"That is a lie," interrupted Caserio, excitedly, "I never told you or anybody else about my plans."

Leblanc continued: "Caserio confided to me that he was designated by lot."

"That is untrue!" shrieked Caserio.

"How untrue?" asked the soldier, turning to the prisoner. "I said to you after you had made that remark, 'But who would be so bold as to kill President Carnot. I saw him in Paris surrounded by troops and police.' You answered, 'He will be chosen by lot.'"

There was great excitement in court while the prisoner and Leblanc were speaking to each other. Later Leblanc said, "Caserio told me that he had often seen King Humbert in the streets, but he admitted that to kill him it would be necessary to have a rifle and shoot him from the street, as he would be surrounded by soldiers."

"That is a lie," shouted Caserio. "I was never chosen to kill President Carnot. Moreover, absolute liberty of action prevails among anarchists."

When Leblanc's testimony was finished he was conducted to his cell, and the public prosecutor began his address to the jury amid profound silence. The prosecuting attorney reviewed at length all the details of the trial and demanded that the jury should not hesitate to do its duty.

M. Dubreuil, counsel for the defence, followed and made an appeal for the prisoner. At about noon the jury retired, and, after an absence of about a quarter of an hour, during which there was considerable excitement in court, the jury returned and announced a verdict of guilty, and Santo was sentenced to death by the guillotine.

When the death sentence was uttered Santo exclaimed: "Vive la revolution sociale!"

The prisoner was immediately seized by the gendarmes and hurried towards his cell beneath the court house. As he left the court room he cried: "Courage, comrades. Vive la anarchie!"

In spite of his defiant attitude, however, his habitual smile had disappeared from his face. His counsel gave notice of appeal.

The Prisoner's Statement.

"When a child," the prisoner says in his statement, "I believed in God. When I became older I saw that it was not God that created man but that it was man who created God. Though I have been but a short time here I have seen much injustice. The strikers in the north after three months privation were forced to resume work at the same old starvation wages.

"After this act the authorities, not satisfied with punishing these poor wretches, persecuted them and domiciliary visits were made to all persons of our sect. Just as long as these measures are employed so long will we reply with the dagger and with dynamite.

"The last words of the Chicago martyrs were: 'Long live anarchy. Death to society.' These words crossed the ocean and the mountains will resound with them everywhere until the sect's ides prevails. When no longer starving workingmen are driven to suicide and when no longer the sect is persecuted, but the rulers and legislators are extirpated, then will cease the era of exploitations of the workingmen and happiness will reign."

HORSE CAR LINES AT THE FALLS.

The Railway Taken Over by a Toronto Syndicate—Important Changes.

BUFFALO, Aug. 4.—It is stated that the long series of negotiations for a transfer of the horse car line of Niagara Falls, Ont., has at last been successfully accomplished, the price paid for the franchise being $25,000.

The new owners of the road are Alex. Manning, ex-mayor of Toronto, Senator Aikens, Col. Sir C. S. Gzowski, A.D.C., James A. Lowell, M.P., W. M. Gorman, M.P.P., and others. Alex Manning and Senator Aikens are the provisional president and vice-president, respectively, of the new company.

William Kyle, of Toronto, has been the intermediary through whom the negotiations have been successfully completed.

The sum of $5,000 has been paid down. The new company will at an early date discard the horse car system and change to the electric system.

The ultimate intention of the new company is to extend the railroad to Chippewa, thus making a connecting link between the Grand Trunk Railway station to Chippewa and thence by boat to Buffalo. This will be an important addition to the competing routes between Toronto, the Falls and Buffalo.

A Railroader Killed at Tweed.

TWEED, Ont., Aug. 4.—Cornelius Woodcock was killed here yesterday. He was sitting on the back end of a hand car, and had gone some distance when by some means he got his head under the brakes and they came down on it, breaking his neck. He leaves a wife and large family.

A Childish Murderer.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 4.—Mail advices by steamer from Jamaica state that a small child killed its baby brother at Tecory, St. Ann's bay, by stuffing dist in its mouth and then strangling it with a pocket handkerchief. Nothing was done in the matter owing to the youthfulness of the murderer.

THE LICENSE REDUCTION MATTER.

THE Review devotes a column and a half of its valuable space to a denunciation of the action of the License Commissioners for carrying out the town bylaw requiring a reduction of the number of licenses. Fortunately the Commissioners need no defenders; they have performed their duty and in so doing did not consult the Review or the ex-stump politicians who are trying to make capital out of the reduction, as they and the Review would do, no matter who had been relieved of licenses. During the late campaign the cry was on every hustings that there would be no reduction, that the extension of licenses was only a subterfuge to permit the Commissioners to thwart the intentions of the bylaw, and when the reduction is made, and the bylaw carried out, as loud and illogical fault is found with the action of the Commissioners. If the Review and its amanuensis pro tem had kindly signified to the Commissioners whom they would have wished to be cut off, they might have saved themselves a great deal of mental exertion and a great display of debating society eloquence. Even the Review finds no fault with the commissioners in relation to four of the licenses that were cut off, and in respect of two of these the good judgment of the commissioners has been justified by the conviction of two of the hotel keepers for Sunday violation since the reduction was made. Will the temperance people whom the Review quotes or will honest temperance people say that the reduction in these cases was not properly made. There can be no question of doubt in the minds of all right thinking people—there can be no other opinion—than this, there is no use of a church talking temperance while it can be pointed to as aiding and abetting the liquor traffic, by maintaining a hotel on property under its control and ownership, and every right thinking man will concede that the commissioners, in taking an action that removed this reproach, were doing a service to the cause of temperance, (which like every other good cause, suffers in influence by the inconsistency of its advocates), and met the wishes of numerous members of the congregation. The places to which the Review said licenses should not have been issued, are the most strict observers of the requirements of the license law, and if strict observance of the law counts in case of a hotel conducted on church property, and with an expired lease, it should count in the case of places, equally law observant on secular soil and with several years to run of hard and fast leases!

What would suit the Review and the ward politicians who are doing such noble work in the interests of temperance? Especially noble work, considering how new they are to the business. Honest temperance people, who have no party axes to grind, no political capital to create, will hardly thank the Tory organ, which with the shadow of its record of bitter opposition to the Dunkin and Scott Acts, sullies temperance work by dragging it through the mire of political controversy and political intrigue for the sake of advancing the interests of the party it represents. The only thing that would have suited the Review in the matter of license reduction would have been the knifing of six Grits and putting in their places six loud-mouthed Tories.

SOMEONE OUGHT TO BE IN JAIL.

The revelations in connection with the building of the Curran bridge at Montreal, says the Toronto Star (Independent), are simply scandalous. Roguery, jobbery, perjury, robbery seems to be the main constituents of a structure that was supposed to be of stone and iron.

Montreal is not a model city. Boodling contractors and boodling aldermen run the municipal works; boodling contractors and the corrupt politicians of the Mercier crowd long had control of the provincial works and offices in Montreal and by the recent revelations some of the federal works carried on in that city have been in the hands of corrupt officials and corrupting contractors. It would appear as if it were almost impossible to do public work in that city, whether municipal, provincial or federal, without the vultures being around and gorging themselves with public plunder.

From the evidence so far elicited it is evident that as soon as Hon. Mr. Haggart's attention was directed to the matter he discharged the dishonest officials and instituted an investigation. But he and the government must go further. They must prosecute those guilty of the gross crimes and swindling perpetrated, whether officials or contractors.

And besides the corrupt officials and the corrupting contractors it appears to be that a gang of corrupt politicians having headquarters at Montreal have taken advantage of their connection with the Conservative party to perpetrate the swindle in question. The Conservative party had better disown these men also.

It has been decided to admit the Patrons as delegates to the Trades Convention to be held at Ottawa on September 4th. Why should there have been any discussion, as there was, over the question of admitting the Patrons to the Convention? The Patrons have admitted themselves to the Local Legislature rather numerously, and there seems to be no reason why they should not have access to a Trades and Labour Convention.

WHITHER DRIFTING?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Permit me through the valuable columns of your paper to say a few words in regard to Sabbath day observance. I am also glad to say that your columns are not filled with items, bolstering up, or advocating Sunday cars or busses. The Toronto World seems to forget that man has not the making of the Sabbath laws, that over all other laws or by-laws enacted by man, there is one that has never been revoked or repealed and still exists as the divine mandate, and it says, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." The World holds up to ridicule those who have moral stamina enough to withstand the selfish encroachments of the owners of busses and cars, and he hurls at them the bitter sarcasm of his editorial pen, when it should be better employed. I ask the people of Ontario, the land of my birth, "whither drifting?" Are we to allow the fair fame of Canada to be besmirched by those who have no regard for the Lord's day, and who for the attainment of selfish ends, will abrogate His holy laws and bring a curse upon the city of Toronto? God forbid. It's all very well to advance the argument that people must have fresh air. But I want to ask you, as a man, have I any right to another man's property? Of course you say, no. Well then after spending the six days that God has given me to earn my bread, have I a right to use the day set apart for his worship and for rest. It is God's. If I go into a man's store and take money from his till, I steal. The law says I steal, and what if I take that day which is not mine, but God's, am I not a thief, and as a thief shall I not be punished. But, says the World, the people need recreation. There are sacred concerts Sunday evenings on the island and they must also have a Sunday ferry. Yes and pretty soon they will want besides sacred concerts on Sunday, sacred cigars, sacred whiskey, and probably indulge in a sacred spree.

Is it not awful to contemplate. But you see our friend the world has a selfish end in view, an "axe to grind." It has been trying for some time to issue a Sunday paper. So you see Sir, he has selfish ends in view.

Mr. Editor, let me in conclusion refer your readers to the "Reign of Terror" in France, in 1793, when the Sabbath was abolished for six months and people allowed to spend the time in pleasure, in fact Sunday was the day of their public executions.

BEHOLD THE RESULT.

Can you estimate the penalty that France has paid for that six months? From a first-rate power it fell to a fifth-rate power, and I make bold to say that it will never recover. Look at the strikes and panics upon the other side of the border. Is it any wonder that they come upon the nation? No, it is no wonder; we need not think it strange, for I take it as the knell of the downfall of that nation because it allowed the Sabbath to be thus desecrated. Let us have the Sabbath day free from excursions, boats, trolleys and newspapers, and as long as Canada continues to observe God's holy day so long will she be prosperous and happy. But when she begins to grow cold, and relaxes her energy in putting down the encroachment of the Lord's Day, then will she lose her power and her glory will depart from her as from Israel of old, which forgot the Sabbath.

Yours respectfully,
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

How Editors Are Treated in China.

Nineteen hundred editors of a Pekin paper are said to have been beheaded. Some would shudder at such slaughter, who are heedless of the fact that Consumption is ready to fasten its fatal hold on themselves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the efficient remedy for weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, bronchitis, asthma, severe coughs and kindred affections.

Stumps, La Fayette Co., Arkansas.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I will say this to you, that consumption is hereditary in my wife's family; some have already died with the disease. My wife has a sister Mrs. F. A. Cleary, that was taken with consumption. She used your "Golden Medical Discovery," and, to the surprise of her many friends, she got well My wife has also had hemorrhages from the lungs, and her sister insisted on her using the "Golden Medical Discovery." I consented to her using it, and it cured her. She has had no symptoms of consumption for the past six years.

Yours very truly,
W. C. ROGERS, M. D.

A Perfect Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"It affords me much pleasure to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla. My son was afflicted with great pain in the joints, accompanied with swelling so bad that he could not get up stairs to bed without crawling on hands and knees. I was very anxious about him, and having read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, I determined to try it, and got a half-dozen bottles, four of which entirely cured him." MRS. G. A. ## Semper Paratus!

(ALWAYS READY.)

Semper Fidelis!

(ALWAYS FAITHFUL.)

TWO GRAND INSCRIPTIONS.

Applicable Only to Paine's Celery Compound.

The Great Medicine That Makes People Well.

Always ready! Always faithful! What grand words of comfort and cheer to sad and despondent hearts.

We know that there are thousands who need the comforting and blessed assurance that there is a medicine ready for all troubles and emergencies, faithful in its workings, and honest in results.

Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine in the world that can truly and honestly claim for its banners the mottoes, "Always ready!" "Always faithful!"

Past records will substantiate all that is claimed for Paine's Celery Compound. It has saved and cured thousands who were near death's portals; it proved to be the great healer and life-giver after men and women had vainly struggled with other medicines and prescriptions; it restored after physicians uttered the terrible word "Incurable."

To those who groan under the burdens of suffering and disease, we say, with all candor, give Paine's Celery Compound an immediate trial; it has cured thousands afflicted just as you are, and it will surely reach your case and do the same good work.

Mr. A. R. McGruer, of Dixon's Corners, Ont., speaks of his wonderful cure by Paine's Celery Compound as follows:—

"About six months ago my condition of health was alarming and I suffered very much. I was laid up three days out of every week; and I often said to my friends that it would be better, if it was the Lord's will, that I should be called away. Three of the best doctors attended me, but could not relieve me in any way. It was then I was advised to use Paine's Celery Compound, which brought relief at once. After using this great remedy I find myself a new man, and I feel just as bright as a boy of eighteen years. I think it is the greatest medicine in the world, and would strongly recommend it to all who suffer."

A Father and Son Drowned.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 4.—Mail advices from Newfoundland give news of a storm at Grates' Cove, at which place Jacob Snelgrove and his son were drowned by their boat upsetting while getting to land. Neither of the bodies were recovered.

At Mannel station, near St. John's, Mrs. Edward Hoseworthy, aged 67 years, was struck by a train and instantly killed.

Serious Accident to a Teamster.

NIAGARA, Ont., Aug. 4.—David Coleman, a teamster, while coming from St. Catharines on a load of feed, met with a very serious accident yesterday. It seems while coming down a hill he slipped from the load and the wheels of the waggon, which contained over two tons, passed over his ankle, nearly severing it from the limb. Amputation may be necessary.

The Governor-General's Birthday.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 4.—Yesterday was Lord Aberdeen's birthday and deputations from the three national societies—St. George's, North British and Charitable Irish—waited jointly upon Lady Aberdeen and his Excellency and presented them with addresses. The Governor General made a felicitous reply.

Italy Captures a French Spy.

GENOA, Aug. 4.—A Frenchman was arrested as a spy just this side of the French frontier yesterday. He had with him plans of all Italian Alpine forts. Another Frenchman was arrested in Lombardy for suspicious behaviour during the manœuvers.

The Valkyrie Sold.

GLASGOW, Aug. 4.—John Younger, an iron merchant, has purchased at auction for £680 the Valkyrie, which was sunk in a collision with the Satanita.

Teeswater Farmer Killed.

TEESWATER, Ont., Aug. 4.—James Ross, a farmer, living near here, was killed at his own gate by his horse running away and throwing him out of his buggy.

That Tired Feeling

Is a dangerous condition directly due to depleted or impure blood. It should not be allowed to continue, as in its debility the system is especially liable to serious attacks of illness. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for such a condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season, climate or life.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared from the best ingredients. 25 cents.

I was attacked severely last winter with Diarrhœa, Cramps, and Colic and thought I was going to die, but fortunately I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and now I thank this excellent remedy for saving my life.

MRS. S. KELLETT, Minden, Ont.

WELLMAN'S EXPEDITION.

The Owner of the said Compliments the Explorer on His American Pluck.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Mr. Fielden, owner of the yacht Said, which recently carried to Tromso news of Walter Wellman's polar expedition, has in the Standard a letter concerning the report brought south by Captain Battolfan. He writes in a friendly I-told-you-so strain. Wellman appears to have behaved, he says, exactly as one would expect of a plucky American. He seemed to have been compelled to abandon his original scheme and to be turning his efforts to reach Gillerland. If he should succeed it would be a very interesting achievement and would pay Wellman for all his trials and anxiety.

The Standard, in commenting upon Mr. Fielden's letter, says: "If Mr. Wellman succeeds in his Gillerland undertaking he will put the world more in his debt than if he had persevered in his hopeless original programme. But the chances of success are doubtful. All credit is due to Wellman's typical American grit, but he failed to profit from Peary's experience. He arrived too late. It is extremely necessary to send a vessel to his rescue, inasmuch as if the aluminum boats fail he will run a serious risk."

A TRAIN'S ADVENTURES.

Held Up by Robbers and Nearly Destroyed by Dynamite.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4.—Train No. 3 on the San Francisco Railroad was boarded at Eureka Springs, Mo., by three men. They made an assault on the Pacific Express Company's car. The messenger succeeded in closing the door, but got a pistol bullet through the fleshy part of the left hand. The robbers escaped in the darkness. The train carried a large amount of treasure.

The train, after proceeding a short distance from the scene of the shooting, met with another mishap. Near Eureka Station an explosion took place in front of the engine, supposed to have been caused by dynamite. The engine was damaged but nobody was hurt.

An examination afterwards showed that the accomplices of the fellow with whom Express Messenger Ferguson exchanged shots had forced open a car of dynamite that stood on the side track below the station at Eureka and stolen two dynamite cartridges intended for heavy blasting. It is remarkable that the entire train was not destroyed, as the cartridges were put down within a few feet of a car which contained ten tons of dynamite.

WIPED OUT BY FIRE.

A Town in Illinois Devastated—A Michigan Town Suffers Heavily.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., Aug. 4.—Farmer City, a town in Dewitt County, suffered severely by fire this morning. The loss is fully $30,000 and the fire is raging with little opposition, threatening to burn the entire business portion of the city.

HOWARD CITY, Mich., Aug. 4.—Fire this morning destroyed the entire business portion of Lakeview. Forty buildings were burned. Loss $100,000; partially insured.

During the dog-day season, the drain of nervous and vital energy may be counteracted by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In purifying the blood, it acts as a superb corrective and tonic, and enables the system to defy malarial and other climatic influences.

To remove worms of all kinds from children or adults Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is a safe and sure remedy.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER.

Mrs. T. S Hawkins, Chattanooga Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer SAVED MY LIFE. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For Dyspepsia, Liver or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 25c. Sold by Geo. A. Schofield.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please," an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose topay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

A New Feature.

The directors of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society are making special efforts to make the coming exhibition, by all odds, the best of the series. Several new features will be introduced, among which will be a special display in the fine arts department. Mr. D. A. Shaw, the clever artist in oil, has, it is understood, consented to give an exhibition of the work of his brush and pencil, and when it is remembered that his work is of the highest order of art and that his collection is large, there is no doubt that the art department of the Horticultural Exhibition will be one of the finest features of the exhibit and, taken in connection with the other excellent departments, will make the next annual exhibition of the society one of the best, if not the best of the series.

YACHTMEN AT HAMILTON.

Opening of the Annual Regatta of the Canadian Amateur Canoeists.

HAMILTON BEACH, Aug. 4.—About fifteen hundred people lined the shore at Hamilton Beach yesterday to witness the trial heats in connection with the fifteenth annual regatta of the Canadian Association of American Oarsmen. A strong wind from the west had the effect of making the bay course very rough and it was decided to have the events rowed on the lake side of the beach.

Two bookmakers did a slow business, there being comparatively few speculators. The Minnesota four-oared crew were one man short and did not start in the fours, but will row in the senior doubles.

The first heat yesterday for senior fours had four crews down on the card, but the Minnesotas, of St. Paul, Minn., and the New Yorks, of New York, were scratched, leaving the Dons, of Toronto, and Leanders, of Hamilton, to fight it out between them. The former were favorites in the betting and had the race in hand all the way winning by about five lengths without exertion. Dons—Thomas Kenny, bow; Alfred Reynolds, No. 2; Charles Ramie, No. 3; James Hurley, stroke—won. Leankers—W. Wark, bow; W. W. Osborne, No. 2; S. C. Mewburn, No. 3; B. P. Dewar, stroke—second. Time 10.05.

Second heat, senior fours, had three starters, Argonauts of Toronto, Torontos of Toronto and Detroits of Detroit. This was a good race, but the Argonauts had the best of it and won by about three lengths with the Torontos a length ahead of Detroits, who were last.

Argonauts—R. G. Muntz, bow; E. A. Thompson, 2; F. H. Thompson, 3; G. H. Muntz, stroke. Torontos—J. R. Bennett, bow; J. Smyth, 2; W. J. Sheahan, 3; F.S. Wells, stroke. Detroits—F. D. Standish, bow; E. H. Harvey, 2; Emory Clarke, 3; Frank A. Lyon, stroke. Time 9.10.

The Leanders, Dons, Argonauts and Torontos row in finals to-day.

A CORRESPONDENT'S COMMENTS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Being an old hand at temperance work in this town, having been connected with the work for about twenty-five years, I can claim to know something about it. I am somewhat amused to see how zealous some of the new advocates are and how active they are, especially where they can, as they think, make a political point. I notice that a great ado is made by some of the new school advocates over the recent license reductions, and it amuses me, who know all the inside working of the past quarter of a century, to see how very much concerned they are about one particular license that has been cut off. I see by the Review that a temperance gentleman deplores the fate that befel Mr. Croft. I fancy that this person, who ever he is, doesn't know much of the past history of the temperance struggle in Peterborough, or he would not waste much sympathy in the direction of the late proprietor of the Croft House. Let him look back to the time of the Dunkin Bill campaign, when the fight for temperance was, perhaps, the severest struggle that ever took place in Peterborough. What hotelkeeper actively and offensively insulted every man who had the courage of his convictions and stood up for temperance? Probably the Review will inform the present day apprentices in temperance work who invented the "Willoughby Bitters," the "Dumble on Ice," the "Stratton Straight," the "Mason Sour," the "Flavelle Cocktail," and other beverages, disguised to defeat the law. Probably, without exception, no hotelkeeper has said so much, has been so loud mouthed and foul mouthed, has said more insulting things of temperance workers and has done more mean work in this direction than the suddenly estimable hotelkeeper in question; and it is simply disgusting to see alleged temperance men attempt to champion a character that has done more than any one man in Peterborough to obstruct the temperance cause and abuse its advocates. And, for my part, as a man who has always supported temperance, I heartily endorse the action of the Commissioners in cutting off those hotel keepers who have been repeatedly fined for breaking the law, and the one who has been so bitter and unscrupulous an abuser of temperance workers. It is a well known fact to temperance people that no law can be enforced so long as Mr. Cavanagh is in the business, as he has no respect for any law. Mr. Connors, who was not granted a license, was only saved by the clemency of the magistrate from being committed to jail on a third offence. Mr. Rountree's hotel accommodation is the bar, and the Sunday reputation of the hotel called the Little Windsor is well known. If law is to be enforced in the interests of temperance I fail to see where the Commissioners were in error in the course they took in this matter of license reduction.

Yours truly,
OLD-TIME TEMPERANCE.

August 3rd, 1894.

CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

Arrangements Completed for the Very Best Exhibition of the Series.

The directors of the Central Exhibition are energetically moving in the direction of completing arrangements for one of the best and doubtless the best exhibition ever held in Peterborough or the Midland district. The prize lists have been completed and contain many new features. The cash prizes have been increased in many classes so that the inducements for competition in the several solid departments will draw out an unusually large exhibit.

THE SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS

and special features have received special attention. In addition to the speeding in the ring, there will be exhibitions of high wire walking, acrobatic acts, lacrosse matches, baseball matches, etc. A baloon ascension with a startling parachute drop will be one of the special features. Arrangements are about completed for the engagement of a lady balooniste who will make an ascension accompanied by a dog, and both will make separate parachute drops. A night ascension will also be made by a man during the fireworks display which will be the best and most brilliant ever presented in Peterborough. While in mid air the aeronaut will discharge from his baloon showers of silver and gold rain, stars, serpents, etc. This will decidedly be the most novel and brilliant event ever presented in Peterborough. Another striking and beautiful feature will be a floating parachute of fire. Remember the date of the exhibition, September, 24th, 25th, and 26th.

LABOUR DAY IN PETERBOROUOH.

Everything Points to a Successful Demonstration on Monday, Sept. 3rd

The committee composed of members of the different trades unions and the Trades and Labour Council held a very successful and enthusiastic meeting last night. The programme for the labour demonstration was drafted, will be carried out and Peterborough will have the most successful demonstration on Labour Day ever held in its history.

The programme presented is far ahead of the one carried out last Labour Day, being on a grander scale. It is proposed to hold a grand trades procession in the morning, when all trades will be represented in the march. In the afternoon at the Driving Park a programme of athletic sports, horse races, bicycle races, etc., will be run off for valuable prizes. Baseball and lacrosse matches will also be played between well known clubs in the district for valuable trophies.

It has been further suggested that the different Patrons of Industry lodges, of the county, be invited to unite with the labour unions of the town in the celebration of the day, and it is thought that the invitation will be accepted.

A committee was appointed to visit Orillia, Belleville, Perth and other points to arrange excursions to Peterborough, on this day.

The demonstration promises to be a very successful one and the committee in charge state that a large number of people from a distance will flock to Peterborough on Labour Day.

Beware of Green Fruit.

Now that the heated term is approaching, people should pay particular attention to their diet, above all things avoiding unripe fruit and stale vegetables, which invariably bring on Cramps, Cholera Morbus, or Diarrhœa. Children are particularly subject to complaints of this kind, and no mother can feel safe without having a bottle of Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER within easy reach. It is a safe, sure, and speedy cure for the disorders named, and no family medicine chest is complete without it. Ask for the Big 25c. bottle.

BASEBALL.

Lakefield has received a challenge from Auburn to play a game on the 11th.

At a recent baseball match in Lindsay between Uxbridge and a team of that town, a partisan umpire, the Watchman says, gave such rank decisions that the spectators took possession of the diamond, and let the poor umpire know their opinion of his capabilities "in terms more forcible than eloquent."

Dr. Fairbanks has resigned the position as manager of the Cobourg baseball team.

The Cuban Giants, of New York, will play ball at Cobourg, Aug. 22nd.

A game of baseball was played on the Exhibition grounds, Lakefield, yesterday, between the wine clerks and Peterboroughs. Both teams drove out in the morning. A very good game was witnessed by a large number of spectators. The score stood 14 to 12 in favour of the Peterboroughs.

LACROSSE.

The secretary of the Granites has received word that Millbrook will be here on Tuesday. As the Peterborough's play Beaverton on that date an effort will be made to postpone the Millbrook match until Friday.

Beaverton intends sending a strong team to play Peterborough on Tuesday next. Peterborough will see a first class match on this occasion. Beaverton is a tie with Orillia in the Northern District championship.

SEVEN HUNDRED DELEGATES EXPECTED.

To Attend the High Court of the Independent Order of Foresters in Peterborough on Tuesday, August 14th.

The High Court of the Independent Order of Foresters will meet in the court house in Peterborough, on Tuesday, Aug. 14th. The members of Court Chemong No. 530, I. O. O. F., are making extensive arrangements for the entertainment of the brethren during their stay in Peterborough. It is expected that between seven and eight hundred delegates will be present from all over Ontario and will arrive Monday evening and by the early trains Tuesday morning, the first session of the court opening at 10 o'clock on the 14th. The different hotels of the town have furnished reasonable rates. The headquarters of the executive board will be at the Oriental.

At this session many important questions will be discussed. The matter of greatest importance which will come up for settlement will be the division of Ontario into two high court jurisdictions. Eastern court members will be on hand in great numbers to argue their side of the question.

Among the prominent members of the Order who will be present are: Dr. Oronhyatekha, M. D., S. C. R.; E. Botterell, P. S. C. R., Ottawa; John A. McGillivray, Q. C., S. Sec., Toronto, and others.

MRS. LANGLEY'S CASE.

Despatches to American Papers From London Cause a Furore Among the Good People of Lansing, Mich.

LANSING, Mich., July 23.—A despatch to a local paper from London, Ont., concerning a former resident of this city, has created a furore among our people. Mrs. Wm. Langley, of 21 Euclid Ave., London South, was during the latter years of her residence here, constantly subject to fits, which doctors of this city and Detroit failed to cure. The despatch received here says that Mrs. Langley is now completely cured. Two months ago she began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. From the first she improved and now is perfectly well. The natural inference is that her fits were caused by diseased kidneys, for which there is no remedy equal to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Madill's Dyspepsia Powders give quick relief for indigestion or dyspepsia. 35c a box.

A TRIP TO EUROPE.

The Cost May be Less Than Two Dollars a Day if You Choose.

A correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle, who, with a friend, had a six months' trip abroad, has the following to say regarding the expense incident to the outing:

It was exactly five months from the day we left New York to the day when we saw Sandy Hook light again. We went first to Glasgow, doing Scotland, England and London; then we visited Holland and then Belgium, followed the Rhine to Mayence, and thence by Frankfort and Leipsig to Berlin. From Berlin we went to Dresden, Munich, Innsbruck in the Tyrol into Italy, seeing Verona, Venice, Florence, Rome, Pisa, Genoa and Milan. Then we went over the St. Gothard to Lucerne and Switzerland, thence to Paris, London, Windsor, Oxford, Stratford, Chester and Liverpool. We tramped for several days in Scotland, for a week among the English lakes and for two weeks in the Alps. We stayed at native inns and hotels, except in the largest cities, where we usually took lodgings. We went second cabin in steamships and second and third class on railroads. Our luggage consisted simply of a camera and two knapsacks. Our knowledge of foreign languages was confined to a limited command of German, which stood us in good stead in Austria, Italy and Switzerland. Had we known Italian and French our expenses would have been less.

Our living expenses for the whole time, not including the days on the days on the ocean, averaged 75 cents to each of us. Railroad and steamer fares averaged 97 cents each. Thus $1 72 was the whole actual cost per diem. Careful and detailed accounts of the expenses on our trip were made and preserved. These figures, showing railroad, steamer and living expenses, are actual, not estimates. The railroad and steamship expenses from New York through England and the Continent and return were $144 32 each. The living expenses, including all daily incidentals, for the two of us per week were as follows:

| Scotland and Edinburg | $13 73 |
| English lakes | 15 30 |
| Cathedral towns and London | 13 50 |
| London | 12 08 |
| London, Holland and Belgium | 12 54 |
| Germany | 11 75 |
| Germany—Berlin | 9 37 |
| Germany | 11 36 |
| Austria and Italy | 11 91 |
| Italy—Rome | 10 51 |
| Italy and Switzerland | 10 88 |
| Switzerland | 9 37 |
| Paris | 10 63 |
| Paris | 8 91 |
| Paris and London | 7 98 |
| London | 6 91 |
| London and England | 7 18 |
| Total | $186 79 |

It is to be noticed that the cheapest week was in London, the cost of living being less than 50 cents each day. As a rule, the living expenses in the large cities were considerably less than elsewhere. We spent more than half the time in the great capitals—six weeks in London, three in Paris, two in Berlin and one in Rome. It was our plan to secure lodgings where we remained a week or more. In London we had a pleasant room in Russell Square only a few minutes from the British Museum, Holborn and the city. Our rent was 8 shillings a week or 15 cents each a day. On Holborn we found a restaurant where a substantial roast beef dinner could be had for from 6 pence up. Very often we took our breakfast in our room. It consisted of coffee, rolls and butter, cold meat, jam, etc. This was made possible by a small alcohol stove and a supply of provisions.

In Berlin we had a large and very comfortable front room containing two beds, a lounge, armchair, grate, piano, etc., which cost us 15 marks for the two weeks, or 13 cents cents a day each.

In Paris we paid even less for a room at a hotel. We were nearly always fortunate in having a definite place in mind before arriving in a city. This came to us by diligence and perseverance in conversing with fellow travelers. We always made it a rule to arrive early in a town so that we could secure rooms to advantage. We asked questions without stint, and prevented ourselves from being swindled by making definite bargains at the beginning.

Scrofula humors and all diseases caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

DEAR SIRS,—I was suffering very much from diarrhœa, and could get nothing to cure me. A friend told me of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and a few doses completely cured me.

Bicycle Tires of Paper.

It is claimed in an Eastern journal that a process is now under way which, if successful, will be the means of introducing a pneumatic paper tire for bicycle wheels. Leather has been tried, but does not work well, the journal in question adds. There are several reasons why attempts are being made to introduce a substitute for rubber. The two principal ones are the cost and the ease with which rubber tires are "pricked" by sharp stones or pieces of glass, thus necessitating the bicyclist carrying an equipment of plasters and a pump. That the rubber tire now in use, especially when made on the pneumatic principle, is good for the rider and the machine cannot be doubted, but the great point now is to get the bicycle down to where the workman can purchase. Bicycles at $100 to $150, or even $65, are beyond the reach of many. The substitution of paper tires for rubber means a discount on the price of the bicycles of about $12. Two rubber pneumatic tires cost $20 when on the wheel. Two pneumatic paper tires will cost but $8 when on the wheel. The paper tire has proven as good, substantial and elastic as the rubber. In fact there are several points about it which make it superior. The life of a rubber tire is two seasons. The projectors of the paper tires state that the life of these will be five years more.

A GRATEFUL GIRL.

The Experience of a Young Lady in Montreal Who Expected to Die—How Her Life was Saved.

From LaPatrie, Montreal.

The duty of a newspaper is not simply to convey news to its readers, but to give such information as will be of value to them in all walks of life and this, we take it, includes the publication of such evidence as will warrant those who may unfortunately be in poor health, giving a fair trial to the remedy that has proved of lasting benefit to others. LaPatrie having heard of the cure of a young lady living at 147 St. Charles Borrome street, of more than ordinary interest, determined to make an investigation of the case with a view to giving its readers the particulars. The reporter's knock at the door was answered by a young person neatly dressed and showing all the appearance of good health. "I came to inquire," said the reporter, "concerning the young lady cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"In that case it must be myself," said the young girl smiling, "for I have been very sick and laid up with heart disease, and some months ago thought I would soon sleep in in Cote des Neiges cemetery. Won't you come in and sit down and I will tell you all about it?"

The young girl, whose name is Adrienne Sauve, is about 19 years of age. She stated that some years ago she became ill and gradually the disease took an alarming character. She was pale and listless, her blood was thin and watery, she could not walk fast, could not climb a stair, or do in fact any work requiring exertion. Her heart troubled her so much and the palpitations were so violent as to frequently prevent her from sleeping at night, her lips were blue and bloodless, and she was subject to extremely severe headaches. Her condition made her very unhappy for being an orphan, she wanted to be of help to the relatives with whom she lived, but instead was becoming an incumberance. Having read of the wonders worked by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Miss Sauve determined to give them a trial. After using one or two boxes she began to revive somewhat and felt stronger than before. She slept better and the colour began to return to her cheeks, and a new light shone in her eyes. This encouraged her so much that she determined to continue the treatment, and soon the heart palpitations and spasms which had made her life miserable passed away, and she was able to assist once more in the household labour. To-day she feels as young and as cheerful as any other young and healthy girl of her age. She is very thankful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for her, and feels that she cannot too highly praise that marvellous remedy. Indeed her case points a means of rescue to all other young girls who find that health's roses have flown from their cheeks, or who are tired on slight exertion, subject to fits of nervousness, headaches and palpitation of the heart. In all such cases Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an unfailing remedy. Sold by all dealers, or sent by mail post paid, at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. Beware of imitations and substitues alleged to be "just as good."

A Little Daughter

Of a Church of England minister cured of a distressing rash, by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mr. RICHARD BIRKS, the well-known Druggist, 207 McGill st., Montreal, P. Q., says:

I have sold Ayer's Family Medicines for 40 years, and have heard nothing but good said of them. I know of many performed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one in particular being that of a little daughter of a Church of England minister. The child was literally covered from head to foot with a red and exceedingly troublesome rash, from which she had suffered for two or three years, in spite of the best medical treatment available. Her father was in great distress about the case, and, at my recommendation, at last began to administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which effected a complete cure, much to her relief and her father's delight. I am sure, were he here to-day, he would testify in the strongest terms as to the merits of

BIRDS OF THE OCEAN.

SCHOOL OF FLYING FISH CHASED BY AN ARMY OF TUNAS.

An Interesting Study When Everything is Calm—They Fly at the Rate of Twenty-five to Thirty Miles an Hour—Their Appearance.

The channel of Santa Calatina, off the southern coast of California, is a famous fishing-ground. Here is the cruising-ground for the great tuna and the barracuda, and here the largest of the flying fishes, the exocortus, makes its home, performing prodigies in feats of aerial flight, writes C. F. Holder, in the St. Louis Republic.

I was watching the sea from the top of a lofty hill one day when my eye caught a singular mass of foam two or three miles away, covering an area of possibly a square mile. It was extraordinary, as there was a dead calm. But soon I found the moving foam-spot was caused by large fishes leaping from the water and hurling themselves into the air. This mass was slowly advancing up the channel, parallel with the island, and thinking to intercept it I ran down to the bay and with a companion, by dint of hard pulling, placed my boat directly in the course of the column.

The water about our boat was soon fairly alive with flying fishes darting this way and that, many struggling along exhausted; and now as the great foam mass itself approached we saw the excitement was occasioned by a school of tuna, the great horse mackerel of the Pacific, a repacious, heavy fish from six to eight feet in length. The tunas were migrating to the north and driving before them the school of flying-fishes. They shot up from below like gigantic darts and went quivering into the air eight or ten feet, then turned, the perfection of grace, and dived back. Others dashed along the surface, creating great white caps; others again whirled over and over in mad race.

Looking at the sight from the boat the air all about seemed filled with rising and falling fish, whose size and activity caused us to stop and think what would be the result should one land in our light craft. It can be told in a sentence—the fish would have gone through the planking like pasteboard.

The air being literally full of the flying fish, I had an opportunity to study their manner of flight. There was an absolute calm, the only disturbance being that caused by the plunging of the tuna. I was struck first by the length of the flights. Fishes would appear, coming from so far away that the spot could not be located and would disappear still in the air. Many were evidently closely followed by a tuna, as just as the tired fish would strike the water a gleaming form would rise beneath it. Again a watchful tuna would dash into the air to capture the fish, as would a hawk in mid air; and in one instance which I particularly noted the tuna struck its prey and sent it several feet into the air, making it whirl about like a wind-mill, its shining wings carrying out the illusion.

I allowed the boat to drift amid this strife, and my companion, anxious to develop a new phase of sport, amused himself with his gun, taking the flying-fish on the wing as he would quail or grouse, employing the tunas to flush the game; and that they retrieved it for their own purposes there could be but little doubt.

Two or three flying-fishes were always within gunshot, and the opportunity was a most favorable one for determining the much-discussed question as to whether the flying-fish flies or merely soars. Usually they are observed from the deck of a vessel and but for a few seconds, but on this occasion I stood up and permitted the fish to pass over the boat within ten inches of my face, so that if I had had a kodak I might have taken the beautiful creatures in the air. In fact, at one time it required some little skill to avoid the fish that bombarded us. One came on about four feet from the water, a great tuna having leaped after it twice. It was headed directly for me as I stood amidship, and I could have intercepted its course by a single movement of my hand, yet the fish did not alter its course in the least. I think that it was crazed with fear by its enemy, the tuna, and thought of nothing else. It came on, with its spread wings and great staring black eyes, and as it passed I leaned forward and had my face within two feet of it. The fins or wings were not moved; they appeared to be locked or held firm. The rate of speed was not extremely rapid, possibly 25 or 30 miles an hour, so that the position and appearance of the fish were not easily observed.

Following this came another; so rapidly that I shouted a warning to my companion, who turned quickly, but the fish struck him a sounding blow on the shoulder, and fell fluttering into the water, badly injured. In the momentary glance I caught all the features of this fish, and it impressed me as a ship under full sail with everything drawing. It was perfectly balanced, the body parallel with the water; the tail did not droop but kept its normal elevation.

That so large a fish could make such a sustained flight is remarkable, as all these fish were sixteen or seventeen inches long and bulky. In appearance they resembled huge dragon-flies, the long widely spread pectoral fins carrying out the idea of wings. The tail was unique, the lower lobe being the longest. The anal fins were expanded fully—the stern sails of this aerial ship. With the sun light flashing on their lace-like wings and sparkling on their silvery sides, the fishes as they dashed away presented a most attractive sight.

As they rose from the water near the boat, it was easy to see how the story of the flapping of wings came to be accented. As the tunas rushed about, the flying-fishes would dash away, generally at the surface, and finally, when hard pushed, darting out of the water at a sharp angle. When the head first protruded the side fins were folded, but the tail, or caudal fin, was whirling like the screw of a propellor. The tail seemed the motive power in every instance. As soon as the fish rose a little higher or got its fins in the air, they instantly became spread and began to vibrate rapidly but not with a flying motion. A tremulous wave, or series of waves, seemed to pass over them and it was occasioned by the violent movement of the tail. The tail was the motive power which gave the body all its violent contortion. Once clear of the water, the tail ceased its motion. The side and lower fins became fixed and the fish sped away; not flying, but supported in the air by the wing-like fins which acted as parachutes. The momentum acquired by rising the tail forced the fish ahead and the fins prevented it from falling. In all instances the method of procedure was the same.

The flight, as I have said, was extraordinary in its length, ranging from one sixteenth to one eighth of a mile, sometimes longer, for the flier would pass entirely out of sight still on the wing.

The tunas must have numbered hundreds, and were driving the terrified flying fishes up the coast at a speed of about five miles an hour. Returning to the shore and ascending a high elevation, I saw the white caps six or seven miles away, showing that the reign of terror was still in progress. The flying-fishes were driven in shore in great numbers, many flying into boats and out on to the beach in their efforts to escape the common enemy.

A FEW SMILES AT LIFE.

THE VERY GOOD STORIES BY CHARLES NEWTON HOOD.

The Test of Good Old Deacon Hall's Christianity—His Remedy for the Old Mooley's Ill-Temper—How They Gathered the Harvest.

Good old Deacon Hall's Christianity was of the right sort.

It was a long time before the rest of us came to realize it. We couldn't appreciate that that man could live who was always calm, who always smiled, who turned the other cheek, who had never been known to lose his temper or do unto others as he would not that others should do unto him, and who explained it all by saying that it was simply because he loved the Lord.

It irritated the rest of us who worked with him. We who swore, and complained and raved over little annoyances. We couldn't understand it. He must be acting. Sometimes, when he was alone, the mask must be off. He must have his little bursts of temper when no one was near. What a relief it would seem to us to be near at hand, though unseen, when one of these explosions should occur, and so it came about that the rest of us laid a snare.

We were four who worked together on the homestead farm, the two hired men, Tom and Lew, Deacon Hall, who lived in the tenant-house, and I.

The Deacon owned a mild little mooley cow, and every night he talked to her, all alone in the general barnyard, after supper. So, one calm summer evening after a particularly long, hot, harrassing day in the fields, we slipped out quickly after supper and concealed a cruel arrangement of wicked burs about that heifer's person in such a way that the gentle creature would certainly do her share to arouse the Deacon's wrath so certain as he ever attempted to milk her. Then we hid ourselves in the stable close by, with an eye to a crack or a knot-hole and waited.

Presently the Deacon appeared. He had a bright tin milk-pail in one hand and a milking-stool in the other, and as he came along he sang, "On Jordan's stormy banks I stand——"

"Soo, Molly, old girl, pretty hot day for all of us Lord's creatures, ain't it!"

Molly said nothing, but she had a wild and uneasy look about her, and the deacon had to follow her several times around the yard before she would stand still and "Hist" at all, and then, as soon as the old man had got fairly seated, she suddenly changed her mind and ran half way around the yard. It must have been annoying, but the deacon only sang:

"All we like sheep have gone astray," and followed her.

This time he got the pail nearly half full in spite of the heifer's wild lungings of the head, stampings and uneasy moving about, when suddenly, goaded beyond all endurance, she gave a desperate bellow and kicked, a most terrific kick, which sent the milk pail, stool and deacon in a wild, rolling jumble over into one of the muddiest, filthiest corners of the yard. Now our time had come. We rolled over and over on the hay, bursting with restrained laughter and listening intently for the storm which was sure to follow.

The old man picked himself up from the mud and dirt, while the milk dripped off from him in streams, surveyed the battered milk-pail ruefully, rubbed one or two apparently tender places on his shins and then drawled out: "Now, I tell you, Molly, old girl, that wasn't Christian-like, an' you've jest got to stop sech actin' up or I'll jest sing you a psalm."

As an after-dinner pill, to strengthen the stomach, assist digestion, and correct bilious tendencies, Ayer's Pills are considered the best. Being sugar-coated, they are as agreeable as any confection, and may be taken by the most delicate.

TWENTY-SEVEN PROTESTS.

List of Election Petitions Further Swelled—North Toronto, North Ontario and Halton the Latest Additions.

Toronto, August 3rd,—Three more Provincial election petitions were lodged with the Registrar of the Court of Appeal at Osgoode Hall, yesterday.

The petition of Alexander Brown, of the city of Toronto, formerly a bookseller in Yonge street, was filed by Messrs. Kerr, Macdonald, Davidson & Paterson against the return of Mr. G. F. Marter, Conservative, for North Toronto. The petition, besides the usual charges, contains allegations that the respondent was before and during the election, a member of the Protestant Protective Association, a secret society, which carried on its operations in the electorial district in question, and one of the rules of which was that the members should vote for the candidates endorsed by the Association at all elections for members of the Legislative Assembly for Ontario; that the association and a majority of the members in North Toronto, before and during the election endorsed the candidature of Mr. Marter and endeavoured to have him returned, and acted as his agents, and, in order to secure his election and return, the different individuals composing lodges of the association by force, intimidation, coercion, duress and threats of expulsion from the order, and otherwise compelled many voters to vote for Mr. Marter or to abstain from voting against him in order to bring about his return, whereby the result was affected. There is also a charge that Mr. Marter was the custodian of a fund raised from contractors and others which was expended in debauching the electorate in North Toronto and other electoral districts.

Messrs. Willoughby, Cameron & Lee lodged the petition of Albert Edward Cross of the township of Trafalgar, carpenter, praying that the election of William Kerns, Conservative, as M.P.P. for Halton may be declared void for bribery, personation and other illegal and corrupt practices by the respondent and his agents. This petition contains the "P.P.A. clause" in precisely the words used in the North Toronto case.

The return of Mr. T. W. Chapple, Liberal, as member for North Ontario, is complained of by Robt. E. Bryant of the Township of Brock, implement agent in a petition filed by Messrs. Laidlaw, Kappele & Bicknell. The usual charges are made, with the addition that Mr. Chapple is ineligible to hold his seat by reason of his being the incumbent of an office under Government or interested in a contract with Government, no particulars being given.

In all 27 petitions have now been filed in the following order:

West Hamilton, Hon. J. M. Gibson, Liberal.
East Toronto, Dr. G. S. Ryerson, Conservative.
South Renfrew, R. A. Compbell, Liberal.

YOUNG LAMONT'S CASE.

Neighbors Much Interested in the Story — Everyone Thought the Youngster Would Die but he's Very Much Alive Now.

DUNDALK, July 30.—Hugh Lamont, of McIntyre, has a young son who is an object of interest throughout this whole section of country. From infancy the boy had dropsy, and was bloated and swollen all over. It seemed to the parents that death could be the only release to one attacked so young by this disease. They heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and began giving them to the child. With the first box, the bloating and swelling began to disappear. Six boxes effected a perfect cure and the boy is now just as healthy a youngster as stirs up the dust on the high roads of Western Ontario.

A NOticeable Improvement Each Day.

You Joyfully See Baby Grow Fat and Healthy when Fed on Lactated Food.

The present summer has given ample proof that more Lactated Food is consumed by the babies of Canada than of all other foods combined.

Mothers strongly and cheerfully praise it for its many good qualities. Physicians emphatically declare it to be the best that science has produced. All agree that it is the ideal food for infants during the hot and sultry weather, and it is a preventive of cholera infantum, dysentery and diarrhœa.

Once tried for the baby, Lactated Food is always the favourite and mothers will use no other.

Mrs. Wm. McWhirter, of Boulter, Ont., writes as follows:—"Pleased find enclosed one dollar, for which I wish you to send me Lactated Food. I used your trial tin, and I must say it is a grand food. I could see a great improvement on my baby every day your Lactated Food was used."

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, August 4, 1894.

The local grain markets can barely be said to be alive. Prices are merely nominal and all the stuff being bought is wholly for local consumption.

The Chicago grain market was unsteady, but the general tendency was lower. Wheat closed ½ to 5 8c lower. Corn 1-4 to 5 8c lower and oats 1-8 to 1-2c higher.

East Liberty, Pa.—Sheep—Receipts light; market dull at unchanged prices; extra, $3.10 to $3.30; good, $2.80 to $3; fair, $1.75 to $2.25; common, 50c to $1; yearlings, $1.50 to $3.25; lambs, $2 to $3.50.

St. Louis.—Sheep—Receipts, 420; quiet, prices irregular. It was impossible to obtain more than $3.20 for the best kind of lambs on sale, but there was nothing that can be considered. Heavy sheep sold at $2.50 and light at $2.25.

Buffalo.—Cattle—Only one car on sale; dull, unchanged. Sheep and lambs—Eight cars; choice lambs better at $3.50 to $3.75; extra might have sold up to $4, but none here. Hogs—Twelve cars; dull, lower; $5.30 was the top price for fancy porkers and pigs, with $5.25 to $5.35 the ruling price for all choice grades.

FRANTIC WITH ITCHING

And Itching, Would Scratch, Blood Ran Down His Limbs. Forced to Take to His Bed. Whole Body Affected. Doctor after Doctor without Cure. Instant Relief, Speedy Cure by Using Cuticura Remedies.

My sufferings might have been stopped if I had only known of your CUTICURA REMEDIES eighteen years ago. I contracted the fever and ague, and it affected my kidneys so badly that I had to have an operation, from which resulted blood poison, and I suffered untold agonies. To make my sufferings more, my left leg below the knee broke out in large blood boils, and commenced a scaly, itching irritation, so that at times I was almost frantic, and would scratch until the blood would trickle down my leg. In the summer these large boils would commence, during which time I would have three or four which were so painful that at times I was forced to take to my bed. Every winter a dry leather scaly mass would gather on my leg, which with the boils, seemed to affect my whole system. During all this time, a period of three to nine months, I had doctor after doctor, but they gave me only temporary relief. This last fall I commenced using your CUTICURA, CUTICURA SOAP, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and now the scales have all gone, the itching all gone, I have not felt sick, and have worked all winter. I would not suffer again as I have for the past eighteen years for anything. I had doctors from the west to the east, all to no purpose. I have not felt so well or been so long without a sick spell since taking your remedies. Thanks to them and to you, and the great Maker of mankind for my returning health.

THE WAR IN THE ORIENT

China Intriguing in European Countries for Men and Ships.

LI HUNG CHANG'S DOWNFALL

The Report That He Has Been Deprived of the Order of the Yellow Jacket Discredited in London—Rebellion Feared in China.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The grave questions for Europe and especially for England arising out of the war in the east are already seriously disturbing diplomatic and commercial circles. It is so long since a state of war between important powers existed that the respective governments, including the British, will find much difficulty in enforcing strict laws of neutrality. It is virtually necessary for China to provide herself with immense quantities of war material, and it is already known that she is willing to pay fabulous prices. It is a fact she is busily intriguing in England, Germany, Belgium and Italy for the purchase of ships and ammunition and to engage men. It is an almost open secret in certain circles in London that she is making tireless efforts to assemble a fleet in a certain continental port from which it could soon be despatched by an indirect route to the seat of war. The name of a certain well-known ex-officer of the British navy is whispered about as commander of the expedition. It is argued that the fine man-of-war Alaska, on which the Thames Iron Company is putting the finishing touches, can still be secured without violating the neutrality laws. The vessel was built for a South American Republic which is too poor to complete the contract. It is also believed China is offering enormous bribes to certain South American States for the purchase of warships not needed just now by the present owners.

The Japanese legation here has received information leading them to believe that valuable cargoes are now leaving San Francisco and Vancouver for China on vessels which stop first at Yokohama. They telegraphed their government's yesterday to intercept them.

It is apparent that the news from both China and Japan must be carefully weighed before its credibility can be estimated. Even official announcements are open to suspicion, especially those from Chinese sources. The most important and ominous news yet received is that regarding the Emperor's rebuke of Li Hung Chang. Great doubt of the truth of this report is expressed in London, but its source makes it entitled to more credence than anything yet received from China. The correspondent of the Central News in Tien-Tsin, who has sent three despatches on the subject, is not only one of the most influential foreigners in China, but also the close personal friend of the great Viceroy whose disgrace he describes. If the deprivation of the highest honor, the order of the Yellow Jacket, meant that the veteran statesman was deposed from power, it would bode ill for China in the coming war and for all foreigners in her borders. But all persons here who understand Chinese ways says it implies merely a rebuke intended to stimulate the Prime Minister to greater efforts against the enemy. He suffered a similar indignity twenty years ago, but speedily regained his lost influence and still greater power. The principal fear is, perhaps, that the young Emperor, who is now only 23 years old, has suddenly taken the reins of government in his own hands, overthrowing the influence of the dowager Empress, who has been the real head of affairs for many years.

The only hope of cutting short the war at the outset lies in England taking advantage of the Kow Shing affair to interpose decisively. This subject is engaging the active attention of the British cabinet, and public feeling on the matter is becoming very strong. It can no longer be doubted that the transport ship carried the British flag when she was attacked, but the Japanese are by no means without defence for their action.

The Japanese legation here has received this despatch from Tokio: "Gen. Oshima, commanding the troops in Corea, reports that after severe fighting from 3 to 8 a. m. on July 29, he won a decisive victory over the Chinese army entrenched at Kashan. Every entrenchment was taken and more than 500 out of 2,800 Chinese troops were killed and wounded. Our casualties were five officers and 70 men killed and wounded. The enemy dispersed and fled toward Hong Chow, intending perhaps to avail themselves of the Corean boats. In the vicinity of Gensan our troops captured many flags, much ammunition and four guns. Gen. Oshima eventually established his headquarters at Kashan."

National Feeling at Fever Heat.

A dispatch to the Central News from Shanghai says: "It is reported that there has been another engagement off the Corean coast in which three Chinese warships were captured by the Japanese. The report has not been confirmed.

"A Japanese mob attacked the Chinese residents in Kobe a day or two ago, severely maltreating them. A riot ensued in which many were injured.

"A Chinese mob in Taku insulted the members of the Japanese legation as they were returning home from Pekin. The mob's actions led to a tumult, which was tardily suppressed by the authorities.

"The Japanese in Canton have been attacked a number of times by roughs, but so far there has been no serious trouble there.

"The European municipal council of Shanghai has warned the volunteers to be ready to act promptly in the event of rioting or incendiarism.

"The Smith and Cass coasting vessels, which now fly the American flag, have been forbidden by the American consul to land munitions of war in Formosa."

The officials of the Chinese legation in London say that they have received no information concerning the naval engagement mentioned in the foregoing despatch. They also propose to regard the fight of July 29 as a trifling and overrated affair.

The Kow Shing Affair.

The Standard maintains that despite every excuse deducible from later reports there is nothing that exonerates Japan from the charge of brutality and barbarism toward the Chinese. Not long ago, it says, an incident like the Kow Shing affair would have immediately brought a British squadron to Tokio. The Standard proposes that Russia and England jointly demand that both China and Japan withdraw their forces from Corea forthwith and entrust the government of the peninsula to an international conference. "Failing in this," the Standard says, "we must anticipate a very anxious period, and no time should be lost in increasing the British squadron in the far east."

Referring to the Kow Shing affair the Daily Chronicle says: "It is not easy to see what else the Japanese could have done. Soldiers who will not retreat or surrender must take the chance of being killed."

The Fight at Yashan.

The Chronicle says that there is good reason to believe that the battle reported to have been fought on July 29 is identical with the two days' battle referred to on August 1, when the Japanese were said to have repeatedly attacked the Chinese entrenched at Yashan and to have been repulsed at all points with heavy loss. The Chronicle considers the earlier story a Chinese invention.

American Volunteers for Japan.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 6.—One of the young men who wrote to the Japanese Minister at Washington offering to enter the service of the Mikado in the war with China holds a commission in a National Guard company of this city and at least a half dozen of his comrades are members of his company. All the signers of the offer are residents of Cleveland and among them several well-known in society circles. This list was signed by adventurous young men.

China's Internal Crisis.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—There are internal symptoms in the south of China—writes a Shanghai correspondent under date of June 29—which are regarded as infinitely more menacing the Empire than war with Japan would be. Placards of the most seditious and savage sort are circulated by secret societies in Kwantung and Kwangsi. The authorities are very much frightened, though they endeavor to conceal the truth.

A conspiracy as wide spread as that of the Taipings is known by well-informed persons to be only waiting a favorable moment to raise the standard of revolt.

VIGILANT WINS THE RACE.

The Prince of Wales' Cutter Beaten on the Royal Yacht Course.

COWES, Aug. 6.—The Vigilant retrieved her reputation on Saturday in a splendid tussle for a prize of $500 over the course of the Royal Yacht squadron. She beat the Prince of Wales' cutter, the Britannia, in a brisk breeze that held almost true from start to finish, over a course of 48 nautical miles, along a third of which was in the open water of the English channel. There was a channel sea, celebrated for its choppiness, supposed to be resistless to American models, which did not materially interfere with the triumphant progress of the white New York sloop.

The speed of the racers will best illustrate the kind of a breeze that drove them over the course. The Vigilant never did better in any match race or regatta in which she has taken part. She covered the course in 4 hours 6 minutes and 40 seconds, or at an hourly average of about 11¼ knots. The wind fluctuated between about 14 and 18 knots.

The Vigilant beat the Britannia by 6 minutes and 33 seconds actual time and 4 minutes and 29 seconds corrected time, the Yankee yacht allowing the Briton 2 minutes and 4 seconds.

Behring Sea Regulations Violated.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 6.—The first case to come up under the findings of the Paris tribunal of arbitration to settle the Behring Sea controversy was brought to light at Astorio by the arrival there last Thursday of the American schooner Kate and Ann from Behring waters, having on board 608 seal skins, part of which were caught within the waters covered by the provisions of the tribunal's findings and included in the proclamation of the President. Collector Paige has asked instructions from the United States District Attorney. If the facts are as set out in the collector's letter, the vessel will likely be seized and libelled.

Freitch Starts to Cross the Ocean.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Capt. A. Freitch, a daring navigator who intends to cross the ocean to Queenstown in the Nina, a 40 foot boat, started from the Battery yesterday on his voyage. There was a large crowd of Scandinavians in the Battery wall to see him sail. The Nina is a schooner rigged craft, a centre board and the captain says he can make the voyage in about six weeks. His vessel has provisions for six months. He will keep close to the track of ocean liners and ask them to report him.

Two Men Brutally Beaten.

BRAZIL, Ind., Aug. 6.—David Wilson and Henry Wright, residents of Attica, were attacked yesterday by a crowd of men on the Jackson street crossing of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Road and horribly beaten. Wilson will die and Wright is seriously injured, being almost covered with bruises. His jaw bone is broken and an ugly cut inflicted above the left temple. Wilson's principal wounds are internal.

Killed by a Simple Blow.

BORDENTOWN, N.J., Aug. 6.—Harry Rogers, 17 years old, was killed yesterday by a blow on his neck dealt by Frank Cann, aged 19. Rogers fired a stone from a sling-shot, which hit Cann on the head, and the latter retaliated by striking the former on the neck, causing his death. Cann is under arrest. The young men were companions and worked in the Springfield worsted mills.

POLITICS IN BRITAIN

Nationalists Seek to Effect a Compromise With the Unionists.

THE PARIS FUND UNATTAINABLE

Some Measure of Relief Urged to Alleviate the Distress of the Evicted Tenants—Rosebery's Attachment to the Turf—A Trades Union Congress.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The leaders of the Unionist party in parliament have served notice upon the Government that if the evicted tenants bill is transformed into a voluntary measure it will have some chance of receiving the gracious consideration of the House of Lords. The provision for the compulsory reinstatement of an evicted tenant with the assistance of public funds, the Unionists denounce as a species of plundering. A provision for voluntary reinstatement, giving the landlords a greater degree of control over the arrangements for rainstatement they think might avert the rejection of the bill by the House of Lords, but otherwise they contend that it has no chance of acceptance by the peers. The Irish members, however, while anxious to obtain some form of a measure to relieve the present situation, feel that the abandonment of the compulsory provision is impossible.

Messrs. Redmond and Sexton concur in seeking some sort of a compromise that will enable the evicted tenants to obtain speedy relief, as the Paris fund cannot be reckoned upon for some time to come. It is certain that the fund cannot be released in time to alleviate the distress which the coming winter is sure to bring, but no form of compromise has yet been hit upon that is likely to be acceptable to the opponents of the bill in its present shape. Mr. John Morley has written a letter to the Right Hon. Leonard Courtney, who is charged with the private negotiations on behalf of the Unionist leaders stipulating that if the bill passes its second reading in the House of Lords the Government will consider the Lords' amendment in committee. This proposal was laid before Lord Salisbury and the Duke of Devonshire, who refused to consider it, but they offered the alternative that if the compulsory clauses of the bill were withdrawn before the measure finally passed the House of Commons the bill would then pass its second reading in the House of Lords. This appears to be the end of the negotiations. Radicals and Nationalists, discussing the situation in the lobby, are agreed that the Government ought to immediately appeal to the country in the event of the rejection of the bill by the House of Lords. The debate on the evicted tenants bill in the House of Lords has been fixed for August 13.

Rosebery and Horse Racing.

Despite the persistent remonstrances against Lord Rosebery's horse racing proclivities, which have been especially numerous from the dissident Liberals, the Premier adheres to his sporting bent. He has entered three horses for the Derby of 1896 and has a similar number of entries for the Oaks, while the entries for the other leading events of that year will include one or more of his horses. The Derby of 1896 is likely to become notable as having the largest number of yearling nominations of any Derby on record. A notable feature of this prospective event is the large increase of foreign subscribers, which include the Lorillards, Keenes, Belmont and Col. Payne. The Prince of Wales nominates three colts for the Derby and three for the Oaks.

A Trades Union Congress.

The Trades Union congress which will open at Norwich on Sept. 3 promises an unusual development of the political side of trades unionism. The session will cover five days and notices have already been given of 119 resolutions. The independent labor agents are endeavoring to secure a greater share of power and a hot fight is expected. They are already canvassing for the election of Thomas Mann as secretary and for votes whereby to secure an increased republican representation in the council. There will be a hot fight between Mann and Fenwick, who is also a candidate for secretary.

York's Supposed Marriage at Malta.

Reynold's weekly newspaper publishes on July 8 what professed to be an authentic account of the much-rumored marriage of the Duke of York in Malta, adding that there had been more than one child by the union. Somebody wrote to the Prince of Wales to inquire as to the facts and Sir Francis Knollys, the Prince's private secretary, replied on July 25 as follows: "I am desired by the Prince of Wales to state that the report was so obviously invented for the mere purpose of causing pain and annoyance to the innocent young couple, that his highness has always declined to allow it to obtain further currency by contradiction. There is, of course, no foundation for the report, but it is none the less cruel and malignant." The same inquiries elicited from the Archbishop of Canterbury a contradiction of the report that the Archbishop had banned the Duke of York, knowing that the Duke was a husband and father before his marriage with the Princess May.

Their Injuries Were Fatal.

BUFFALO, Aug. 6.—Martin Sudy, who was struck with a shovel in the hands of Rank Biehler a week ago, died of his injuries at Sisters' hospital on Saturday. Biehler will have to answer the charge of murder. George Koester, who was stabbed by Mary Falvey, is dying at Emergency hospital and Mary Falvey will have to answer for the charge of murder.

Strikers Accused of Poisoning.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 6.—A man named Walters was poisoned yesterday and attributes it to strikers. They threatened him some time ago because he would not kill a fire which he was tending under a boiler in one of the packing establishments. After eating yesterday he was taken with convulsions, but was saved by the use of a stomach pump.

Printers Arrested for High Treason.

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—Editor Teufel, of the socialist paper Volksstimme of Mannheim, and the printers, Dreesbach and Fentz, have been arrested on the charge of high treason in having printed on August 3 the republican manifesto of 1848. Dreesbach was formerly a member of the Reichstag.

THE GENERAL ELECTION.

Signs of the coming Federal general election accumulate. The last session was one of exceptional prodigality and subsidies amounting to millions of dollars were hurried through at breakneck speed. One member of the government declared in his place in the House, amid the cheers of his supporters, that he was prepared to repeat the process by which such subsidies are diverted from their proper purposes into election funds. Even where this does not not happen the railway or other public work is used to bribe the constituency through which it runs; the government paper tells the electors that if they want the work they must elect the government candidate, and that an Oppositionist will be "of no practical use" to the constituency. Public speakers make a similar argument, apparently with no sense of shame; a Bishop, signing himself "your devoted well-wisher and servant in Christ" appeals to the most sordid motives of his flock to support the present Minister of Justice and tells them that, after all he has done (and can do) in the way of getting subsidies for railways and other local works, the rejection of this "most efficient benefactor" would be "an act of senseless ingratitude, a public calamity, and a lasting disgrace." Where the electors are dubious about the forthcoming benefits their faith is strengthened by letters from Ministers of the Crown, like those which Mr. Bowell and Mr. Costigan wrote for use in the Victorias.

Where the public work is thus tainted with corruption from the beginning one cannot be surprised that waste and plunder characterize its later stages. Thus in the session just closed we were furnished with evidence upon the following jobs:—Curran bridges, estimated cost, $122,000; government commission's estimate of reasonable cost, $160.000; actual cost, $430,325, of which $394,000 has been paid.

Sheik's Island dam, Cornwall Canal, original contract cancelled and another given, without tenders being asked for, to a different firm of contractors; loss to the country, more than $125,000.

Little Rapids locks and dam, estimated cost, $44,000; actual cost, $260,000, and unpaid claims amounting to another $90,000; no traffic and no receipts from the work.

Tay Canal, original estimate $132,660; actual cost, $476,128; annual expenditure on it, $2,600; revenue, $135.

St. Charles branch, Intercolonial Railway, fourteen miles in length, estimated total cost, between $130,000 and $140,000; actual cost, $1,750,000, besides some unpaid claims.

Another sign of the approaching contest is a revision of the lists, to be carried out in the dilatory, cumbrous and expensive way which has been condemned by men and journals of all parties. It will last 212 days, and will cost the country $1,000 a day, to say nothing of the vast expense and labour which it throws upon the candidates.

A third sign is the exploiting of "great schemes," such as those discussed at the Intercolonial Conference and the project for the annexation of Newfoundland, which, a correspondent tell us, will probably be an issue in the next general election. It is curious how Toryism in this country runs from one extreme to the other, from the sordid to the visionary, while it neglects the plain duties of the hour, and the pressing needs of the country. One is reminded by it of a marsh, all mud, vapor and wandering fires, with no solid ground for the foot to rest upon. A candidate elected by profuse promises of bridges, railways and post offices, rises in Parliament and lectures and scolds his opponents for their indifference to projects calculated to heighten the lustre of the brightest gem in Britain's crown. We are now told to agitate for a reversal of the economic policy of the old country, so as to obtain for our products preferential treatment in the British markets. In the meantime we have just given evidence of our inability to revise our own tariff in the interests of the country. The annexation of Newfoundland may be a live issue at some early day, but other and more pressing questions are now calling for settlement. If we could annex Newfoundland's low tariff and its mode of dealing with wholesale bribery, there would be powerful arguments for making the change at once. But the indications are that our tariff would rule, and that an attempt would be made to placate the islanders by a lavish expenditure upon railroads, harbours, telegraphs and public buildings. Let us send our invitations to Newfoundland when we have proved our ability to govern the vast territory which has been placed in our hands. The machinery of Government must be simplified, its efficiency increased, and all its costly and useless adjuncts abolished. The expense of maintaining the Governor-General should be cut down, the Senate torn out root and branch, the franchise act abolished and a simple and effective system substituted for it, grants for public works should be closely scrutinised and assented to only when the general advantage is apparent. The revision of the tariff should be undertaken in earnest, and carried out in the interest of the community and not of a class. These are the practical questions of the day from which the electors ought to refuse to allow their attention to be diverted.—Globe.

IN REMEMBRANCE

Of John Logan, who Departed This Life on July 20th, 1894, Aged 75 Years.

Yes, John is dead, my friend has gone the way
we all must go,
He had fulfilled the years that God appointed him below;
God gave to him a longer life than promised to men here,
And let him pass the boundary line before death
did appear.
Five years beyond three score and ten this sinful world he trod, Sharing its sorrows and its joys, as pleased the will of God;
He bore them all with Christian faith, smooth
as the unruffled stream,
No murmer ever left his lips; contentment ruled supreme.

Quite unassuming in his ways, but ready to discourse
On spiritual or temporal points, his manner gave them force;
True knowledge and intelligence in converse ruled his speech,
His words and acts were guided by the rules
the Scriptures teach.
Slow to offend, if injured he was ready to forgive,
It was his nature while on earth a peaceful life to live;
Few enemies he had while he was journeying
on life's path,
And like his Master unto foes, showed love instead of wrath.

Over twenty years we were acquaint; with conscience clear I say,
I never saw his temper changed up to his dying day;
If life acts full assurance give of the soul's last abode,
I judge not, but believe, to-day he dwells near to his God.
A loving husband, father kind, as ever upon earth trod,
He ruled his family more by love, than scolding or the rod;
By precept and example he showed them their duties clear,
How they should speak and act through life and God's name to revere.

On Saturday he was at work much in his usual way,
In St. Paul's church he took his seat upon the Sabbath day;
He listened to God's servant with a quick attentive ear,
He little thought that was last he in this world would hear.
The Monday dawned; was he at work? No, toil on earth was done,
Affliction seized his frame, the work of death was sure begun;
No human skill possessed the power to check or to avert,
The dire disease death's poisoned shafts inflicted on his heart.

No sharp excruciating pains; he shared a milder fate;
One day he lay with fast closed eyes in a calm sleeping state;
The hour arrived when life and death charged in the final fight,
Without one struggle, more like sleep, his spirit took its flight.
Before his death God sealed his lips, though conscious he did lie,
To wife or family he could not lisp out the last good-bye,
While they stood weeping by his side, he heard
no deep heaved sighs;
They only gazed on dust—his soul was soaring to the skies.

If that was death—the Fall's cursed stings on him, had little power,
God's love and mercy ruled o'er pain and soothed his dying hour;
No twitching, struggling gasps for breath, calm and composed he lay,
The spirit gently shaking off its prison house of clay.
He wore no false, self-righteous cloak, no empty outward show,
His love for Christ, his hopes of Heaven, but self and God did know;
Through life he stored the oil of grace, his lamp
at death to trim,
And when his Saviour came, he was prepared to welcome Him.

Friends, bear your loss, the gain is his—God spared him long with you;
He called him home, yield to his will and calmly say adieu.
Rely on God—likewise the rod of sad bereavement kiss, Believing your friend's sin-cleansed, soul enjoys eternal bliss.
While you stand by his flower-decked grave, breathing out your silent prayer,
Remember, but the ashes of your friend lie sleeping there;
In peaceful slumber may they rest near to the Little Lake,
Till the last trumpet sounds arise and dust to life awake.

YOUNG LAMONT'S CASE.

Neighbors Much Interested in the Story — Everyone Thought the Youngster Would Die but he's Very Much Alive Now.

DUNDALK, July 30.—Hugh Lamont, of McIntyre, has a young son who is an object of interest throughout this whole section of country. From infancy the boy had dropsy, and was bloated and swollen all over. It seemed to the parents that death could be the only release to one attacked so young by this disease. They heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and began giving them to the child. With the first box, the bloating and swelling began to disappear. Six boxes effected a perfect cure and the boy is now just as healthy a youngster as stirs up the dust on the high roads of Western Ontario.

I was attacked severely last winter with Diarrhœa, Cramps, and Colic and thought I was going to die, but fortunately I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and now I thank this excellent remedy for saving my life.

A Pilgrim for St. Anne de Beaupre.

MONTREAL, Aug. 6.—That the faith in St. Anne de Beaupre is strong in Montreal has just been amply demonstrated here. W. Thaler, who resides at the Providence convent, St. Catherine street, left that institution for the great shrine of St. Annes of Beaupre, which is situated about 21 miles below Quebec. It is Mr. Thaler's idea to walk the whole distance. He expects to perform his journey in ten days, and he has only brought with him what is absolutely necessary to life and limb. Mr. Thaler intends taking part in a special pilgrimage and desires to obtain a special grace from St. Annes. He has no faith in steamboat pilgrimages and claims they are nothing else but a pleasure trip.

Burglars in Collingwood.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., Aug. 6.—The store and office of Telfer Bros. were broken into on Saturday by two young men named Woolmner and Kamran, they made an entry at the rear of the building, removing the latches and forcing several locks and bolts. They were captured by the night watchman and police before they had got away with the plunder which consisted of seven or eight boxes of fine cigars and other things. They were up before Police Magistrate Frame, who sent them to Barrie for trial. Woolmner was an employe of the firm he tried to rob. He is about 18 years old.

A Military Tournament at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—A military tournament is being arranged here in which Sergeant-Major Morgans, of Kingston, will offer to fight for the sword championship of America. Riflemen here are talking of the score of 102 out of a possible 105 made a few days ago by Private C. C. Scott of the 43rd. He is regarded as a coming Bisley man. At the last range, 600 yards, he had to allow for four feet of wind.

The Cholera in Marseilles.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The Central News correspondent in Madrid says that the Spanish physicians who were sent to Marseilles a few days ago to investigate the charges that cholera was epidemic in that city and that the fact was concealed by the authorities, have reported that they believe that cholera does exist in Marseilles. They were not allowed to enter the hospitals in pursuing their investigations.

Servant Girl Arrested for Infanticide.

MONTREAL, Aug. 6.—A local sensation has been caused by the arrest of Tilly McAllister, a young servant girl, who has been arrested on a charge of infanticide. She was employed by a well-known alderman and was discharged. She was then taken to the Sheltering Home, where she confessed that she had got rid of her child. Several well-known parties are implicated.

Twenty-Eight Protests Now.

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—There was one additional protest entered yesterday at Osgoode Hall, the victim being W. A. Charlton, Liberal member-elect for South Norfolk. The petition is filed on behalf of George Crane, the defeated Patron of Industry candidate. This is the twenty-eighth protest.

Drowned in Lachine Canal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 6.—George Hanson, a young lad living at Point St. Shales, was drowned yesterday in the Lachine Canal while attempting to rescue one of his comrades.

A Curious Old Custom.

A curious and ancient custom has just been observed at Bourne, Lincolnshire. In accordance with traditional usage, the White Bread Meadow was, by direction of Charity Trustees, let by auction. A number of boys started in a race, the bidding going on while the boys were running, and the field was ultimately let to the bidder who had made the highest offer at the time the winner breasted the tape. The rent of the meadow was then expended in "white bread" loaves, which were distributed among the poor of the town.—Yorkshire Herald.

Three Boys Burned to Death.

SPENCERPORT, N.Y., Aug. 6.—An old house occupied by Cornelius Place and family took fire on Saturday evening. The family had retired. The door was broken in and Mr. Place, wife and five small children rescued in their night clothing. Three older boys slept upstairs. A ladder was put up to their window, but they were overcome by smoke and were burned to a crisp. The names of the boys burned were Cornelius, William and Chester, aged 13, 11 and 8 respectively.

The Catholic Summer School.

PLATTSBURG, Aug. 6.—Rev. J. J. McCall, of Montreal, arrived Saturday evening to spend some days at the Catholic Summer School. About 100 of the students took a trip to Montreal on Saturday, returning by a late train. Mgr. Farley, Vicar General, and Rev. M. J. Lavelle, rector of the New York Cathedral, have gone to Quebec intending to visit the Saguenay.

That Tired Feeling

Is a dangerous condition directly due to depleted or impure blood. It should not be allowed to continue, as in its debility the system is especially liable to serious attacks of illness. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for such a condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season, climate or life.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared from the best ingredients. 25 cents.

Sick Headache and Constipation are promptly cured by Burdock Pills. Easy to take, sure in effect.

CANADIAN MAGAZINE.

The August number of the Canadian Magazine is rich in variety of interesting reading and is well illustrated. Hon. David Mills in "The Missing Link in the Hypothesis of Evolution" points out the failure of the evolutionary theory to explain the phenomena of nature. John Ferguson, M. A., M. D., Ph. D. article on "The Physical Basis of knowledge" writes popularly an explanation of brain function in relation to knowledge which will do much to explode the belief entertained by very many in "phrenology," as popularly taught. "McMaster University," by E. P. Wells, is a most entertaining description of the well equipped institutions now grouped under that educational organization. John A. Cooper writes thoughtfully on "Canadian Democracy and Socialism." Hugh Sutherland, ex-M. P., opens forcibly a discussion of the advantages of the Hudson Bay route as an outlet for the products of the North-West. Charles T. Long writes most entertainingly a description of the ceremonies which he witnessed in connection with the celebrations of "The Silver Wedding of the Emperor of Japan." "Lake St. John and the Saguenay," by E. T. D. Chambers, and "Four Famous Cathedrals," by Thomas E. Champion, are illustrated articles of great interest. Honora S. Howard contributes a short description of the Longfellow Homestead, and Chas. Gordon Rogers a vivacious, illustrated account of a recent "Holiday in the Hills," north of the Ottawa. J. Donald Morrison in "A Case of Mistaken Identity," deals with the misadventures encountered through similarity of name to the noted outlaw of Megantic. Amongst short stories William Wilfred Campbell's "Love's Tragedy at Scratch's Point," may well be pronounced amongst the best that have recently appeared. Several poems of merit add to the contents of an interesting number of a magazine which is admittedly one of the most entertaining on the continent. Published by the Ontario Publishing Co., Ltd., Toronto. $2.50 per annum.

How Editors Are Treated in China.

Nineteen hundred editors of a Pekin paper are said to have been beheaded. Some would shudder at such slaughter, who are heedless of the fact that Consumption is ready to fasten its fatal hold on themselves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the efficient remedy for weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, bronchitis, asthma, severe coughs and kindred affections.

Stamps, La Fayette Co., Arkansas.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I will say this to you, that consumption is hereditary in my wife's family; some have already died with the disease. My wife has a sister Mrs. F. A. Cleary, that was taken with consumption. She used your "Golden Medical Discovery," and, to the surprise of her many friends, she got well My wife has also had hemorrhages from the lungs, and her sister insisted on her using the "Golden Medical Discovery." I consented to her using it, and it cured her. She has had no symptoms of consumption for the past six years.

Yours very truly,

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please," an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose topay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Neat as a New Pin.

The Phelan House is new again. The genial proprietor, Mr. E. Phelan, is a firm believer in the motto that "cleanliness is next to godliness." His comfortable and capacious hotel has been renewed internally in a most thorough manner by means of paint, paper and a general renovation, and now there is no brighter, cleaner, more home-like hotel in the province. During the last few days Mr. H. W. Watson has been repainting the woodwork of the exterior, and as is his custom he has made a first class job of it, and now the hungry traveller will find the handsome and attractive outside appearance fully met in every particular by the clean, bright, homelike interior, with efficient service, and well prepared and well served food.

On a Two Weeks' Outing.

There was great commotion and excitement at the Grand Trunk station this morning, the occasion being the departure of a large number of campers for Stony Lake. Young ladies and gentlemen attired in cool camping outfits were busily engaged in loading them on the Lakefield train, bound for Stony Lake. The following party will spend a two weeks' outing at Fairview Lodge, near Boschink:—Mr. and Mrs. A. Metherall, Miss M. Baker, Lindsay; Misses Grace Fuller, Millie Thorne, M. E. Mahoney, Lizzie Mahoney, Messrs. J. Baker, Lindsay; Fred Might, Chas. Tucker, Andrew Jobe, Jas. A. Tully, W. J. Roadhouse. Mr. Frank Packenham, of Port Hope, and Mr. Jas. W. Barrington, of Montreal, will join the party next week.

Here is a Whopper.

R. J. McKee, of Parliament street and Contractor Wm. Jones, of Brunswick avenue, Toronto, the News says, spent last week on the latter's island, Eagle Mount, Stony Lake. Mr. McKee relates some wonderful stories of his trip. Black bass were so plentiful around there that many people would not bother catching them. They would do nothing but troll for 'lunge. Just in front of Eagle Mount one day they saw an American in a canoe trolling. He was apparently a novice at the art of canoeing. Presently he hooked a 'lunge and tried to land it in the canoe. The result was a capsize. When he came up he grabbed the canoe, s[illegible] the fish started, towing the unfortu[illegible]erman and his craft up the lake. [illegible]cKee and Mr. Jones got their boat out and went to his rescue. They got him in and then landed the maskinonge. In its mad struggle it nearly upset the boat also, half knocked Mr. Jones overboard, and only succumbed after Mr. McKee had smashed an oar over its head. The fish weighed thirty pounds. As proof of the truthfulness of this story the relator can point out the exact spot where it happened.

A Big Banner.

Messrs. Fairweather & Co. are turning out a beautiful banner for Jubilee Lodge of Prentice Boys, No. 7. It is of blue and crimson satin, four feet by seven, with blue plush lambreguins and ornamented with heavy bullion gold fringe. The painting of the banner is done in a highly artistic manner by Mr. D. A. Shaw. On the blue field is an allegorical picture of the closing of the "Gates of Derry," having for a back ground, the arms of the Duke of York, with a legend stating that it is "in memory of the five heroes." The crimson field contains a speaking life-size likeness of Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, encircled by the words "D'Alton McCarthy and the Noble Thirteen; 11.30 a.m., March 30th, 1889"—a reference to the date of the vote on the Jesuit Estates Bill. In semicircular form, above and below the circle, appear respectively the words, Jubilee Lodge, 'Prentice Boys, No. 7," and "1688—God and Liberty secured to all—1690. The banner is handsomely painted and will make a fine appearance when it is first flung to the breeze on Monday, August 13th. It is pronounced the largest and handsomest banner east of Toronto and, what is most creditable, it is entirely of home manufacture.

Richard Harrison has Backache for Some Years—It was Due to Kidney Disease—No More Backaches Now.

HALL'S BRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 6.—Richard Harrison is well known here and everywhere highly respected. That he has been a sufferer for some years from backache and other kidney troubles was a well known fact, that gained much sympathy for him. Lately he has been moving around here as spry as a kitten and in the best of health. All his kidney troubles had disappeared, so he said, when questioned, and he further said that the cause of their disappearance was his having used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reputation of these pills as a specific in all kidney disorders is now firmly established in this part of Ontario.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The services at St. Andrew's church yesterday were conducted by Rev. W. A. Hunter, M.A., of Erskine church, Toronto. His sermons were earnest and thoughtful.

The Y.P.S.C.E. of St. Paul's church will hold a meeting this evening, when interesting reports of the Cleveland convention will be presented by Miss Quinn and others.

Rev. C. E. McLeod, pastor of the Gilmour Memorial church, occupied the pulpit of the Murray street Baptist church yesterday. His discourses were practical and scholarly.

At St. Paul's church yesterday Rev. T. Goldsmith conducted the services and preached two practical and convincing sermons. In the absence of Mr. J. Crane, Master Percy Owens presided very acceptably at the organ during the day

At the George street church yesterday at the close of the morning service the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered to a good number of the congregation. In the evening the pastor gave a very earnest and eloquent address on the subject of "Forgiveness."

CHARLOTTE STREET METHODIST CHURH.

Yesterday the services were conducted by the pastor. The morning lesson was taken from the first chapter of the Epistle to the Ephesians, which the preacher expounded and illustrated as he went along, opening up the truth in a helpful way, and unfolding the beauties of the promises of God. The sermon was taken from the same chapter, 19th verse, and last clause, "Household of God." The preacher's introduction gave the key to the discourse, which was divided into four heads and the closing exhortation. The various members who constitute the church on earth, their responsibilities, and duties were pourtrayed vividly, and illustrated by quotations and examples, depicted on the mind by earnest, fervid eloquence and pathos, the preacher drawing lessons from his own personal experience during the years of his ministry. The large congregation gave the closest attention to the services, and the preacher must be greatly encouraged and helped in his work by the kindly words and commendations of his people, who are helped by his visits, counsel and preaching. The hearty response to his request to attend the prayer meeting services, brought forth warm words of commendation at the close of the service. The singing of the choir greatly contributed to the day's worship. The evening congregation filled the church and the pastor chose for his text: "Shamah stood in the midst of the ground and defended it, and slew the Philistines and the Lord wrought a great victory." The speaker earnestly, forcibly and eloquently pointed out to his hearers the great privilege of standing up for God, and in language honest and manly denounced the sins of society in no unmeasured terms and closed with an exhortation to his people to stand up for the right and be faithful and God would give them victory. During the offertory Messrs. Davis and Shaw sang a duet with spirit and effect.

BOATING ON THE LITTLE LAKE.

A New Boat House—A Great Convenience to all Lovers of Canoeing.

The Peterborough Canoe Company have made extensive improvements to their boat house property at the foot of King street, and bordering on the river, and today everything is in first-class order. They have purchased about 125 feet of river frontage south of their canoe factory, including the old Otonabee Canoe Club House, which they have moved out on piers over the water. This boat house is thoroughly renovated and will be used for the storage of boats and skiffs. A new floating wharf 65x22 has been added to the front, and the upper story will be used for a show room. The lower apartment is divided into thirteen boat stalls to be rented to private parties for the season, properly fitted up for carefully housing boats, being well locked and having numbers on each door. This new boat house adjoins the old canoe club building.

The general boat house has been fitted up with boat racks and other appliances for boats downstairs. In the second story is a well arranged ladies' dressing and toilet rooms. A room in the west end is partitioned off for the use of the boat house caretaker. The skiffs and canoes in the livery are all first-class and will be rented on reasonable terms. The boat house is lighted inside and outside by electricity and a man will be constantly on hand to rent boats to those desiring them.

This boat livery is now one of the best in the Midland district and lovers of the canoe will no doubt take advantage of the opportunity afforded them of not only renting boats on very reasonable terms, but a place is here found for boat owners who wish to secure racks with easy access to the river.

In connection with this it might be mentioned that Mr. J. Z. Rogers, manager of the Peterborough Canoe Company, is anxious to start a bath house and swimming pond for the convenience of the public. This would be a very wise step, as it would provide a long felt want in the community and is a great necessity in a town as large as Peterborough. It is understood that Mr. Rogers will start one in the near future.

CRICKET.

The first of August is gone, Lord Rosebury is still premier of England, Japan and China still fight, Sir John Thompson is yet protectionist, and times are just as hard.

The Bankers won the cricket match, not by force of numbers, nor employment of ringers, but by good steady cricket.

The Town team loomed up on the field, each man with head erect, eyes front and expanded bosom, doubtless thinking they would so annihilate the financiers of this town that it would soon be a novelty to again see a cricket match. Pride goeth before a fall and great indeed was the fall of the town team.

Capt Ray winning the toss, graciously allowed the Bankers to field. Their fielding, however, proved to be of short duration, as our worthy citizens were disposed of for 20 runs, Houldsworth, (pro), being particularly destructive with the ball, as will be seen by a glance at the score.

The town team next took the field and were soon followed by Montgomery and Sheriff, of the bank eleven. Runs came slowly at first, but as time wore on the look of amazement on the fielders was simply marvellous. How those bankers could stand there and drive that ball to the boundary with the pace and ease of cricketers was indeed very strange. Suffice it to say, however, they did it and were not disposed till the exceedingly respectable score of 75 was reached. Allison, of the town team, bowled in splendid form.

As the town players were slowly returning to the pavillion one might imagine he heard the silent chant of the Bankers veni, vidi, vici.

SHORT SLIPS.

The presence of a number of ladies was a pleasant feature of the game.

The stepladders were not used by the bank fielders, not that they burrowed their way under the fence but that it was seldom the ball reached the boundary at all.

As these matches are a great help to cricket here it is very gratifying to see the veterans turn out to encourage the boys.

It is hoped that the Town players will not be too disheartened about the match. Fortune favours the brave. Keep your courage and—wait.

The great crowd of the unemployed who congregated on the market square to hear returns from the game, were, we are sorry to say, unavoidably disappointed. Owing to a break in the submarine cable between Goose Island and the Little Lake returns were not obtainable.

As the "side-wheeler" of the Bankers team did not bowl the ambulance corps were not needed.

FINANCIAL QUOTATIONS.

Saturday morning—Bank stock, floating and generally unsteady.

Saturday evening—Peterborough debentures dropped 8 points, while bank stocks jumped upward.

Peterborough goes to Millbrook Thursday to play an eleven of that town. They are also making arrangements with Picton, Belleville and other teams for matches at an early date.

LACROSSE.

The Junior Peterborough's are requested to turn out for practice more regularly as there are several matches arranged.

The team to be pitted against Beaverton to-morrow afternoon on the P.A.A.A. grounds will be selected from the following players: J. McCabe, J. Begley, W. Phelan, J. Small, E. Wasson, G. Heap, R. Glover, J. Mein, J. McDonough, W. Borland, D. Davidson, B. Rickey, W. Galley, G. Lipsett and F. Dobbin.

The junior Millbrooks and the Granites will cross sticks in a match on Thursday afternoon next on the P.A.A.A. grounds. The game will be called at 3 o'clock. As the Granites have not been defeated this season, and as Millbrook is sending up a strong junior team, a good game may be expected. A small admission fee will be charged.

The second team, of the Toronto Tecumsehs, will play the junior Peterboroughs, on August 13th.

The Shamrocks will cross sticks with Millbrook, on Friday, August 10th, in that village.

The match, to-morrow, between Peterborough and Beaverton promises to be an exciting one. The Peterboroughs have put in some excellent practice and will be prepared to make a good showing with the exceptionally strong team, which, it is said, Beaverton will send down.

A lacrosse match was played, Saturday afternoon, between the junior Granites and Excelsiors, on Burnham's field. The match resulted in a victory for the Granites by four straight games. Some rough play, the Granites say, was indulged in by the Excelsiors.

BASEBALL.

Cobourg defeated Bowmanville Saturday by 16 to 4.

Special meeting of the baseball club in the parlours of the Palace Restaurant, this evening.

A new baseball club, the Alerts, have organized and intend playing the Auburns at an early date.

The wine clerks nine, of Peterborough, did not play here this afternoon with the brewery nine as anticipated. They are practicing.—Port Hope Guide.

A Story of Charles Dickens.

Charles Dickens once received an invitation to a "Walter Scott" party, each guest being expected to appear in the character of one or the other of Scott's heroes. On the eventful night, however, Dickens appeared in simple evening dress. The host asked him which of Scott's characters he represented. "Why, sir," replied Dickens, "I am a character you will find in every one of Scott's novels. I am the 'gentle reader.'"

Reindeer In Alaska.

The government experiment in keeping reindeer in Alaska is reported a success. Of the original herd of 180 none died last winter. Eighty fawns were born, and only two of these died. One hundred and fifty more reindeer are to be added this fall, and in a few years the increase will give plenty of food for all the coast Eskimo.

Untransferable Pass Checks.

The theatres in Japan have a novel method of pass-checks which are positively non-transferable. When a person wishes to leave the theatre before the close of the performance, with the intention of returning, he goes to the doorkeeper and holds out his right hand. The doorkeeper then, with a rubber stamp, imprints on the palm the mark of the establishment.

Fulgentius wrote in Latin a work of 23 chapters, dividing them according to the order of the 23 letters of the Latin alphabet. The first chapter is without a, the second without b, and so with the rest.

The longest artificial watercourse in the world is the Bengal canal, 900 miles; the next is Erie, 363. Each cost nearly $10,000,000.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Canadian Trade Report.

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—Business continues quiet at Montreal, wholesale merchants doing almost nothing in the way of new business, but crop prospects are good. A fair volume of business is reported from Halifax, but advices from New Brunswick report the hay crop short and collections poor. General trade is dull in this vicinity, crop prospects are also favorable. Collections, however, are backward. Bank clearings at Halifax, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton amount to $16,105,000 this week, 25 per cent. less than last week and 19 per cent. less than in the week a year ago. There are 31 business failures reported from the Canadian Dominion within the week, against 32 the week before, 43 in the week a year ago, 16 two years ago and 29 three years ago.

An American Steamer Aground.

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., Aug. 4.—The United States steamer Michigan, engaged here for a few months surveying the deepening of the channel in Lake Erie and river, while taking soundings ran aground near Corpoint. It was thought she would work herself off in a short time, but the wind stiffened up and it is now blowing a gale from northeast and the water has gone down. The tug Home Rule went to her with lighter. They will remove her guns and coal. News has reached here that she is in bad shape and is on the rocks about eighteen inches amidships.

The Chignecto Railway.

OTTAWA, Aug. 4.—Mr. A. D. Provand, who went up to Muskoka this week to see the first minister in order to ask for an extension of the privileges granted in successive statutes to the Chignecto Railway and which expired last July, returned to town yesterday morning. In conversation with him it was learned that Sir John Thompson gave no definite promises, but promised to lay the matter before the Privy Council.

Elder Black.

Henry, who worked in my father's store, was a great leader in "class meeting" and one of the most devout and interested church workers that I ever knew. When every other plan for keeping me out of mischief, and out of the way evenings, had failed, I was usually turned over to Henry, and he took me to prayer-meeting with him.

It was a solemn time for me when Evangelist Hoffmire came to conduct the union revival meetings in our town, and night after night the Baptists and the Methodists and the Presbyterians united in meetings which filled the "anxious seats" to overflowing. Henry and I went every night. I remember one night after the meetings had been going on for some time Henry remained after the congregation had gone to have a little talk and consultation with his pastor, shrewd Elder Black.

After musing for some time, Elder Black said, "Henry!"

"Yes, Elder."

"How long have these meetings been going on?"

"Three weeks, Elder."

"And how many are on the 'anxious seat'?"

"Abut 86, Elder."

"And when will the meetings likely close?"

"Probably the middle of next week."

"Yes, yes. And this is Friday night."

"Yes, Elder."

"Well, Henry, I think about Sunday we'd better begin to 'shock up,' or the Baptists will have seventy-five of those converts under the water jest as sure as there's punishment for the wicked and reward for the righteous," and the two earnest workers for the good of souls and their church straightway laid plans for the harvest accordingly.

A Special Providence.

"We brought neither gold nor silver into the world, and it is sure that we can take with us to the grave none of the precious metals upon which we set such store here upon the earth," said the minister impressively at the funeral service over old Snagsley's remains.

But the family dentist, in the third pew from the front, who had poked $98 worth of gold-leaf into the old man's molars only two days before he dropped dead, wank slyly at himself and gave thanks for his many mercies, devoutly kneeling.

"All run down" from weakening effects of warm weather, you need a good tonic and blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

DEAR SIRS,—I was suffering very much from diarrhœa, and could get nothing to cure me. A friend told me of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and a few doses completely cured me.

OARSMEN AT HAMILTON.

The Finals in the Annual Regatta of the Canadian Amateur Association.

HAMILTON BEACH, Aug. 6.—About 4,000 people witnessed the finals in the annual regatta of the C. A. A. O. here on Saturday. The weather was fine, but a steady wind from the northwest made it necessary to row the events on the lake side of the beach, where the water was in good condition.

The first event, the final in the senior fours, had the Leanders, of Hamilton, and the Argonauts, Dons and Torontos of Toronto. The Argonauts sold favorites in the books at 3-5, and proved worthy of the confidence placed in them by winning hands down by a half dozen lengths. The Torontos and Dons rowed an exciting race for second place until with 200 yards of the finishing point, when the Torontos made a grand spurt and got the place. The Dons were a good third and the Leanders away in the rear. Time, 9m. 32⅗s.

The second event, final junior singles had five competititors: James O'Connor, of Dons, sold prohibitive favorite in the books at 2-5 and Jury, of Toronto, 3-2. Jury gave the favorite a good race for first, but has not the staying powers and was completely fagged at the finish. O'Connor led from the start, but Jury held on to his stern all the way and for the last 200 yards the latter spurted, but O'Connor managed to keep his boat half a length ahead. The other three were never in it. Dineen, of London, was a poor third and O'Neil a worse fourth. James O'Connor, Dons of Toronto, 1; A. F. Jury, Torontos of Toronto, 2; M. Dineen, Londons of London, 3; T. O'Neil, Leanders of Hamilton, 4; H. W. A. Dixon, Argonauts of Toronto, 5. Time, 11 minutes 56 seconds.

Third event, final junior fours, had four starters. The Dons were favorites at 2 to 4, Leanders 4 to 2 and Argonauts 6 to 2. The Argonauts kept on even terms with the favorites for a mile where the latter drew away and won the race by a good three lengths, with the Argonauts as many lengths ahead of Leanders, who were third and Torontos fourth. Time 9.52.

The fourth event, final senior singles, was the best race of the regatta, and in fact the best ever seen here. There were four starters, and in the books F. H. Thompson and Alf Russell, both of Toronto, sold equal favorites at 6 to 5, Van Damme of Detroit 3 to 2 and McDowell, Chicago, 25 to 2. It was a beautiful race between the two Toronto men, but Thompson kept the nose of his shell ahead of Russell's until within the last fifty yards where the latter made a splendid spurt and won by half a length in the last dozen strokes. Thompson had rowed in the senior fours as well as in the trial heats of senior singles in the morning and was unable to respond when his opponent spurted away from him. Van Damme was a poor third and McDowell did not finish. Time 10.53 3-5.

The fifth event, the final heat in the junior doubles, was a very tame affair. There were three starters, all Toronto crews. The Dons sold favorites at 2-5, Argonauts 4-2 and Baysides 15-2. The favorites led from the [illegible] and coming into still water near [illegible] ore rowed leisurely to the finish, win[illegible]y twenty lengths. The Baysides we[illegible]nd and the Argonauts did not finish. [illegible]e, 10m. 45s.

In the final heat of the senior singles the Argonauts and Torontos, both of Toronto, did not start. The Vespers were prohibitive favorites at 2-10, their only competitors being the Minnesotas. The Vespers led all the way and won by three lengths. Time, 10m. 7s.

CHEESE INFORMATION.

THE CANDIAN PRODUCT NOW BEING VERY LARGELY EXPORTED.

The History of Cheese the Pastoral Poetry of the Aryan Race—Something About Various Special and Toothsome Brands—Spurious Cheeses.

One of the greatest wits and wags yet produced by this country was once requested by an editor to write a good article on milk. He replied by return mail: "The best article on milk I can think of is cream. What more do you want?"

In the same fashion it may be said of cheese that the best article on cheese is mould, or chemical corruption. In truth, cheese owes its value to generation and the presence of bacterial life. In a word, cheese is the glorification of decay.

The history of cheese may be considered as condensing the whole pastoral poetry of the Aryan race. The mild and gentle cow, sacred still among the Aryans of India, doubtless by reason of her gentleness in the family economy, fell especially to the charge of the women. Our very language proves this. Our word daughter comes from the Sanscrit duhitar, meaning the milker, from the verb duo, to milk. Dug, for teat, is doubtless from the same.

Cheese-making has, therefore, been a feminine profession from the start, and on some English farms to this very day the money coming from the sale of the cheeses is considered as the special perquisite, pin-money, of the wife. England has long been famous for the quantity and quality of its cheese.

Canada, however, in a wholesale way, is destroying all the traditions of cheese. One steamer lately carried to England 750,000 cheeses. Perhaps, after a chemical treatment, many of them, like good citizens, will have returned home to delight unwitting natives by their fine foreign finish. Yet, though Canada makes cheese by the mountain load every year, there are not, as in England, France and Italy, any localities famous for special brands. The reason is not far to seek. Our cheese factories collect the milk of various areas, having different soils and peculiarities of pasturage, and mix them, striking thus an average, eatable indeed, but lacking character.

It has been proved beyond a peradventure that the quality depends on the pasturage. Cows, dairy-maids and special methods of making have been taken from Cheshire to another part of England, and the result was a product very different from the famous Cheshire cheese. Cheddar, too, which comes from a vale in Somerset, where the famous Sydney Smith was born, has a flavor like his pungent blend of wit and humor, for which there is no chemical counterfeit. It smacks of the soil; it breathes of the pasture.

But the glory of England's cheese as to quantity has been eclipsed by Canada and as to quality by France. France cannot keep pace with the demand for her cheeses. Consequently a large amount of spurious French cheese is sold in this country. The cheese of tables d'hote is almost always a fit subject of suspicion; good for the mind, perhaps, since a chemist whose digestion had been impaired by cheap tables n'hote once analyzed a piece. He found it to contain chiefly what Opte, the famous painter, said he mixed his paints with—brains.

Take Brie, for instance. This comes from a small district near Paris and is a cream cheese of unrivalled delicacy, but not easy to keep during warm weather.

Camembert, however, a cheese very similer, though coarser in flavor, which is made in a large area in Normandie, has been steadily pushing into favor. It is just half as expensive, and restaurateurs can afford to give double portions of it. Hence your infatuated table d'hote diner, who always wants quantity rather than quality, votes for Camembert.

Pont l'Eveque also comes from Normandie. It is not, as some might suppose, merely a Camembert gone dry, but is intentionally made more solid and milder in taste, and is 10 per cent. more costly.

Port du Salut is another cheese of the same order, but superior in flavor to all except true Brie. It costs about the same as Brie, and it may take rank over that, as that has done over Roquefort, and as Roquefort did over Swiss, which was the first foreign cheese that ever really had a hold on the affections of the Canadian stomach.

The making of Port du Salut is a profound secret, the property of the monks of the Abbey of Bric-a-brac, in France, and the pious gourmet might be forgiven for believing that over every cheese a benediction had been said.

Roquefort, though its price yet is high, is a richer cheese, more fond of lingering on the breath than the others. It is made of goats' milk, and the chiaro-oscuro effects in it are caused, not by rusting it with insertions of wire, but by dropping into it some handfuls of peasant bread. Roquefort, therefore, is a dairy-maid concoction of bread and cheese.

Gorgonzola, another novel cheese in this country, not French, but Italian, is more expensive than Roquefort, though its taste is the same, namely the milk of that gay and festive animal who has made so many humorists—the picturesque and venerable goat. This cheese comes from the Milanese district of Italy, retains its aristocratic richness unspoiled by the democratic climate of Canada, and is a good cheese to swear by. Wherein it differs from Limburger—a good one to swear at.

Some cheeses, like Roquefort and Gorgonzola, require two or three years to ripen for the taste of experts. Some cheeses attain a great age. Parmesan, another Italian or Sicilian variety, has been kept a hundred and fifty years and found still delicious and full of life and power. Neufchatel is a French cheese, not a Swiss, as many fancy from the name.

ITCHING PILES
AND PIN WORMS.

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Gives Instant Relief.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause from Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER Rejoice Together.

Nine Year Old Maggie McRitchie, a Victim of Chronic Fainting Spells and Nervous Weakness, Completely Cured by South American Nervine After all Other Efforts had failed. The Mother, a Sufferer From Nervous Prostration and Indigestion, Likewise Cured. Hear What the Thankful Father Has to Say.

MRS. JAMES McRITCHIE AND DAUGHTER.

A leading local physician, whose profession takes him among the children of the various public institutions, remarked to the writer, that one would hardly believe that so many children were affected by nervous troubles, which sap the system and prevent proper development. In many cases the doctors are powerless to cure these troubles. They can relieve the suffering little ones, but in South American Nervine we have a medicine that does more than simply give relief. Its peculiar strength is that it completely cures where physicians relieve. A case in point came to us the 24th ult., in a letter from Mr. James W. McRitchie of Bothwell, Ont. He says:—"My daughter Maggie, aged 9 years, was afflicted with nervous fainting spells for over a year, which left her in such a condition of weakness afterwards that the child was practically an invalid. We tried several remedies and doctored with her in one way and another, but nothing gave relief. Seeing South American Nervine advertised, as particularly efficacious in nervous diseases, I decided on trying it for her, and I must say that I noticed a decided change in my daughter for the better after she had taken only a few doses. As a result of using this medicine, she is now entirely free from those fainting spells and possessed of that life and brightness that is the happy lot of childhood. I am satisfied it is an excellent medicine for any nervous weakness. My experience has been further supplemented in the fact that my wife has also been using South American Nervine for indigestion, dyspepsia and nervous prostration, and has found very great relief."

Whether the patient be man or woman, young or old, South American Nervine provides a complete medium for restoration to health. It is a medicine differing absolutely from every other. A cure is effected by application to the nerve centres of the human system, and science has proved that when these nerve centres are kept healthy the whole body is healthy. For these reasons failure is impossible.

SAVED BY HIS HORSE.

THE ANIMAL DETECTED THE PRESENCE OF THE SNAKE.

A Reptile Far More Dangerous Than the Rattlesnake—It Is the American Asp, Whose Bite is Death—Fortunately It Is Very Rare.

The southwest is more liberally supplied with venomous things than any other area in the union. In the burning deserts, in the inhabited but arid expanses of New Mexico and Arizona, the rattlesnake abounds, and in several varieties, including the strange and deadly "sidewinder," crotolus cerastes. The so-called tarantula—really only a gigantic bush spider, but none the less dangerous because of the misnomer—is decidedly common. Scorpions are none too rare in the southern portions of the territories, and in all parts centipedes of seven to eight inches long are frequent and neighborly. But the chief distinction of the region in this respect is the presence of the pichu-cuate, the deadliest snake in North America.

The pichu-cuate matches the worst serpent of India. Not only the most highly-venomous, but the tiniest and the most treacherous, he would be also the most dangerous—but, luckily, he is the rarest. He is the only true asp on this continent; and in the United States is never found outside of New Mexico and Arizona. That he was also known to the ancient Mexicans is apparent from his name—pichu-coatl, an Aztec word, which was brought up to our territory by the Spanish conquerors.

My first meeting with one, writes C. F. Lummis in the New York Sun, was in Valencia county, N.M., in June, 1890, on the sandy flanks of the Cerro del Aire. I was out hunting jackrabbits, in company with some Indian friends, and had dismounted to stalk, leading my pet horse by the bridle. My eyes were on a small chapparo bush ahead, when suddenly Alazan snorted, and reared backward so violently as to almost unhinge my arm. I looked about in surprise, for Alazan was too good a horse to mind trifles. As there was nothing to be seen, I started to pull him forward. Again he protested and with evident terror, and chancing to look at my very feet, I understood his fear, and felt very grateful that his senses were better than mine, for in another step I should have walked upon my death.

The only thing visible was a tiny object, not nearly so large as a good stag beetle—merely a head, and perhaps an inch of neck. But it was the most frightful object in its kind that I had ever seen. The head, certainly neither so broad or so long as my thumbnail, had a shape and air of condensed malignity impossible to describe. It seemed the very essence of wickedness and hate, fairly bulging with deadly spite, and growing upon one until it looked several times its actual size. The ugly triangle (which is the distinguishing mark of all venomous snakes, being formed by the poison gland back of each eye) told me at once that Alazan was keeping up his reputation—never did he shy at a harmless snake—and the tiny horns, which added a peculiar and grotesque hideousness, left no doubt that this was a pichu-cuate. He had buried himself almost to the head in the gray sand, against which his upper skin was barely distinguishable, and thus in ambush was waiting for something to turn up.

Turning Alazan loose, I knelt at the safe distance of a yard to study the little creature, which fairly swelled with murderous rage. It not only struck madly at the chapparo switch I thrust out to it, but at last, evidently discerning that the blame lay back of the switch, actually followed it up, and with such agility that I had to jump up and back without loss of time. The idea of retreat never seemed to enter that flat head. Sometimes he would lie and puff out with impotent rage, throwing his mouth so wide open that it seemed the venom must start, and sometimes be glided toward me, his head an inch above the ground, with an attitude which seemed to say: "Stand still there and we'll see who laughs!"

At last I killed him. He was neither larger round nor longer than an ordinary lead pencil: a cold, leaden gray on the back, but underneath rosy as the mouth of a conch shell. The fangs were tiny, not much more than an eigth of an inch long, and as delicate as the thinnest needle. A wondrous mechanism, this mouth, with its two automatic needles, so infinitesimal yet so perfectly competent! I opened the ugly little jaws wide, pressing upon the sides of the head, and when the recurving fangs had risen from their grooves in the roof of the mouth and stood tense, a stream so inconceivably fine that the eye could barely note it spurted from each, and in the space of two or three inches melted into invisible spray. Yet that jet, finer than a cobweb, strand, was enough to give swift death to the largest and strongest animal that walks.

When the hunt was over I told my Indian chums of the pichu-cuate, and asked them many questions. They all knew of the snake, though several had never seen one, and all agreed that it is extremely rare. The crotalus ranks among the Pueblo divinities, and their charmers have no difficulty with that steady-going and respectable reptile. But even among these people with whom the cult of the rattlesnake has such astounding features, and where until recent years every Pueblo kept a sacred rattlesnake in a sacred room, with special priests to attend him, the villainous little sand viper is accursed. Even those who have "the power of the snakes" can do nothing with him, he scorns to be tamed even by the dropping upon his head of the mystic pollen of the corn blossom.

And he was more dangerous than the rattlesnake? Oh, yes! A thousand times worse than ch'a-ra-ra-deh! No one ever got well if the pinchu cuate bit him. Even a medicine man once, who knew all the sacred herbs, and so was proof against snakes, brought a pichu-cuate in his blanket to the Pueblo to tame it. But when he let it out upon the floor and sang to it up it struck him in the wrist, and he fell down and died in the time one could count fifty.

DEVASTATION BY FIRE

Nearly One-Half of the Entire Village of Harrow Reduced to Ashes.

NINETEEN BUILDINGS BURNED

The Fire Breaks Out in a Roller Mill and Spreads to the Adjacent Buildings —The Loss by the Conflagration Will Be Heavy— Partly Insured.

COLCHESTER, Ont., Aug. 6.—Nearly one-half of Harrow is in ashes. On Saturday while the men in A. E. Linesack's roller mill were at dinner fire originated in the engine room, and in a short time the whole building was in flames. It then communicated with Henry Hurdman's building, used as a storehouse next to the mill, and also to John Stocker's grocery store on the opposite side of the street, consuming James R. Ford's butcher and baker shop, as well as Charles Bell's insurance office, William Borrowman's building, unoccupied, and from thence to Hurdman's blacksmith and carriage shop; also Rumball's hardware store.

A dwelling belonging to James Drummond, Smith's shoe shop and dwelling combined. A brick house belonging to Joseph S. Wright, on the south side of the street, broke the progress of the fire, otherwise the whole village would have gone before the flames.

Sparks from the mill communicated with John Hallstead's barn and stable, fully one-eighth of a mile distant, and they were consumed together with three horses and several hogs. On the north side of the street was Gilbert Morin's shoe shop and dwelling, and a dwelling house belonging to Charles Bott. In all nineteen buildings were consumed, including outbuildings. The loss cannot at present be obtained but will be heavy, mostly covered by insurance. The mill had $4,300, distributed between the Phœnix, Wellington and Mutual.

DASTARDLY INCENDIARISM.

A Colored Girl and an Infant Cremated in a Burning Building.

CHATHAM, Ont., Aug. 6.—Yesterday the house of John Curtis, colored, corner of Taylor avenue and the second concession road, Chatham township, was found to be on fire and before help could be secured the house was reduced to ashes. A girl named Lizzie Gant, aged 13, and the infant child of Mrs. Thompson, who was residing with the Curtis family, were burned to death.

About 4 o'clock members of the family got up to put some stray cows out of the garden and at that time everything was right. About 6 o'clock Mrs. Munson, of Detroit, daughter of Mr. Curtis, was awakened by the smoke and discovered a large bundle of straw in the room ablaze, as though it had been pushed in through the open window. She raised the alarm and attempted to save Lizzie Gant, but the latter fell back into the flames and perished. The other members of the household escaped, some of them more or less scorched. The two bodies were afterwards found burned to a crisp.

There is no doubt that the fire was an incendiary one and suspicion falls on a colored man who was seen by a neighbor loitering near the house before the flames burst out. It is thought he may have robbed the house and then fired it. No other motive can be offered.

The girl Lizzie Gant's mother perished in a burning house some years ago. The coroner will hold an inquest to-day. No insurance on the property.

Disastrous Conflagration in Alton.

ALTON, Ont., Aug. 5.—A disastrous fire, which at one time threatened to wipe out the business portion of this village, occurred yesterday. The fire originated in the blacksmith shop of Boggs & Rowcliffe, carriage works. The alarm was rung and the citizens turned out en masse, but as there was a strong west wind blowing, it was impossible to check the flames. The whole structure was soon wrapped in flames and spread rapidly to the adjacent buildings. The carriage works of Barber & Bro. was the next to fall, and the heat from the two large buildings was so excessive that the residence of Mr. Samuel Barber close by was left to its fate. Next in line was the stable buildings of Dr. Algie which followed suit. The outbuildings of the brick block known as the Algie block were next in order. Nothing stood between a whole street of wooden building and the fire but the said block and three or four hundred men and women united spontaneously to defend it, and succeeded after two hours hard fighting in mastering the flames. The total loss will reach about $8,000, only partially covered by insurance. The two carriage shops and Mr. Barber's residence are insured in the Waterloo and Wellington Mutuals, and Dr. Algie's property in the Gore. The damage to the Algie block is not serious, but the general opinion is that the iron-clad shutters of that building not only saved itself but the greater part of the village from total destruction.

Fire in Woodstock, N. B.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Aug. 6.—The most disastrous fire here for years occurred yesterday. D. U. Grant & Co.'s big carriage factory was totally destroyed, causing a loss of $20,000. The insurance is $7,100, which is in the Quebec and Keystone Companies. The other buildings destroyed were G. F. Smith's barn and house and Owen Kelly's grocery. The carriage factory employed 27 men.

A Big Building for Montreal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 6.—Montreal is about to have another magnificent building, the French Chamber of Commerce having decided to erect a splendid structure. The building will be built somewhat on the same plan as the present English Board of Trade with the exception that on the basement and first flat handsome stores will be erected. The upper flats will be used as offices, halls, telegraph and telephone departments. The building will cost over $100,000.

Labor Day in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 6.—Great preparations are being made in labor circles for the celebration of Labor month. This year the day will be a legal one, having been so declared by the Dominion Government. Therefore nothing will be spared to make the event a memorable one. In the morning there will be a great procession, to be followed by a picnic and games.

A Shamrock Lacrosse Player Dead.

The Cost of Eating.

According to some recent statistics on the cost of living, reprinted in the Scientific American, an Englishman spends, on an average, $48 a year for food; a Frenchman, $47; a German, $42; a Spaniard, $33; an Italian, $24, and a Russian, $23. Of meat the Englishman eats 109 pounds a year; the Frenchman, 87; the German, 64; the Italian, 26, and the Russian, 51. Of bread the Englishman consumes 380 pounds; the Frenchman, 540; the German, 520; the Saniard 480, the Italian, 300, and the Russian, 735.

COFFEE IN NICARAGUA.

THE PLANTATIONS AS BEAUTIFUL AS PEACH ORCHARDS IN BLOOM.

The Process of Preparing the Bean for Market—How to Discover Adulterations —Directions for Brewing—What the Plant and Its Product Look Like.

The coffee plantations in the department of Matagalpa, on the table lands of Central Nicaragua, are year by year nearing perfection and give great promise of profit; and capitalists are becoming interested in the business as a good investment.

Anyone visiting the haciendas will admit that a well kept coffee plantation in full flower is as beautiful a sight as a peach orchard in full blossom. The coffee trees naturally grow twenty or thirty feet high, but are generally kept trimmed down to twelve feet, so that the crop may be conveniently gathered. The leaves are oblong in shape, dark and glossy, and form a beautiful background for the dainty white blossoms. The coffee first resembles the cranberry, but when fully ripe is somewhat darker colored. It is at the time of picking juicy and pleasantly acid.

The first step in preparing coffee for the market is to remove the pulp of the fruit, generally by machinery, although it can be done simply by soaking the berries in water for several hours and washing them until the seeds, the coffee beans, are free. Each berry contains two seeds, each inclosed in a light papery shell. Underneath this is another shell, gossamer and tissue-like. This second shell has to be removed with great care, for if the slightest bit remains the coffee will have a bitter, unpleasant flavor.

The sorting and grading is done by machinery able to separate the berries accurately into classes uniform in size and perfection. After a little experience it is easy to determine in what locality coffee is grown simply by the appearance of the bean. Coffee from Java is of medium size, rather light in color. The Mocha is decidedly small and of a dark bluish green. Rio has a distinctive size and shape. The coffee grown in Central America is of higher grade than the Brazilian, and indeed it has been pronounced by the New York importers to be equal to the best in the world. It is somewhat smaller than the Java, but larger than the Mocha bean, which it is like in color.

Native Nicaraguans do not make the most of the possibilities within reach, for there is "coffee, coffee everywhere, and not a drop to drink!" because of the bad way in which it is prepared. It is generally roasted until it is fairly black. At that stage it has parted with all life and flavor. It is then ground into flour and put on the stove to boil and stew indefinitely. In this, however, the Nicaraguans differ but little from the natives in other coffee-growing countries. The Turks and Arabians think a thick, muddy paste is the best form of coffee. Whenever they have an opportunity to try the clear, amber nectar which Europeans and Americans delight in, they invariably declare for their bitter paste.

There is a point in regard to coffee which should be known and acted upon. It is easily injured in flavor by its tendency to absorb surrounding odors. It is as susceptible as either butter or milk. Though this effect may be partially counteracted by the process of roasting, yet enough of any unpleasant odor absorbed generally remains to destroy the natural flavor of the volatile oil or caffeine. For this reason coffee when roasted should never be put in a wooden box or chest. A tin canister is better, but best of all is an airtight glass or earthen jar. Nor should freshly-roasted coffee be left exposed to the air while cooling, for the caffeic acid, which affords the greater portion of the flavor and peculiar properties of coffee, is set free by the heat, and if the coffee is placed at once in a closed jar much of the aromatic vapor will be reabsorbed.

Most discussions on the best way of making coffee take place between the advocates of decoction and infusion. The truth is that it depends entirely upon the roasting and grinding whether coffee should be boiled or not. When it is roasted until it is a very dark color and is then ground into a fine powder it should never be allowed to boil, even though one takes the precaution of putting it in a muslin bag. If, on the other hand, the roasting and grinding are not carried to the extreme point, boiling becomes really necessary.

The "drip" coffee pots, although in great favor, have never been able to entirely displace the old-fashioned kind, which, however, all should understand, were never intended for the finely-pulverized coffee which is now in large demand. For the coffee-pot of our fathers allow for each person a heaping tablespoonful of coffee roasted until it is a rich chestnut brown—not black—and ground only moderately fine. Add another spoonful for good measure. Put this amount in a bowl and beat into it an egg, adding enough cold water to moisten the grounds thoroughly, and then beat with a fork until the mixture becomes creamy. When this is in the coffee-pot add a cup of boiling water to each spoonful of coffee, and let it boil from three to eight minutes. The time allowed for boiling must still depend entirely upon the fineness of the coffee.

In Paris one frequently sees coffee which resembles the ordinary cafe noir, but is prepared in an entirely different way, and is in reality the essence of coffee. One teaspoonful is all that is needful to pour into the cup, which is then filled with boiling milk. It is delicious and seems to have a distinctive flavor, entirely different from coffee prepared in any other manner.

If one would try the experiment and is unable to obtain one of the coffee-pots used in the Parisian distilling, take an ordinary wide-mouthed bottle, fill it two-thirds full of coffee which has been coarsely ground, and add as much cold water as the bottle will hold. Let it stand for three days, shaking it frequently thoroughly. Then strain and it is ready for the table. It can be served with the hot milk, as I have described, or it can be heated. In this care must be taken that it does not boil. This form of concentrated coffee is commended to travelers, as it is easily transported.

In these days of adulteration, the purity of coffee can easily be settled. Put a spoonful of good coffee in a glass of cold water. If there are any foreign substances the water will become discolored almost immediately. If the coffee is pure it will require considerable time to tinge the water.—Catherine Charlton, in Buffalo Express.

China Must Pay for the Foul Murder of Her Explorer.

JAPANESE MINISTER MOBBED

Chinese Soldiers Set Upon Him on His Departure for Japan — Anarchy Feared in Hankow—Shanghai Will Be Recognized a Free Port.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—A despatch to the Central News from Tien Tsin says Li Hung Chang continues to direct the war preparations of the Chinese. To-day he received the newly-arrived troops. The absence of his yellow jacket was the subject of much remark. "Li Hung Chang has sent a message to the Japanese minister expressing regret for the treatment to which the minister was subjected in Taku and promising that the offending Chinese soldiers will be punished. The soldiers abused and derided the minister and threw mud and stones at him. A telephone line has been established between Taku and Tien-Tsin. The commander at Taku has prepared to block the Pei Ho on short notice. The laying of torpedoes continues. All competent men in the training schools have been drawn for service in the various warships."

The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News telegraphs: "The report that there had been another engagement off the Corean coast, in which three Chinese warships had been captured by the Japanese, is not credited here. The Chinese northern fleet remains in Weihai-Wei and no Chinese transports have recently ventured to sea. The Russian troops north of the Trumen river have been reinforced. Several Japanese transports escorted by warships have been sighted in the Yellow sea. It is presumed that they were bound for Chemulpo.

"Letters from Hankow, where there are only eighty Europeans, say that great anxiety prevails among the foreigners lest anarchy break out among the natives in the event of a disaster to the Chinese forces. All of the male Europeans have enrolled as volunteers. Uneasiness is felt also in Chin-Kiang, Huhn, Chang and other places.

Japan's Action Defended.

Prof. Thomas E. Holland, an eminent authority on international law, has written a long letter to the Times concerning the Kow Shing affair. He contends that when the Kow Shing was sunk a state of war existed. The flying of the British flag, he says, whether a ruse or otherwise, is wholly immaterial. The Kow Shing was clearly part of a hostile expedition which the Japanese were entitled to prevent from reaching its goal. The rescued officers having been duly freed, no violation of neutral rights occurred. No apology is due Great Britain, nor have the owners of the vessel or the relatives of the lost Europeans any claim.

Shanghai Will Be Neutral.

In the House of Commons Sir Edward Grey, Parliamentary secretary to the foreign office, in reply to a question from Edward T. Gourley, representing Sunderland and a prominent ship owner of that place, said that Japan had promised that no warlike operations should be undertaken against Shanghai and its approaches, on the condition that China is not to obstruct the approaches to Shanghai.

Japan, Sir Edward added, contends that the powers have no right to interfere with neutral vessels except in the event of an effective blockade, due notice of which should be given, or in the case of contrabands of war.

Contrabands of War.

Sir Edward Grey also states that it would be dangerous for Great Britain to define, by a general statement, what is and what is not contraband of war.

Coal, he said, had been held not to be contraband of war, as a rule. But it was possible in certain cases that it might become so. Great Britain, remarked the Parliamentary secretary in conclusion, must adhere to the doctrine that it is not for fighters to decide what is and what is not contraband of war, regardless of the well established rights of neutral people.

Japan Recalling Her Officers.

The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says: "The Japanese Major Audo, director of the military school in Tokio, who has been sojourning here since February, studying in the military schools, has been recalled to Japan. Twelve other Japanese officers who were delegated to study in military institutions in Germany and Austria have returned home.

China's Indemnity for the Kow Shing

The Shanghai correspondent of the Times telegraphs that Li Hung Chang expects that England will claim compensation for the relatives of the Kow Shing victims and for the owners of the vessel and cargo. He estimates the indemnity due China for the sinking of the Kow Shing at $3,500,000.

France Demands Satisfaction.

TIEN TSIN, China, Aug. 7.—M. Jules Dutreuil de Rhins, the eminent French explorer, has been murdered at Thibet and his body thrown into the river. The French envoy to China has addressed a protest to the Government demanding the recovery and return of the unfortunate man's body and papers. The envoy also demands that the Chinese Government make an apology for the occurrence and provide a proper compensation for the family of the murdered man.

Denmark Has a Grievance.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 7.—Denmark has demanded the release of Herr Muhlenstedt, a passenger on the despatch boat Tsao-Kiang, which was captured by the Japanese on July 25.

Japanese Minister to Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—A telegram was received at the Japanese legation yesterday announcing the appointment of Shinichiro Kurina, chief of the diplomatic bureau of the Department of Foreign Affairs, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the United States. Mr. Kurino was one of the students sent to this country by the government of Japan twenty years ago, when that government decided upon the policy of sending her young men abroad to study in colleges and universities of Europe and America. After mastering the English language he studied law at Harvard College. His abilities and characteristics are recognized not only by his own government, but also by the officials of foreign governments whose duties have brought them into contact with him.

The recent announcement from Japan that Kentaro Kaneko would be appointed to succeed Minister Tateno was premature.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 7.—The steamer Empress of India sailed yesterday for China and Japan. The report that the steamer carries contraband freight for China is emphatically denied.

Chatham's Terrible Crime.

CHATHAM, Aug. 7.—The awful occurrence of Sunday morning in the adjacent township of Chatham by which two lives were lost as the outcome of a firebug's fiendish deed is the all-absorbing topic of conversation in this vicinity. Detective McKeuer is at work on the case. He thinks that there is something being concealed by the Curtis family which would throw light on the case. No hesitation is manifested by the public in characterizing the movements of the county high constable as very slow and undecisive in view of the enormity of the crime committed.

The Salvation Army Mobbed in Quebec.

QUEBEC, Aug. 7.—For some time past the Salvation Army have been trying to hold meetings in St. Roch ward, the most French and Catholic portion of the city. Last night a big crowd gathered on Bridge street in front of a store owned by a man named Samson, announced as the French preacher of the Salvation Army. A shower of stones was thrown through the window and doors, which were completely smashed. Two Salvation girls are reported badly hurt. No arrests could be made on account of the tremendous crowd assembled in front of the store.

An Ingersoll Man Suicides.

INGERSOLL, Ont., Aug. 7.—The body of William Burns, an old man about 75 or 80 years old, who formerly lived at Southampton, has been found under some trees about a mile east of here, near the C.P.R. track. He had committed suicide by taking carbolic acid and whiskey. He had been in the town on Saturday looking for work, and it is thought that being discouraged he took his life. His three sons live in Southampton.

A Foul Murder in Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 7.—James McRory a prominent Oddfellow, was found murdered yesterday in his house five miles from this city. There is no clue to the murderer. The object of the murder undoubtedly was robbery, as McRory had drawn three months' pay a few days ago. McRory was from Dundee, Scotland. He has relatives in Renfrew, Ont., and Bristol, R.I.

Buchahan Committed for Trial.

WINDSOR, Aug. 7.—Isaac Buchanan was yesterday committed to stand trial at the next assizes on the charge of criminally assaulting Maggie Patterson, a 16-year old Detroit girl, who was visiting relatives near Sandwich and whom Buchanan induced to accompany him to his house to assist his wife with her housework. Bail was refused.

A C. P. R. Boat Ashore.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 7.—The Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of China, Captain Archibald, which sailed from Vancouver on July 16th, ran ashore at the entrance to that port. All attempts to float her have proved futile. It is thought she must discharge much of her cargo and then wait for the full tide to float her. Apparently she is in no danger.

Austrian Consul Created a Knight.

MONTREAL, Aug. 7.—Edward Schultze, for the past twenty years Austrian consul in Montreal, has been created a knight of the order of Franz Joseph by the Emperor Francis Joseph for meritorious services.

A Collision in the Channel.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The British steamer Lismore Castle was in collision with a German steamer, supposed to be the Porto Alegre, on Sunday afternoon. The steamer Lismore Castle was crushed to the water line and put back to Plymouth for repairs. The fate of the German steamer is unknown, but it is believed that she foundered.

A Royal Wedding in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 7.—The Grand Duchess Kenia, daughter of the Czar, was married yesterday to Grand Duke Alexander Michailovitch in the Imperial palace at Peterhof. Among the guests were the Queen of Greece, the Crown Prince of Denmark and the Princess of Wales and her daughters.

A World's Record Broken.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 7.—In the Scottish games yesterday John Pearsall, of Florence, Mass., broke the world's record for throwing the heavy weight without a turn. He threw the fifty pound weight 29 feet 10 inches. The best previous record is 28 feet 7 inches by West, of Boston.

Cholera Increasing in Holland.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 7.—Five new cases of cholera and three deaths from the disease have been reported in Maastricht in the last two days. Five cases and two deaths have been reported in Halfweg, a village near Haarlem, and one death in Haarlem.

Five Burned to Death.

WILMAR, Minn., Aug. 7.—S. O. Ostenson, a farmer living eight miles north of here, and his four children, were burned to death in the destruction of their farm house yesterday. Lightning caused the fire.

Increase in American Revenue.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The total receipts from internal revenue since June 30, 1894, is stated at the Treasury Department to be $30,394,661, against $17,708,559 during the same period last year.

VIGILANT VICTORIOUS

The Yankee Yacht Beats the Prince of Wales' Cutter Britannia.

THEY RACE IN A STIFF BREEZE

Over the Same Course as That on Which the American Beat the British Fleet Forty-Three Years Ago—Emperor William Views the Race.

COWES, Aug. 6.—Forty-three years ago when Queen Victoria was in her maternity prime, she saw the swiftest of England's peerless pleasure fleet defeated by the Yankee schooner America. Yesterday her son, the Prince of Wales, saw his own cutter, the Britannia, vanquished over the same course, from Cowes around the Isle of Wight, that the America traversed.

The Emperor William of Germany and his suite came into the roads late in the afternoon on the steam yacht Hohenzollern and saw the cutter of his royal relative defeated. The course around the little island is about 60 miles, by hugging the shore in certain places, the races hoped to reduce the distance. The allowance given to the Britannia by the Vigilant was, owing to the greater length of the course, somewhat more than in the preceding races.

From the beginning to that part of the race where it was evident that the Britannia could not win the Yankee sloop and the Prince's cutter hung to each other with the tenacity of bulldogs. There seemed to be a mutual fear that one might get away from the other. Off Ventnor, on the southwest coast of the island, when it was a question whether the Britannia or the Vigilant would get the better of the light sailing, the cutter headed in shore. The skipper had evidently decided to go wind hunting. Captain Haff steered a course that brought him pretty close to the Briton.

It was a maxim of Yankee skippers to stick to the yacht that they think they can defeat under the same weather conditions. Captain Haff held on to the Briton. Pilot Diaper, of the Vigilant, became fearful for the white sloop. He shouted, "If we keep on this course we will go ashore." Mr. Iselin, who was in charge of the Vigilant, said to Captain Haff: "I don't give a ——, stick to her. We will go wherever she goes." A moment later the Britannia thumped on the bottom. She struck again and then the Vigilant grounded. The accident to the Britannia lost her some time, but not enough to counterbalance the later gains of the Vigilant. The Britannia was beaten by 8 minutes 18 seconds actual time and some less than six minutes corrected time. The Vigilant won a prize of $650, subscribed by the Royal London Yacht Club.

The announcement that the Satanita, regarded by British yachtsmen as their rough weather cutter, would take part in the races intensified interest in the event and made the Britons pray for a half gale. The argosy of pleasure craft in the roads, composed of the finest vessels in the world, was larger than on Saturday. The shores of the Isle of Wight around which the three yachts sailed were skirted with throngs of English folk and every port of the little island sent out a small fleet of boats of many kinds whose occupants saw the racers pass on their 60 mile tussel around the island. Observation of the race from the shore was sometimes shut off by mists, as the yachts at certain places were far out in the English Channel.

Mr. Gould Dipped in the Sea.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Aug. 7.—It now transpires that Mr. Gould had a narrow escape from drowning on Friday, when he met the Vigilant, in a steam launch off the Spit lightship. Just as Mr. Gould was walking across a plank held between the two vessels, the launch gave a sudden lurch and Mr. Gould fell into the sea. He was wearing a mackintosh at the time and this garment flew over his head and for a time Mr. Gould's situation was critical. However, he kept his head, and while treading water threw his arms up, and, just as he was sinking, succeeded in getting the mackintosh clear of his head. Gasping for breath, he held out his hand to the Vigilant's people, who caught it in the nick of time, and dragged him on board the sloop. Mr. Gould is none the worse for his immersion.

Cotton Manufacturers Cut Wages.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 7.—The Cotton Manufacturers' Association has voted to reduce the wages of weavers from 18 to 16 cents per cut of 64 by 64 goods. All the other employes will have their pay reduced about 10 per cent. The cut will take effect August 20.

Destructive Fire in St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 7.—Yesterday afternoon fire broke out at Minnehaha and Macubin streets and destroyed $120,000 worth of property, including a bridge belonging to the city, an ice house owned by the St. Paul Lake Ice Co. and eight cars belonging to the Northwestern Fuel Co.

Report of Britain's Crop.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The Times publishes to-day a crop report, which is based on returns made by 1,000 agents throughout Great Britain. The condition on August 1, it says, is lower than on July 1, although still higher than on August 1, 1893. The wheat crop, according to the Times' report, has fallen off two per cent. since July 1, and is now about fifteen per cent. higher than on August 1, 1893.

Evicted Tenants Bill Reported.

ANOTHER PILL TO SWALLOW.

Under the heading of "A Specimen Waste," the Toronto News (Conservative) says:—

"Public attention was so completely absorbed during the session by the Curran bridge scandal, which involved a loss of over $140,000 even according to the estimate of Hon. John Haggart, that another and even more glaring robbery was overlooked. This latter occurred at Little Rapids, near Ottawa, and was in connection with the building of a lock and dam for the purpose of opening up certain phosphate beds. In this case the original estimate was only $44,000, but $260,000 has actually been spent on the work. And so far only one vessel has used the lock and not a pound of phosphate has been taken from the adjoining property."

The above is another bitter pill for the Conservatives to swallow; but they will shut their eyes and gulp it down and forget all about it when they go to the polls at the next Dominion election. Neither the devotion of parents to their children, of husbands and wives (however happily mated) to each other, nor of a religious man to his theological belief, appears to exceed, even if it equal, the devotion of a good old-fashioned dyed-in-the-wool Tory to his party, though why it is so is one of the many mysteries which nobody can solve. Offering the "specimen waste" to the consideration of a Conservative the other day, but without mentioning names or localities, he wouldn't give an opinion until he knew under which Government it occurred, and, when we told him, he said he didn't deny that both Governments were equally bad and deserved to be turned out. That he voted to turn out the Ontario Government there isn't a shadow of doubt; but we have no more hope that he will vote against the Dominion Government than we have that all our delinquent subscribers will pay up before the first of September. And yet that same Conservative, if on a jury before whom a private individual was tried for dishonesty, would vote for a verdict of "guilty" on evidence far less strong than the evidence against the perpetrators of the "glaring robbery" at Ottawa.

A LAW establishing woman's suffrage was lately passed in New Zealand. At the first legislative elections at which they were able to vote they exercised a marked influence for good, and several very undesirable elements in public life were obliterated. Recently there has been public voting on the question of granting liquor licenses in the several electoral districts—one of the features of the New Zealand law—and though the feminine vote has been strong enough to have an effect on the result, yet it has been disappointing on account of the numbers. Out of an electoral roll of 183,000 women entitled to do so, only 38,000 voted. This is not accounted for. It can hardly be attributed to either the influence of the husbands or to corruption. And in such a cause women would scarcely be apathetic. Those who initiated the law are disappointed at the result of its second test and the New Zealond papers comment on the result in rather severe tones. While it is premature for them to denounce woman's suffrage as a failure, still it may be just as well to advise the ladies to attend to their knitting.

THE Huron Expositor says and with the EXAMINER'S endorsation:—"We have in Ontario many Liberal journals that in the matter of fairness in dealing with public questions any party might be proud of, but this is to be expected of Liberal journals the world over. The Conservatives also have some that keep their skirts clean. The paper, however, which stands out from all others in this respect is the Toronto Globe, and journal of which every Liberal has reason to be proud. Its broad Liberalism, its courtesy to opponents. Its fairness, and its thoroughness form a model for every journal in the country, and compel the admiration even of opponents."

American fishermen are kicking against paying a fee for the privilege of taking Canadian fish. A few days ago a party of them took a trip to Sinical Island and the Rideau river. The actual time spent in fishing was less than six hours. There were eight fishermen in the party, and the actual number of bass caught was 420. They were of unusually large size. One nine-pound pickerel was also in the catch. If the Yankee angler will not pay for such sport, he ought, the Mail thinks, to stay at home and play marbles.

STARTED BY A CIGARETTE.

Philadelphia's Baseball Grounds Ruined by Fire—$150,000 Loss.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—A cigarette cast away by a small boy in the pavilion of the Philadelphia Ball Club, at Borad and Huntington streets yesterday, started a fire that completely destroyed the grand stand and bleachers and ruined the ground for further play this year. The flames spread to the adjoining stables of the omnibus company, gutting them, eight or nine small houses in the vicinity and the roof of the Philadelphia Traction Company's car stables were also damaged before the fire was extinguished. The total loss is estimated at about $150,000, with nearly complete insurance. About 10.30 in the morning the members of the Philadelphia Ball Club were practising on the groand, and they had an interested audience of small urchins who had crawled into the grand stand. One of these boys threw a lighted cigarette under a seat in the middle of the pavilion and it probably ignited some rubbish that set fire to the woodwork. The flames had made some progress before they were noticed. The blazing sun of July and a lack of rain had made the woodwork in the stand as dry as tinder and fanned by a good breeze the flames were soon in complete possession of the pavilion.

In the stables of the omnibus company were several hundred horses at the time the fire broke out, but all the animals were gotten out in safety. The grand stand and bleachers cost about $100,000 and they are completely destroyed, but as the expensive foundatione of the pavilion are not injured the loss will not exceed $80,000. On this there is an insurance of $60,000. The damage to the 'bus company's stables was $40,000, fully insured. The rest of the damage will probably not exceed $25,000, fully insured.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

General Middleton and the Powell Charges—A Militia Appointment.

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—Ald. Corry, of Ottawa, has returned from a two months' trip in Ireland. He says business is very dull there. The linen trade is extremely quiet. This is owing to the McKinley tariff.

A Toronto evening paper says: "The Minister of Militia will not give the press the reply of Col. Powell to the general's charges. Mr. Patterson promised Parliament to make the adjutant-general's report public, but from what I can gather Col. Powell has not omitted to call a spade a spade, and I believe he has told some rather interesting truths about the general." General Herbert, when seen yesterday in reference to the matter, said: "I have not seen the reporter of the Toronto paper, and don't know where he got his information. It is all news to me." "By saying it is news to you do you refer to the statements that you had referred the matter to the war office?" the general was asked. "Well, it is all news to me. That is all I have to say," was the reply. He would neither deny nor affirm the correctness of the article.

Major T. Charles Watson, a well-known figure in Ottawa society, has received the appointment of inspector of armories and military stores for the Dominion.

Consumption—Low Condition

Wonderful Results From Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Miss Hannah Wyatt
Toronto, Ont.

"Four years ago while in the old country (England), my daughter Hannah was sent away from the hospital, in a very low condition with consumption of the lungs and bowels, and weak action of the heart. The trip across the water to this country seemed to make her feel better for a while. Then she began to get worse, and for 14 weeks she was unable to get off the bed. She grew worse for five months and lost the use of her limbs and lower part of body, and if she sat up in bed had to be propped up with pillows. Physicians and wanted me to send her to the 'Home for Incurables.' But I said as long as I could hold my hand up she should not go. We then began Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures to give her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She is getting strong, walks around, is out doors every day; has no trouble with her throat and no cough, and her heart seems to be all right again. She has a first class appetite. We regard her cure as nothing short of a miracle." W. WYATT, 89 Marion Street, Parkdale, Toronto, Ontario.

Said She Was Past All Help

IN THE U. S. SENATE.

Affairs in Connection With the Dominion Coal Company Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—There was a pretty long and interesting discussion in the Senate yesterday over Mr. Chandler's resolution for an inquiry into the history of the Dominion Coal Company of Nova Scotia and over Mr. Mills' amendments to it, proposing to extend the inquiry to coal and transportation companies in the United States that might be affected by the Canadian competition, as to whether the members of Congress or officers of the government held any pecuniary interest in these companies. At the close of the morning hour the matter went over without action.

The remainder of the day's session was occupied in the discussion of the anti-anarchist bill, which was finally passed and sent to a conference committee.

Dowe's Bullet Proof Coat.

Herr Dowe, the German tailor who invented the bullet proof coat which has been successfully tested in his country, has made overtures to the United States government towards supplying the army with his protector. An answer has been sent by the war department asking for terms, etc., of conducting a test in this country. So far none of the several American inventors of bullet proof coats has made any proposition to this government for supplying the army.

The Tariff Bill.

A caucus of the House Democrats was held yesterday to consider what action should be taken to secure the early passage of the tariff bill.

The chief contention is now over coal and iron ore. The House still insists upon free coal and iron and it is said that this persistence caused the withdrawal of the Senate conferees from the room after the declaration that it was impossible for the Senate to give way. Until these two articles are finally settled one way or the other there can be no agreement, and the sturdy way in which the House is holding on gives little hope for a speedy result.

ENSIGN'S STRANGE STORY.

For Twelve Years in a Cuban Prison and Nine Years a Slave.

VALPARAISO, Ind., Aug. 7.—Samuel Ensign, who left this city twenty-one years ago to make a trip as engineer of an ocean steamer, returned to this city on Sunday and tells a strange story of his absence.

The vessel on which he shipped went to Cuba, where the captain got into trouble with the authorities and the crew was seized by the Spanish authorities. Ensign was thrown into a cell in the old government prison, where he was kept prisoner for twelve years, when he was taken out and given to a prominent Catholic priest as a bodyguard and servant, and for nine years he was a slave.

The priest, with Ensign as a valet, started on a year's tour, arriving in New Orleans about a month ago when Ensign deserted him, starting north to try and find his wife, whom he had left in this city. On Sunday he reached Michigan city and made his way to the home of James and John Prentice, two prominent farmers who are nephews of his, where he found his wife.

Another Expedition to the Pole.

ARCHANGEL, Russia, Aug. 7.—The steamer Windward, having on board the Jackson North Polar expedition, sailed hence for Harbourava or Jugorski Schar, as circumstances shall determine. The place of the landing of the expedition in Franz Josef Land can only be determined when the ice conditions are known. All the members of the party are in good health and spirits and are confident of success. The city government and city officials and other notables went on board the Windward and went with her for some distance down the harbor. When they left the steamer many and hearty were the Godspeeds they wished the voyagers, who responded with cheers.

Revolution Feared in Venezuela.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The officers and passengers of the steamer Venezuela, from Venezuela ports, which arrived here yesterday, say there is reason to fear another revolution in that country in the near future. The presence of three ex-presidents at Curocoa adds to the feeling of unrest. Crespo's popularity is waning. A number of the states claim that he has discriminated against them in the matter of improvements. It is reported that agents of the revolutionists are organizing in every city of any size.

Mexico to Start a Merchant Marine.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—United States Minister Gray reports that Mexico is starting to establish a merchant marine by offering ship builders bounties and other privileges and the creation of a department of marine. An official decree, published June 12, permits foreigners to acquire Mexican vessels, wipes out restrictions upon licenses and the composition of crews, and prescribes the relation of the various bounties to be paid.

A Good Appetite

Always accompanies good health, and an absence of appetite is an indication of something wrong. The universal testimony given by those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, as to its merits in restoring the appetite, and as a purifier of the blood, constitutes the strongest recommendation that can be urged for any medicine.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills, biliousness, jaundice, indigestion, sick headache. 25c.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Monument to Cholera Victims Unveiled.

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 7.—The handsome monument erected on the grounds of the general hospital by Archbishop Cleary in memory of his countrymen who perished here during the plague in 1847 and 1848, was unveiled last evening in the presence of a great gathering of citizens. The monument—plinth, pedestal and statue—stands nearly twelve feet high. The statue, which is of purest Carrara marble and was sculptured in Italy, is a figure of the angel of the resurrection. It is erected on the top of the mound beneath which were laid nearly half a century ago the remains of the plague-stricken Irish who had been driven to this city in dire distress, having contracted pestilence in the fetid holds of the old wooden sailing vessels that carried them from the old land.

Sad Drowning at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Aug. 7.—A sad drowning accident occurred on Hamilton Bay yesterday by which a young man named Joseph Bale, 20 years of age, 48 Robert street, lost his life. Bale, in company with others, was rowing a yacht in a small boat called a dingy. The dingy upset and all but Bale managed to hold on to it until rescue came. The body was recovered very shortly after the accident, and when means of resuscitation were resorted to Bale made an effort to speak but he never fully recovered his senses. Deceased was a promising young man and his parents are grief-stricken on account of his tragic death.

A Slick Counterfeiter Caught.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 7.—Lorenzo Hoyt of Bethel, brother of Russell D. Hoyt, was arrested yesterday and taken to New Haven by secret service detectives. The Hoyt homestead was searched and a complete outfit for counterfeiting was seized, including a new $10 gold certificate, plate, dies and $13,000, most spurious $10 certificates. A large amount of paper for making notes was also found. Hoyt is about 35 years old, married and has been a respected and supposed law-abiding citizen.

Thirty Anarchists on Trial.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The trial of thirty anarchists began yesterday in the Court of Assizes, with M. Dyrus presiding and M. Bulot conducting the prosecution. The court room was crowded with lawyers, officers and reporters. The general public, however, either felt little interest in the trial or feared some anarchist plot, for few outside the circle directly interested tried to gain admission.

How Editors Are Treated in China.

Nineteen hundred editors of a Pekin paper are said to have been beheaded. Some would shudder at such slaughter, who are heedless of the fact that Consumption is ready to fasten its fatal hold on themselves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the efficient remedy for weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, bronchitis, asthma, severe coughs and kindred affections.

Stamps, La Fayette Co., Arkansas.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I will say this to you, that consumption is hereditary in my wife's family; some have already died with the disease. My wife has a sister Mrs. F. A. Cleary, that was taken with consumption. She used your "Golden Medical Discovery," and, to the surprise of her many friends, she got well My wife has also had hemorrhages from the lungs, and her sister insisted on her using the "Golden Medical Discovery." I consented to her using it, and it cured her. She has had no symptoms of consumption for the past six years.

Yours very truly,
W. C. ROGERS, M. D.

Delicate diseases in either sex, however induced, speedily cured. Book sent securely sealed, 10 cents in stamps. Address, in confidence, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Lively Scenes Round Lakefield Wharf

Summer travel between Peterborough and Lakefield and the back lakes has started in earnest, and the crowds which centre round Lakefield wharf creates quite a bustle. Billy Bowman, of the Tremont House, reports business "on the bux." Every morning and evening crowds keep coming and going, and the steamers are having their hands full. The Tremont House is filling up with guests—some of whom prefer to stay there and make it their season's headquarters for fishing and boating on Lake Katchewanok, between Lakefield and Young's Point instead of engaging a cottage further up at Stony Lake. Others stay over for a day or a night waiting arrivals of friends, where they can be sure to enjoy comfortable rooms and meals. Although no big fish stories have as yet come from the fishermen around the Tremont this summer, the material is ripening for them, and a batch of them may be expected any day, as the fish are there waiting to be spoon-fed.

WELL DONE RANGERS.

Words of Praise for the Fifty Seventh.

The following paragraph is taken from the Kingston News, the editor of which is a prominent officer of the 14th Battalion, Prince of Wales Rifles:

"The 57th Battalion, Peterborough Rangers, are the holders this year of the "Gilmour Cup" in No. 3 district, for general efficiency, which they won with a total of 80 points. The 14th Battalion, of Kingston, came third with 65 points. The Rangers have added to the honors already won by them, by winning the Martini match in the Canadian Rifle League, with a score of 3,496, and it is probable that a member of their team—Sergt. Bartlett—will capture the special badge for the highest aggregate in the series. Sergt. Bartlett totalled 374.

As the Rangers hold the cup for being the best drilled battalion in military district No. 3, and have now captured the highest place in the Martini competition, the corps may fairly lay claim to the honour of being the crack regiment in the district.

Last year the 57th did not rank in the league competition prize list, and the great improvement made since is attributed to steady and intelligent practice at the butts. The regiment deserves the greatest credit for the good work done, and the splendid record made this year, and Vidette extends hearty congratulations."

HOTEL ON CHURCH PROPERTY.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Our attention has been called to an editorial in the EXAMINER in which it is made to appear that the license of the Croft House has been cut off in deference of the wishes of St. John's church. In justice to Mr. Croft, whose house has been kept in such an orderly manner that there has never been the slightest complaint by any member of the congregation, we feel bound to say that the question of granting or refusing a license to Mr. Croft has never been raised, that there has never been a desire to interfere in the matter and that any assertion to the contrary is without foundation. For the church to take the course alleged would be an unwarrantable interference with the rights of property. The land was leased to the late Hon. Sidney Smith, without restriction, and the church has no more ground for dictating for what purpose it shall be used than if it had absolutely divested itself of the ownership.

Your obedient servants,
ROBERT FAIR,
H. LONG,
Wardens of St. John's church.

THE CHURCH AND THE HOTEL.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I noticed in last night's Review a letter signed by Messrs. Fair and Long in reference to the hotel upon the church property. Their letter may be an official view of the business aspect of the case, but I, with many other members of the congregation, am more concerned with the moral aspect of the case and in this connection I am well satisfied with the action of the License Commissioners in the matter. I don't presume to say what their motives were in taking the course they did, I only know that the result is what pleases myself and other members, who have expressed themselves on the subject in my hearing. And now that the church property is rid of a hotel business, I hope that in future leases, a clause will be inserted forbidding the traffic in intoxicating drinks upon property that should be regarded as, and kept, sacred from the pollution of a traffic which all good men, regardless of creed, consider as a terrible evil.

Yours truly,
CHURCHMAN.

A DEPUTATION OF LADIES

From the W. C. T. U., town, was heard, asking that a curfew by-law be passed in Peterborough. Mrs. Paton, president, said the deputation wished the council to introduce a curfew by-law to remedy the evils of children, girls and boys, being abroad in the streets at night. Mrs. Paton said the committee also wished, on behalf of the Association, to request the enforcement of the law relating to the sale of tobacco to minors. The law was utterly disregarded in Peterborough, and boys of all ages could be seen on the streets smoking cigarettes. Another matter was the necessity of having the police cause the streets to be cleared in front of hotels of the crowds that usually congregate in front thereof. It was a great nuisance to ladies to have to pass the streets in front of hotels under the circumstances recited. These were what the Association were striving to bring about. As Mrs. Paton took her seat she was received with marked applause from the large company present.

ANOTHER DEPUTATION.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum, representing the Independent Order of Foresters, in reference to the approaching High Court at which about 700 delegates would be present. The High Court officials would be in town from Tuesday till Sunday and the whole hotel and boarding house accommodation would be demanded. The representatives came from every part of the province. He therefore asked that a grant of $60 be made to assist in decorating the town. Mr. Meldrum also asked the mayor and council to meet the Grand Lodge at the court house on Tuesday morning to welcome the delegates and extend them the freedom of the town.

The mayor said he would on behalf of the council heartily welcome the Foresters.

Mr. Best moved that the request of the deputation be acted upon and that the grant be made.

Mr. Hughes said we should act cautiously, as we were setting a precedent that would apply to all other Grand Lodge meetings.

Mr. Dawson also favoured the grant and seconded Mr. Best's motion to grant the request of the deputation. The motion carried.

Protestant rate ..... 17 mills
Roman Catholic rate ..... 15¼ mills

Mr. Cahill said he had only to add that the committee and council had decided to impose a rate that would give a clean sheet. The deficit last year was $14,000. The committee could have made 16 mills do if they had left one quarter of the water and light payments over, but they thought it best to make a clean sheet. He pointed out that only about one-third of the expenditure was controllable by the council. He was sorry the rate was so high, but the town was better to pay its way as its went.

The Mayor said that the fifth quarter provided for this year amounted to almost $3,000. He agreed with the chairman that it was best to clean off the slate. He was sorry the taxes were so high this hard year.

Mr. Hughes said he was not convinced that the course taken was the best. We had been assured that the $10,000 would meet all the deficit and permit of a rate of 15 mills. Mr. Hughes said it was a hard year to levy a heavy rate when so many workmen were out of employment.

SEVENTEEN MILLS IS THE RATE OF TAXATION.

(Cheers.) Under the circumstances it was a bad year to try to clear off the deficit. He was not in favour of clearing off all the old score. The outside rate should be 16 mills, and he moved to that effect, which was seconded by Mr. Mason.

Mr. Mason said the assessment had been increased, and with 17 mills the taxation would be a great deal higher.

Mr. Best said the guarantee referred to by Mr. Hughes was made in ignorance of the large amount of the deficit.

Mr. Dawson favoured a rate that would give a clear sheet. The increase of one mill meant only $1 on a $1,000 assessment.

Mr. Cahill said the shortage had been over $14,000, and we could have a 16 mills rate by carrying over a deficit of $4,000. The council had endeavoured to provide work for the people by building an outfall sewer. Sixteen mills would no more meet the case than a yard of cloth would make him (Mr. Cahill) a suit of clothes. (Laughter.)

The amendment was lost and the report adopted.

The report was adopted.

STRIKING THE RATE.

A bylaw to levy a rate in accordance with the estimates adopted, received its several readings and was passed, making the taxes payable on or before the 10th day of December, and after that date 5 per cent. be added to the amount of taxes unpaid.

A bylaw to authorize the construction of the Sherbrooke street drain was passed its second reading, and a motion for its publication adopted.

CURFEW MUST RING.

Mr. Hall introduced the second reading of a bylaw to provide for the ringing of the curfew bell. The bylaw provides that the bell shall ring from 8.55 till 9 o'clock in the evening, and after nine o'clock all boys and girls of the age of 16 years or under shall repair to their homes and if such boy or girl shall be found loitering on the streets they shall be conveyed to his or her home by a police officer, and any parent permitting boys or girls of the age indicated to habitually break the bylaw, shall be liable for the first offence to a fine of $1; for the second offence $2, and for the third, $5, or in default be imprisoned in the county jail for not more than 5 days. Mr. James English was appointed to ring the curfew bell.

Mr. Hall introduced a bylaw to appoint a parks' constable, and a bylaw was passed appointing E. B. Southard a special constable, without salary, to look after the parks and have the oversight of the Smith street bridge.

A motion was passed instructing the town engineer to make trial levels along the line of the proposed outfall sewer, and to sink test holes to show the nature of the subsoil to be excavated.

LICENSE BY-LAW REPEAL.

Mr. Cahill moved a motion to repeal the by-law requiring a reduction of licenses in the town of Peterborough, passed in January last. There being no seconder to the motion, the matter dropped.

Mr. Hall called attention to the duty of the Finance Committee to take action with reference to the corporate union of Peterborough and Ashburnham.

THE OUTFALL SEWER.

Mr. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. Hughes, that the chairman of the Sewerage Committee be requested to obtain from Mr. Alan Macdougal, a formal report as to whether an 18 inch outfall sewer would be sufficient for the present population of the town, and also his opinion as to the advisability of putting in such an outfall sewer and what population such a sewer would serve, and that in the meantime nothing be done towards the construction of a brick sewer.

Mr. Hall stated that the cost of a brick outfall sewer would be $6,000 or $7,000 in excess af an 18 inch pipe, which would be advisable in view of the fact that the town when it grew would be restrained from emptying sewage into the river and the less money spent on an outfall sewer that might ultimately be useless, the better.

After some discussion the motion was laid aside and the matter referred to the committee of the whole council.

A motion by Mr. Hall, seconded by Mr. Cahill, that in all contracts of work entered into by the town no one who is not a ratepayer be employed, was adopted.

Council adjourned.

THE VILLAGE CREEK.

Mr. T. G. Hazlitt appeared before the council in reference to the creek running through the village. He asked that its course be changed so that it would empty south of its present outlet, as the debris gathered there in the spring and blocked the flow of water from the mill race.

Councillor Smith stated that many villagers were in the habit of dumping refuse in the creek and a stop should be put to the practice.

After some discussion the matter was laid over for a special meeting, when the matter would be dealt with.

Mr. Taylor's request re finishing of culvert in the vicinity of his residence was left over for further discussion.

The council then adjourned. A special meeting of the council will be held shortly when the rate will be struck.

TATTOOED ROYALTY.

Indelible Ink Marks Are on Many Princely Limbs.

Grand Duke Alexis of Russia, a brother of Alexander III., enjoys the distinction of being the most magnificently and elaborately tattooed Prince of the blood in Europe. His powerful right arm is adorned with a superb dragon, which covers it almost entirely from half way between the wrist and the elbow to the shoulder. It was done in Japan, in Nagasaki, where the Grand Duke spent some time in serving as a Lieutenant on board the flagship of the Muscovite squadron in China waters. Alexis is by no means the only member of a reigning family who is thus indelibly marked. Princess Waldemar of Denmark, wife of the sailor son of King Christain, has a beautiful anchor and a crown tattooed on her arm half way between her shoulder and her elbow, which of course, is conspicuous when she wears a low dress.

Her husband likewise has naval emblems tattooed on his arm, and so, too, has King Oscar of Sweden, who served for many years in the navy before ascending to the throne. His sons followed his example.

Queen Victoria's second son, the new Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, is tattooed much in the same way as his brother-in-law, the Grand Duke Alexis, while his nephew, the Duke of York and future King of England, has a couple of crossed flags upon his forearm. The tattooing was done during his first cruise as a midshipman, and led to no end of rumpus, for some busybody either wrote or cabled home from Australia that Prince George and his elder brother, the late Duke of Clarence, had had the "straight arrow"—the mark used to denote Government property—worked with the needles upon their royal noses. The idea of a sovereign having his most conspicuous feature adorned with an emblem which figures upon the garments of every convict and penitentiary inmate was one that struck terror into the hearts of the worthy people of England.

Questions were addressed to the Government in the House of Commons by members, who were forced to take the step by their constituents, and so widespread and serious was the popular indignation over the affair that the London newspapers received an official communication, which each published in large type on the editorial page, assuring the people that, after due investigation, it had been ascertained that the noses of both the Prince of Wales' sons were absolutely free from any such disfigurement as that which had been reported.

King George of Greece, his second son, and his nephew, the czarowitz, are each of them tattooed, it having been done in both the latter cases in Japan. Besides these, there are among the tattooed Princes Queen Marguerite of Italy's brother, the Duke of Genoa; Archduke Stephen of Austria, and Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Emperor William.

Electricity in Egypt.

That the Arabs of Egypt are not quite up with the advancement of electrical science is seen by an amusing experience of Werner Von Siemens while traveling in that country. He, with several companions, climbed the great pyramid and there attempted some experiments on atmospheric electricity. His work had not progressed far before the Arabs arrived at the conclusion that he was practicing sorcery, and became uneasy. Finally they insisted that the savants should leave the pyramid. As their entreaties and threats produced no effect, they proceeded to resort to force.

"I placed myself then at the highest point of the pyramid," said Von Siemen, "and charged my strongest Leyden jar at the moment when a chief of the band was about to seize my hand to try and pull me from the place I had chosen. At this critical moment I brought the rod of my condenser within a centimeter of his nose. The effect of the discharge was greater than anything that I could have expected of it. The son of the desert, whose nerves had never been put to such an ordeal, fell backwards as though he had been struck by lightning; but uttering a yell he sprang up, and, in an instant, vanished from our vicinity followed by his companions."

The best cough cure is Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. It heals the lungs and cures coughs and colds.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer SAVED MY LIFE. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For Dyspepsia, Liver or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 25c. Sold by Geo. A. Schofield.

TWILIGHT IN ENGLAND.

A Beautiful Word Painting of the English Twilight.

Round the old mill that stands like a drowsy sentinel at the gate of the valley, quiet reigns. Silenced is the splash of the wheel; hushed the low rumble of the rude machinery. Through the rich grass of the meadow by the stream the red cattle are trooping home in answer to the milking call. The sun, already sunk below a fringe of woodland on the hill, shows like a fiery cloud through the dark lattice work of branches. Light still lingers on the steep slope across the glen, on tawny grass and golden furze and on points of grey rock that here and there break through the short turf. There is sunshine still upon the dark tops of the highest ridge of pines, and there are lines of silver on the branches of a giant oak whose crest towers far above his fellows. But here in the hollow the mist of evening gathers. All along the stream are drawn grey lines of vapor that in the far recesses of the valley deepen into a shadowy gloom. The birds, with whose notes the whole glen was ringing, grow silent one by one. Their brief vesper hour is almost over. The hush of night is settling on the woodland. Far up the slope there still sounds the clear whistle of the blackbird. A thrush, too, is singing, as if moved to rivalry. His, is a song less wild and thrilling, less powerful and passionate, yet a masterpiece of melody. Still through the deepening shadows rings the clear treble of the robins, and through all, like a whisper of peace, one hears the slumberous voices of the doves. Two cuckoos are still calling; one near at hand, whose loud notes, clear and mellow, seem to linger among the trees, dying slowly, like the music in the roof of a cathedral. Another, more distant, answers him. They keep such perfect time that the stronger voice overpowers half the answer, and for the most part three notes alone are audible, and the last one faint and low, and like a soft refrain:

Cuckoo, cuckoo—cuckoo.

Where the Kilt Came From.

The first reference to Highland costume occurs in the Saga of Magnus Barefoot, king or Norway, 1093-1103, written by Snorro Sturleson, who was reared with the children of that monarch's daughter. Here it is stated that Magnus and his men on their return from a marauding expedition to the west of Scotland "brought with them a great deal of the habits and fashions of clothing of these western parts. They went about the streets with bare legs and had short kirtles and overcloaks, and therefore his men called him Magnus Barefoot or Bareleg."

In the thirteenth century we seem to have something like a first reference to actual tartans in the statutes of the church of Aberdeen, which provide that "all ecclesiastics are to be suitably appareled, avoiding red, green and striped clothing, and their garments shall not be shorter that the middle of the leg." But it should be noticed that the word "tartar," which occurs in the fifteenth century, in the accounts of the lord high treasurer of Scotland, and which was regarded by both Borthwick and Pinkerton as meaning tartan, really indicates, as pointed out by Dr. Dickson, a fabric of eastern origin, frequently "variant" or shot, the warp and woof being of contrasting colors. We find, however, a true reference to tartan in the same accounts in the following century, for in August, 1538, there appears an entry for iij. elnis of Heland tartane to be hoisa to the Kingis grace," these "hoisa" or trews being evidently intended to be worn with "ane schort Heland coit," accounted for under the same date.—Scottish Review.

YOUNG LAMONT'S CASE.

Neighbors Much Interested in the Story — Everyone Thought the Youngster Would Die but he's Very Much Alive Now.

DUNDALK, July 30.—Hugh Lamont, of McIntyre, has a young son who is an object of interest throughout this whole section of country. From infancy the boy had dropsy, and was bloated and swollen all over. It seemed to the parents that death could be the only release to one attacked so young by this disease. They heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and began giving them to the child. With the first box, the bloating and swelling began to disappear. Six boxes effected a perfect cure and the boy is now just as healthy a youngster as stirs up the dust on the high roads of Western Ontario.

The Best Medicine.

J. O. WILSON, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas, thus speaks of Ayer's Pills:

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever tried; and, in my judgment, no better general remedy could be devised. I have used them in my family and recommended them to my friends and employes for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge, many cases of the following complaints have been completely and by the use of Ayer's Pills alone: Third day chills, dumb ague, bilious fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flux, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard colds. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disorders I have named above."

"I have been selling medicine for eight years, and I can safely say that Ayer's Pills give better satisfaction than any other Pill I ever sold."—J. J. Perry, Spottsylvania C. H., Va.

Some Bits of Wisdom from a Recognized Fashionable Source.

Beauty, as defined by Delsarte, is complexity, provided there is harmony in all the parts.

One tone in color dwelt upon is as monotonous as one tone on the piano; range in color, with harmony, must exist in all beautiful dress and decoration.

Plain surfaces in dress and house decoration are to be avoided unless fashioned in great complexity, thus giving, in variety of graceful line, the requisite beauty.

The Oriental color scheme is generally red, blue and yellow, but ingenious use of complexity in design subordinates the primitive tints and gives beauty.

Do not be afraid of massing colors. Instead of spattering blue spots in old china, cushions or draperies about a room mass them in one corner. Have an Oriental corner if you choose, with pillows, screens, draperies and bric-a-brac in those tones which form rich color chords.

In environment as well as in dress beware of non essentials. A cheap lace tidy on a $25 chair reduces the value of that chair to 10 cents; so non-essentials in dress minimize the personality.

Study occasion as well as garb; the commercial life of woman is pressing her into a uniform of tailor-made gowns and business dress which is deplorable. Receptions and social functions are injured in beauty by such dressing.

Beautiful events should be honored by beautiful apparel. Street clothes should not be worn to social gatherings which promote culture. If we would pay as great a tribute to art as to society, culture would become society.

Treasure and use your bits of antique jewelry and fabrics. We should mourn the loss of the high-type, old-time beautiful clothes, the old silks, satins, laces and ornaments which gave beauty and elegant personality to social assemblies.

Beauty, not style, should be the standard for dress. If women who have original and intelligent ideas on dress would band in clubs of thirty they could emancipate themselves and dominate the dressmakers, who now rule them.

For evening wear choose colors which resemble the human flesh—the most beautiful thing in the world; pink in grayish tones and old ivory white are advised, as nearest the tint of healthy flesh. So much flesh is confined in tight corsets, stiff clothes and high collars that the average society man and woman are really not flesh all, but only canned meat.

Mme. Blavatsky was one of the best-dressed large women in the world. Instead of attracting attention to her outlines and accentuating her size by showing how she could burst out of a tailor-made suit, she always wore large, loose gowns hanging from the shoulders, which, although she was massive gave her a form of pleasing, graceful lines.

Sugar and Muscle.

The subject of sugar as a food producing muscular power has been discussed by Dr. Vaughan Harely. From a brief summary of his paper we make the following extracts: During a twenty-four hours' fast on one day water alone was drunk; on another 500 grammes of sugar were taken in an equal quantity of water. It was thus found that the sugar not only prolonged the time before fatigue occurred but caused an increase of 61 to 76 per cent. in the muscular work done. In the next place the effect of sugar added to the meals was investigated. The muscle energy-producing effect of sugar was found to be so great that 200 grammes added to a small meal increased the total amount of work done from 6 to 39 per cent. Sugar (250 grammes—about eight ounces) was now added to a large mixed meal, when it was found not only to increase the amount of work done from 8 to 16 per cent. but increased the resistance against fatigue. As a concluding experiment 250 grammes of sugar were added to the meals of a full diet day, causing the work done during the period of eight hours to be increased 22 to 36 per cent. —London Public Opinion.

Devil Worshippers in France.

The French police have been instructed to take some steps against the sect of devil worshippers, whose strange practices are creating much angry comment. Apart from the stealing of consecrated hosts from the tabernacles of lonely churches and other unwarrantable outrages, the Satanists and Luciferians have organized a clandestine catechism class, to which children preparing for their first communion have been inveigled. A man in clerical garb was arrested on the 21st inst. at Clignancourt for disorderly conduct. He described himself as a celebrant of "black masses," that being the term applied to the rather blasphemous liturgy of the sect. Strangers are no longer admitted to the Conventicle in the Rue Rochechouart. The inside of the building resembles an ordinary Romish chapel. The cross over the altar is fixed head downward, another cross being placed at the door over which each worshipper walks as he enters. The motto of the Satanists is "Voluptas Peccati." The apnerents sing and utter imprecations. —Paris Letter.

Swimming Cavalry.

Some very interesting exercises in swimming cavalry took place lately on the Cabul River at Peshawur. The Thirteenth D.C.O. Bengal Lancers have been practising their horses in a large tank in their lines and on the river for some time. One squadron took cover along the river bank and kept up a steady fire to protect the passage of the other squadron, who placed all their arms, accoutrements and clothes in large country boats, and conducted their horses into the water. Some horses seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves in the water, others became unmanagable from fear. However, the opposite bank was reached and war paint resumed, and the squadron was with most creditable rapidity taking measures to protect their comrades, who then crossed in like manner.—Broad Arrow.

DIVERSIONS OF THE MARRIED MAN WHO IS LEFT HOME ALONE.

The Ever-Recurring Idyl of the Summer Time—An Opportunity for the Gratification of Man's Dearest Wish—The Second Story Lights.

The observant stay-at-home—one who does a little prowling at night—cannot fail to notice the increasing number of midnight lamps which illumine the shades of the great second-story windows. Midnight gas jets come nearer the truth, for men are unanimous in their scorn for kerosene and go into open revolt against it as soon as Madame is safely out of town.

Yes, the number of midnight lamps is increasing, for no sooner does the deserted husband find himself privileged to do as he pleases, and free from that call—so harassing when he is in the middle of an exciting story—"John, aren't you coming to bed?"—than he buys and borrows quantities of "all-overish" literature, turns on all the gas, gets out a bottle of something wet and a plate of something dry, and proceeds to take his summer read.

The summer is the only season in which he is able to gratify the hunger of his dearest wish—that of reading in bed. For, no matter where he may select his bedroom—upstairs or down—his light is sure to disturb his sensitive partner, and to inspire repeated protests against his unreasonable course. She is always afraid that he is going to injure his health or his eyes, and finally, in ostensible deference to her wishes, he gives the thing up as a hopeless case and resolves to wait until she has gone for the summer before resuming his favorite dissipation.

Then after he has taken the whole family to the train, seen that the luggage is on, put all the bags and bundles and the three children in the wrong sections and then had to change them all back again; after he has gone back again to the ticket office to see why their sections are not all together and then had to run back in order to get the checks to his wife before the train pulled out; after he has received any number of hasty moist kisses and bear-like hugs from the boys, he rushes out, steps from the moving train with the air of a man who can do that sort of thing extremely well, and then saunters up the street in a careless, objectless way. As there is nothing to hurry home for, he amuses himself with the windows and the people on the streets, but it proves an unexciting pastime and he takes the car for home.

There in the airy solitude of the second story, with the doors and windows wide open and the gas all on, he plunges into the adventures of Stanley Weyman's heroes, or reads the back numbers of "Trilby," or perchance, forsaking the moderns, goes back to the D'Artagnan romances and lives again the life of the "Three Musketeers."

One o'clock, 2 o'clock, 3 o'clock strike, and still he reads on. At first he reads guiltily, as one who fears to be surprised in some criminal act, but by the end of the week he will have grown accustomed to doing as he pleases and will no longer expect the voice of rebuke from his drowsy mate.—Buffalo Courier.

Dead Paupers Made Useful.

Nothing is useless nowadays—not even a defunct pauper. Hood's plaintive wail—

Rattle his bones over the stones;
He's only a pauper, whom nobody owns—is now out of date. The guardians know better than to act as recklessly, for often the party concerned is the possessor of a set of artificial teeth which contains a good deal of gold—last relic of more prosperous times—and in the interest of the ratepayers the precious metal must be secured and turned into pounds sterling. Often, too, they are the owners of rings or tiny trinkets, not pawnable, but still containing as much auriferous value as not a few modern gold mines. These have to be collected and also converted into cash by means of the melting pot. In the Holborn Union the melting process takes place once a year, and has just been accomplished for the present season. The jewelry dealt with is what is found on paupers who die friendless and unclaimed in its various establishments.

This week rings, chains, brooches and trinkets have been melted down, and produced a bar of gold, estimated at 11 carats, and worth about £40. A good portion of it was got from the plates of artificial teeth. Mr. Walton said that on one set of artificial teeth there was at least £4 worth of gold. The proceeds are paid into the common exchequer of the union.—London Telegraph.

Ingenious Smuggling.

"One of the most ingenious devices for smuggling was detected in Russia not long ago," said O. L. Ratovitch, of St. Petersburg, to a reporter. "A great number of false bank notes had been put into circulation within the dominions of the czar. They could only have been imported, and, although the strictest search was made habitually over every vessel entering a Russian port, no trace of the smuggling of false notes was discovered. Accident, however, at last brought the mystery to light. It happened that several cases of lead pencils arrived one day from England, and while being examined one of them fell out from a package, and the Custom House officer, picking it up, cut it to a point, and used it to sign the order which delivered up the pencils to the consignee. He kept the loose pencil for his own use, and a few days afterwards, because it again needed a new point he cut it again, and found that there was no more lead. He cut still further, and was surprised to find a thin roll of paper nested in the hollow place where the lead was supposed to be. The paper was one of the false notes, and in this way they had been smuggled into the country."

Bring to the surface every latent pain. A change of even a few degrees marks the difference between comfort and pain to many persons. Happily disease now holds less sway. ## ALARM IN NOVA SCOTIA

Sweden and Norway's Treaty With Spain Viewed With Apprehension.

HER FISH INDUSTRY IN DANGER

By the Treaty the Products of the Dual Kingdom Will be Admitted Free Into one of Canada's Best Markets—Parliament Memorialized.

HALIFAX, Aug. 7.—At a special meeting of the Board of Trade yesterday to consider the matter of fish from Sweden and Norway being admitted free of duty at the Island of Cuba after 15th inst. The following resolution was moved by Hon. A. G. Jones and resolved: "This board has heard with much apprehension and alarm of a treaty having been negotiated by Sweden and Norway with the kingdom of Spain, under a provision of which the fishing products of the former are to be admitted duty free into the markets of Cuba, and probably Porto Rico as well.

"Resolved, Should such treaty be established it would prove most disastrous to the Dominion of Canada and more particularly to Nova Scotia, whose trade relations with these islands represent a very large amount. The present duty on cod fish in Cuba is $1 per quintal and for Porto Rico 50 cents per quintal.

"The import of fish into the island of Cuba reaches about 100,000 quintals per annum and into Porto Rico about 170,000 quintals per annum, and should therefore this treaty as reported go into force it will readily be seen at what great disadvantage our trade will be placed in those islands. This board desires to draw attention to this very important fact to the consideration of the Dominion Government, and to urge upon them in the very strongest possible way the necessity of prompt action to defend our trade with the islands referred to. Porto Rico is the only market for our bank, bay and Labrador fish, and should this treaty come into force it will place our trade at a great disadvantage. Having to compete with free importation from other countries, it is evident our fishermen will be compelled to change their occupation and retire from prosecution of an industry which has been of a great profit to themselves and a great advantage to the commerce of the Dominion at large.

"Resolved also that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Dominion Government and also a copy to be forwarded to every member of the House of Commons from the Maritime Provinces."

The resolution was carried unanimously and ordered to be wired to Mr. Bowell at once.

Daring Burglary at Newcastle.

NEWCASTLE, Ont., Aug. 7.—One of the most daring robberies that has been known in this vicinity was perpetrated here when the post office and McClung & Bell's store were gone through and cleaned of all money on hand. The post office in the back part of the store, in which they have a large Taylor's safe wherein was stored $100 or more belonging to McClung & Bell and about $15 and $20 of post office money. The burglars blew the door of the safe open with dynamite and took the cash book with them, in which were the sums of money already spoken of. There was about $30 worth of stamps in the safe, but they did not touch them. It is supposed they had a key as the post office door was the only possible place where they could have got in.

An Unusual Death Rate.

At this season of the year there are always many deaths, particularly among the children, from Summer Complaint, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, etc., but this season the cases seem to be unusually frequent and fatal, and every one ought to know that a sure and speedy cure can easily be obtained by taking a teaspoonful of Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER in sweetened water (hot water is the best), every half hour until relieved. This remedy has never been known to fail. Full directions are with each bottle. It is kept by every respectable druggist. New Big bottle, old popular price, 25 cents.

The Junior Peterborough team to play against the Junior Tecumsehs of Toronto on Monday will be picked from the following players:—Dobbin, Boland, Green, Borland, Heap, McMahon, Lynch, Guy, McCabe, Carrol, Brown, Rickey and Craig. F. E. Nesbitt, field captain.

HE'S ALL RIGHT.

Richard Harrison has Backache for Some Years—It was Due to Kidney Disease—No More Backaches Now.

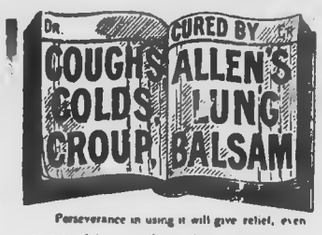
HALL'S BRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 6.—Richard Harrison is well known here and everywhere highly respected. That he has been a sufferer for some years from backache and other kidney troubles was a well known fact, that gained much sympathy for him. Lately he has been moving around here as spry as a kitten and in the best of health. All his kidney troubles had disappeared, so he said, when questioned, and he further said that the cause of their disappearance was his having used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reputation of these pills as a specific in all kidney disorders is now firmly established in this part of Ontario.

Messrs. Ormond & Walsh, druggists, say:—Yes! Phenvo-Caffain is giving perfect satisfaction. Sales are increasing and the pills are all O.K.



Perseverance in using it will give relief, even in cases of long standing, where a cure seemed impossible and life seemed hardly worth living

THE CORONER'S INQUEST.

The Conclusion of the Evidence—The Verdict of the Jury—Accident was the Cause of Richard Sheehy's Death.

The adjourned inquest into the cause of the death of the late Richard Sheehy, sr., was resumed at the Police Court rooms, last night. The first witnessed examined was Mary Sheehy, sworn, who said, she was the wife of the late Richard Sheehy. He came home between five and six o'clock on evening of 28th of July. Had been up town a good part of the day. He had a sleep for two hours. Had his tea and started from home. Said he was going up town for his shoes, which he had forgotten. Don't know where he left them. Was sober when he left to go up town.

To a juror,—Deceased appeared to have some liquor in him, but he was not what you might call intoxicated.

Jas. Campbell—was employed at Hull's blacksmith shop. Was at McCallum's on the night in question between 11 and 12 o'clock. There was a boy with him. Deceased staggered coming in. I saw him later on the market square; he seemed to be lost. Other men told him that was not the way to go home. Mr. Sheehy came towards the man. Witness then went across the market. Did not see deceased any more that night.

To a juror—Could not say the man with him was sober or not. It was dark. Mr. Sheehy seemed to be lost and not able to take care of himself.

Blanche Sweede, sworn, said she was employed at McCallum's restaurant. Was there when deceased came in on Saturday evening, July 28th. Was at back door of restaurant when he went out; he appeared the worse of liquor and staggered. There was a man and boy with him. Did not know if the other man was worse of liquor. Deceased appeared the worse of liquor. He went across the market towards the Balmoral Hotel. This was between 10 and 11 o'clock.

Annie Lamb, sworn, said she was employed at McCallum's. Saw deceased the evening he lost his life. Saw him going out back door. Appeared to be the worse of liquor. Saw him going on market. Appeared to be unable to take care of himself. The other man appeared to be the worse of liquor, but not as bad as deceased. Got no liquor at McCallum's. I was not waiting on him but was sure he got none.

To a juror—Had a parcel with him. Did not know what was in it. Did not see any bottled ale.

Frank Fairen, sworn, said he kept the Pullman Hotel. Saw deceased on Saturday, July 28th, between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning. Saw him last time between one and two o'clock in the day. He was not the worse of liquor. Saw him in the evening between 9 and 10 o'clock below the restaurant. He asked me for his boots. Told him they were in the billiard room. He went after them. This was the last I saw of deceased. Did not see him drinking anywhere. Don't know of him getting liquor anywhere. Did not give him any liquor, nor did he ask for it.

To a juror—My half brother has charge of billiard rooms.

Jas. Gordon, sworn, said he was employed in Pullman billiard room. Saw deceased that morning. Saw him that night about 9.30. I was standing down stairs at billiard room door. He asked for the boots which he had left in the bar. I told Frank about boots. He gave them to me and I brought them to billiard room. Mr. Sheehy went out in meantime and met Frank, who told him he left them in billiard room. He got no liquor. Got none in billiard room. None sold there. He was sober. Don't know when he left boots there.

To a juror—Deceased did not ask for liquor.

Jas. Campbell, recalled—Would not say deceased was intoxicated. Judged by way he was going that he was lost.

Dennis Gleason, sworn, said he was keeper of Pullman Restaurant. Saw deceased on the evening of the 28th July. He just came inside door about 10 o'clock. Was not in there to eat. Got nothing to drink. Did not ask for liquor. Stepped in door and went out again. Did not ask for boots. Did not see him get liquor anywhere.

To a juror—Did not see anyone with him. Was in there all the time. He could not get anything without my seeing him.

Baptiste Lefort, sworn, said he was bartender at Clancy's Hotel. Saw the deceased the day in question, between 11 and 12 a. m. Had a small glass of beer in bar. He was not the worse of liquor. Did not see him get any liquor that night.

George McGregor, sworn, said he was employed in Pullman restaurant. Did not see deceased there or did not know him. No liquor supplied to anyone in restaurant.

P. Doris, sworn, said he was bartender at Pullman Hotel. Saw deceased in the bar, on July 28th, in the morning. He had a couple drinks during the morning. He was there when witness went to dinner, but had gone when he came back about 2.30 p. m. He did not appear worse of liquor. Did not see him in the evening.

Wm. Clancy, sworn, said he was proprietor of the Clancy House. Saw deceased in the morning of the 28th July, and saw him in the evening about 9.30. Witness was standing in hotel hall. He thought he left boots in the bar. He asked witness for them and was told he did not leave them. He went out. Had nothing in his house. He appeared to be in ordinary condition, witness did not notice anything wrong.

R. R. Hamilton, sworn, said: Knew deceased. Saw him on the 28th July about 11 o'clock in the evening. He was in same condition as always. Noticed nothing different than usual. Do not think he was worse of liquor. Did not see him get any liquor. Deceased had a peculiar way of meditating. About a year ago I saw deceased walking on railway track (C.P.R.) towards river and he appeared to be lost. I stopped him. He said he was going home. I turned him around and showed him the proper way. He was perfectly sober at this time.

In reply to questions of a juror Mr. J. J. Sheehy stated that he first noticed the peculiarities of his father about twelve years ago. He was in the habit of wandering away.

Wm. Rudkins, sworn, said: Knew deceased. Saw him on the evening of the 28th of July about 9.30. He appeared perfectly sober. He just bowed to witness, who remarked how smart he was for his age. Did not see him get any liquor that night.

John O'Brien, sworn, said: Saw deceased for the first time that Saturday evening; was standing with a party on the street enquired who he was; heard part of his talk; took particular notice of him and he was perfectly sober. Never took as much notice of any man as he did of the deceased that night. Did not see him drinking that night.

All the evidence having been heard, the jury retired at 10.15, and after over an hour's deliberation returned with the following verdict:

"That the said Richard Sheehy came to his death on July 28th by falling off the spur line bridge of the C.P.R., into the Otonabee river and being drowned, said accident being caused by wandering on the said bridge in the darkness, due to absent-mindedness brought on by over-indulgence in intoxicating liquor."

THE RIOTS IN QUEBEC

Two Stories of the Attacks of the Mob on the Protestant Missions.

THE MOB COMPOSED OF BOYS

Not a Man, it is Now Stated, Was Among the Crowd—The Telegraph Thinks Politics Was at the Bottom of the Attack—The City Will Pay for the Damage.

QUEBEC, Aug. 8.—The city was the scene of a disgraceful riotous demonstration on Monday night. A French Baptist mission has recently been established in this city with its headquarters in a building on Bridge street, not far from its intersection with St. Joseph street, and belonging to Mr. Samson. A mob estimated to have contained some 200 persons gathered round the place, and an attack was begun upon it with stones.

The missionary inmates of the place at the time of the attack were Rev. Mr. Burwash, Grand Ligne, general evangelist; C. W. Grenier, Grand Ligne, missionary; Madame Grenier, Mlle. Desjardins and Mr. Taylor. The attack was a fierce one, and windows and doors soon yielded to the shower of stones poured upon them. The poor preachers, cooped up there, without any means whatever of defence, could not venture out, and were held prisoners until after some time a force of police came along and cleared the crowd, which was now composed of some 5,000, away. Seeing this the mob, robbed of its prey here, began to seek another, and away it went up to the building belonging to Mr. Lavoie, at the corner of George and Richelieu streets, which is now occupied by the French Anglican mission. This place, too, was wrecked, the windows, etc., being destroyed.

There is every reason to fear a recurrence of the trouble, and the fact that a similar disturbance led to rather serious results a few years ago, gave rise to the gravest apprehension on this score.

The Riots Greatly Exaggerated.

QUEBEC, Aug. 8.—The sacking of the Baptist missionary in St. Roch's ward was greatly exaggerated by most newspapers. At first sight one might think that fanaticism did it all, but the houses were dilapitated by youths bent on mischief and three good men would have put the whole gang to flight.

Deputy Chief of Police Walsh, who commanded the men, told the United Press correspondent that there was not a single man among them. There is no doubt though that the young folks were acting upon the advice of demagogues, of whom there are always a certain number in great cities.

The action of the Baptist missionaries in thus installing themselves among so profoundly Catholic a population as that of St. Roch's ward had been criticized very much. The Daily Telegraph in an article last night says that there is no doubt but that missionary affair was impressed upon the people of St. Roch's ward in order to excite the young bloods to violence and thus spoil Mr. Laurier's political tour in the west.

It was not generally known among the people that Father Chiniquy's daughter, who is married to Rev. Mr. Grenier, the Baptist minister, was present, for if it had been known the supreme hatred of the French Canadians for all that savors of Chiniquy would have caused really serious riots.

The damage to the Baptist mission, the French Anglican mission building and Salvation Army barracks will amount to about three or four hundred dollars which will be paid by the city. The damages have not yet been repaired and it is certain that at least the Baptist people will not attempt another crusade in St. Roch for some time to come.

There is but one voice among all classes of French Canadians and Catholics to blame the foolish action of the young men of St. Roch on Monday night. All is now quiet in town.

Election Protests.

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—Two election protests were filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday, the constituencies being North Wentworth and East Algoma, both represented by Liberals, J. I. Flatt and J. E. Farwell, respectively. This makes 30 protests filed. The protest against C. C. Field, of Northumberland, has been abandoned and also the protest against Mr. Miscampbell, of Simcoe. Deposits are still wanting in the case of the protest against Mr. St. John in West York; also in West Wellington, Halton, North Ontario, North Toronto and South Norfolk.

Barns Destroyed by Fire.

DRUMBO, Ont., Aug. 8.—The large barns of George Law were burned down yesterday while threshing. The farm was leased by Mr. Wait and the barns contained the season's crop. The fire is supposed to have started from a spark from the engine. The separator owned by Mr. Little was burned; also three of his horses. Mr. Little's loss is heavy; no insurance. Several hogs of Mr. Wait's were also burned. Mr. Wait's loss is also heavy, partly insured.

Montreal Militiamen Have a Grievance.

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—There is considerable indignation in military circles over the report from headquarters that Major T. Charles Wilson has received a staff appointment. This is all due to the fact that Montreal militiamen think that if any new position on the staff was made it should have been offered to Lieutenant-Colonel Mattice, who lost his appointment when the change of the fifth and sixth military districts was made.

IN CANADIAN WATERS

Yankee Fishermen Slaughtering Seals and Whales in Behring Sea.

GOVERNMENT TO INVESTIGATE

Three Americans Attempt to Give the Cruiser Dolphin the Slip—On Second Thoughts They Have To and Submit to Being Examined.

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—A report has reached the Government that the American fishermen are making wholesale slaughter of whales and fur-bearing animals in Canadian waters in Behring Sea.

It is understood that the Government has despatched an officer to look into the matter.

On being interviewed on the matter the Government officials refuse to either confirm or deny the report.

Fired on by the Dolphin.

BUFFALO, Aug. 8.—While Messrs. John W. Watson, contractor; Fred. Johnson and James Skippers, fishermen, were out in a small rowboat fishing along the Canadian shore, inside of Rose's Reef, they discovered the Canadian Government cruiser Dolphin bearing down upon them with all speed.

Becoming alarmed, they lifted their stone anchor and started to pull for the shore. The Dolphin began to blow her whistle as a signal for them to stop, which it seems was disregarded. The captain of the Dolphin, who was standing in the bow of the boat, upon finding that no attention was paid to the whistle signal, drew his revolver and fired several shots, which he followed with several more from a Winchester.

Then They Have To.

Johnson says: "Then we stopped, and mighty quick, too, for I tell you when those bullets began to fly around our heads and splash the water into our faces it made us all look rather white. Watson stood up and swung his hat and yelled, but they sent bullets after us after that. Then I swung my hat, giving the signal for them to stop, and yelled to the captain that there were rocks there and he would smash if he came any farther. He stopped then and we rowed back to him. All this time there were several men standing in the bow of the boat with Winchesters ready to open fire on us if they got the word. When we came together the captain jumped into our boat and searched it from end. We had a little talk with him and after he saw we had no nets he steamed away and we rowed out into the lake and went on fishing."

"Do you understand that he had a right to fire at you?"

"Yes, I suppose he had. Their laws are very strict against Americans and when they whistle to stop, if the boat they are chasing, refuses to stop, I believe they have a right to fire on it."

An Obnoxious Official.

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—A deputation representing the citizens of Medicine Hat is at present in the city interviewing the officials of the Canadian Pacific with a view of securing the removal of Mr. Niblock, the assistant superintendent, from Medicine Hat. The deputation consists of Mr. H Cousins, Dr. J. G. Calder and Mr. D. St. George, and they brought with them a petition signed by a large number of citizens, representing that Mr. Niblock uses his position as chief officer of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Medicine Hat to injure sections of the community against which he has a spite. Mr. Shaughnessy, vice-president of the C. P. R., promised to give the matter consideration.

Death of Dr. James T. Bell.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 8.—Dr. James T. Bell died at his residence here yesterday, aged 83 years. He was born and educated at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, and came to this country in 1857. He taught school for some years, was afterwards editor of the Belleville Independent, and was later appointed professor of mining and agriculture in Albert College, from which he received the degree of doctor of science in 1884. He was clerk of the County of Hastings from 1877 to 1893. He was married three times and eight children survive him, the eldest of whom is R. S. Bell, editor of the Belleville Intelligencer.

Fatally Injured in a Runaway.

HALIFAX, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Lunt, of Beverly, Mass., who has been on a visit to her brother, Alonzo White, at Deerfield, while driving along the road on Thursday last the horse shied and she was thrown backward out of the wagon, causing injuries so serious that she died on Monday.

EVICTED TENANTS BILL

First Reading in the Lords—Payment of Members of the Commons.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The efforts to bring about a compromise on the evicted tenants bill were vainly renewed prior to and during the debate on the bill in the House of Commons last evening. The Tory landlord members declared that no compromise would overcome their objections to the bill. Eventually the bill passed the third reading by a vote of 199 to 167.

The House of Lords met at midnight and heard the first reading of the bill.

In answering the interpellation of O. Wood, Labor M. P., in the House of Commons, Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said the Government would introduce at the next session a bill providing for the payment of members.

To Colonize Gypsies.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—A despatch to the Central News from Buda Pesth says: The Hungarian government has formulated a bill to enforce the colonizing of nomadic gypsies, of whom there are 270,000 in Hungary. The bill provides that six families of gypsies shall be located in every commune.

Caserio to Die in Two Weeks.

PARIS, Aug. 8.—No appeal has been made for Santo Caserio, the convicted murderer of President Carnot. As the time for revision of the judgment is now passed, the documents were sent to Paris yesterday. The execution will take place probably in about two weeks.

THE WAR IN THE EAST

Great Britain Issues the Formal Proclamation of Her Neutrality.

CHINESE EFFECT A CAPTURE

A Japanese Trading Vessel Captured and Taken to Taku—Japan Takes Steps to Protect Chinese Subjects in Her Domain—Russia Closely Watched.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The Tien-Tsin correspondent of the Central News says: A Chinese cruiser has captured a Japanese trading ship and taken her to Taku. All pilots have been warned officially that they must not guide Japanese vessels nor give any information as to the waters and coast. The rivers are falling steadily in consequence of the drouth. It will soon be impossible for the Japanese to make a raid up the Pei Ho toward Pekin.

The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says: Col. von Hanneken has made still another affidavit concerning the sinking of the Kow Shing. This affidavit differs from the accounts already given only in a few details. In it Col. von Hanneker says that after the demands of the Japanese officers and the replies of the English and Chinese had been made, the cruiser Naniwa, which lay on the port side, launched two torpedoes and fired six guns at the Kow Shing. The transport was struck amidships and sank quickly. The Europeans jumped into the water before the transport was hit and the Chinese began to jump in as the transport settled. The Naniwa lowered an armed boat, which kept up the fire on the Kow Shing until she went under. Col. von Hanneken repeats that both the Kow Shing and Naniwa fired on those swimming between them.

Neutrality in the British Empire.

An extra of the official Gazette was published to-day containing a proclamation notifying British subjects of the existence of war between Japan and China and declaring Great Britain's neutrality. Lord Kimberley, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, has addressed a letter to the various Government officers detailing the neutrality rules that are to be observed. These rules become operative in the United Kingdom on August 12, and in the colonies and other British possessions a week after they have been published in the local papers.

A copy of a Japanese edict, issued since the declaration of war, has been received by the Central News correspondent in Shanghai. This edict says the local authorities will be held responsible for the lives of the Chinese subjects remaining in their several districts.

The Russian officials in Shanghai say if Russian trade suffers too severely from the war, Russia will intervene. Russia's movements are watched very closely by Japan.

The Russian newspapers are abandoning the idea of an amicable understanding between England and Russia with respect to Corea and are publishing anti-English articles.

The water of the China sea is so rough that all small vessels have been driven into port. The Japanese cruisers are supposed to be concentrating at Chemulpo.

The Chinese as Soldiers.

Capt. Lang, a former director in the Chinese navy and supervisor of the building of many forts, said in an interview: "The Chinese are well trained and excellent marksmen. China's navy is about equal to Japan's. The Japanese have more dash and spirit than the Chinese have, but all depends upon how the Chinese are led. If they have confidence in their leaders they will face anything without fear of death. If Admiral Tiang led them they would prove themselves a splendid force. Some of the Chinese officers, particularly those trained in America, are bright examples of everything that they should be. The Chinese forts are well constructed. Wei-Hai-Wei is impregnable and no Japanese will dare approach it."

Capt. Lang said that his opinions were based upon the condition of things in 1890, when he left China. He feared that discipline had become lax since the European influence was withdrawn. "There is now," he said, "no high European official in the navy, though there are one or two English officers at Wei-Hai-Wei. If the powers allow the war to proceed Japan must eventually be utterly crushed."

Japan's Prospects of Success.

TACOMA, Aug. 8.—Capt. W. B. Bridgman, who has commanded the United States cruiser Baltimore for the last two years, returned here on two months leave of absence, having left the cruiser at Chemulpo, Corea, July 12. He regards the Oriental war as an unequal contest with the odds greatly favoring Japan, which he says, has a splendid navy and an army as well equipped as that of any European country. Japan, he thinks, is sure to win unless China is given time to make war preparations on a gigantic scale.

A Lambeth Farmer Suicides.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The body of Abraham Patrick, a prosperous Lambeth farmer, was found in a barn on the farm of the deceased yesterday morning. The evidence goes to show that Mr. Patrick shot himself in a fit of despondency or while mentally deranged. He was 70 years of age. His wife died about a year ago. Deceased leaves a large family.

Double Drowning at Brantford.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 8.—Miss Minnie Beeney and Louis Tyson were canoeing at Lovejoy's pond last evening, when by some accident they were upset and drowned. Miss Beeney was found ten minutes after going down and every effort made to resuscitate her. Tyson's body was recovered about an hour afterwards.

Drowned in the Rideau Canal.

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—Alexander Bellevue, 15 years of age, was drowned in the Rideau Canal near Archville. His body was found yesterday. He is a brother to the boy who was recently drowned here and for which Henry Varden is now charged with attempted murder.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Jas. Cumming has moved into his new house on Belmont street.

A large number of our villagers are sojourning at Stony Lake.

The village and county rate for the present year is 5 8-10 mills on the dollar. This is somewhat higher than last year, but, as explained by the reeve in presenting the estimates, the receipts of the village are $250 smaller, owing to one hotel license being taken out. The assessment for the year is also about $7,125 lower than last year, a number of lots on the east end of Belmont street having been taken from the village in the new plan. The estimates have not been passed by the Board of Education, so the school rate is not yet known.

Mrs. A. Wilson and Master Norman, of Toronto, are the guests of Mrs. J. McMillan.

School Board meeting next Monday.

Quarterly Communion service was held in the Methodist church, on Sunday morning.

Almost all of our villagers intend to join the excursion, under the auspices of the band and C. O. F., to Bobcaygeon, next Tuesday.

Norwood has now a fine band, one which any town might feel proud of. The boys have been practising diligently for some time under the very efficient leadership of Mr. A. Freeman. The following is the personnel of the band, as they will play on their excursion to Bobcaygeon:—A. Freeman, (leader) Eb cornet; A. Fraser, piccolo; F. Fry, solo Bb cornet; T. J. Drain, 1st Bb cornet; A. Finlay, 2nd Bb cornet; F. Pearce, solo alto; J. Harper, Jr., 1st alto; A. B. Richardson, 2nd alto; J. Pengelly, trombone; F. Hendren, 1st tenor; R. Richardson, 2nd tenor; A. J. Fitzgerald, baritone; H. Fry, Bb bass; W. Robson, Eb bass; Ira Cumming, Eb bass; H. Dafoe, snare drum; H. Reynolds, bass drum. Besides these, several others are practising and will appear shortly with the band. Practices will be held on the street, on Wednesday and Friday evenings this week. All who attend the excursion may expect to find the trip enlivened with good music.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Council met on Monday evening. The reeve in the chair, councillors Stuart, Ebbs, Reynolds and Drain present. After the reading of the minutes Councillor Stuart read the following resolution of condolence with Mr. Pearse upon the death of his brother, the late T. P. Pearce:—Moved by Councillor Stuart, seconded by Councillor Ebbs: That the members of the municipal council have heard with very great sorrow and regret of the death in California of Mr. Thos. P. Pearce, a native of this village, an ex-pupil of our high school, and a brother of the respected reeve of this municipality, and that we desire to convey to Mr. J. B. Pearce the deep sympathy we feel for him and the members of the bereaved family in the sad affliction which has befallen them, and to assure him and them in this time of extremity that they are not forgotten and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the reeve by the clerk with the seal of the corporation attached.—Carried unanimously. Mr. Pearce made a fitting reply. A communication from T. M. Grover, bondsman of the late treasurer, was read, and on motion of Councillor Stuart, seconded by Councillor Reynolds, was received. The clerk was instructed to inform the bondsman that a demand was made on Mr. Clark for the deficit but he failed to respond and also that the books are accessable at any time. The following tenders were presented for building sidewalk on Belmont street: Ira Cumming, 65c per rod with grading; R. Scriver, 65c per rod with grading; C. A. Colby, 40c per rod without grading; D. Mahoney, 25c per rod without grading. Moved by Councillor Stuart, seconded by Councillor Reynolds, that the contract be let to Mr. Scriver at 40c per rod. Moved in amendment by Councillor Ebbs, seconded by Councillor Drain, that the matter be left in the hands of Commissioners Stuart and Drain.—Carried. The following accounts were presented: Robert Curry, gravel, $4.40; Ira Cumming, $2.25; Jas. Kellett, $1.50; Geo. Peters, 35 cents; W. C. Harrison, 85 cents; J. Woods, $3.00. Above accounts were ordered to be paid. A communication from the county clerk stating that the county levy for the present year is $482.94, was presented. Messrs. Harper and Fitzgerald addressed the council, asking for the usual grant for the brass band. Moved by Councillor Ebbs, seconded by Councillor Stuart that the usual $50 be granted.—Carried. The reeve read an estimate of the receipts and expenditures of the village for the present year. The amount to be collected for village and county purposes is $1,230. By-law No. 175, calling for a levy of 8 5-10 mills was duly passed.

Moved by Councillor Drain, seconded by Councillor Ebbs, that the treasurer is hereby instructed to keep the account of the municipality, in the Norwood branch of the Union Bank, and that the motion heretofore passed in reference to the Post Office Savings bank, is hereby rescinded.—Carried. Adjourned.

RIVER AND LAKE RIPLETS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Jubilee Point summer resort is holding its own, in fact it surpasses any previous seasons.

The Peterborough, Cobourg and Marmora railway is running regular trains from Cobourg and have their hands full.

Jubilee Point is situated almost directly opposite Harwood, and being three miles distant is easily reached by the tourists. The steamers offer special accommodation. Jubilee Point is chief of the group of the numerous islands which dot the lake. This short line enables the tourists to get a more comprehensive view of the most picturesque route to the great fishing and hunting grounds of the popular health and pleasure resorts in this district.

The following are registered at Hotel Jubilee:—Miss Pearl Landy, Miss Bertha Moore, Miss Douglas Wilson, Miss Madeline Wilson, Mrs. Macfarlane Wilson, Peterborough; Miss Kathleen McClure, Lindsay; Misses Calcutt, Miss Cavanagh, Chicago; Mr. Chas. McAllaster, Harrald Bros., Miss Fannie Hatch, Gore's Landing; Mr. Harry Bannaster, Deseronto; Mr. D. Corkery, Harwood; Wm. Braithwait, Miss May Dale, Miss Burdett, Gore's Landing; Mrs. Jos. Young and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Laroque, Robert Hamilton, Mr. Fitzgerald, Prof. Crooms, M. Atkinson and Harry and Douglas Field.

Mr. Burns, accompanied by two Toronto friends, is camped on Big Sugar Island opposite the Point.

Mr. Lee, of Cincinatti, Thomas Wallace, of Gore's Landing, bagged yesterday no less than 24 'lunge and 14 black bass. Mr. Lee says Rice Lake is one of the finest fishing grounds he ever traversed. He will remain a month or two, as he is an expert rifle man, and intends having a pop at the feathered tribe.

The steamer Daisy arrived yesterday with barge in tow laden with a consignment of sheep and hogs from Harwood, some six or seven hundred head in all, destined to Peterborough for Messrs. Matthews & Sons, pork packers.

Mr. Bert Giroux is out of sight as regards angling. On several occasions during the fishing season he has visited Jubilee, each time making great catches, but this time he broke his previous records by landing six 'lunge and seven bass, the largest 'lunge weighing 16½ pounds; bass weighing within a fraction of 4½ pounds. Catch, 148 pounds.

The excursion under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Foresters, Peterborough, was fairly well attended, some two hundred in all availed themselves of a day's outing down the picturesque Otonabee to see the charming scenery which Rice Lake presented. Hotel Jubilee afforded high class accommodation for the tourists. Mr. Jackson spared no pains in looking after the party, while the ladies in connection with the hotel, did credit to themselves. The sports created much merriment, especially amongst the younger folk. After a sojourn at the point—fishing, boating, sailing, etc.—the party returned home, greatly pleased, and many remarked that they would return at some future date, so delighted were they.

The Misses Calcutt, with their friend Miss Cavanah, are having extremely good luck for lady anglers, having succeeded in catching an equal number, still fishing as well as trolling. They will remain so long as the finny tribe entertain them with their generosity.

The St. John's church choir picnic, per City of Peterborough, passed through here yesterday with quite a number on board to Spook Island, Rice Lake. They called at Jubilee on the up trip, where they spent a pleasant hour and a half, returning home early in the evening.

How Editors Are Treated in China.

Nineteen hundred editors of a Pekin paper are said to have been beheaded. Some would shudder at such slaughter, who are heedless of the fact that Consumption is ready to fasten its fatal hold on themselves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the efficient remedy for weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, bronchitis, asthma, severe coughs and kindred affections.

Stamps, La Fayette Co., Arkansas.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I will say this to you, that consumption is hereditary in my wife's family; some have already died with the disease. My wife has a sister Mrs. F. A. Cleary, that was taken with consumption. She used your "Golden Medical Discovery," and, to the surprise of her many friends, she got well My wife has also had hemorrhages from the lungs, and her sister insisted on her using the "Golden Medical Discovery." I consented to her using it, and it cured her. She has had no symptoms of consumption for the past six years.

Yours very truly,
W. C. ROGERS, M. D.

THE REGATTA AT ORILLIA.

Gaudaur Captures the Single Sculls—Killer Wins the Local Race.

ORILLIA, Ont., Aug. 8.—The regatta here yesterday was a very successful affair the races being witnessed by about 4,000 people. A slight south wind was blowing when Referee Edward Haulan called the professional single scull race at 3 o'clock. There were four entries: E. Durnan, J. G. Gaudaur, E. D. Rogers and H. Dark. Gaudaur led from the start, turning about two lengths ahead of Rogers, who was three lengths ahead of Durnan. On the homestretch Gaudaur increased his lead, winning by four lengths, Rogers second, with Durnan and Dark twenty lengths behind. Time, 13.20. Distance, 2¼ miles.

The local race was won by Geo. Killer; C. Ralston second. The crowd was very enthusiastic over this race, Mr. Ralston having many admirers.

The professional double, Gaudaur and Rice v. Durnan and Rogers, was a dingdong race, the former having a length the best of it to the turn, but only winning by a quarter of a length. Time, 13m.

Newfoundland's Government Holds Out.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Aug. 8.—The Whiteway party were again tricked yesterday while the indemnity bill was before the Legislative Council. The Whiteway members of that body secured promises from unpledged members thereof which placed the Government in the minority. The bill purposed indemnifying the Governor for the collection of duties since the revenue bill expired. Failure to pass it would overthrow the whole situation again. The Whitewayites threatened to defeat it unless the Government pledged themselves to hold a general election in November, so that all disqualified Whiteway members of the assembly could contest seats again. The government telegraphed one of their absent supporters and he resigned. They immediately appointed another temporarily whose vote is saved till he will resign next week when the Legislature will be closed in favor of the regular member. The revenue, supply and indemnity bills are now passed.

The Chatham Township Tragedy.

CHATHAM, Aug. 8.—The coroner's inquest to inquire into the death of Eliza Gant and Samuel Thompson was held at the police station and a number of witnesses were examined. The coroner then briefly addressed the jury, who, after a brief period of consideration, rendered the following verdict: That Eliza Gant and Samuel Thompson came to their death by burning of the house of Spencer Curtis, township of Chatham, on Sunday morning, Aug. 5, and that evidence points to the origin of the fire as that of an incendiary; that it would be advisable for the officers of law to takes steps for the apprehending and punishing of the guilty parties, and that no blame attaches to the Curtis family for the death of the children, they having exerted all means in their power to save them." A reward of $100 has been offered for the arrest of the incendiary.

Liberal Picnic at Crystal Beach.

CRYSTAL BEACH, RIDGEWAY, Aug. 8.—There was an attendance estimated at 7,000 to 10,000 people at the Liberal picnic at Crystal Beach on the shore of Lake Erie, near this village, yesterday. Many of the visitors were former Canadians now resident in Buffalo or at other points in Western New York. The grounds were handsomely decorated. The Cabinet Ministers, Hon John Dryden and Hon. G. W. Ross, who were billed to appear, were not present, the former because of a previous engagement and the latter because of illness. The Government was represented by Hon. Richard Harcourt, the Provincial Treasurer, but he dealt sparingly with political issues. He had little to say as to the possible attitude of the Patrons in the Legislature. Most of the prominent Liberals of the district were present.

Threw a Bundle at the Magistrate.

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—Mary Hughes, a confirmed drunkard, made an ineffectual plea for a discharge when she was before Deputy Magistrate Kingsford yesterday on the old charge. Acting under the deputy's advice the magistrate sentenced her to six months in jail. The woman had a parcel of clothing in her hand and when she realized that she would have to go down she threw it straight at the magistrate's head. "Take that, you villain," she said. The missile just missed its mark. Crown Attorney Curry thought it was a bomb and his face paled, but the manner of the magistrate reassured him, and Mary was hurried down stairs.

Why He Hasn't Been Heard From.

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—On or about July 5 last Emile Castonguay, teller of the Bank du Peuple, disappeared and no trace of his whereabouts has since been obtained by the bank. An investigation of his accounts has taken place with the result that a deficit of $3,800 appears. The London Guarantee and Accident Company at Toronto is understood to be liable to the bank for the amount of the shortage, as it held bonds on Castonguay, and has offered a large reward for his arrest and detention. The missing man was 25 years old, and a low-set, stoutly built man of dark complexion. Circulars describing him have been sent to the Toronto police.

Nothing Strange.

Intelligent people who realize the important part the blood holds in keeping the body in a normal condition, find nothing strange in the number of diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla is able to cure. So many troubles result from impure blood, the best way to treat them is through the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes the blood.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

Y. P. S. C. E. NOTES.

The editors of this column once again ask the co-operation of either the President, Secretary, or some one member of each society, in the count, in making this column a success. Do not overlook this matter. You can send us, occasionally, some item of interest from your society, or some good points in an address given by some of your members. It may seem a small thing to you, as an individual, and yet these small items from all quarters of the county, are just what we want. Our aim is to make this column so interesting that all Endeavourers will look for it each week. We want to hear from Norwood, Lakefield, Keene, Warsaw and all the scattered societies. The Smith societies are doing well for us. We are always glad to hear from them.

THE LOCAL UNION.

At a meeting of the Town Local Union Executive, on Monday evening, it was decided to hold the next Union meeting in St. Paul's S. S., on Monday evening, Aug. 20th, when the county delegates, Miss Sherin and Mr. Ovens, will report the Cleveland convention.

GEORGE STREET.

George street League had an interesting and well attended meeting, on Monday evening. Miss M. K. Frise presided. Mr. H. P. Kennedy, of Coldsprings, gave an address on the Cleveland convention, which was concise and yet very complete. The thanks of the society were well merited by Mr. Kennedy.

SMITH, BAPTIST.

Gilmour Y.P.S.C.E. held a temperance meeting on July 29th. It was led by Mr. Waram, who spoke for a short time on the topic "Temperance in all things." Several questions bearing on the the topic were answered by the members, and then Mr. Fred Ratcliffe, of Toronto, answered the temperance question drawer in a most interesting and practical manner. The question drawer was a new feature of our temperance meetings and it is well worth trying; it brought out many thoughtful and practical points.

ST. PAUL'S, PRESBYTERIAN.

This society held its monthly business meeting on Monday night. The attendance was good, and the meeting throughout was interesting. After the committees presented their reports, Miss Quinn gave an address on the Cleveland convention, which was very interesting; those present could feel that they had received a portion of the blessing that followed the convention throughout. The brevity of the address was appreciable—a five days' convention, with as many meetings every day, all boiled down to a half hour's address, is an undertaking that few would be successful at, but Miss Quinn mastered it.

Richard Harrison has Backache for Some Years—It was Due to Kidney Disease—No More Backaches Now.

HALL'S BRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 6.—Richard Harrison is well known here and everywhere highly respected. That he has been a sufferer for some years from backache and other kidney troubles was a well known fact. that gained much sympathy for him. Lately he has been moving around here as spry as a kitten and in the best of health. All his kidney troubles had disappeared, so he said, when questioned, and he further said that the cause of their disappearance was his having used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reputation of these pills as a specific in all kidney disorders is now firmly established in this part of Ontario.

I was attacked severely last winter with Diarrhœa, Cramps, and Colic and thought I was going to die, but fortunately I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and now I thank this excellent remedy for saving my life.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Here's a Pointer.

Tea is an article about as much used as anything, yet very few understand the buying of it. Osh-K-Osh tea is about as well known as any tea on the market; regular price is 40 cents a pound and never been sold for less, but for the balance of this month Stroud Bros., 370 George street, are selling it at 28 cents a pound, four pounds for one dollar.

Those wishing to take in the races or visit the city will be pleased to know that there will be special rates on those dates by steamer North King from Port Hope. Further particulars apply to J. P. Hurley, ticket agent. 3d1w

Answers to Correspondents.

Farmer—Yes, South Dakota furnishes an excellent field for diversified farming. Wheat, Corn, Barley and Flax are produced in abundant quantities and find a ready market and good prices, while the cost of production is much less than in the Eastern States. Stock raising and wool growing have become successful industries in South Dakota, where thousands of acres of the finest land in the United States can be secured at reasonable figures and upon long time for deferred payments. Further information will be cheerfully furnished free of expense by addressing A. J. TAYLOR, Canadian Passenger Agent, 87 York street, Toronto, Ontario.

A Popular Captain.

The Vancouver, B.C., Daily World, of July 28th, gives an account of a presentation to Dr. Bruce, surgeon on the steamship Empress of India of the C.P.R. line, who is severing his connection with the company. The presentation took place after his arrival from Yokohoma. He was presented on behalf of the European stewards with a Gladstone bag and a cabinet of games; on behalf of the Chinese stewards with a silk banner worked in gold bullion lace, with an inscription in Chinese and English on both sides. The warrant officers, petty officers and seamen of the Empress also gave him a send-off in the shape of a silver bowl, the engineers with a dressing case, and the officers with a silver tea set. Dr. Bruce is a cousin of Mr. E. Mason, town, and has been a visitor to Peterborough on several occasions. He intends going to England to continue his studies. He was very popular among the officers and crew of the Empress.

For Real, Solid Comfort

The Foresters' Excursion to Jubilee Point on Civic Holiday is ahead of all others. Court Peterborough Foresters always make a success of their outings, and their fifteenth annual excursion will be the most enjoyable one of the series. A quiet sail down the winding Otonabee on the fine steamer City of Peterborough and palace barge to Jubilee Point, with the option of enjoying the delights of the place or taking a cruise round the lake on the steamer. Everything done to make excursionists comfortable, and all can count on having a nice, quiet enjoyable day. The Fire Brigade orchestra will furnish music during the day. Hot water will be provided for picnic parties, and nothing will be left undone to make this excursion a delightful one to those who are fortunate enough to attend it. And so cheap, too! Returns tickets, only 50c.; children, 25c. Steamer will leave C.P.R. wharf at 7.30 a.m., calling at Ashburnham, and returning will leave Jubilee at 5 p. m. Tickets from members of the order, or at the wharf on morning of excursion—Civic Holiday, Aug. 16th. Be sure to arrange your engagements so that you can join this grand excursion. dw

The Best of Them All.

For cheapness, variety, speed, comfort and enjoyment the excursion of Court Little John Foresters, on civic holiday, easily leads the procession. By the splendid coaches of the C. P. R., which take in Norwood, (6.41 a. m. or 4.12 p. m.) Peterborough, (4.42, 7 a. m. or 4.48 p. m.) and the points west of town on regular schedule time, the excursionist is whirled to Toronto. Here the palatial steamers. Chippewa Chicora or Cibola are taken to Queenston,—a fine sail across the lake and up the beautiful Niagara to the historic battle ground. Here the electric cars are boarded and the excursionist skirts the Canadian bank of the river, which, with its magnificent scenery, is always in sight, the open cars halting at all points of interest, such as the stupendous whirlpool, the Falls, the bridges, Victoria, Niagara Falls Park, etc. Those who wish can linger at the Falls, where the beauty of the surroundings will take all the time at disposal. Those wishing to go to Buffalo can take the splendid steamer, Columbian, to that city. This is only a hint at the beauties of the route. As to cheapness—return fare to Toronto only $1.75, from Norwood, $2.00; good for two days. Tickets to Niagara Falls, good for three days, only $2.25; return tickets from Norwood, $2.50. Children under 12 years, half price. From all points west of Peterborough, tickets same price as from Peterborough. Tickets procurable at C. P. R. stations, and in town at W. J. Green's, EXAMINER office, Schofield's drug store and W. H. Meredith's. See large posters, study them and you will decide that this will be by all odds the finest excursion of the season, the cheapest, the most varied and in all ways the most delightful. Don't be led away by any other and longer route. This is the best.

POLICE COURT.

Wednesday, August 8th.

The police court space was packed to suffocation this morning by a large crowd, representing old age and youth, all attracted by the sad and lamentable circumstances of a young girl appearing before the magistrate, to answer to a charge of vagrancy.

Before taking her case up, two drunks were dealt with. One was dismissed and the other remanded for a week.

A young man was also charged with assaulting another young man in a former George street hotel, on Sunday evening. A number of witnesses was examined and the young man was fined $2.00 and costs, $5.50 in all. No witness' fees were paid, as the magistrate said young men should keep out of hotels on Sunday.

Maggie Crouter was next called upon to answer to a charge of vagrancy. The young girl is from Dummer and she is 16 years of age. She was arrested Saturday evening, in a barn at the corner of Park and Chamberlen streets, where she was in company with several young men. A number of witnesses were examined, in connection with the case. One of the witnesses brought the girl to town over a week ago, and since that time she has led a life of literal slavery at the hands of a number of young men of the town, the treatment she received being brutal in the extreme and she was living a life of shame. Her actions in the box would lead one to believe that she was mentally deranged; she took no notice of the proceedings and appeared unconcerned at all times. After hearing the evidence the magistrate stated it was lamentable to see a young girl in court under the circumstances, and also to see such a crowd of young men gathered in the court room. If the stillness that prevailed and the expressions on the faces of the listners is any criterion, there will be few auditors at the court room in the future. The magistrate sentenced the young girl to two years in the Mercer Reformatory.

MARKET NEWS.

Farmers Advised of a Big Demand on Saturday.

This Wednesday's market was on the small side, although the fruit and vegetable departments were well supplied, and the prices reasonable—home grown tomatoes at 5 cents per pound; potatoes 15 cents per peck or 75c per bag; cabbage, from 3 cents per head up; peaches 90 cents per basket; huckleberries, 90c to $1.00 per pail; butter, 20c; eggs, 10c per dozen; chickens, 40c to 60c per pair; old hay brought $9 to $10 per ton; new hay, $7 to $8. The grain market is quiet, very little offering.

A POINTER TO FARMERS.

There will be an especially large market required on Saturday to meet the demands of the great crowds the 'Prentice Boys' demonstration is expected to attract on Monday. Then on Tuesday there will be 700 or 800 persons present in town to attend the High Court of the Independent Foresters. Hotels, eating houses and boarding houses will require to lay in a large supply on Saturday to last them till Wednesday's market following. Farmers and market gardeners should bear these facts in mind and come to the market with sufficient supply to meet what is sure to be a large demand. Tens of thousands of extra meals will have to be supplied in Peterborough next week and producers will govern themselves accordingly.

LACROSSE.

The Peterborough lacrosse club won a name and fame for itself yesterday on the P.A.A.A. grounds by defeating the celebrated Checkers of Beaverton by a score of four goals to three. It was a hard but honest victory they pulled. The Beavertons team, as expected, was a very strong one, and included players from Orillia and Lindsay. When they lined up on the field and the forms of the McMillan boys and of Birchard, the battle-scarred veterans of the Checkers, who have won many a hard fight for Beaverton, appeared, some little anxiety was felt among the friends of the local team as to the result, as they expected a surprise was in store for them. But the boys went to work with a will, and although fortune was against them at the beginning they managed in the end to turn defeat into victory by playing pretty lacrosse. Beaverton is considered the best team in the Northern District, and has had a pretty clear record on the field this season, and this makes the victory all the more important for the home team. Following are the names of the players:

| PETERBOROUGH. | | BEAVERTON. |
|---|---|---|
| Dobbin | Goal | McKinnon |
| Mein | Point | D. McKinnon |
| Johnston | Cover Point | P. McMillan |
| McCabe | 1st Defence | Murray |
| McDonough | 2nd Defence | Hamilton |
| Galley | 3rd Defence | White |
| Davidson | Centre | Dunn |
| Small | 3rd Home | Birchard |
| Begley | 2nd Home | Wescott |
| Phelan | 1st Home | Thompson |
| Glover | Outside Home | D. McMillan |
| Lipsett | Inside Home | Williams |
| W. E. Lech | Field Captain | |
| S. Ray | Goal Umpires | |

Davidson and Dunn faced each other for the first game. The ball travelled towards the Beaverton goal, where Davidson and Phelan did their best to score, but the defence was alive and made things lively for the home team. The ball was sent to Peterborough goal, and after a neat combination play by Birchard and McMillan, the latter scored for Beaverton, after just five minutes play.

The second game was a short one. Davidson secured the ball and sent it towards the Checkers' goal, where it hovered for a time, but it could not be put past their defence, as they formed a human barricade in front of the flags. By a piece of loose play Birchard got the ball and was allowed to run down the field and take a shot, which proved to be the winning of the second game for Beaverton. Peterborough had everything their own way and were playing rings around their opponents, and yet the only two shots on the Peterborough flags went through. It indeed looked blue for the home team.

Peterborough began to waken, and it began to look less like a defeat. At the face off for the third game, the ball hung around centre for a time and then travelled in the direction of the Beaverton goal. Walter Phelan secured it and after a very pretty shot, scored the first game for Peterborough amidst loud cheers.

The ball was quickly faced for the fourth game, and after the face off the ball hung around the field until secured by "Prof." Williams who made a short run and scored for Beaverton.

The fifth game started well for the home team. Galley, McCabe, Davidson and W. Phelan, who were doing fine work during the day showed themselves to advantage in this game, and the Checkers were outplayed at every point. Begley, Glover, Johnston and Mein had plenty to do and they did it well, and very pretty lacrosse was being played. Small, McDonough and Lipsett did some fine stick work in this game, and the whole team was playing good lacrosse. After ten minutes sharp play W. Phelan secured the ball and sent it through the goal. The umpire said it was no game, but the referee said it was. The Checkers kicked and great excitement prevailed, but the spectators were there to see lacrosse and not "high kicking." Good counsel prevailed and the game went on with a new umpire.

The crowd witnessed one of the prettiest exhibitions of lacrosse ever seen on the home grounds. Every member of the home team put up a star game, with the exception of Dobbin in goal, who didn't get a chance as the ball did not go near him. The pass work and general combination play of the home boys was a revelation to many, and they were cheered time and again by the spectators. Shots were poured in on the Checkers' fortress, but their defence blocked the goal. The shots still rained in and it resembled a flight of fire flies against the great Chinese wall, but J. Small secured the ball and by a neat pass to Galley, who played a magnificent game throughout, the sixth goal was scored for Peterborough.

Davidson secured the ball on the face and it went towards the Beaverton flags, where it hovered for a time. It was then sent into Peterborough territory, but it quickly returned again. The Checkers were dazed at the neat play of the Peterboroughs, who even surprised their friends. This game was a pretty exhibition of lacrosse and was well worth looking at. Beaverton fought hard, but it was of no avail and after some clever passing by Phelan and Small and Lipsett, the latter scored amidst cheers.

The following is the summary of the score:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1st goal | Beaverton | McMillan | 5 |
| 2nd goal | " | Birchard | 9 |
| 3rd goal | Peterborough | Phelan | 5 |
| 4th goal | Beaverton | Williams | 4 |
| 5th goal | Peterborough | Phelan | 6 |
| 6th goal | " | Galley | 2 |
| 7th goal | " | Lipsett | 15 |

NOTES.

The mysterious "Tansey," of the Peterborough team was in splendid form yesterday.

Burchard, of the Checkers, has been playing lacrosse seventeen years with Beaverton.

Many of the old Peterboroughs were on the ground yesterday. They were soon recognized by the McMillan boys and had a chat about old times.

"Billy" Thompson, town, an old member of the Checkers, put up a good game for that team yesterday, when the fact is considered that he did not practice.

The Beaverton gentlemen who was ruled off as umpire acted in that capacity against his will. He stated before the game began that he knew nothing about umpiring a game and it is only fair to state that he told the truth.

Peterborough players have a tendency to hold the ball too long, thus missing opportunities to score—grand stand applause does not count as a game.

Mr. C. LeBrun acted as referee, and as usual his decisions were satisfactory to all parties.

The following is Beaverton's account of yesterday's lacrosse match:—"Beaverton and Peterborough played a lacrosse match at Peterborough, to-day, which resulted in a draw, each team scoring three goals. The Beaverton team played six juniors. The referee was very erratic at times, and without any decision from the umpire, gave Peterborough a goal on a shot, which passed a foot over the flags, he being about centrefield at the time the shot was made."

The Beaverton umpire was unable to give any decisions. He stood behind the goal and dodged his head to escape being hit, and was unable to tell whether it was a game or not. The referee saw it go through, and instead of being erratic, he was remarkably cool at times, when the exercise of his authority would have proved disastrous to the Checkers. The talk of six juniors being on the team, is utter bosh.

On Thursday afternoon the Granites, of Peterborough, and junior Millbrooks cross sticks on the P.A.A.A. grounds. They are both junior teams, but play remarkably good lacrosse, and the game will be well worth seeing. The ball will be faced at 3 o'clock.

BASEBALL.

Cobourg defeated the celebrated Maple Leafs, of Guelph, at Cobourg, yesterday, by 6 to 4. It was a fine exhibition of the game. Cobourg was shut out in eight innings, and in the last innings with one man out, they scored six runs and won. The Cobourgs were carried off the field. Score:—

| | | | | | | | | | | |
| Cobourg | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 6 | 0 | 6 |
| Guelphs | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 5 |

Guelph plays Port Hope, to-day, in Port Hope.

SPRINTING.

Messrs. L. LaBar and Geo. Patterson will run a 60 yards race to-morrow for $20 a side. It is not settled yet on what grounds the race will be contested.

The Rural Tragedy.

The city swells did loudly vow
There was no word like fail,
And bravely went to milk the cow,
And took the milking pail;
And one did bravely hold her head,
One bravely held her tail;
(Pause while I weep and wail)
For one, the bravest of them all,
He took the milking pail,
Upon the left side of the cow
He sat, and did not quail;
One faithful comrade held her head
Another held her tail;
But very shortly through the air
Did the whole trio sail,
(Oh, sight of woe and wail!)
Who milks the left side of a cow,
Forever more must fail.

A Din as an Aid to Hearing.

Most deaf persons hear better in the midst of a modern din than when it is quiet around them. The noise of the cars in travel, or the whir of machinery in mills, helps to make up the volume of sound necessary to reach their impaired organs. An amusing illustration appears in the case of a venerable deaf gentleman who lived quite alone. On the very rare occasions when he had a visitor he used to busy himself shaking down the ashes in his coal stove, that by dint of the supplementary clamor he might catch what his visitor had to say.

Miscalculated.

Principal—Her Muller, I must take you seriously to task: of late I have noticed so many arithmetical errors in your books."

Clerk—Her Meier, will you please excuse me this time? My mind is so disturbed by constantly thinking of your daughter. If I were only fortunate enough to be permitted to indulge a hope—"

Principal—Ha! there goes another miscalculation!—Dorfbarbier.

One Point of Vantage.

One great point of advantage in dairy farming over almost all other specialties, says a recent writer, is that on the dairy farm the work is better divided. The grain harvest comes so close to haying that it often gets mixed up with it to the detriment of both; but where corn is grown and put into the silo for dairy feed, and not so much or no grain raised, the harvests are several weeks apart.

SIR RICHARD ON THE SESSION.

CLAIMS IT WAS TOTALLY BARREN OF RESULTS.

He Holds That the Government Attempted to Depart From the Old Policy, but Failed.

Montreal Star.

Sir Richard Cartwright arrived in the city last evening and this morning left the Windsor at an early hour and came down town to attend to private business. He is in excellent health and seems quite buoyant. This evening he leaves for Toronto. Sir Richard spoke quite freely. "I will not," he said, "accompany Mr. Laurier on his western tour, because I have been through the Western country several times. Mr. Laurier goes to keep a long promise, and I have no doubt he will be as pleased with his trip as I was. Whatever campaigning I may do during the summer season will be limited to Ontario."

What do you think of the past session?

"It was very much like going up the hill and coming down again. It was barren of results. The Government gave evidence of an unsettled policy and though an attempt was made by it to have tariff revision, the concessions made towards the end, under pressure, nullified the Government's original intentions. From a merely tactical point of view it would have been better for the Government to have left the tariff alone. The session, which will be remembered as a tariff session, was much too long and the Government fatigued itself and the House to no practical purpose. From a purely political point of view the most interesting feature of the session was to Sir Charles Tupper in the matter of the French treaty. The two Sir Charleses were too much for the remainder of the Government. There is not the least doubt but that the Government's policy made manifest by Mr. Foster's declarations early in the session was reversed by the Tuppers. The local elections in Nova Scotia were of course taken into account. As to the treaty itself, I may say that I do not expect any appreciable results. The advantages to Canada will be very small, indeed, because the minimum French tariff is higher than we can face. As to the other side, France will reap whatever may be obtained. The treaty will be a dead letter without direct steamship communications, and that is not in view. Any importations from France will probably come through the United States. This brings me to speak of the fast steamship line, and I can well say that no progress has been made during the past session. Unless the British Government assists Canada in this matter, there is very little use securing what is now spoken of."

"And the Intercolonial Conference?"

"Well, it was what might be called a very pleasant gathering of the members of the British family. It was the laying the foundation of a better understanding between us all. I fear, however that it will not have any practical results for some time at least, because we would be looked upon in colonial markets more as competitors than customers. The Australians came to us, I fear, more for the purpose of furthering their cable and fast steamship lines than for anything else. There was very little else done of any importance. The party in power made a desperate attempt to break away from the old lines, but unsuccessfully. In the "whitewashing" as in the other lines the old policy remains in full force."

"What as to the coming contest?"

Sir Richard, after pausing for a while, as if to think, said deliberately: "The Liberal party, as it must, is standing to its arms, and is prepared for the fray whenever the Government makes up its mind to bring it on."

DAN WHEETUNG'S USUAL SUCCESS.

Dan's picnic and regatta that came off on Thursday, 5th of last month, was well attended, some fine sports came off.

The double canoe race was won by Taylor and Howard, a prize of one bag of flour.

Indian ladies' double canoe race, won by Mrs. L. D. Taylor, and Mrs. H. Taylor, both of Chemong, a prize of two pair of slippers.

Bobcaygeon ought to be proud of their young boys, as one of them is a champion paddler and the other is a champion eater. How will they be when they are men?

The bean eating was won by Bob McIlmoyle of Bobcaygeon—prize, a watch—good time keeper.

The event of the day in which all parties seemed to take a keen interest, was the single canoe race in which Geo. Taylor, the champion of Chemong and Madden Howard, champion of Rice Lake, were to paddle, but to the great surprise of all present the boy paddler, S. Nichols, of Bobcaygeon, carried off the prize of $10.

Dan is going to have an excursion from Bridgenorth to Fenelon Falls on Thursday August 30th, 1894. Look out for large posters later on.

THE COMMERCIAL HOTEL.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In a letter in the EXAMINER on Saturday evening, "Old-Time Temperance" remarks that the accommodation of the Commercial Hotel is the bar.

This I know is a mistake, as Mr. Rountree has at the Commercial House all the required accommodation in the shape of yard, stables, rooms, etc., and has them in use for the public.

"Old-Time Temperance" certainly was badly informed in this case, and was wrong in his statement.

RELIEF OF DERRY.

Thousands Expected in Town on Derry Day Monday, August 13th.

The Derry Day celebration committee met last evening and perfected arrangements for the grand demonstration Monday. The 'Prentice Boys and True Blues are going in jointly to decorate the town for the demonstration Monday and the session of the High Court of the I. O. F. Tuesday.

Indications point to a monster demonstration on Monday. Word has been received from Brockville, where two thousand excursion tickets have been sold. Toronto will send down over two thousand people and Lindsay, it is expected, will contribute five hundred more. The tickets on all excursion trains are good for two days. The committee in charge of the celebration fear that the town will be unable to accommodate the gathering and besides the hotels many private parties intend starting lunch rooms during the day. The Temperance House on Hunter street is being put into shape and Mrs. Wm. Kindred, the hostess, is making arrangements to furnish over three hundred first-class meals on that day. The decoration committee will start to work at once on the decorations. There will be no arches erected on George street on account of the street railway, but the main thoroughfare will be beautified and decorated in a becoming manner. There will be a large arch erected at some point on Simcoe street. Monday, August 13th, promises to bring a big crowd to Peterborough.

TOLLED ITS LOUD ALARM.

The Curfew Rang Last Night and the Results Were Satisfactory.

The curfew tolled the knell of parting day,
The children all obeyed the bell's decree;
The peelers slowly trod their weary way,
And not a youth to capture did they see.

Last night at 8.55 the town clock pealed forth its loud alarm and every one enquired what was the cause. The scampering of young boys and girls along the street soon told the story—Jas. English was ringing the curfew bell. At nine o'clock George street was clear of the "rising generation," but on the sides streets the suppressed chuckle of the small boy could be heard as he bid defiance to the police officer on his beat. The ringing of the bell was a surprise to many, especially those who are to fear it most, as they expected to "have a few more nights to live" as one of them put it. The result of the first night's work of the curfew was a success, and many a cot was filled last night an hour or two earlier than usual.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

From Our Own Correspondent.

It is with sorrow we chronicle the death of Mr. Edward Ball of our village. The deceased was a native of England, and always entertained a great love for his mother country. He kept a general store here for some years, but owing to many losses by fire he failed. Of late years he has been taking no active part in public business, but during his spare time he gave his attention to the cultivation of flowers. We tender the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community to the friends and relatives of the deceased.

TO RESIST THE ATTACK —of the germs of Consumption, Scrofula, Grip, Malaria, and many other diseases—means fight or die for all of us. These germs are everywhere in the air we breathe. The odds are in favor of the germs, if our liver is inactive and our blood impure.

What is needed most is an increase in our germ-fighting strength. To do this successfully you need to put on healthy flesh, rouse the liver to vigorous action, so it will throw off these germs, and purify the blood so that there will be no "weak spot," nor soil for germ-growth.

We claim for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, that it does all this in a way peculiar to itself. It is the development of generations of medical thought—it has stood the test of a quarter of a century of cures.

That is why the makers can guarantee it. In every trouble caused by torpid liver or impure blood, if the "Discovery" fails to benefit or cure, your money is refunded.

There wouldn't be any cases of Chronic Catarrh if everyone used Dr. Sage's Remedy. There's $500 reward for an incurable case.

THE CHEESE INDUSTRY.

Its Great Growth in Canada and Its Public Recognition.

There is no more significant indication of the extent of the transition from wheat-growing to mixed farming, which has so greatly contributed to the prosperity of Ontario farmers than is afforded by the phenomenal development of the cheese industry. It is barely a generation since the first co-operative cheese factories were started in this province. The great development in cheese-manufacture is almost entirely due to the factory system. In 1864 the two first cheese factories of Ontario were worked near Norwich by Harvey Farrington and Andrew Smith. The Farrington factory was the more extensive and provided a market for the milk of from 130 to 140 cows. Harvey Farrington was subsequently concerned in the establishment of other factories in the province and is fairly entitled to be regarded as the pioneer of the system. In 1861 the quantity of cheese made in the province was 3,000,000 pounds. After the establishment of co-operative factories each decade showed a wonderful increase in the production. In 1871 it was 16,000,000 pounds, in 1881 50,000,000, and in 1891, 89,000,000, a record of phenomenal and at the same time steady growth never approached by any other Canadian industry. This great change in the dairying industry had unquestionably been greatly stimulated by the foundation of the Dairy Association in 1867, since divided into the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Associations.

With the marked improvement from year to year in the quality of Canadian cheese has sprung up an increasing demand for this important article of consumption in Great Britain. The abundance of the supply has in turn stimulated the demand and as cheese has been exported in increasing volume to England the consumption has been greatly augmented. In 1866 the population of Great Britain consumed three pounds of cheese per head yearly. In 1891 the consumption had risen to six pounds per head. The exportation of Canadian cheese is almost entirely to the United Kingdom and it is noteworthy that as the Canadian export has increased the shipments from the United States have fallen off. The Americans in 1882 shipped 121,904,755 pounds to Great Britain—in 1891 this had fallen to 71,104,253 pounds.

The total Canadian export of cheese has increased from 974,735 pounds, valued at $123,494 in 1866, to 118,270,052 pounds of the value of $11,652,412 in 1892. Of the total shipment 117,703,198 pounds went to the United Kingdom. According to the British returns for 1892, more cheese was imported into England from Canada than from any other country. The Dominion supplied 46 per cent. of the total British import of cheese—the United States, the next largest exporter, supplying 36 per cent.

The attention of the world having been directed to the superior qualities of Canadian cheese by the result of the great competition at the Chicago World's Fair, the British demand for our dairy products is likely to be still further augmented and new markets will probably be opened for our output. Cheese now ranks as one of the leading staple productions of Canada. In recognition of this fact the management of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition have this year doubled the prizes given for cheese at former fairs, and largely increased the amount of space devoted to the cheese display. The area set apart for cheese exhibits last year proved altogether inadequate so the entire Dairy Building, will this season be devoted to cheese and the display will be open during the whole of the Fair instead of only one week as formerly. Prizes are offered for June cheese, both white and colored, equal in number and amount to those given for August cheese. The entries far exceed in number those of any previous years, and among the competitors are a number from the Maritime Provinces.

ABSOLUTE ACCURACY.

AN ENGLISH ASTRONOMER'S DEVICE BY WHICH HE WOULD SECURE IT.

An Astronomical Clock With Photography as Its Basis—The Conditions Upon Which the Perfect Clock May be Attained—Secondary Corrections of Error.

Photography is the basis of the new astronomy: but if the photographic plate is a more accurate observer than the eye, it makes a demand peculiar to itself, for increased delicacy and accuracy of instrument—that was the text of the first part of Sir Howard Grubb's lecture last night at the Royal Institution. To take the simplest of his instances. Suppose the eye is observing a star with a view to taking its measurements, and the star moves off the cross lines of the telescope—why, then, of course there is nothing simpler than to shift the telescope and bring the star back into the field again. But suppose a photographic plate is at the spy-hole, then it must always receive exactly the same impression of the star. The telescope must move by clock-work with the star so that the star always appears in exactly the same position on the plate. In the photographic method the record of the observation is not that of any one moment—it is the aggregate of all the impressions made every second and every part of a second during the exposure. The photographic plate, unlike the eye, takes note of and records every position of the star image, and not the one selected position, as the eye does; hence it is easy to see the great necessity of having the utmost possible perfection in the clock driving arrangements. In other words, if the star "moves" and the plate does not, the impression left on the plate will be a streak and not a defined image.

The Perfect Clock.

The very first condition, therefore, for accuracy in the instruments of the future is the perfect clock—it is the necessary, though not the sufficient, condition. An astronomical driving clock must have a continuous wheel motion; it must have a stability far beyond that necessary for ordinary work; and the slow motions must be extremely perfect. Sir Howard Grubb had brought a perfect clock with him. It was a massive, complicated arrangement, looking less like a clock than a calculating machine; and roughly speaking it combined the principle of a pendulum clock with that of the rotating-wheel clock. The wheel clock, a good frictional governor, will go uniformly from second to second, "but," said Sir Howard, "no uniform motion clock that I ever met with can be depended on for long periods. This one can be depended upon to about one second in 600" which is to say that it is a perfect clock for ten minutes. But one of the star plates shown last night had suffered an exposure of twelve hours; and for this another agency is called in operation. This is an independent pendulum. A pendulum properly hung is absolutely reliable; it changes its period never. So what is done is to make the pendulum correct the movement of the rotating wheel once a second. There are electric currents made and broken by the pendulum at every swing, and there are three electric contacts with the axis of the driving clock. They are so arranged—it is impossible to say more—that if the wheel is revolving at the proper speed the current travels through one of the other contacts, and so acts upon co-axial wheels as to retard or accelerate the speed of the driving wheel. This correction is made once a second.—London Graphic.

YOUNG LAMONTS CASE.

Neighbors Much Interested in the Story — Everyone Thought the Youngster Would Die but he's Very Much Alive Now.

DUNDALK, July 30.—Hugh Lamont, of McIntyre, has a young son who is an object of interest throughout this whole section of country. From infancy the boy had dropsy, and was bloated and swollen all over. It seemed to the parents that death could be the only release to one attacked so young by this disease. They heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and began giving them to the child. With the first box, the bloating and swelling began to disappear. Six boxes effected a perfect cure and the boy is now just as healthy a youngster as stirs up the dust on the high roads of Western Ontario.

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever tried; and, in my judgment, no better general remedy could be devised. by the use of Ayer's Pills alone: Third day chills, dumb ague, bilious fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flux, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard colds. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disorders I have named above."

"I have been selling medicine for eight years, and I can safely say that Ayer's Pills give better satisfaction than any other Pill I ever sold."—J. J. Perry, Spottsylvania C. H., Va.

FUNNY LUCK BRINGERS.

ODD COLLECTIONS OF MASCOTS OF SUPERSTITIOUS PERSONS.

The Family Gathering Around the Old Stone Jug—Wears an Iron Bracelet—A Gambler's Flattened Bullet—The Luck in a Horse's Tooth.

London Answers has been collecting original stories of strange "charms." Here is the pick of them:

The luck-bringer in our family, writes one correspondent, is a small red stoneware jug which has been handed down for six generations from father to eldest son. How the fortune of the family (a Westmoreland one) became supposed to be dependent upon the possession of this not particularly handsome article of stoneware I cannot say.

The jug is kept most carefully stowed away, for fear of accident occurring to it, in a case with a glass front, through which we are allowed to admire it, and is only taken out upon the occasion of the birth of a boy in the family. At such times, the whole of the family and as many of the relations as possible being gathered together, the jug is brought out, filled with good liquor, and the assembly drink from it the good fortune of the youngster.

This ceremony having been gone through, the jug is once more restored to its place, there to remain untouched till a like happy occasion.

Carried by a Gambler.

A friend of mine, who has, I am very sorry to say, the vice of being an inveterate gambler, has a queer luck-bringer, for whose qualities he has such respect that he carries it in a small locket suspended from his neck by a gold chain.

It is simply a bullet, and he became possessed of it in a strange manner.

In the summer of 1876 he was engaged one day at Naples in a game in which dice were used, and when about to make a throw, to his and his companions' surprise, they distinctly heard something besides the dece in the dice box. Turning it over on the table, he found a big bullet.

How it came there no one could tell. My friend pocketed it, and his good fortune that night was so pronounced that he resolved to stick to his queer find.

For my part, I am sorry he found it, for it seemed to have decided him in his reckless course, and I should be only too pleased to hear that he had lost it, for the benefit of those unfortunate ones to whom it brings disaster, if it insures luck to its owner.

A Lucky Walking Stick.

For two of the happiest and luckiest years in my life I had a very handsome American hazel stick, silver mounted.

Whenever I used the stick I had luck.

I was an auctioneer, and frequently made it take the place of a hammer.

The stick was stolen from me in Perth, Western Australia. I was out of luck at once, everything seemed to go wrong. By a great fluke I heard of the thief, and got it back. My luck returned, and I stuck to my stick, till one night the same fellow stole it again from me and left the colony.

My bad luck then commenced, and has not improved since. I heard some time since that the fellow was drowned. I wrote for, but have not yet received, my "Mascot" stick.

Wouldn't Part With It for Gold.

Although, unlike Gilead P. Beck, I do not possess "The Golden Butterfly," I possess a charm which may be considered quite as efficacious.

This consists of a small dried lizard which has now been in my possession for four years.

At times when this reptile has been absent from me I have suffered misfortunes, such as business losses, a broken leg and collar-bone, an envenomed hand, and great disappointments; while with it in my immediate possession I can recount no important misfortunes, put only blessings.

I first attributed talismanic power to this specimen when informed by a friend that such was considered a charm by the ancient, and now it is my bosom friend, being supported by a string round the neck and thus form a charming necklace.

Why He Wears a Bracelet.

An uncle of mine found a horseshoe on his 21st birthday while going to apply for a mate's appointment on board a ship. He obtained the birth, and, ascribing his success to the horseshoe, had the metal hammered into a rough brrcelet round his left wrist.

Six months later, while leaning over the taffrail, a block fell from aloft on to the bracelet, whic probably saved him from a braken arm. Two years after, a mad dog flew at him, only to break his teeth on the bracelet. Subsequently, in a mutiny aboard ship it saved his hand from severance by the blow of a cutlass.

Some time ago he decided to have it mounted with silver and hinges, and had it filed off for that purpose. Upon leaving the shop where he had left it he was run over by a cab and had his left arm broken. He is now in California, and I had a letter some months ago saying that his charm had again done him good service.

Puts It Down to a Tooth.

One of our most famous jockeys, a man who has steered his mount to victory in the Two Thousand and the Derby, carries with him the tooth of the horse on which he won his first race.

For about two years after that race he struggled on, and was regarded as about the most unlucky urchin that ever strode a horse. His first winner—and almost his sole one—having died he was recommended by a sporting "gent" to secure one of its teeth as a remedy for the evil state of things. He was willing to try it, and did so.

From that time he dates his "run of luck." He is now known as one of the cleverest steerers of a "bit of horseflesh" on the course, and makes considerably over a thousand pounds a year—"all from the old horse's tooth," he gravely declares.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER Rejoice Together.

Fine Year Old Maggie McRitchie, a Victim of Chronic Fainting Spells and Nervous Weakness, Completely Cured by South American Nervine After all Other Efforts had failed. The Mother, a Sufferer From Nervous Prostration and Indigestion, Likewise Cured. Hear What the Thankful Father Has to Say.

MRS. JAMES McRITCHIE AND DAUGHTER.

A leading local physician, whose profession takes him among the children of the various public institutions, remarked to the writer, that one would hardly believe that so many children were affected by nervous troubles, which sap the system and prevent proper development. In many cases the doctors are powerless to cure these troubles. They can relieve the suffering little ones, but in South American Nervine we have a medicine that does more than simply give relief. Its peculiar strength is that it completely cures where physicians relieve. A case in point came to us the 24th ult., in a letter from Mr. James W. McRitchie of Bothwell, Ont. He says:—"My daughter Maggie, aged 9 years, was afflicted with nervous fainting spells for over a year, which left her in such a condition of weakness afterwards that the child was practically an invalid. We tried several remedies and doctored with her in one way and another, but nothing gave relief. Seeing South American Nervine advertised, as particularly efficacious in nervous diseases, I decided on trying it for her, and I must say that I noticed a decided change in my daughter for the better after she had taken only a few doses. As a result of using this medicine, she is now entirely free from those fainting spells and possessed of that life and brightness that is the happy lot of childhood. I am satisfied it is an excellent medicine for any nervous weakness. My experience has been further supplemented in the fact that my wife has also been using South American Nervine for indigestion, dyspepsia and nervous prostration, and has found very great relief."

Whether the patient be man or woman, young or old, South American Nervine provides a complete medium for restoration to health. It is a medicine differing absolutely from every other. A cure is effected by application to the nerve centres of the human system, and science has proved that when these nerve centres are kept healthy the whole body is healthy. For these reasons failure is impossible.

HOW WIRE IS MADE.

A Very Interesting and Unique Mechanical Process.

The rod is received by the wire drawer in the form of a coil, the rod being of varying section and the coil of a weight depending upon the purpose for which it is intended. One end of the rod is pointed and somewhat reduced by machinery. The coil is then given a bath in mild acid to remove all oxidation, afterward washed in lime water to give a drawing surface, and is finally dried in a proper oven. When ready for drawing, the pointed rod is inserted in one of the holes of a drawing plate. This plate is generally of steel, but some factories use cast iron. The drawing holes are conical and the rod is inserted from the larger end. On the other side of the plate the pointed end is seized by power pincers and pulled until enough has been drawn through to allow of its being passed around and fastened to a drum or reel which is driven by power. Of course, the rod is reduced in area and much elongated, and this without any perceptible loss of metal. While passing through the plate it is kept lubricated with what is called wire-drawers' soap or grease. After being drawn through the hole it is put through a series of smaller ones until it has been brought down to a requisite size. But the compression and disturbance of the structure of the rod consequently upon these reductions has hardened it so much that at certain stages it is necessary to stop the process and soften the metal by annealing. After this it is again washed in acid, etc., and the drawing is resumed. Iron and the harder grades of steel require five or six annealings while being reduced to the finer gauges of wire. But the manufacture of soft steel and the details of rolling it into rods have been so perfected that soft steel rods can now be drawn into fence wire without any cleaning or annealing. After the final drawing the wire is finished in various ways, depending upon the purposes for which it is intended.

No matter of what metal the wire may be composed, the same general system of drawing is used, varying more or less according to the metal. Including gold, silver, platinum, copper, etc., the commercial sizes of wire run from 1-4 inch to 1-700 inch in diameter.—Cassier's Magazine.

Training the Child.

The daily life of the family, with its manners, conversation, occupations and interests, is now the main teacher; and as this is, so will the world and life of the child be. Though nothing can replace this, nevertheless it may be supplemented by the employment of French and German governesses, who shall make their respective languages native to the child from the first. Such governesses ought always to be trained teachers, and, when employed, should be treated as members and trusted friends of the family. It is a great misfortune for a child who is to move in the higher walks of life not to have a complete command of the three world-languages. The lack of any of them greatly limits that free and easy contact with men which is essential to a practical knowledge of them. Moreover, each language represents a distinct form of consciousness, and the more of these forms one has the freer and more sympathetic he is. The naturally bilingual man belongs spiritually to two nationalites. But other things besides languages may be imparted unconsciously at this stage. Important among these are right sympathies and self-control. In any education whose aim is moral autonomy nothing is more essential than a correct distribution of sympathy or affection, or, to use the ancient phrase, than loving and hating well. And nothing is so much neglected in American education. The stupidly sentimental notion that the child must, under any circumstances, have a "good time" (as the vulgar phrase is) causes many parents to allow children to follow their natural caprices, wasting their interest and affection upon trivial or even hurtful things, and disregarding those that are worthy and beneficial. There is nothing that the child is so thankful for in the long run as the careful and kindly training of his affections, there is nothing that contributes so much to his moral worth and happiness. Closely connected with the result of this training is that self-control which is the essential element in moral autonomy. In the child this takes the form of sustained attention, and courage to carry out his wishes in defiance of difficulties and instinctive shrinkings—forms both of which will be found of the utmost value in the subsequent course of education.—The Forum.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 8.—The banquet by the three national societies, St. George's, St. Andrew's and the Charitable Irish, to Lord Aberdeen last evening was one of the most brilliant affairs of the kind ever held here. The guard of honor was from the 66th Battalion. All tickets were sold and many parties who made application late were disappointed in not being able to get tickets. The speeches were extraordinary good.

A London Farmer's Loss.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—A serious fire broke out on the premises of Thomas Ralph, seventh concession, lot 11, London township. All his barns and outbuildings were completely consumed with all this year's crop, and 600 bushels of old wheat which he had on hand for the last two years. There was only $1,000 insurance.

An Old Farmer's Crime.

HAMILTON, Aug. 8.—David Balfour, aged 74, a retired farmer, was fined $50 or two months in jail by the police magistrate yesterday on a charge of committing an indecent assault on a girl under 14 years of age, named Mary Vint.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, August 8, 1894.

The amount of wheat on passage to Europe is 33,616,000 bushels, an increase of 672,000 for the week.

East Liberty, Pa.—Sheep—Supply light; extra, $3.40 to $3.60, good, $3 to $3.20; fair, $2 to $2.50; common, 50c to $1.25; yearlings, $2.90 to $3.50; lambs, $2.50 to $4; veal calves, $4.25 to $4.75; heavy and thin calves, $2 to $3.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Receipts of grain are limited. One load of new red winter wheat sold at 56c and a load of new oats at 34c. Old oats easier, three loads selling at 36 to 37½c. Rye is nominal at 40c. No barley.

In Chicago everything traded in on the Board of Trade floor had a genuine bull market. Corn on its own account, wheat and oats and provisions as a matter of sympathy. A gain of almost 7c was made in the September future and about 6c in the May.

The London (Eng.) stock markets were quiet after the holiday, but cheerful in tone, with good investment buying. Americans were strong except Atchison, which was sold from Amsterdam. It is believed that silver will possibly see a good rise, as India also is buying.

An irregular, knotty forehead is a sure sign of a bold, original and investigating mind.

Eyes which, when viewed from the side, seem almost parallel with the nose, denote a weak mental and physicial organization.

Prominent, arched eyebrows show great power of perception in regard to form and color. All great painters have such brows.

Large, clear blue eyes generally denote persons of great capacity, but sensitive, suspicious, and often unreasonably jealous.

Horizontal eyebrows, full and regular, show great understanding, deliberation and capacity for planning and execution.

The typical religions enthusiast has a thin, pale face, retreating forehead, small, keen eyes, pointed nose and retreating chin.

A perpendicular, a very high or a very short forehead is always bad; either invariably indicates lack of sympathy.

A face which does not change expression in conversation either indicates caution or stupidity.

A flat forehead or an abrupt descent at the back of the head are both unfavorable, either indicating limited understanding.

Black, sparkling eyes, with a steady, grave mouth, show taste, elegance, sound judgement, and often an ungenerous disposition.

Wide open, staring eyes, belong to people who are dull, but pretentious, who mistake impudence for wit and insolence for candor.

A person who habitually looks out of the corners of his eyes is to be avoided; his natural tendency is certainly towards deception.

When the under part of the face, from the nose downwards, is less than a third of the whole face, the indication is of stupidity.

Large noses are invariably associated with strong traits of character; whether good or bad is determined by other characteristics.

A good chin, viewed in profile, shows a marked depression above it and below the under lip, and in equally marked prominence beneath.

The eyes should be distant from each other exactly the breadth of one eye; a greater distance indicates stupidity; a less, low cunning.

Men of marked ability in any line have usually one deep, perpendicular wrinkle on the forehead, with one or two parallel to it on each side.

Whenever in laughing three parallel curves are formed in the cheeks round the corners of the mouth, the indication is of silliness and stupidity.

Irregular Feeding.

"Promptness in the performance of every duty on the farm is the first requisite for success," says the Rural Life. "This means close application to the study of the business and to the labor necessary to carry out every detail in the growing of crops or in the care of the domestic animals. Live stock especially needs the best of attention.

"Irregular feeding is the source of many disorders among live stock. Regularity in the time of feeding is advisable, because stock that is fed at stated periods each day will soon learn to look for their meals at that hour, and in the intervals will contentedly go out and forage for the rest of their living. The exercise they thus obtain is conducive to health and production. But if fed at irregular hours, now early and now late, one day twice a day, and another day three or four times, they will be sure to loaf about the feed troughs anxious to see what is coming next. Regularity as to quantity is as important as regularity in time. To have a feast one day and a famine the next, is not good for man or beast. The digestive organs cannot endure it a great while, and sooner or later there will be a breakdown."

REALIZATION SALE,

NOW GOING ON AT

No. 406 George Street,

How a Competitor Was Beaten.

The National Grocer relates an interesting case of how a grocer tried to take a customer away from a competitor. He was a pushing, thick-headed fellow, and went to the house of the lady to discover what time she usually went to the kitchen to give the orders for the day.

He started in business by quoting prices that, in some instances, could not have been matched by manufacturers or packers. The goods were to be of the same quality as those generally supplied.

He sent the proper goods at a loss to himself for considerable time, contrary to the usual course under such circumstances.

The lady was a good buyer and excellent pay, and her grocer had always given her the best article he could get.

Our readers may imagine that when he found his business with her dwindling way, that he as quickly as possible discovered the cause. It was a case of give and take, and this grocer was a man of few words, but exceedingly prompt in action. He concluded that he must frankly state the situation to his customer, and beat the other fellow out of sight.

By this time the intruder had become anxious to get profit, and had begun to substitute inferior articles as often as possible. So that when the grocer began his onslaught on prices in his turn, and kept up his quality, the other fellow soon had to retire.

The reader may now promptly ask: "Did the grocer continue to sell at the new prices?" Well, hardly; in an extended conversation with his patron, he showed her she had been a large beneficiary in the fight which had just ended, and that as his adversary had retired, that old relations would be resumed. And they were resumed to the satisfaction of both.

The Leprosy Problem in Iceland.

Iceland is to be visited by a commission of doctors, who are to study the question of leprosy in that country. A sum of money to defray the cost of the expedition, which will take place on July 6 next, has been voted by the Danish Assembly. According to the last statistics on the subject, there were fifty lepers in Iceland in 1889, but it is thought that in reality the number is greater. Among the members of the expedition will be Dr. Eichmuller, of Paris, and Dr. Neisser, of Breslau.

A Bernhardt Eccentricity.

Sarah Bernhardt continues to display some of the eccentricities of genius. She attended an afternoon tea in London the other day, clad in an enormous seal-skin ulster, which covered even her feet. The day was very warm and ices were in order. But Sarah seemed very comfortable in her luxurious garment, and everybody else forgot the heat in an awed survey of her.

EXECUTION IN CONNECTICUT.

The New Gallows on Which Murderer Cronin is to Die.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 8.—The old mode of execution is gone and a new one will be inaugurated here on August 24, the date on which Jack Cronin is condemned to die, by what is called an improved automatic hanging machine.

By the old method the condemned man was dropped through an opening in the scaffold, the drop being released at the proper time. By the new machine the murderer is jerked high in the air and then drops and is suspended. The condemned man will step on a platform raised an eighth of an inch above the level of the floor, and will then be pinioned and the cap be placed over his head. Warden Woodbridge will occupy a position directly in front of the condemned man. In this position he will have a clear view of the prisoner.

Instantly the platform settles a lever is worked which releases an adjustable sliding valve at the bottom of a cylinder containing fifty pounds of shot. Like the sand in an hour-glass the shot runs out of the opening. This allows a plunger to drop slowly into the cylinder. As this falls it pulls a cord, attached to which is a compound lever, and also works the dial, giving warning as to the progress of the machine. This mechanism can be set for any time desired.

As the big weight falls down the grooved track to the ground under the building the hempen rope, running over pulleys on a cross beam, will quickly jerk the condemned man seven feet into the air. On the drop there will be a rebound and the man will be suspended with his feet about two feet from the floor.

The mechanism will be enclosed by a partition along the entire side, so that nothing can be seen of the condemned man except the noose. The machine works noiselessly and the weight falls on soft dirt. The warden has drilled his deputies to the part that each may take until there is almost perfect work.

THE SOLDIERS CALLED IN.

Police Officers Now Guard the Railway Property in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The last of the militia companies were ordered home by closing the strike service of the Illinois National Guard. Three companies of the First Regiment of Chicago, who had been left on duty at Pullman and its vicinity, and four companies of the Second Regiment, also of Chicago, who were on guard at the stock yards, broke camp in the morning. The places of the militiamen were taken by police officers, who patrolled the railroad crossings and stood guard outside the car shops and packing houses. The withdrawal of the troops was followed by several vicious attacks on workingmen.

Assistant Yardmaster Thomas, of the Michigan Central, was badly beaten by unknown persons at Kensington. He was found unconscious on a street, suffering from scalp wounds.

Two attempts were made in the stock yards district to burn Chicago and Erie freight cars. The second time the cars were smeared with cotton waste and oil and were burning fiercely when discovered by a policeman.

Arthur Hutton, of 4,141 Halstead street, was killed at the stock yards while coupling cars yesterday morning.

Nine hundred men are at work in the repair shops of the Pullman Company. The force is composed of new men. The police expect the strikers will make some kind of a demonstration at the shops now.

Bridges Burned by Strikers.

BRAZIL, Ind., Aug. 8.—Traffic on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road at this point was stopped for twelve hours yesterday by the burning of two bridges a few miles north and west of this city, one of them being a branch line. The loss to the company will be very large. Strikers or their sympathizers are suspected of setting the bridges on fire. Conductor Stevens of the southbound passenger train on the same road was shot at and barely escaped being struck in the head while his train was nearing Coal Bluff, near this city.

Mr. Newsome on Trial.

BUFFALO, Aug. 8.—The examination of the case against Wm. B. Newsome, the Canadian typewriting machine agent, was commenced in earnest before United States Commissioner Fairchild yesterday. Mr. Newsome is charged with bringing into this country, under contract, Miss Lily Flannigan, a young lady from Montreal, to work in his office in the Erie Company Savings Bank Buildings. The case will be continued to-day.

Three Children Drowned.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 8.—William Lockhart, aged 16, Edith Simons, aged 10, and Mabel Simons, aged 6, were drowned at the mouth of the Azzonet River yesterday. Arthur Simmons and Abraham Schofield rowed to a spot where the three children named had been camping for some days with their mothers and some of their friends. The took the children out for a short row and the boat upset, drowning the three smallest ones in the party.

Killed His Wife and Suicided.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Yesterday afternoon Henry Russell had a violent quarrel with his wife Carrie, cut her throat and then threw her out of the second storey window of their house at No. 6 Sheldon street. Russell then cut his own throat, dying in a few minutes. Mrs. Russell died while being taken to the hospital.

Fatal Power House Explosion.

HAZARDVILLE, Conn., Aug. 8.—A power house of the Hazard Powder Company blew up yesterday, killing George Rain, an employe, who was in the building. The cause of the accident is not known. The shock of the explosion destroyed much glass in the village.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 8.—Lehigh's first legal hanging since the county was incorporated in 1812 took place yesterday in the Allentown jail yard, Harry F. Johnson being the victim. Johnson murdered his 8-year-old daughter Bertha on July 25, 1893.

CHINESE ARRIVALS AT VICTORIA

The War in Corea the Cause of a Marked Decrease in Immigration to Canada—Mr. Bowell Receives a Letter From the Earl of Jersey.

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—Mr. Hayter Reid, Supt.-General of Indian Affairs, leaves to-day for the Thousand Islands. His mission is to deal with the complaints of the American borders at Alexandria Union and Thousand Islands' Parks who complained to the department here a couple of weeks ago in connection with the regulations restraing American fishermen from fishing in Canadian waters. Mr. Reid will likely examine into the matter and report to the department.

The war in Corea has practically put a stop to the migration of Chinese to Canada. Departmental reports show only three arrivals at Victoria, B.C., last month.

The contract for section 11 of the Soulanges canal, which was held by Thomas Feeney, has just been transferred to W. J. Poupore & Co. Feeney's men struck for back wages three weeks ago, causing a suspension of the work. The new contractors have guaranteed to pay Feeney's men.

There were only three ministers in the city yesterday. They were Messrs. Bowell, Patterson and Carling.

The Archbishop of Ontario has arrived in Ottawa on his way to England, whence he sails on Saturday to aid in selecting a provost for the University of Trinity College, Toronto, to replace Rev. Dr. Boyd, who has accepted a professorship in New York. The position of provost was offered to the Rev. Dr. Wallis, Calus College, Cambridge, but Dr. Wallis has had to decline the offer as it would entail the loss of his life fellowship in Cambridge, and hence the selection of a provost for Trinity has been left with his grace of Durham and the Archbishop of Ontario. The Archbishop is staying until to-morrow in the city.

Hon. Mackenzie Cowell is in receipt of a letter from the Earl of Jersey, the Imperial representative at the recent colonial conference. It dealt with certain business details of that important congress, and contained his allusions to its labors. "It was really as pleasant a conference," wrote his lordship, "as anyone could have desired, and now I hope that its practical result will surpass its pleasant features."

The enforcement of the order of the Ottawa county council compelling the delinquent ratepayers of the township of Lowe to pay their taxes is slowly going on. C. B. Major, county solicitor, assisted by Mr. McMahon, is looking over the registers of the county to ascertain the amounts of the judgments against the township, but strange to say these documents are missing, although the judgments were given not more than eight or nine years ago. These judgments are supposed to amount to about a thousand dollars. After this information is obtained the county solicitor states that he will make application at the September meeting of the county council for a rule to permit the collection of the taxes by force.

HERBERT MAY LEAVE.

The Major-General to be Ordered to Return to England.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The World, formerly edited by the late Edmund Yates, says that Major General Herbert may possibly be ordered to vacate the command of the Canadian militia and return to his regimental duties with the Grenadier Guards. This is consequent upon Col. Ricardo's promotion to the command of a battalion.

It is rumored, however, that the war office is being urged by British military circles to allow Major General Herbert to continue in Canada owing to the important reforms which he has started. If Major General Herbert does not return he will forfeit his right to the command of the battalion.

The opportunity thus presented by the promotion of Col. Ricardo would afford Major General Herbert a convenient opportunity to escape the unpleasant consequences of the Powell incident, and it is said here that for this reason Herbert may return to his old regiment.

It cannot be ascertained that any pressure has been brought to bear upon the War Office from Canada that the Major General of the Canadian militia will be recalled, but in Canadian circles here it is considered that the opponents of General Herbert have a fine opportunity to make an effective effort to get rid of the admittedly unpopular officer.

Killed on the Michigan Central.

BLENHEIM, Ont., Aug. 9.—A fatal accident occurred last evening near Fargo on the M. C. R. by which William White, farmer of the township of Harwich, lost his life. The unfortunate man, who was deaf, was walking on the track and it is supposed did not hear the east bound freight train which struck him. He was carried to his home a short distance away and Dr. McNamara, of Blenheim, was immediately summoned and on his arrival found the man in a fatal condition. His left leg was torn to shreds from the knee down. The right leg was broken above the ankle. His right arm was opened at the elbow, also a deep scalp wound and face greatly bruised. Death came to his relief about one hour and half after being struck. The relatives attach no blame to the railway company.

ALSO HER SISTER AND MOTHER

And as a Climax to the Terrible Affair He Takes His Own Life—The Sister Instantly Killed and the Mother Will Not Live.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 9.—The village of Charlton, near here, was the scene of a horrible tragedy yesterday.

W. D. Jenkins, night baggageman of the Burlington road at this place, entered the house of his betrothed, Miss Julia Murphy, and after a bitter quarrel drew a revolver and shot her. He then turned on her sister, Mrs. Josie Towns, and fired, killing her almost instantly.

Mrs. Murphy, mother of the girls, rushed into the room only to meet with a bullet from the revolver held by the apparently insane man. Her injury is such that the physicians have little hope of her life. Jenkins then turned the weapon on himself and fired a bullet into his brain. He died an hour later.

Jenkins had been drinking heavily for several days and it is believed the murder and suicide were the outcome between himself and Miss Murphy over his intoxicated condition. The women were highly respected and in good circumstances.

THE AMERICAN TARIFF.

Iron Ore and Coal the Only Hitch in the Conference.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The "to-morrow" upon which the tariff conferees have been for weeks promising an agreement at last gives promise of fulfilment. When they adjourned last night it was the understanding that at the session to-day the details should be arranged and the Republicans could in the afternoon be informed of what their Democratic colleagues had done. One of the most prominent managers on the part of the Senate made the emphatic statement that to-day would see the end of the conference and that by night there would be either an agreement or a general break up of the conference.

The hitch that still remains for settlement is iron ore and coal. So far as the principle is concerned these items seem to be disposed of finally; one of them is to be free and the other made dutiable. These matters were the subject of three distinct changes. It was decided that iron ore should be made free absolutely and that coal should retain the rate of 40 cents a ton fixed by the Senate for a period of five years at the end of which time it was to be free. Subsequently a proposition was made to fix a sliding scale that should reduce the duty a specific per centage each year. This was antagonized, but the House men, anxious to gain as much in the way of concession as possible, persisted, and the result was that this matter was left for decision.

At the conclusion of the conference one of the managers on the part of the Senate said that if there is an agreement the sugar schedule would remain as it was published last week to wit:

Forty per cent. on raw sugar, 40 per cent. on raw sugar refined and 1-5c differential on refined sugar. An effort was made in some quarters to have the House rate on lead ore, which greatly reduced the duties, restored, but this was not done. The Senate rate on tobacco will probably stand and whiskey, disposed of by the conferees some days ago, will be put back to the $1 a gallon provided for in the House bill with the provision, however, that bonded period may be extended from 5 to 8 years by the payment after the end of 5 years of an additional tax of five cents per gallon per year. It is also understood that the Senate provisions on woolens, cotton goods and the metal schedule have been cut into but little compared with the cuts upon which the House insisted.

There are indications that the reason the conferees did not finally settle coal and iron was that the Senate members might consult with their colleagues to see how the proposition received in conference was received.

A prominent member of the Conservatives was called upon by one of the conferees last evening for advice as to how he and his colleagues should act in this matter, and was told that the day for giving advice had passed. The conferees might now, this Senator said, bring in any kind of a report they pleased and the Senate would vote upon it.

Mr. Jones declares that the bill will pass but there are others who hesitate to make any prophesy. Mr. Brice is inclined to think that the Senate will not accept the conference report if it materially changes the Senate bill.

Hawaii Recognized.

When Representative McCreary of Kentucky was presiding over the Committee of the Whole yesterday he was notified that Secretary Gresham desired to see him in the Speaker's room. When Mr. McCreary returned to the chair after his interview with the Secretary, he declined to say what had occurred, but it was subsequently learned that the Secretary had notified him that the Republic of Hawaii had been officially recognized by this Government. The official announcement of the recognition will probably be made to-day.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The Rome correspondent of the Central News says that Sicily was shaken by a terrific earthquake yesterday and that many persons were killed and enormous damage was done to property.

The earthquake centred in the Province of Catania. The towns of Fleri Acl and Piano were totally destroyed and great damage was done in Zerbati, Pennici and Zaffarana.

Fifty persons were killed and scores severely injured. Hundreds of villagers fled from their homes into the open country, abandoning everything.

JAPAN AGAIN VICTORIOUS.

The Chinese Put to Flight After Sustaining Heavy Loss.

YOKOHAMA, Aug. 9.—Further battles have been fought between the Japanese and the Chinese and the latter have been defeated. Seikioan has been taken by the Japanese with trifling loss. The Chinese, in this engagement, lost 500 killed. The enemy fled in the direction of Koshin.

The Japanese are in possession of Yashan. An imperial ordinance just issued permits Chinese to reside in Japan on condition that they engage in peaceful pursuits.

The greatest excitement prevails here at Tokio and at other large towns as a result of the victories of the Japanese troops. Rumors, however, are current here that the Japanese naval forces have been defeated in an engagement with Chinese warships.

Another Engagement Doubted.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The officials of the Japanese legation think that the despatch from Yokohama reporting the capture of Seikwan refers to the battle of July 29. It is said that the Anglo-Russian efforts to bring about peace between China and Japan have failed. China insists upon retaining her suzerain rights over Corea. China was willing to negotiate with reference to the proposed reforms, but became incensed on hearing of the sinking of the Kow Shing and a settlement is now considered improbable.

The Times says the Viceroy of Kwang Tung has engaged 5,000 black flags to strengthen the fortifications and river defences in the neighborhood of Canton. He has placed four gunboats at Tiger island in the Canton river to co-operate with the battery stationed there. Submarine mines have been laid at Foo Chow and at Tamsui on the northwest coast of Formosa. The lighthouses on the South Chinese coast have been ordered to quench their lights.

French Jealousy of Britain.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—The Matin publishes a long article on the relations of the European powers to China, Japan and Corea. The editor is most apprehensive of a covert attempt at over-reaching on the part of Great Britain. After advising France to remain neutral as long as possible, he says: "If, however, any power except China or Japan, seek to gain an advantage in Corea, France must hold in reserve a similar advantage for herself. It would be necessary also to readjust the balance of power, in case it should be destroyed by Great Britain, occupying Port Hamilton, or Russians occupying Port Lazareff."

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Chancellor von Caprivi has issued a special notice prohibiting the exportation of munitions of war from maritime towns of Germany to China and Japan.

He Says He Was Tired of Looking on Such an Infamous World.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—The mother of Santo Caserio, the assassin of President Carnot, has written to Mme. Carnot, the widow of the late chief magistrate of France, asking her to intercede with President Casimir-Perier in order that the life of the condemned may be saved. The assassin's mother has received a letter from Caserio, in which he says:

"Dear Mother: I write a few lines in order to inform you that I have been condemned to death. What must you think of me; you cannot think that I am an assassin and a malefactor. You know my good heart and my tenderness was always shown to you. Well, my heart is the same to-day. If I have committed this act, it was simply because I was tired of looking on such an infamous world. I thank the priest for coming to me; but I do not desire to confess. I salute you, my brothers, sisters and others, with a thousand kisses."

TESTING MILK.

The Babcock Test in Cheese Factories —Facts and Figures.

The proposal to pay for milk at the cheese factories in accordance with the quantity of fat it contains, as shown by the Babcock test, seems like utter foolishness to the average dairyman, who has been brought up to believe that one pound of milk for the purpose of cheese making is equal to every other pound of milk, and that the factory patron wants cows that will give a large quantity of milk without regard to its quality. The theory has been that there is a sharp distinction between a butter cow and a cheese cow; that the butter cow, in order to be profitable, must give milk that is rich in butter fats—the richer the better—while it is sufficient that the cheese cow gives a big mess of milk, even though it is not one-half as rich as that of the butter cow. In other words they would say that all milk contains about the same proportion of casein, which is the only substance that needs to be taken into account in cheese making, and therefore that the cow that will give 36 lbs. of milk a day is worth one-half more for cheese making than the cow that gives only 24 lbs., even though the milk of the latter will test 4½ per cent. butter fat against 3 per cent. in the milk of the first named animal. The fact is, they would each make the same quantity of cheese.

The fallacy of the old method of reasoning was completely demonstrated by an extensive series of experiments conducted through two years by Dr. Van Slyke, of the Geneva Experiment Station. He proved absolutely that the fat in the milk is the determining factor of the quantity of cheese that can be made from it.

The first factory in Central New York, and, so far as I am aware, the first in the State, to adopt the plan of paying its patrons according to the quantity of fat in their milk, was that of Mr. G. Merry, situated at Verona, Oneida county. This factory is one of the largest factories in Central New York, and its cheese sells at the top price on the Utica market, sometimes in excess of anything else. In the manufacturing room there are four vats, with a capacity of 5,000 lbs. each. The curing room extends over the whole second story of the building. It is lathed and plastered both on the sides and overhead, and has ventilators opening into a third story. During hot weather the shutters of the curing room are closed in the day time, but the windows of the story above are left wide open, thus giving a free circulation of air. Mr. Merry is able to store and care for 45 days' make of cheese, and can hold back for a week or two without inconvenience, when the market seems to require it. There are 54 patrons. The highest delivery of milk this season was 14,508 lbs. On June 22 it had fallen off to 13,593 lbs., and the number of cheeses had decreased from 22 to 20 a day. I give these main facts to show the size of the establishment.

A year ago last spring, Mr. Merry announced to his patrons that he proposed to test their milk with the Babcock test, and pay for it according to the fat it contained. Some of his business friends tried to dissuade him from it. They urged that the quality of the milk would make no difference to him personally, while they believed it would seriously injure his business to adopt such a radical innovation. He answered that he had investigated the matter thoroughly and was satisfied that it was right, and he proposed to try it at whatever hazard to himself, until his patrons had seen enough of it to know whether they liked it or not. He carried out his plan through the whole of last season, and only one patron withdrew his milk. This patron went over to a neighbouring factory, and this season the other factory is working on the same plan; so he will either have to submit or go farther to dispose of his milk.

Last winter, Mr. Merry sent his eldest son, Fred., to take the three months course in dairying at Cornell. At the same time, the Verona Landing, a factory about the same size as Merry, sent its maker, a bright young man, to attend the same course. At Cornell they learned the entire details of working out this plan, and this season both factories are paying for their milk by the Babcock test. It is my purpose to describe how this is done.

On the weighing platform just behind the weigher stands a circular tin dish about 5 inches deep filled with half pint bottles. On each bottle a number is painted in black with figures ¾ inch long. These numbers correspond to the numbers of the patrons in the company's books. No. 10, for instance, brings his milk and pours it into the receiving can. The weigher has a little tin dipper about 2 inches deep and ¾ inch in diameter. He dips this into the milk, fills it, and then pours it into the bottle labelled 10. The same is done with all the others and at the end of 10 or 11 days, or three times a month, this composite milk is analyzed for fat by the Babcock test. In order to keep the milk sweet for that length of time, a small powder of strychnine, about as much as will lie on the end of a medium sized knife blade, is put into each bottle when it is empty. This will keep milk perfectly sweet for 15 to 18 days if necessary. When the test has been made, the result shows the average amount of fat in ten days' milk, and this average figure is placed opposite the total number of pounds of milk credited to No. 10 on the books. In a third column is given the number of pounds of fat contained in the milk according to the previous figures. I give the following figures from one of the May accounts as an illustration:—

| Lbs. Milk. | Pc Cent. Fat. | Total Lbs. Fat. |
|---|---|---|
| 2,389 | 0.036 | 86 |
| 2,834 | 0.037 | 104.86 |
| 2,471 | 0.037 | 91.43 |
| 7,694 | | 282.29 |

This is the last time the number of pounds of milk is used in figuring this account. The number of pounds of fat is the determiniug factor in figuring out the pay. Consequently it is necessary to find out how many pounds of fat there were in the whole quantity of milk received, and the net amount of cash to be divided among the patrons after deducting the price of making and furnishings. In May the pounds of fat were 12,602.20, the cash to be divided was $2,716.41. Dividing the latter by the former we find that the fat averaged $0.21555 per lb. Knowing the number of pounds of fat in each man's dairy, it is only necessary to multiply it by the price, in order to get at what each man is entitled to for a month. Mr. Merry has printed blanks which are very easily filled out as soon as the figures are known. I give herewith two of these statements for the May dividend:—

| Amount of cash now paid to you, being in full for the Milk delivered by you during said month after deducting my charge for making the Cheese and furnishing materials, ($1.05 per 100 pounds) | | $94.28. |

To Mr. Chas. Hall, Cheese, at

G. MERRY.

In these two dairies Mr. Hall has 7 cows and Mr. Frisbie 9, but Mr. Hall's milk was so much richer than Mr. Frisbie's that he received considerably more per 100 lbs. of milk than his neighbour. The milk of Mr. Hall netted 88½c per 100 lbs., while that of Mr. Frisbie netted only 72½c per 100 lbs.

Here then comes the question. Is this a just and equitable method of paying for milk at a cheese factory? In the above instance one man is receiving 16c more per 100 lbs. for his milk than the other. Of course Mr. Frisbie is satisfied that the method is right, or he would take his milk elsewhere. At the meeting of patrons last spring the subject was fully discussed. Mr. Merry gave them the privilege of saying whether the plan should be followed again this year or not, and there was but one dissenting voice in the whole number. It is evident therefore that the patrons were well satisfied with the results of the previous season's work. But how can it be shown that the fat rather than the whole milk determines the value of milk for cheese making? Let us examine that question.

Of course it has required much time and a long series of experiments to arrive at exact results and be able to make positive statements on this subject. For two years Dr. Van Slyke, chemist of the Geneva Experiment station, was at work on this problem, and Bulletin 65 of the Geneva Station, containing 158 pages, gives the results in detail. A large part of this bulletin is taken up with tables and figures, showing how minutely and exactly the work was done. It is certainly one of the most valuable documents ever issued by an experiment station in this country; for it is absolutely proved that the relation between the fat of milk and the cheese made from the milk is always the same within a few hundredths of a pound, and that as a consequence the fat is the only proper basis for fixing the value of the milk. It is impossible in a short article like this to go into elaborate details; but I give herewith a table taken from Mr. Merry's book, showing certain results in the month of May. It should be explained that every morning a sample of the composite milk of all the dairies delivered at the factory is taken from the vats and tested. The following figures are then entered on the books daily:

| | Milk to lbs. cheese | Per cent. Fat in milk | lbs. cheese to lbs. Fat |
|---|---|---|---|
| June 3rd | 9.94 | 0.0365 | 2.75 |
| " 4th | 9.87 | 0.037 | 2.73 |
| " 5th | 9.65 | 0.0365 | 2.85 |
| " 6th | 9.54 | 0.0385 | 2.72 |
| " 7th | 9.78 | 0.037 | 2.76 |
| " 8th | 9.77 | 0.037 | 2.76 |
| " 9th | 10.05 | 0.036 | 2.76 |
| " 10th | 9.89 | 0.0365 | 2.77 |
| " 11th | 10.05 | 0.037 | 2.69 |
| " 12th | 10.03 | 0.035 | 2.84 |
| " 13th | 10.17 | 0.035 | 2.80 |
| " 14th | 10.20 | 0.035 | 2.80 |
| " 15th | 10.28 | 0.035 | 2.77 |
| " 16th | 10.33 | 0.035 | 2.76 |
| " 17th | 10.40 | 0.035 | 2.74 |
| " 18th | 10.86 | 0.034 | 2.71 |

With the exception of the 11th, when a gassy curd decreased the amount of cheese to the amount of fat, the range is from 2.71 to 2.85, or a trifle over ¼ of a pound. The average is under 2.77 lb. of cheese to 1 lb. of fat; and this is irrespective of the increasing amount of milk which it takes to make a pound of cheese. It will be seen that in 15 days the amount of milk had crept up so that it took a pound more to make a pound of cheese at the end of that time than it did at the beginning. This was owing probably to the heavy fall of rain, and the excessive heat; but the ratio between the fat and the cheese remained practically the same. Dr. Van Slyke after a great number of experiments made 2.76 the average for May, and 2.80 for June. His average for the season to November was 2.72, but there were certain reasons given why the entire season would average slightly more. It is now generally acknowledged by those who have had experience in the matter that it is perfectly safe to figure on the basis of 2.75 lb. of cheese to 1 lb. of fat, and that this will give a far more exact result than any computation that may be based on the number of pounds of milk. The constancy of this ratio gives assurance that the fat is the true factor by which to determine the value of milk for cheese-making purposes.

There is one incidental effect of adopting this plan which will tend strongly to the improvement of our herds. As soon as patrons fully understood the idea they began to bring the milk of individual cows to Mr. Merry to be tested. He has made hundreds of these tests for his patrons and the result has been that a large number of poor cows have disappeared. It is soon learned that a good cow must be one that gives both quality and quantity of milk. To recur to the first illustration used in this paper, the 36 lb. cow will remain worth one-half more than the 24 lb. cow, if the milk of each contained the same percentage of butter fat. So the herds have been gradually graded up until they are much more valuable than they were when the factory began working on the new plan. Not only is their average cow a much better animal, but she is better fed and better cared for. And this will be the case all over the country when this system comes to be generally adopted. As Mr. Merry says: "It has got to come eventually. One man's milk pays from 16 to 20 per cent. more than another's. That man cannot afford to pool his milk with the other. There is no guess work about it. Not only the figures but the actual working out tells the story. And as soon as the farmers thoroughly understand it they will be willing to come to it."—B. D. Gilbert, in Country Gentlemen.

ODDFELLOWS IN SESSION.

The Grand Lodge of the Province Assembles in the Limestone City.

KINGSTON, Aug. 9.—The Grand Lodge of Oddfellows of the Province of Ontario opened here yesterday with a large attendance of delegates previous to business session. Mayor Herald on behalf of the citizens welcomed the visitors, and Alderman Meek performed a similar service on behalf of the local members of the order.

Grand Master Oliver reported the order in a most satisfactory condition, in numbers and in interest. Twelve new lodges had been instituted during the past year. The official visits made were noted, the official organ, the Dominion Oddfellow complimented, and the Relief Association of Kingston declared "The better it becomes known the more it increases in popularity."

Various decisions are recorded, one being that a lodge cannot pass a resolution favoring prohibition. One appeal from Teeswater lodge will be heard. The lodges refused to pay benefits to an insane brother because his condition was caused by drunkenness. The Grand Master reversed the decision, holding that "If the brother had been drinking to excess the lodge did wrong in first electing him to the position of N.G. when they knew he was an habitual drunkard. If the brothers knew that they should have at once charged him with conduct unbecoming an Oddfellow, and not leave it until the brother became incapable of answering for himself." The decision is appealed.

The year's receipts were $23,020.55; expenditure, $13,047.56; balance on hand, $9,972.99.

J. G. Donogh, of Toronto, on behalf of a special committee, reported on the subject of dues and benefits, presenting elaborate tables for the guidance of lodges on the subject. The grand jurisdiction of Ontario was referred to as holding a unique position in the preparation of the special tables.

C. Packart, Stratford, one of the grand auditors, reported in regard to the relief association, into whose affairs he made an exhaustive enquiry. His report showed the association to be in all details economically and efficiently managed. The grand lodge then adjourned.

Asking British Protection.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—A Colon, Columbia, special says: Gen. Ortiz has relieved Gen. Cabezas at Bluefields, and proposes, with the help of Gen. Reyes, to attack Chief Clarence. The Nicaraguans only hold the bluffs, and Chief Clarence, instead of having evacuated the town and retreated to Pearl City, as was reported, has fortified himself in Bluefields. The Mosquito Indians are getting reinforcements from the interior. The steamer Para left Panama on Monday for New York, carrying two commissioners appointed by Chief Clarence and C. Barrios, a Nicaraguan plenipotentiary, accredited to England. The latter's mission is reported to be to ask for a British protectorate.

A Romantic Suicide.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 9.—A young lady about twenty years of age, named Florence Ostrom, daughter of George M. Ostrom, farmer, first concession of Sidney, about five miles from this city, has committed suicide by drowning. The young woman, who was rather prepossessing, was in love with a young neighbor named David Hall, but her father refused to let her marry him, and this is supposed to have unbalanced her mind.

French Jewellery Thieves Sentenced.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—Defly and Lestrange, who a few weeks ago stole $4,000 worth of jewellery from Mrs. Botson, an American resident of Paris, were sentenced yesterday to imprisonment for six months and thirteen months respectively. An intermediary, Blais, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, and the purchasers of the stolen jewellery, Schnerb and his mother, were sentenced to six months each.

Alfred Closes the Court Theatre.

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—The Diet of Gotha has refused to grant the usual subvention of 20,000 marks to the Court Theatre. Duke Alfred has therefore ordered the theatre closed. The citizens of Gotha are greatly displeased. The Diet has voted 288,000 marks for the purchase of Friedrichsthal Castle for a Ducal residence, having at first refused.

A Triple Tragedy.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 9.—William Evans, aged 20 years, shot and killed Louis Hecht, of the same age, put a bullet into his (Evans') wife, Eva, and then committed suicide. The woman is seriously wounded. Evans and his wife had been separated for some time and the latter had been living with Hecht.

A. P. A. in Convention.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 9.—The Grand Lodge of the American Protestant Association, comprising representatives from all lodges throughout the United States, assembled in annual convention here yesterday. The work is mostly of a secret character. The convention will be in session three days.

Nothing Strange.

Intelligent people, who realize the important part the blood holds in keeping the body in a normal condition, find nothing strange in the number of diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla is able to cure. So many troubles result from impure blood, the best way to treat them is through the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes the blood.

HE'S ALL RIGHT.

Richard Harrison has Backache for Some Years—It was Due to Kidney Disease—No More Backaches Now.

HALL'S BRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 6.—Richard Harrison is well known here and everywhere highly respected. That he has been a sufferer for some years from backache and other kidney troubles was a well known fact. that gained much sympathy for him. Lately he has been moving around here as spry as a kitten and in the best of health. All his kidney troubles had disappeared, so he said, when questioned, and he further said that the cause of their disappearance was his having used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reputation of these pills as a specific in all kidney disorders is now firmly established in this part of Ontario.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

The bride was also the recipient of a costly present at the hands of the young ladies of the several departments of the hotel.

Battalion Notes.

A meeting of the officers of the 57th Battalion took place last night to consider, among other things, the sending of a number of men to the Camp of Instruction at Point Levis, (Aug. 16th to Sept. 30th.) Surgeon Halliday examined about 32 applicants, and out of that number only five were up to the requisite standard. Men who are admitted must also pass the same physical examination at the camp, and by being examined here they are saved the expense of the journey, for none will be admitted who do not come up to the standard.

It is rumoured that Mr. Ed. Clegg will soon accept a commission in the 57th.

The non-commissioned officers of the 57th hold their quarterly meeting to-night in the sergeants' mess-room at the drill-shed. It is important that every member of the mess be present.—E. ELCOME, staff-sergeant.

The bugle band will meet at the drill shed Friday evening at 7 o'clock for practice.—W. L. SHARPE, bugle sergeant.

The Best of Them All.

For cheapness, variety, speed, comfort and enjoyment the excursion of Court Little John Foresters, on civic holiday, easily leads the procession. By the splendid coaches of the C. P. R., which take in Norwood, (6.41 a. m. or 4.12 p. m.) Peterborough, (4.42, 7 a. m. or 4.48 p. m.) and the points west of town on regular schedule time, the excursionist is whirled to Toronto. Here the palatial steamers, Chippewa Chicora or Cibola are taken to Queenston,—a fine sail across the lake and up the beautiful Niagara to the historic battle ground. Here the electric cars are boarded and the excursionist skirts the Canadian bank of the river, which, with its magnificent scenery, is always in sight, the open cars halting at all points of interest, such as the stupendous whirlpool, the Falls, the bridges, Victoria, Niagara Falls Park, etc. Those who wish can linger at the Falls, where the beauty of the surroundings will take all the time at disposal. Those wishing to go to Buffalo can take the splendid steamer, Columbian, to that city. This is only a hint at the beauties of the route. As to cheapness—return fare to Toronto only $1.75, from Norwood, $2.00; good for two days. Tickets to Niagara Falls, good for three days, only $2.25; return tickets from Norwood, $2.50. Children under 12 years, half price. From all points west of Peterborough, tickets same price as from Peterborough. Tickets procurable at C. P. R. stations, and in town at W. J. Green's, EXAMINER office, Schofield's drug store and W. H. Meredith's. See large posters, study them and you will decide that this will be by all odds the finest excursion of the season, the cheapest, the most varied and in all ways the most delightful. Don't be led away by any other and longer route. This is the best.

SPRIGHTLY SUMMER SPORTS.

On the Lacrosse Field, the Crease and the Diamond—Triple A. Topics—The Bicycle and Football.

LACROSSE.

The match with Beaverton has resulted in a boom in lacrosse in town. A few more home matches is what is wanted and plenty of encouragement and support.

Secretary Heap has received word from Mr. H. McConaghy, secretary of the C.L.A. notifying him that the Peterborough and Port Hope teams must play off the draw game, and also that the local team could compel Port Hope to play the draw off. The following is the standing of Peterborough and Port Hope in the district, according to the secretary:

| | Won. | Draw. | Lost. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Port Hope | 3 | 1 | 0 |
| Peterborough | 2 | 1 | 1 |

The Toronto Mail to-day states that the lacrosse match, Peterborough vs. Beaverton, was won by Peterborough and not the Checkers, as stated in its issue of yesterday.

The Millbrook juniors are in town today and have registered at the Snowden House. They are a much heavier team than the Granites with whom they are playing on the P. A. A. A. grounds this afternoon.

Efforts are being made to bring the Talagoos, of Newmarket, here on Aug. 16.

Belleville and Port Hope will play lacrosse at an early date.

At a meeting of the Shamrock Amateur Athletic Association, held in Montreal, Tuesday night, it was decided to communicate with Mr. McConaghy, Secretary of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, and request him to withdraw his statements regarding Tansey, which appeared in the press at different intervals, which were credited to him.

Secretary Heap received word, yesterday, that the senior Tecumsehs would be unable to play here on Monday, Aug. 13th.

The Talagoos, of Newmarket, and Lindsay played yesterday, each team scoring three goals.

BASEBALL.

The 'Prentice Boys and True Blues will play baseball on the Riverside Park, Saturday afternoon.

The following team will represent the wine clerks, at Port Hope, to-morrow:—Campbell, c; Holland, p; Patterson, 1 b; Drain, 2 b; Biley, 3 b; Carroll, s s; Blain, r f; Simons, l f; Vincent, cf.

At Port Hope, yesterday, Guelph defeated the team of that town, by a score of 19 to 11.

The Calumets, of Toronto, would like to arrange a match here, for Monday, Aug. 13th.

CRICKET.

The cricket club has completed arrangements for their two-days visit to Toronto. They play East Toronto, on the 23rd and Rosedale, on the 24th. The boys are requested to turn out for practice.

THE WHEEL.

Entries are rapidly pouring in for the bicycle races on Civic Holiday, Aug. 16th. It is expected that over seventy wheelsmen will be entered in the various events. Some of the best cyclists in the province, are expected to be here that, and the races promise to be exciting and interesting.

THE GUN.

The members of the Gun Club will hold their regular weekly shoot this evening on the Riverside Park.

DERRY DAY NOTES.

It is expected that the committee of the 'Prentice Boys and True Blues and also the committee of the I.O.F. will commence decorating the town on Saturday.

The members of the Sons of Ireland Protestant Association, who will arrive in Peterborough, will be looked after by the local branch of the association.

A meeting of the Sons of Ireland Protestant Association will be held this evening, when a number of candidates will be initiated. A full attendance is requested.

Word has been received that another True Blue lodge will arrive from Toronto on Monday with the contingent from that city.

Besides the large number expected from Brockville, it is said Gananoque will contribute its quota.

The fancy drill and band competition will take place in Central Park before competent judges.

It is thought that seven lodges will turn out with the 'Prentice Boys to attend the annual sermon preached to them in the George street church Sunday evening.

Notwithstanding the fact that the town will be crowded with visitors on that day, the hotel keepers state that they will be able to accommodate the gathering expected, and they are making arrangements in that direction. The committee in charge of the demonstration have received valuable assistance from the proprietors of the several hotels, and are confident of the visitors being accommodated.

The Derry Day demonstration committee will meet this evening.

The members of the Grand Lodge of the Sons of Ireland Protestant Association will arrive on Monday, and will hold a session on Tuesday morning. About sixty delegates will attend.

The contingent expected from Lindsay on Monday will be accompanied by the piccolo band of that place.

COBOURG WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. John Chrow and Miss L. M. Thomas.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at Cobourg on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock. At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. James Western, Miss M. L. Thomas was united in marriage to Mr. John Chrow, formerly of Peterborough but now of Victoria, British Columbia. The ceremony was performed, in the presence of a few intimate friends, by Rev. Albert Spragge, M.A., rector of St. Peter's Anglican church. Miss Netchinger, lady superintendent of the Buffalo Hospital, performed the duties of bridesmaid, and Mr. Alf. Ostrom, of Peterborough, assisted the groom. After the ceremony the guests offered their congratulations and enjoyed the fine wedding banquet prepared and a very pleasant evening was spent in the enjoyment of social intercourse and admiration of the valuable and beautiful array of presents that testified to the popularity enjoyed by the bride. Among the gifts was an elegant silver tea service, presented by the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Peter's church, and a beautiful Bible by the Sunday school class of the same church, of which the bride was a faithful and efficient teacher for many years, and a marble clock by the choir. Mrs. Chrow was one of Cobourg's most estimable young ladies. "Jack" is well known and highly respected in his native place, Peterborough. He is a prominent and proficient master of the "art preservative," having graduated in the EXAMINER office, and holds a lucrative and responsible position in Victoria, for which he and his bride started last night followed by the best wishes, for a happy and prosperous married life, of their hosts of friends in Cobourg and Peterborough.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. Thomas Edmison.

It is with great regret that the death is announced of Mrs. Thomas Edmison, who has for three-quarters of a century been a much esteemed resident of the township of Smith. Her death, which took place on Wednesday, August 8th, was due to the weakness of old age and an illness which involved the heart. The deceased lady was a native of Northumberland, England, where she was born 79 years ago. At the age of three years she came to Canada with her father, the late Ralph Bickerton, and settled on the farm, lot 5, Communication Road, where she passed seventy-six years of her life. In 1838 she was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Edmison, who survives her. To this union nine children were born, of whom only two are living, Mr. R. J. Edmison, who occupies the old homestead, and Rev. T. J. Edmison, of Wellington, Prince Edward county. Mrs. Edmison was a member of the Methodist church from her girlhood days and her death removes a personage highly esteemed in every relation of life for over seventy-five years. The funeral takes place tomorrow from the family residence to Little Lake cemetery at 3 o'clock p. m.

MAKE THE TOWN ATTRACTIVE.

Next week there will be large additions to the population of Peterborough. On Monday the 'Prentice Boys demonstration will attract thousands from outside places and 700 or 800 hundred delegates to the High Court of the Independent Order of Foresters, as well as the delegates to the Grand Lodge of the Sons of Ireland, will have to be entertained. The delegates of the Foresters, especially, will be present from every part of the province, and they being, as a rule, representative citizens of the places from which they come, it is desirable that they should carry to their respective homes as favourable impressions of Peterborough as possible. Therefore, it is the duty of citizens to unite in making the town as attractive as possible, and in extending the most cordial hospitality and courteous treatment to the visitors of both bodies that will hold their annual meetings here. Every merchant will see that it is his duty to make his shop as surroundings as attractive as they can be made and with the finest shops for any town or city of its size in Ontario, the best will be something good. It would be well if the merchants and citizens generally would unite in decorating the town for the first three or four days of the week by a proper and tasteful display of flags, bunting, etc., and on our residence streets, citizens will see the wisdom of putting their premises, be they plain or pretentious, in the best possible condition of neatness and order. We wish visitors to carry away, a good report, not only of of the courtesy and hospitality of the town, but also of the beauty and thrift of Peterborough. We are all proud of the place we live in, and, to have it well spoken of by the visitors, we must put on our best appearance. It is a matter of business prudence also, to show visitors that we are a live, progressive town; that we possess a large number of flourishing manufacturing concerns; that we have unsurpassed facilities for new manufacturing establishments, and that we are the most centrally situated and the best equipped town in Eastern Ontario to accommodate large gatherings. All these points impressed upon visitors will yield a practical harvest of benefits hereafter.

It is to be hoped that the unfortunate omission to give a civic welcome by the authorities, as in the case of the recent Methodist conference, will not obtain on the coming occasion. Of course such a formal welcome is not a matter of obligation, but is a graceful recognition of the duties of hospitality and goes to show that the town authorities are not so churlishly self-contained that they can regard with indifference the coming and going of important bodies that honour us with their presence.

THWARTED LOVE LEADS TO SUICIDE.

Miss Florence Ostrom, of Sydney Front, Drowns Herself Because Her Father Refused His Consent to Her Marriage

It is not often, says the Belleville Ontaro, that we are called upon to chronicle so sad a case of suicide as that which occurred last night on the front of Sidney. Miss Florence Ostrom is the eldest daughter of Mr. George Ostrom, who lives near the brick church, about half way between Belleville and Trenton. Mr. Ostrom is a well-to-do farmer and highly respected by his neighbours. Miss Ostrom was one of the most highly esteemed young ladies in the township and also very popular with a large circle of friends in Belleville. She was a remarkably handsome and intelligent girl and a superb specimen of sweet, graceful and beautiful womanhood. For some time past she has been engaged to be married to David Hall, who lives on a farm next to that of her father. It was the desire of the couple to get married at once, but to this Mr. Ostrom objected. The reason he gave was a good one. He had but two children — Florence, the deceased, and a girl about four years. As he is in good circumstances Florence had a comfortable home so long as she chose to remain in it. On the other hand Hall lives on a rented farm, and in the same house with six or seven grown up brothers and sisters, and it was to this house that he proposed to take his bride. To this Mr. Ostrom refused to give his consent, as he said it would be impossible for his daughter to be happy or comfortable under such circumstances, while the amount of work she would be called upon to do would be quite beyond her strength. He said he had no objection to her suitor, and that as soon as he had a home of his own to offer her, even if nothing more than a shanty, he would consent to the marriage. But to this good counsel the young couple would not listen. Mr. Hall and Miss Ostrom some time ago had separately asked the father's consent and a day or two ago both of them went to the father and renewed the request, but he gave the same answer. He said his daughter was of age and could do as she wished in the matter, but he could not give his consent to the marriage until Mr. Hall had a home for her. Over this refusal the girl seemed to have brooded, as she was noticed to be morose and absent minded all day. About 8 o'clock last evening she went out of the house, walked down to the bay and plunged into the water. The act was a deliberate one, as she took off an apron before she entered the water and threw it on the shore, probably to indicate where the body could be found. The water where the body lay was only about four feet deep, so she must have deliberately laid down in it and ended her life. It was about an hour after she left the house before her absence was remarked, and getting uneasy a search was instituted by her parents and about an hour after the awful discovery was made. Dr. Walker was summoned but as some two or three hours had elapsed of course nothing could be done to resuscitate the unfortunate girl.

ST. LUKE'S ANNUAL OUTING.

A Successful Sunday School Picnic Held Yesterday.

The annual Sunday school picnic of St. Luke's church was held yesterday, when a large number of children, with their parents and friends went per City of Peterborough to Jubilee Point. The day was fine and the ride on the boat was much enjoyed. On arrival the children partook of a hearty meal, followed by the adults, who likewise did ample justice to the liberal supplies of provisions contributed by friends. The Rector paid a visit to Mr. Kenrick and the St. John's choir in their camp, and found that, although they are unrivalled in town, they were literally sung out of their tents, by an unsurpliced and unregenerate, but powerful choir of mosquitoes.

After dinner the following races were run:

Boys under 15—1 Achilles Turner, 2 Wesley Graham.

All fours—1 Bert Prattley, 2 Frank Burnham.

Boys under 12—1 Wesley Graham, 2 H. Martin, 3 W. Chambers.

Girls under 15—1 Rossie Price, 2 Mabel Scott.

Boot race—1 Achilles Turner, 2 Webber Turner.

Boys under 9—1 Manley Wilson, 2 Sidney Martin.

Girls under 9—1 Alice Scott, 2 Bella Martin.

Three-legged race—1 Frank Burnham and Bert Prattley, 2 Achilles and Webber Turner.

Boys under 7—1 Keith Rogers, 2 Jimmie Wilson.

Girls under 7—1 Muriel Scott, 2 Hilda Symonds.

Consolation race — 1 Emma Payne, 2 Claud Rogers.

The prizes were distributed on the homeward journey by the superintendent of the school, Lt.-Col. Rogers, amidst much shouting and laughter, occasioned by his numerous and humourous quibs and cranks.

RIPE AND UNRIPE BANANAS.

A Few Points About the Selection of This Delicious Fruit.

Whether for shipment or for home consumption, the fruit is cut as soon as it is "full" that is, when it has reached its adult form and size, but is still quite green. The plant is cut off by a single blow of a machete wielded by a powerful arm. As it falls the bunch is caught, lopped off and laid aside, while the harvester goes on to the next bunch. It is a popular supposition that bananas "ripened on the tree" are incomparably superior to those cut green. But, as a matter of fact, one never eats them thus ripened in Jamaica. They are said to be not so good. At all events one finds no better fruit in texture and flavor than the best of our own markets. But every lover of this fruit knows that its quality varies extraordinarily as it is offered to us. This is due partly to the different sources from which it comes.

The best that is brought to us comes from Jamaica. It is also due still more to the condition of the fruit when cut. Bananas which are perfectly full will ripen mellow and delicious; but those cut when immature, as too many are, will turn yellow, yet never truly ripen, retaining always their hard texture and unripe taste. In Jamaica, as elsewhere, the competition of buyers leads the unscrupulous ones to accept fruit of any sort, even when totally unfit; and this sort of competition makes all the more unavailing the efforts of honest buyers to raise the standard and to teach the people to withold their fruit until it is properly developed. Americans can give more moral support to these efforts by accepting only such fruit as is mature at any price. A little pains will soon enable one to distinguish good from poor fruit, though it is difficult to give a general statement of the distinctive differences. But, as a rule, it will be found that bananas which are largest, deepest yellow and least angular are the most mature and best.—Popular Science Monthly.

Lady Somerset's Idea.

Lady Henry Somerset regards the bicycle as second only to temperance in its improving effect upon society. She speaks of the bicycle in connection with the working classes with positive warmth. "A revolution," she says, "is being slowly wrought that will entirely change the aspect of life for working girls. The country, with all its re-creative charms, will soon be at their doors. The privilege hitherto belonging to the rich—a Saturday to Monday in the country when the sultry air makes town intolerable—is fast becoming possible to them, and the new friend that brings with it these fresh hopes is none other than that swift steed of steel, the bicycle. I hope we may in our practical English fashion turn the new dispensation to good account for working girls by arranging to receive members of bicycling clubs either in some little cottage adjoining our own homes, or by now and then inviting a party of bicyclists to our gardens in the neighborhood of our cities and large towns, and thus sharing with others the country delights that we have too long enjoyed alone."

YOUNG LAMONT'S CASE.

Neighbors Much Interested in the Story — Everyone Thought the Youngster Would Die but he's Very Much Alive Now.

DUNDALK, July 30.—Hugh Lamont, of McIntyre, has a young son who is an object of interest throughout this whole section of country. From infancy the boy had dropsy, and was bloated and swollen all over. It seemed to the parents that death could be the only release to one attacked so young by this disease. They heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and began giving them to the child. With the first box, the bloating and swelling began to disappear. Six boxes effected a perfect cure and the boy is now just as healthy a youngster as stirs up the dust on the high roads of Western Ontario.

I was attacked severely last winter with Diarrhœa, Cramps, and Colic and thought I was going to die, but fortunately I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and now I thank this excellent remedy for saving my life.

The Ermine.

The ermine is a queer animal. It is one thing in winter and another thing in summer. That is a strange statement, but it is true, for in winter the animal's fur is as white as snow and is called the ermine. In summer its fur turns reddish brown on the upper part of the body and a light yellow on the lower part, the animal is then known as the stoat.

This change is quite familiar to naturalists but not to unscientific people, and the ermine and stoat are, therefore, generally regarded as distinct animals.

The fur of the ermine is much valued and is in great request. At one time it was a mark of great royalty, and the state robes of judges and magistrates were lined with it as an emblem of purity.

The ermine is so cunning in its ways that it is almost as difficult to catch it as it is to "catch a weasel asleep." In fact about the only way to capture it is to mark its course from its home and then strew mud in its pathway. When the dainty, fastidious little animal reaches the point in its path where the mud is strewn, it will lie down and subject itself to capture and death rather than smirch one of its snowy white hairs.—Philadelphia Times.

The Tuberculosis Conformation.

The conformation which, according to Prof. Law, usually indicates a weakness of constitution and a susceptibility to tuberculosis in cattle is the following: Head narrow between the horns; sunken eyes; depth of cavity (temporal) back of the eyes; thin, narrow ewe neck; chest small, lacking in both breadth and depth; hollow flank and tendency to pot belly; a general lack of muscle, so that the limbs seem loosely attached to the body; in breeds that show a variety of colors, animals of the lighter shades of brown or yellow. If, however, such animals are of high value for the dairy and can be kept free from infection they need not be rejected. The finest conformations of Shorthorns, Devons, Holstein-Friesians, black or red polled furnish no protection in the presence of the germ.

Wanted His Rights.

"Prisoner," said the judge, "have you any counsel?"

"I haven't, your honor," answered the man on trial for stealing a ham. "I haven't got any money."

"Then the court will appoint Mr. Leggy to defend you."

The prisoner looked at the skinny, squint-eyed, stoop-shouldered pettifogger pointed out by the court and rose to enter a protest.

"Judge," he said, "I'm entitled, according to law, to a trial by a jury of my peers, ain't I?"

"You are," replied the court.

"Then, your honor," rejoined the prisoner, drawing a shiny coat sleeve across his nose, "I think I ort to have a lawyer of the same kind."

Need Thought.

Good words do more than hard speeches as the sunbeams, without any noise, will make the traveler cast off his cloak, which all the blustering winds could not do, but only make him bind it closer to him.—Archbishop Leighton.

A man's conduct is an unspoken sermon.—Amiel.

This poor one thing I do: instead of repining at its lowliness or its hardiness, I will make it glorious by my supreme loyalty to its demand.—Gunnett.

The Best Medicine.

J. O. WILSON, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas, thus speaks of Ayer's Pills:

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever tried; and, in my judgment, no better general remedy could be devised. I have used them in my family and recommended them to my friends and employes for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge, many cases of the following complaints have been completely and by the use of Ayer's Pills alone: Third day chills, dumb ague, bilious fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flux, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard colds. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disorders I have named above."

"I have been selling medicine for eight years, and I can safely say that Ayer's Pills give better satisfaction than any other Pill I ever sold."—J. J. Perry, Spottsylvania C. H., Va.

A DETECTIVE ON WOMEN

SUPT. BYRNES OF NEW YORK TELLS THE ADVENTURESS'S SECRET.

Why It Is She Succeeds—He Discourses Wisely on What Constitutes Feminine Charms—The Best Women Look It, Namely, Exquisite Neatness.

The best women in the world are not always the neatest. That is too bad. Moral and physical beauty should go hand in hand. Speaking of adventuresses, Mr. Byrnes said to the New York World:

"They are notoriously neat. I meet all sorts and conditions of women in a year; the gently bred, gracious, glorious type of womanhood; self-respecting, self-supporting business women; representatives of industrial and professional life; leaders in political, educational, philanthropic, religious and social reforms, and those isolated characters, such as agents, drummers, deputies, doctors, inspectors, slummers, lecturers, property owners and the like, but none of them can approach the superb grooming, the physical perfection, the faultless costuming characteristic of the women who give the department so much trouble. The more daring the adventuress—I won't say successful, for wrongdoers get caught sooner or later, their detention being only a question of time—the more exquisite is their dress. It is a great thing to please the eye. The woman who charms the sight of the individual she wants to make use of wins one point. A good impression is as good as a letter of introduction. Cleverness only wants an interview; knowledge of human nature does the rest.

"I have observed that the most attractive element in dressing has nothing to do with the dress. It is wholesomeness, bodily refinement, vigor, health and a neatness that is fairly radiant. A woman groomed like a race-horse, with fine hair, fine teeth, her very skin shining with care, her manners distinguished, her motions, voice, words all expressive of good breeding, would captivate me if duty did not compel me to blunt the confidence I have in human nature.

"It is easy to see through the vulgar trappings of the simple-minded, but the rogue who looks and acts like a royal princess has always one more chance. The most captivating women I have ever seen possessed three virtues—neatness, gentleness and tact.

"I can't understand it. I don't see why the good woman don't take more pains to please. Life is a fearful struggle. Men have a rough time keeping up with the ranks. Temptations invite them at every turn. The head of a family who manages to win a living has no pleasure in the task and small hope for the future. His life is pretty barren and I often wonder that the good wife isn't more than good."

"For instance?"

"Well, good to look at, for instance."

"Beauty is woman's duty," is a saying as old as the prophets. A decade before the Christian era a wiseacre gave this injunction to his disciples: "Forget not, oh, my daughters, the divinity that is within thee. Adorn thyself, fair creature, and remain forever fair, that thou mayest delight the heart and eye of the man who is the sole support of thy adorable weakness."

The supposition that beauty is the artiste's stock in trade is not founded on fact. Health is her capital. If the reader runs over the list of women who have succeeded and are succeeding on the stage she will find that the health average is much higher than the percentage of beauty. A fixture of the stage dressing-room as indispensable as light is running water. The actress may go from the bath to the theatre, but her make-up will not be perfect without more bathing and more soap and water. There is a touch of beauty to be got out of a stationary basin that is simply incomparable. One of the professional women who helped to make the success of a "Trip to Chinatown" used to take a bath after each act during the hot weather engagement. Speaking about this essential element in stage dressing she said:

"I had to do it. It was the only way I could look my best. An actress cannot be too neat. Carefulness and carelessness in stage dressing is so pronounced that any one in the profession can tell to a certainty which is which."

And what is true in public life is also true in private life. Beauty is health, and health is simply clean living.

The Egg Question in Hotels.

The egg question in a hotel that laughs at expense in the endeavor to secure for its guests what is more than palatable has the closest attention; for the most part, the middleman operates here, though the eggs do not lie on his hands long. Among many hotels, I have failed to find one that uses any but warranted eggs, and even these are broken by skilled assistants, separately, before they are used by a cook or baker; for one faithless egg can wreck gallons of soup or cake galore. In the Holland House this incidental duty means the breaking of $2,500 worth of eggs every month; never less than 120 dozen are used per day. The Marlborough Hotel averages 300 dozen every day. During the World's Fair the Palmer House reached the average of 600 dozen.—The Chautauquan.

HINTS TO FARM BUYERS

THE THOUSAND AND ONE THINGS TO BE CAREFULLY CONSIDERED.

The External Appearance of the Homestead—The Roads and the Proximity to Markets—The Question of Waste Land—The Financial Considerations.

In selecting a farm, especially if the owner intends to reside upon it, there are many things to be considered aside from its actual commercial value. Whether he intends to live upon it or not, he should take into consideration not only the quality of the soil and its adaptability to the proposed purposes, but also its nearness to market, the state of the roads over which his produce will have to be drawn, perhaps in early spring or late fall, the condition of the fences, buildings and the natural drainage. All these go far toward making a desirable or undesirable purchase, for a farm is a piece of property of which one cannot dispose whenever he may choose. Once bought, it is much more easily sold again if it is a desirable piece of land. In addition to these, if the farm is to be the purchaser's residence, he will take into consideration its distance from school and church privileges. For a family of small children, it is very desirable to have the schoolhouse within a mile at most. This feature alone would be worth hundreds of dollars in the value of a farm to some buyers. Muddy roads and bad weather are unavoidable for a portion of the year, and convenience to the schoolhouse is very desirable.

While the dwelling house and other buildings are important matters in a farm home, do not forget that a dooryard shaded with trees cannot be supplied to order as they can. Be sure that at least a few trees are ready to furnish the ever welcome shade about the house in summer. However carefully planted and tended, they will require years of growth before they afford much shade. A farmhouse with shade trees of good growth in the front yard is a more desirable residence than one left to the scorching rays of a summer sun. It is a common saying that one can buy a farm with suitable buildings on it cheaper than the land could be bought, and the buildings added. This may be true, but remember no money can give shade trees within a year or two. It is much pleasanter to have a porous soil in the dooryard than one which holds water like a sponge. A good orchard is worth a great deal to a farm. As with shade trees, they may be set out, but it takes ten years at least for an apple tree to attain bearing age. No one can afford to wait ten years for apples. It is better to buy a farm with even a few apple trees than without any.

A farm on which there is no waste land is to be preferred to one of which a portion is untillable. River flats or low borders of any smaller stream are usually wet and fit only for pasture. Marsh grass and rushes are the best of their productions, and the pasturage even is not equal, acre for acre, to good upland. Such a stream is excellent in time of drouth to supply water for the stock, but it makes a good deal of waste land which might better be under cultivation. A swamp or swale may be cleared up, if there is an outlet for drainage, and often makes the choicest land when so treated. A beautiful farm home is within the reach of many a family who think that because they have not plenty of money to spend in beautifying it, they cannot have it. Fixing up and keeping everything tidy about the place, fences in good repair and free from bushes, shade trees scattered about, a well-kept lawn, barns in good repair, whether they are expensive or not, all these cost nothing but a little time, and add more to a farm home than most owners realize. One who rides about the country, where he is unacquainted, can judge pretty closely of the ability of the farmers by the appearance of their farms. If one wants to sell, the more attractive his farm is the more readily can a buyer be found. In buying a farm, as in buying anything else, the best may be the cheapest in the end. A few dollars more on an acre may put the purchaser in possession of a farm more desirable in every way. In that case, the best is certainly the cheapest. No one ought to buy a farm that is to be his home without giving the matter sufficient thought and personal observation of all its various conditions.—E. R. Flint, in American Agriculturist.

Underground London.

It gives an impressive idea of what subterranean London is fast becoming to learn that on emerging from the river the new City of Waterloo line will, in its passage up Queen Victoria street, run for a part of the way under the low level main sewer, which, in its turn, runs along beneath the district underground railway. So that at this point in the city we shall have, first, a busy main thoroughfare, below that a steam railway, then a huge metropolitan sewer, then an electric railway, reaching its terminus at a depth of about sixty-three feet below the streets, and here it will communicate with another line—the Central London—which will lie at a depth of eighty feet.—London News.

Bring to the surface every latent pain. A change of even a few degrees marks the difference between comfort and pain to many persons. Happily disease now holds less sway. Science is continually bringing forward new remedies which successfully combat disease. Polson's Nerviline—nerve pain cure—has proved the most successful pain relieving remedy known. Its application is wide, for it is equally efficient in all forms of pain whether internal or external. 25 cents a bottle, at druggists.

A Child Fatally Burned.

CHATHAM, Aug. 9.—Annie Fitzsimmons, the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. Hugh Fitzsimmons, Adelaide street, was the victim of a painful accident which resulted fatally last night. The unfortunate child while lighting a match allowed it to come in contact with her light dress. In a moment the child was enveloped in a blaze and before the fire could be extinguished she was terribly burned around the body.

Newsome's Case Adjourned.

BUFFALO, Aug. 9.—But one witness was examined yesterday in the case against William B. Newsome, the Toronto man, for breach of the contract alien labor law, now being tried before Commissioner Fairchild. In consequence an adjournment was made until next week. Mary Larely, who was the witness examined, did not give any material evidence in the case. She testified for the prosecution.

Well-Known Woollen Mill Man Dead.

ALMONTE, Ont., Aug. 9.—James Rosamond, the founder of the well-known woollen industries in this town, and father of B. Rosamond, M.P., died yesterday. He was in his 90th year of age.

Chief Sargent on the Strike.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 9.—Chief Sargent, of the firemen, says the net result of the late strike, so far as his order is concerned, was that two charters were surrendered, about 500 brotherhood firemen were thrown out of work, and to a man they were appealing to the grand lodge for help.

Wedded in High Life.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The Archbishop of Canterbury officiated yesterday at the marriage of Lord Egerton of Tatton and the Duchess of Buckingham. The ceremony took place at Lambeth palace, the archbishop's residence. Lord Egerton of Tatton is 64 years old.

The Cholera in Amsterdam.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 8.—Two deaths from cholera occurred in Amsterdam yesterday and one in Dordrecht. Three new cases and two deaths were reported in Maastricht.

U. S. Consul to Leith Dead.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Francis H. Underwood, United States Consul at Leith, Scotland, died yesterday. Death resulted from blood poisoning.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, August 9, 1894.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—The only grain received was a load of white wheat, which sold at 60c. Oats are nominal at 36 to 37½c and peas at 64 to 66c.

The gross earnings of the Grand Trunk railway for the week ended August 4 were $338,255, a decrease of $63,195 as compared with corresponding week of last year.

The Chicago grain market took a tumble, losing the greater part of Tuesday's advance. Wheat closed 1 3-8 to 1 1-2 lower, corn 3 1-8 to 3 3-4c, and oats 1-4 to 1 1-2c.

Buffalo.—Cattle—Three cars; steady; light steers, $3.40 to $3.60. Sheep and lambs—Seven cars; fair market; one very choice lot of lambs brought $4.55, but the current rates for good to choice were $4.25 to $4.40. Hogs—Eight cars; fair at $5.50 to $5.60 for the best lots on sale with a few pigs at $5.65.

The conditions were reversed in the corn ring in the New York produce market. The bears wore the smile, while the bulls saw the market slip away from them by quarter and half cents. Country speculators especially felt the effects of the break, as they have been bulls on corn for some time. Wheat opened weak advanced a trifle, and then, feeling the giving way of corn, dropped 1½ to 1¾c a bushel.

Like a ship without a rudder is a man or a woman without health and the necessary strength to perform the ordinary duties of life. When the appetite fails, when debility, and a disordered condition of stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels assail you, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Forms of Religious Music.

Besides the opera there is only one department of music in which Schubert has not in some of his efforts reached the highest summit of musical achievement. His sacred compositions, although very beautiful from a purely musical point of view, usually lack the true ecclesiastic atmosphere—a remark which may be applied, in a general way, to Haydn and Mozart, too. To my mind, the three composers who have been most successful in revealing the inmost spirit of religious music are Palestrina, in whom Roman Catholic music attains its climax; Bach, who embodies the Protestant spirit, and Wagner, who has struck the true ecclesiastic chord in the Pilgrims' Chorus of "Tannhaeuser," and especially in the first and third acts of "Parsifal." Compared with these three masters, other composers appear to have made too many concessions to worldly and purely musical factors—of course, not without exceptions. One of these exceptions is Mozart's "Requiem," especially "Dies Irae," which moves us as few compositions do, and attunes the soul to reverence and worship. Such exceptions may also be found among Schubert's sacred compositions. "Miriam's Song of Victory" is a wonderful work, as are some of his masses. In the Psalms, too, he has achieved great things, especially the one for female voices in A flat major, which is celestial without worldly admixtures. It must not be forgotten, too, that the notions as to what is truly sacred in music may differ somewhat among nations and individuals, like the sense of humor.—The Century.

Hospitable.

It is customary on the continent of Europe to charge extra for heating a bedroom, no matter how bitter the weather, but it remained for a New England hotelkeeper to charge double rates for heating a room for two.

It was this same man, whose tavern is in a town so remote from civilization that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is the only theatrical attraction ever billed there, who bid for custom by advertising:

"Special rates for theatrical companies. Little Eva and the dogs free!"—Youth's Companion.

The Biggest Diamond.

This remarkable diamond was found in Jagersfontein mine, in the month of June last year, and is named the Jagersfontein Excelsior. This is now the largest and most valuable diamond in the world. It is of blue-white color, very fine quality, and measures three inches at the thickest part. The gross weight of this unique stone was no less than 969¼ karats, and the following are its recorded dimensions: Length, 2¼ inches; greatest width, 2 inches; smallest width, 1¼ inches; extreme girth in width, 5¼ inches; extreme girth in length, 6¼ inches.

It is impossible to say what is the value of so phenomenal a gem. We do not know that an estimate has been even attempted, but it may easily be half a million if the cutting is successful.—Chambers' Journal.

Right Hand and Left.

In the majority of persons the right hand is more sensitive to touch and less sensitive to temperature than the left. If the two hands be dipped in two basins of water at the same temperature the left hand will feel the greater sensation of warmth; it will do this even when thermometers show that the water in the left basin is really somewhat colder than that in the right. These effects are no doubt owing to the fact that more constant use has a tendency to make the skin of the right hand thicker than that of the left. They are, of course, reversed in the case of left handed persons.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Sweetest Scented of Roses.

It may be remembered, says the Westminster Gazette, that in 1884 some fruits were brought to England from the roses that are planted on Omar Khayyram's grave at Naishapur by Mr. William Simpson. Some of these were presented to the Royal Gardens by Mr. Bernard Quaritch, and the bush which grew from them, of which cuttings were sent a year ago to plant on the grave of Edward Fitzgerald in Suffolk, has now flowered for the first time. The plant proves, according to the Kew Bulletin, to be a form of rosa centifolia, the sweetest-scented of all the roses from which the cabbage rose, the moss rose and the pompon are derived.

To Soften the Skin.

If the skin be coarse looking and you desire to improve the texture bathe it before going to bed in very hot water and good toilet soap and rub thoroughly with a coarse Turkish towel. Wrinkles are less apparent under a kind of varnish containing thirty-six grams of turpentine and three drams of alcohol, allowed to dry on the face. For pimples on the face use this recipe: Thirty grains of bicarbonate of soda, one dram of glycerine and one ounce of spermaceti ointment. Rub on the face; let it remain for a quarter of an hour and wipe off all but a slight film with a soft cloth.

DEATH OF MR. GEOFFRION, M. P.

One of the Prominent Liberal Members From Quebec Province.

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—Much regret is expressed in Liberal circles here over the death of Hon. Felix Geoffrion, M. P. for Vercheres, which took place on Tuesday night at that place. By his death the Quebec Liberals lose one of their trusted leaders.

Hon. Mr. Geoffrion was in his sixty-second year. He was a native of Varennes having been born there October 4, 1832. At the age of twenty-two he was appointed registrar for Vercheres and held that position for nine years when he resigned and entered political life. He was elected for Vercheres to the Canadian assembly from 1863 and represented it until 1867. Since confederation he has continuously represented Vercheres in the Dominion House. In 1874 Mr. Geoffrion moved for a select committee to enquire into the causes of the difficulties which existed in the Northwest Territory during the years 1869-70. He was chairman of this committee and prepared the report which was presented to Parliament. From July, 1874, to December, 1876, he was a member of the Mackenzie Cabinet holding the portfolio of inland revenue. A serious illness, from which he never fully recovered, was the cause of his retirement. Mr. Geoffrion lived at Vercheres where he was greatly beloved. Though strenuous efforts were made to defeat him at each general election he was always elected by small but safe majorities.

The Algerian Meets With a Bad Mishap.

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—While the Richelieu and Ontario steamer Algerian, Capt. Dunlop, was passing through the Long Sault Rapids yesterday afternoon on her way down from Toronto, one of the paddle wheels was smashed in and the crashing timbers smashed a large hole in the steamer's side. The water poured into the vessel, flooding the dining room and baggage room. There were several hundred passengers on board at the time and an exciting time ensued. Many of the passengers believing that the vessel had been wrecked. Capt. Dunlop and his men managed to restore confidence and succeeded in bringing the steamer down to Cornwall where the steamer Rocket was chartered and conveyed some of the passengers to Montreal. Many passengers took Toronto express at Cornwall, having had quite enough of the river for one day. The passengers all arrived safely here last night none the worse for their thrilling experience. The damage to the Algerian is considerable.

H. M. S. Blake's Men Court-martialed.

HALIFAX, Aug. 9.—Seaman Halfyard, of H. M. S. Blake, who was awarded a gold medal for saving life in New York harbor, is now in disgrace. While the Blake was in New York Halfyard jumped from the ship into the harbor and saved a man from drowning He was afterwards presented with a gold medal by a number of New York citizens. Halfyard has a very bad temper, which has brought trouble upon him. This week he was court-martialed on the Blake for threatening one of the officers. He was sentenced to fifteen months in prison. Two other of the Blake's men were court-martialed at the same time, and as a result both have been ordered to leave the ship in disgrace. Seaman Brian was charged with assaulting the ship's steward and Seaman Jenks was charged with gross insubordination.

General Baggage Agents' Association.

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—Considerable interest is being created in United States and Canadian railway circles over the prospective meeting on August 15 at the Windsor hotel here of the American Association of General Baggage Agents. The objects of the association are to facilitate the transportation of baggage, in order to better serve the travelling public, and to establish a uniformity of handling, with a view of smoothing over the rough passages so common in an overland trip. The association of long standing and now embraces in its membership the general baggage agents of all the railway systems of the American continent. After two days' session in Montreal it is agreed that the convention will adjourn to the Hotel Frontenac, Quebec, where the election of officers will probably take place.

Toronto Ferry Boats Collide.

TORONTO, Aug. 9.—The Shamrock ferry boat, returning from the Island last night with about 400 passengers on board, collided at Yonge street wharf with the Thistle, another ferry, on her way out. After the boats struck a panic ensued among the passengers, one of whom jumped overboard in the excitement. He was rescued. Fortunately no casualties occurred, as the boat's crew succeeded in calming the passengers. The Thistle was badly damaged, while the injuries to the Shamrock were slight.

Spicuzza This Time Has Gone.

HAMILTON, Aug. 9.—S. Spicuzza, an Italian who has been in the wholesale and retail fruit business here for the past five years, has left the city and it is believed he has returned to Italy. Spicuzza did a big business and had the confidence of several big houses. It is estimated his liabilities are about $9,000. He owes three Hamilton firms $3,700 and a Buffalo and a New York firm $2,000 each. He also purchased $100 worth of jewelry from a King street jeweler and he neglected to pay for it.

Fined for Issuing a Challenge.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 9.—In the police court yesterday Ed Harvey, the pugilist, was fined $100 for having issued a challenge to Tom Trenholm for a prize fight. The challenge was published in the Telegraph, and the manager of that paper was called to answer the charge of having published the same. In the absence in Halifax of H. H. McLean, managing director, the case was allowed to stand.

Destructive Timber Fires.

WINDSOR, Aug. 9.—Timber fires are raging along the line of the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railroad. Last night a strip six miles long and about a mile wide was on fire and a number of men worked all night to keep it from spreading. Hundreds of cords of wood have already been destroyed and the damage so far will amount to a large amount.

McCarthy Association in B. C.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 9.—The Dalton McCarthy Association has been formed here. Its members intend to take an active part in the coming elections in the Dominion. The chief planks in the platform are the abolition of separate schools and of the use of the French language. The association is formed principally of Orangemen.

Decrease in British Imports.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The returns issued by the Board of Trade for last month show a decrease in imports of £1,440,000 and in exports of £1,250,000 as compared with July last year.

He says, when we consider that seventy-five per cent. of people with defective eyesight have some amount of astigmatism, at least forty per cent. have two odd eyes, it will at once be apparent to any one of common sense that they should have their sight tested by some competent opthalmic optician. If persons are presbyopic only, and have both eyes alike in focus, even then they are not capable of judging what is necessary for them, and no optometer or other sight-seeing apparatus has ever yet been invented which will enable a novice to determine the error of refraction in a case of astigmatism.

BRITANNIA'S THIS TIME

The British Cutter Beats the Yankee Sloop in a Good Breeze.

GOULD'S CHALLENGE TAKEN

Three Match Races Are to be Run Over an Open Course, the Best Two Out of Three to Win—The First Race to be Held on Monday.

COWES, Aug. 10.—In a good club topsail breeze, though whitecapped but not tumultuous seas, the Britannia defeated the American sloop Vigilant yesterday over a course of about 48 nautical miles by 2 minutes and 18 seconds actual time and 4 minutes 17 seconds corrected time. About half of the contest was windward work, in which the British cutter had decidedly the best of it. She also showed a surprising swiftness in running, which is attributed to surreptitious lightening of the ship while she was in dock.

The Vigilant on the twelve mile legs of the course, in which the yachts sailed almost dead before the wind, beat the Britannia by 1 minute 32 seconds. But the cutter in the weather battle worsted the Yankee yacht by 3 minutes 45 seconds. As the Prince's yacht crossed the line British throats distended with delirious shouts and all the steam yachts shrieked greeting.

There were six yachts entered for the race, including the Satanita, but only the Vigilant and Britannia sailed. The wind was brisk from the west. The course was from the club house of the Royal Yacht Squadron of Cowes, to and around a mark boat off Lepe, thence eastward to and around the Warner lightship at the entrance to the English channel and back to the starting point, twice around.

The breeze was not strong enough to suit the American yachtsmen. It enabled the boats to carry their light weather topsails. In Saturday's contest it was somewhat stronger and ordinary working topsails were used. The Britannia got the weather gnage on the Yankee at the start and crossed the line two seconds ahead of her.

Time, Britannia, 10.30.03; Vigilant, 10, 30.05.

They crossed on the starboard tack and a few minutes later the Britannia went about and stood over to northwest. The Britannia was leading by 1 minute and 40 seconds at Lepe. Time, Britannia, 10.54.-10; Vigilant, 10.55.50.

In the twelve miles stretch out to the Warner the Yankee picked up 1 minute and 7 seconds.

Passing the club house on the way to the Warner the cutter took in her spinnaker. The Yankee held to hers. Time, Britannia, 11.04.45; Vigilant, 11.05.55. The time at the Warner was: Britannia, 11.47.42; Vigilant, 11.48.15.

Passing Old Castle, off East Cowes, it was conjectured that the Britannia was leading by about four minutes. The Vigilant stood further in shore, then the cutter, and apparently was not benefited. The Britannia was leading by four minutes and 5 seconds. Time, Britannia, 1.18.30; Vigilant, 1.22.35.

The Yankee had reduced the cutter's lead by only 12 seconds when they passed the club house. Time—Britannia, 1.28.35; Vigilant, 1.32.18.

The Vigilant picked up only 13 seconds from the club house to the lightship, where Britannia led by 3 minutes and 40 seconds. Time—Britannia, 2.12.07; Vigilant, 2.15.47.

Jib topsails were gathered in and with sheets flattened the rivals stood for home on the port tack. The Vigilant, which had been beaten by four minutes on this leg in the preceding round, beat the Britannia over it, thus reducing the cutter's lead by 1 minute 27 seconds.

Time at finish — Britannia, 3.18.07; Vigilant, 3.20.20.

The Prince of Wales has accepted Mr. Gould's propositon for three match races, the best two out of three to win, over an open course for $5,000. The first of these races will be sailed on Monday outside the Needles, over a course of 30 miles, 15 to windward or leeward and return.

The morning papers agree that yesterday's victory is the most decisive of the series thus far won by the Prince of Wales' cutter over the American centre-boarder.

New Orleans Aldermen Indicted.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 10.—Francis Triffily, the wealthiest and most influential member of the city council, has resigned to escape impeachment proceedings. It is said, however, he will be prosecuted criminally with his associates. Already five of the city fathers have been indicted, and the work of the grand jury is still going on.

Pullman Works Start Up.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Steam was let into the cylinders of the big Corliss engine at Pullman this morning for the first time since the strike was inaugurated. At 7 o'clock 1,198 men reported for work. All departments were open except the freight and street car shops.

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR

China Levying a Tribute in the Provinces for War Purposes.

WHY LI LOST THE JACKET

He Did All He Could to Prevent Hostilities Between the Two Countries Which Displeased the Emperor—Japan Pouring Men Into Corea.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A despatch from Tien-Tsin to the Central News: The Emperor of China has directed that a levy for war tribute be made up on the Viceroys of the different provinces. A foreign war loan is mooted. Chinese troops with European officers are rapidly advancing through Manchuria toward the Corean frontier.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News says: "According to advices from Yokohama and Nagasaki Japan is pouring reinforcements into Corea, using for the purpose all available fast steamers flying the Japanese flag. The Japanese newspapers are forbidden to refer to the war preparations or to publish any army news except such as is supplied by the government.

"The Japanese aim to attack the Chinese before the arrival of the Manchurian corps. The Chinese fleet makes no effort to leave the coast. Fast Japanese cruisers are constantly watching."

A dispatch to the Times from Tien Tsin says that the English colony, having petitioned that British gunboats be sent there, the Chinese government has ordered the Chinese officials to protect all foreigners and missionaries.

Japan has ordered a prominent firm in Dudley, Worcestershire, to ship to Japan immediately several hundred tons of the best iron. It is understood that the iron is for war purposes.

Tse Old Viceroy's Efforts for Peace.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Information from an authoritative source received in Washington shows that Li Hung Chang did all he could to prevent the Chinese-Japanese war. He was in complete accord with the efforts of foreign powers to bring about a peaceful adjustment of differences between China and her neighbors and appeared willing to accept moderate proposals of Japan for a settlement. Throughout the negotiations looking to peace, Li Hung Chang attempted to place himself in close communication with Prime Minister Ito, of Japan, but was unsuccessful. He and Ito had become personally acquainted in the formation of a treaty and believed they could arrange the Corean troubles satisfactorily, if they were brought together. In connection with this information a most interesting statement, based partly on surmise and partly on fact, is made with reference to Li Hung Chang's divestment of the order of the Yellow Jacket. Li's efforts to maintain peace and the moderation shown by him is said to have been reported to the Imperial Circles and the Yellow Jacket was taken from him as a rebuke for treating with the Japanese. This information corresponds with the cabled reports of the matter that Li was divested of the jacket for his failure to prosecute the war. It is believed that Prince Chi Ing, one of the most progressive statesmen in Japan, will also be disgraced for siding with Li.

BONANZA FOR FRUIT GROWERS.

A Brilliant Prospect for Canadian Apple Trade in Great Britain.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Woodall's report (an authority) says the prospect of the Canadian apple trade in Great Britain for this year is unusually brilliant. It is said that the prospects for the trade are even better than in the bonanza years of 1891 and 1892. The report further states that there is scarcely any fruit worth attention in the British Isles or on the continent and that the importation of apples must necessarily be heavy.

St. Henri Mourns a Departed Citizen.

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—The town of St. Henri is excited over the hurried departure of a hitherto respected citizen and one belonging to one of the best families of the west end. Mr. T. J. Bedford, until two weeks ago, was Canadian Pacific passenger and traffic agent for St. Henri, and in addition to that was also agent for the Dominion Express Company. As a kind of addition to his business he last winter inaugurated the Keystone Laundry Company which was run under the title of Bedford and Duffin, but the latter was simply an employe, being given the title of partner so that he could better manage the business. Bedford left for the United States with his family on Saturday last and enquiry in the neighborhood of his laundry proved that he was very deeply involved. He employed twelve men and girls in his laundry and to some he owes two weeks wages, and others for longer periods.

Decreased Immigration From Britain.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The emigration to Canada from British ports for the seven months ended 31st July, shows, according to the official compilations just published, a considerable decrease when compared with a similar period in the previous year. The falling away is considered the more remarkable when the prominence which Dominion matters have received during the past year is taken into account.

Drowning Near Stouffville.

STOUFFVILLE, Aug. 10.—At Dixon's Hill, on the eighth concession of Markham, John Forester, a promising and popular young farmer, was drowned while bathing in Miller's pond. There were half a dozen young men with him, but as it was quite dark none of his companions saw him sink. The body was recovered yesterday.

Killed by a C. P. R. Train.

OTTAWA, Aug. 10.—Joseph Mourin, of Manchesterville, a suburb of Ottawa, was run over by a C. P. R. train near the Union depot last night and had both his legs cut off. He died shortly afterwards. He was walking along the track when run over. Mourin was a middle-aged man.

Incendiary Fire at Strathroy.

STRATHROY, Ont., Aug. 10.—Two barns belonging to the Albion hotel, a brick and a frame, have been burned to the ground, together with the contents. They were owned by Mrs. T. Moore, Toronto, and were insured for $900. There is but little doubt that it was the work of an incendiary.

STILL NO AGREEMENT

The Tariff Muddle at Washington Becoming More Complicated.

HOUSE CONFEREES STUBBORN

They Insist on a Reduction in the Wool, Cotton and Metal Schedules—The Agreement Hardly Yet in Sight and Both Sides Are Desperate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The Senate seems to have reached that condition of apathy and weariness that unfits it for any serious legislative business which is not connected with the final disposition of the tariff bill and the winding up of the land session. Yesterday's session came to a close at 1.40, and a part of the time had been given to the consideration of executive business. Nothing of any public interest marked the brief legislative day.

"The report," said Mr. Wilson in an interview, "that the President had smashed the compromise agreed upon by the conferees on coal, sugar and iron ore yesterday is an absurd invention. There is not a word of truth in it, and you may say I said so. The President has never interfered in our deliberations in the slightest manner. He has treated the matter with great delicacy."

The report thus denied was one of the leading features of the situation. The proceedings of the conferees were barren of results in spite of the announcement that they had practically agreed, and when they adjourned last evening the result was as much in doubt as ever.

The demand made by the House conferees that the woollen, cotton and metal schedule be reduced set the Senate conferees by the ears. They told their associates that they could not do it and the specific assertion was made with the authority of the gentleman referred to by the Senate conferees that if the schedules in question were changed neither Senator Smith nor Senator Murphy would vote for the bill and that any effort to change the metal schedule would start Senator Quay again and no man could tell what the result would be, but that even the most sanguine friends of the measure would feel that its defeat was near at hand.

Still the House men insisted and the Senate conferees withdrew to consult with the Conservatives. A long and important consultation was had, at which there were present Messrs. Gorman, Brice and Murphy. Mr. Smith was conspicuous by his absence. He was sent for, but could either not be found or refused to attend. It is said that Mr. Smith delivered his ultimatum as to the schedule in which he was interested and declared that when the conferees were ready to send to the Senate a report of the right kind he would be there to support it. Any deviation from the schedules now in the bill affecting the industries of New Jersey and New York will be opposed by the two Senators referred to even to the extent of voting against the bill.

All these things were told the House conferees, but they only laughed at it and professed to look upon it as a great game of bluff. At all events it is known that when the conference adjourned the House was still urging that these schedules be paired down, and the Senate was still arguing that to do so meant certain defeat.

What the outcome will be is uncertain. One of the Senate conferees said that he would not say, that an agreement was in sight, nor would he predict that an agreement could not be speedily reached. Both sides are becoming desperate.

There is a deep undercurrent of resentment at the obstinacy of the House conferees, as Senators call it, and a prolongation of the tension to which Congress has been put may precipitate a sudden and unexpected ending of the whole business.

Arbitration Resolution Postponed.

A feature of the session of the House Committee of Foreign Affairs was the postponement of action for the present on the joint resolution to arbitrate all differences between Great Britain and the United States for the next twenty years. It was argued that in view of the fact that the Nicaragua canal may be built under the auspices of the United States and complications may arise between the United States and England growing out of the different interpretations given to the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, it would be better not to put this government in a position where an adverse decision might make it impossible to build the canal.

Situation in Bluefields.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The acting secretary of the navy has received a dispatch from Captain Sumner, commanding the Columbia at Bluefields. He says he landed quite a force from the two American ships, and that men have also been landed from the British war vessel. The impression is gained by naval officers from the despatch that the Nicaraguans, who have now concentrated considerable force at Bluefields, will continue masters of the situation and that very little resistance will in future be offered by the supporters of Chief Clarence.

Cutting Freight Rates at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—There was a demoralization yesterday in east bound freight rates from Chicago. Schedules which had been agreed upon were totally ignored and the only rule which the roads seemed to observe was to get business at any rate which they could get. The trunk lines are blamed for the whole bad business and the feeling against them is not pleasant. The feeling is intensified on account of the time the break has occurred when the all-rail lines expected a big decrease in traffic, principally in the line of wheat shipments. Now, to meet the lake competition the railroads will have to carry grain at unprofitable rates.

Rubber Works to Close Down.

BOSTON, Aug. 10. — All the rubber manufacturers controlled by the Rubber Trust will shut down September 1 for two weeks or a month. These plants employ 12,000 or 14,000 persons. It is stated in some quarters that this action is taken on account of lack of orders, though Mr. Cutler of the Woonsocket Rubber Company says it is to give the employes a vacation.

A TARIFF AGREEMENT.

Unofficial reports from Washington give indications that the long struggle for tariff reform is over at last, and that a bill will be reported by the joint committee of both Houses, now in conference, which will be satisfactory to both. The contest between the Houses during the past month has been principally on the items of sugar, bituminous coal and iron ore. The House bill reported to the Senate on March 20 provided for the wiping out of the McKinley duty of one half cent per pound on sugar above 16 Dutch standard, and repealing the provisions of the McKinley law by which a bounty of 1⅜ and 2 cents per pound, according to quality, was paid by the Government on all sugar produced from beets or sugar cane grown in the United States. The bill also provided for free coal, the duty of 75 cents a ton under the old tariff being wiped out, and free iron ore, in place of a duty of 75 cents per ton on that material. The Senate committee replied with a bill taxing imported sugar above 16 Dutch standard 1 4-10 cents per pound, and all not up to this standard, including, of course, all raw sugars, of which over $100,000,000 worth were imported in the year ending June, 1893, at the average rate of 1 1-10 cents per pound, or 35 per cent. when the specific duties are figured upon an ad valorem basis. This was intended to give the protection to the sugar-growing States withdrawn by the repeal of the bounty. Coal was taxed at 40 cents, and iron ore at 40 cents per ton. There were other changes made, but none that in so plain a manner showed treachery to the Democratic platform of tariff reform based upon free raw materials for the country's industries. The duty upon sugar was the result of a persistent lobby on the part of the Sugar Trust, and not a few Senators were accused of having gambled in sugar stocks while the legislation was pending and of being directly in the pay of the trust.

Thus the matter stood when the disagreement between the House and Senate reached the acute stage. Lately, Mr. Cleveland interposed with a letter, in which he strongly urged the necessity of granting free coal and iron to redeem Democratic pledges. The result of all the negotiations is that the House Democrats agree to a tax of 40 per cent. on raw sugar and 40 per cent. on the value of the raw sugar contained in such refined sugar as may be imported, plus 1-5th of a cent per pound. This, it will be seen, gives the Southern States practically all they ask for. In return for this concession the Senate committee agrees that iron ore shall be put on the free list at once, and that coal shall be taxed at 40 cents per ton for five years, after which it will be free. The victory is with Mr. Cleveland, for while the House Democrats, doubtless with his consent, have yielded a slight duty on sugar, and have deferred the removal of the duty on coal, they have established the principle for which the President has long contended, that by the cheapening of raw materials and the gradual reduction of the duties upon manufactured goods, the United States can, without serious hurt, substitute free trade for protection.

The House bill, as passed, placed undressed lumber and wool upon the free list and with this the Senate has not interfered. The duties upon the manufactures of iron and of wool were not deeply cut into, and the Senate made little change in these schedules. On woollen yarns the ad valorem duty, one which formerly stood at from 278 to 105 per cent., the House made a reduction which returned the duty at an even 30 per cent. On woollen cloths the McKinley duty ranged from 163 to 99 per cent. ad valorem and the House placed it at 35 per cent. This duty the Senate has increased to 40 per cent., which, however, will keep the manufacturers from exercising the monopoly secured under the old tariff. The average reduction in the woollen schedules, as agreed to by both Houses, has been about 70 per cent.

Neither in this nor in any other of the manufactures schedules, however, in which Canadians might possibly compete, has the reduction been such as to open the market to our goods. The great advantage to Canadians is in the changes in the duties on lumber, animals and their products, minerals and barley. Canadian iron ore will go in free at once and Canadian coal at the end of five years. Canadian lumber will go in free. The importance of this will be seen when it is remembered that Canada exported $10,770,000 worth of lumber to the United States in 1893, in addition to $1,508,513 of logs. Animals and their products are also subject to a great reduction, while barley pays 30 per cent. instead of 30 cents per bushel under the McKinley law. The new tariff, if passed into law, will do much to increase trade between Canada and the United States.—Globe.

In the Toronto Globe on Saturday, appeared a page of legal opinions as to the possibility of simplifying law procedure in Ontario. A number of lawyers expressed their views, and, almost without exception, they conceded that proceedings could be condensed and appeals made less numerous by changes in the judicature act. The subject is one of much importance to the people, and the Globe can do a valuable public service by agitating for reform of our present appeal system, and perhaps, also, for a lessening of fees and costs. Three main troubles are made clear by the lawyers interviewed by the Globe, namely: (1) That there are too many proceedings during suits. (2) That appeals are too easily made upon technical points. (3) That there are too many courts to carry appeals through. Some of the speakers indicate clearly how simpler and cheaper law can apparently be had without lessening the likelihood of justice, and it ought to be as gratifying to the public as it is honourable to the legal profession, that the members of the latter, who, of course, benefit in pocket by cumbrous, long-drawn-out proceedings, show themselves frankly ready to admit that our legal procedure can be cheapened, and are willing to assist with their knowledge and experience.

---

THE New York Journal makes some sneering remarks as to the movements of Great Britain in eastern waters, and asks why she does not order ships of war to the scene of action. The reason is very simple. She does not need to do so. She keeps a fleet in those waters, as elsewhere, at all times. At present there are twenty-two men-of-war of various classes with the Chinese and Indian squadrons. This fleet carries 161 guns. There is nothing remarkable about it. It is the ordinary establishment. But it can be largely supplemented, if necessary, at a very brief notice. According to the latest telegrams some of these ships are anchored in the inner harbor at Port Hamilton, which indicates that Great Britain is "back again" in that very important position. Some weeks ago before the announcement of the Corean trouble it was stated that British gunboats had gone to the mouth of the Amoor. That great river which runs for more than 2,000 miles into the centre of Northern Asia will play an important part in the conflict, between Great Britain and Russia which seems slowly but surely coming. It is evident that the lion is not to be caught napping.

How Editors Are Treated in China.

Nineteen hundred editors of a Pekin paper are said to have been beheaded. Some would shudder at such slaughter, who are heedless of the fact that Consumption is ready to fasten its fatal hold on themselves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the efficient remedy for weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, bronchitis, asthma, severe coughs and kindred affections.

Stamps, La Fayette Co., Arkansas.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I will say this to you, that consumption is hereditary in my wife's family; some have already died with the disease. My wife has a sister Mrs. F. A. Cleary, that was taken with consumption. She used your "Golden Medical Discovery," and, to the surprise of her many friends, she got well My wife has also had hemorrhages from the lungs, and her sister insisted on her using the "Golden Medical Discovery." I consented to her using it, and it cured her. She has had no symptoms of consumption for the past six years.

Yours very truly,

UNCLE SAM'S PUBLIC DEBT.

Interesting Statistics From the Treasury of the Great American Republic.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The effect upon treasury finances of the uncertainty caused by prolonged agitation of tariff changes has been very marked. The public debt of the United States, less cash in the treasury January 1, 1893, was $1,434,000,000; on August 1, 1894, it was $1,514,000,000; increase $80,000,000.

During the same period the treasury cash balance, including the gold reserve, stood: January 1, 1893, $129,000,000; August 1, 1894, $119,000,000; February 1, 1894, the proceeds of the new $50,000,000 bond issue, which was premium, aggregated $58,000,000 were put into the treasury. Without that addition the treasury balance to-day would stand $61,000,000.

The present treasury balance is $118,000,000, of which $52,000,000 is the gold reserve which is relied upon to hold up $600,000,000 of gold bearing government obligations. The other $66,000,000 is denominated "currency." Of this $12,000,000 is in government depositaries and $18,000,000 is subsidiary coin. If the same method of treasury bookkeeping prevailed now as was adopted by Secretary Manning both these items would be eliminated from the assets and make the available treasury balance $36,000,000, exclusive of its $32,000,000 gold. This available cash spread over the several subtreasuries does not give each one a large surplus.

Celestials' Queues in Danger.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Several Chinamen who have been sent to the Bridewell on fines for keeping opium resorts are in fear lest they lose their pig tails. Their heads were about to be shaved, as is the usual treatment of prisoners, when they set up a howl and declared that they would protect their queues with their lives. Supt. Crawford ordered his men to omit the shaving process, but to search the prisoners' heads. Half a dozen of the men had opium concealed in their hair and the drug was taken from them, despite their protestations that they would die without it. Supt. Crawford reported his action in protecting the pig tails to Mayor Hopkins, and was informed by the corporation counsel that there was no Chinese-American treaty protecting queues.

Italy's Financial Retrenchment.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The Rome correspondent of the Central News says that the reforms projected by the Italian government with a view to financial retrench mentreduce the number of provinces in Italy from 69 to 23, reduce the number of tribunals from 180 to 69, abolish the courts of cassation in Palermo, Naples, Florence and Turin, convert twenty-three universities into private institutions and create State universities in Rome and Naples.

Three Weeks' Prayer for Rain.

NORFIELD, Minn., Aug. 10.—The religious bodies of this city and county, comprising Catholics, Methodists, Baptists and Congregationalists have been in constant session of prayer since July 15 for rain without success. Unless they bring rain by Sunday they will abandon the effort. In a section 100 miles square not a drop of rain has fallen since July 16 and then only an inch.

Immense Cave-in at the Hampton Mine.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 10.—The greatest mine cave-in that Scranton ever knew occurred yesterday at the diamond vein of the Hampton mine. Eight acres and 28 dwelling houses were affected, one or two of the dwellings being almost irreparably damaged. Two Poles who were in the mine when the slump occurred were entombed. The work of rescue was begun late last night.

Arrested the Whole Army.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Yesterday 40 special policemen from Baltimore swooped down on the Coxeyites encamped at Highlands, Md., about six miles from Washington and captured the entire army of the commonwealers. The officers left five of the 108 men in charge of the place with the warning that unless they vacated within three days they would be arrested.

Killed by Falling Walls.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Aug. 10.—A section of one of the interior walls of the new city hall now being erected on Montgomery street gave way yesterday under the weight of a scaffold and eight men who were working on it fell from the third floor to the ground. One was killed, one seriously hurt, and the other six escaped with slight contusions.

Gardiner Promises a Report.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—In the House of Commons Herbert Gardiner, president of the Board of Agriculture, promised to table the report of the commission appointed to inquire into the landing of Canadian cattle. This report contains the Government decision as to the restrictions upon the Canadian cattle trade with Great Britain.

Smugglers on Board the Britannic.

QUEENSTOWN, Aug. 10.—Several passengers who arrived here on the Britannic from New York were fined yesterday for attempting to smuggle tobacco into the country. They had hidden the tobacco in their pockets and baggage. One saloon passenger, whose clothes were almost lined with cigars, was fined £12.

SERPENTS ARE NOT NERVOUS

Strange Muscular Power Assists Them in Fascinating Their Victims.

The power of continuing motionless, with the lifted head projecting forward for an indefinite time, is one of the most wonderful of the serpent's muscular feats, says the Fortnightly Review, and is one of the highest importance to the animal, both when fascinating its victim and when mimicking some inanimate object, as, for instance, the stem and bud of an aquatic plant; here it is only referred to on account of the effect it produces on the human mind, as enhancing the serpent's strangeness. In this attitude, with the round, unwinking eyes fixed on the beholder's face, the effect may be very curious and uncanny. Ernest Glanville, a South African writer, thus describes his own experience. When a boy he frequently went out into the bush in quest of game, and on one of these solitary excursions he sat down to rest in the shade of a willow on the bank of a shallow stream; sitting there with cheek resting on his hand he fell into a boyish reverie. After some time he became aware in a vague way that on the white, sandy bottom of the stream there was stretched a long, black line, which had not been there at first. He continued for some time regarding it without recognizing what it was, but all at once, with an inward shock, became fully conscious that he was looking at a large snake.

"Presently, without apparent motion, so softly and silently was it done, the snake reared its head above the surface and held it there, erect and still, with gleaming eyes fixed on me in question of what I was. It flashed upon me then that it would be a good opportunity to test the power of the human eye on a snake, and I set myself the task of looking it down. It was a foolish effort. The bronze head and the sinewy neck, about which the water flowed without a ripple, were as if carved in stone, and the cruel, unwinking eyes, with the light coming and going in them, appeared to grow the brighter the longer I looked. Gradually there came over me a sensation of sickening fear, which, if I had yielded to it, would have left me powerless to move, but with a cry I leaped up and, seizing a fallen willow branch, attacked the reptile with a species of fury. Probably the idea of the Icanti originated in a similar experience of some native."

The Icanti, it must be explained, is a powerful and malignant being that takes the form of a great serpent and lies at night in some deep dark, pool and should a man incautiously approach and look down into the water he would be held there by the power of the great gleaming eyes and finally drawn down against his will, powerless and speechless, to disappear forever in the black depths.

Kept Right on at Work.

A labor difficulty was settled in Boston the other day without friction between the workmen and their employers, and after a fashion that was mutually satisfactory, says the New York Evening Post. The record of the affair might be studied with advantage in other cities by those who have to do with labor in any relation. A disagreement occurred between the bricklayers of the city and their employers on the old question of wages. The men, not waiving their demands, continued at work. There had been keen competition in the building trade for several months and, owing to the narrow margin on which the contractors had to do business, they did not think that they could pay the men more than thirty-five cents an hour. The men wanted forty-five cents, and the controversy was referred to a board representing both parties. The arbitrators could not come to an understanding, and the situation was ripe for a lockout or a strike. It was decided, however, to make another effort to reach a settlement. The whole matter was accordingly submitted by the arbitrators to William Lloyd Garrison as referee, whose decision it was agreed should be accepted. The referee fixed the wage rate at forty-five cents an hour, which the bricklayers are now receiving for their labor. Not a day's work had been lost by the men or the contractors, and no one in the community was any the worse off for the dispute between them.

HE'S ALL RIGHT.

Richard Harrison has Backache for Some Years—It was Due to Kidney Disease—No More Backaches Now.

HALL'S BRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 6.—Richard Harrison is well known here and everywhere highly respected. That he has been a sufferer for some years from backache and other kidney troubles was a well known fact, that gained much sympathy for him. Lately he has been moving around here as spry as a kitten and in the best of health. All his kidney troubles had disappeared, so he said, when questioned, and he further said that the cause of their disappearance was his having used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reputation of these pills as a specific in all kidney disorders is now firmly established in this part of Ontario.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose topay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

—"Peterborough is the latest jay town to institute a curfew bell."—Port Hope Times. Port Hope is spared the necessity of instituting a curfew bylaw; the quietude of its streets, day or night, being suggestive of the reposeful air of a cemetery. A town where it is customary to punish the children who display too much animal spirits by sending them into the streets, instead of into bed, as a form of solitary seclusion, certainly has no need of a curfew bylaw.

—A day or two ago a good Tory citizen and a good Grit citizen met on Water street, and were part of a crowd of twenty-five idlers watching fifteen men working on the foundation of the new business block to be built there. Said the good Tory citizen:

"What are they going to build here?"

"A business block, I believe," was the courteous answer of the good Grit.

"Well," replied the good Tory citizen, "they may if they like, but they won't have much use for it."

"Oh, yes, they will," said the good Grit citizen, "good times will come again—we won't have the blessed N. P. like the other poor with us alway."

The good Tory citizen said never a word but smiled a colicky smile, like a schoolmaster making believe he enjoys the bent pin the boy has put on his chair, and he went his way.

A SERIES OF POLITICAL RESOLUTIONS.

"At the last regular meeting of Peterborough Council, No. 97, R. T. of T., the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:—

RESOLVED:

1. That the principal object of those who agitated for a reduction of licenses in the town of Peterborough was to have those places cut off which exist only for the sale of liquor.

2. That the license commissioners in granting licenses to saloons appear to have been influenced by party considerations rather than by any thought of the public good, or any desire to meet the wishes of the temperance community.

3. That the members of this Council view with alarm the use which politicians are making of the liquor traffic to forward their own ends, and strongly urge that the control of the liquor licenses be removed from the arena of party politics.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to each of the town papers for publication."

These formidable resolutions in one sense perhaps deserve a little attention. As to the first paragraph, it is probable that the commissioners in carrying out, as they did do, the reduction bylaw of the council, consulted the interests of the public, and being responsible for their actions, exercised their functions in accordance with their best judgment. No doubt in deciding the licenses to be taken off they considered that those places which had a bad record for infraction of the license law and a habitual disregard of its provisions should not be retained and they were not retained.

In regard to the second paragraph it may be pointed out that therein the political animus that was evidently at the back of the resolutions crops out. In regard to one of these places designated as a saloon, that now conducted by T. Dunn, a little explanation may be cited to justify the course of the Commissioners in retaining this license. It is known by many, and doubtless by the political members or advisers of the Royal Templars of Temperance, that when Mr. Calanane held the license of the old Stewart House under lease, Mr. Cox desired to remove the building in order to erect thereon a fine block of buildings to serve, primarily, as offices for the Canadian Bank of Commerce. In order to provide for Mr. Calanane's rights under possession, as well as to provide means for making a permanent and important public improvement, a lease of five years was granted to Mr. Callanane by Mr. Stevenson, of the present premises occupied by T. Dunn. In view of the fact that tenant of this property waived his rights as to the possession of the Stewart House property, in consideration of securing the other lease, it was doubtless thought by the commissioners that it would not be fair to deprive a tenant of the benefit of a lease secured under circumstances, which permits of the erection of the splendid block of buildings now under construction on the corner of Water and Hunter streets and also of the fine business block in course of building on Water street, neither of which would have been under way of construction, if the tenant of the property had stood on his rights. As to the political aspect of the question of licenses to those places described as "saloons." This part of the resolution is merely the echo of the party tunes that have been whistled the last few weeks by the local Conservative organ. These places are not saloons but in the language of the act "hotels without accommodation." They do not exist solely for the sale of liquor. They have well equipped dining rooms in connection and are of great convenience to the public, apart entirely from their bar business. Besides these places which the political advisers of the Templars practically denounce, are well-conducted, law-abiding places and when it is sought to make the public believe that these places should have been deprived of licenses, instead of the places which were cut off, which had an evil record for breach of the law, especially the Sunday provision, an attempt is made to deceive the public and to convey the impression that the presence of hotel accommodations lessens the evils of drinking in places which habitually defy the law, enacted in the interest of public morals.

The third paragraph of the resolutions is amusing, coming from the source it does. Who will believe that the political members of the Royal Templars or their political advisers, felt the least degree of "alarm!" They accuse politicians of using the liquor traffic to forward their own ends. What was the course of these highly moral and virtuous gentlemen during the recent elections? In spite of the fact that Sir Oliver Mowat had given a straight and square promise in reference to prohibitory legislation, these men were found fighting for and voting for Mr. Winch, the bitter opponent of a Premier who had promised prohibition and a gentleman whose interest and good faith in promoting prohibition and temperance were shown by his controlling three hotel properties. If, as these Pharisaical purists claim, it is wrong to make the liquor traffic serve political ends for which we have no proof beyond the partizan assertions of ward politicians, what shall be said of these gentlemen, who used the sacred name of temperance to serve the self-seeking ends of designing Tory politicians, and who delude innocent women, carried away by their zeal for a good cause and their misplaced confidence in blind leaders of the blind, into voting clap-trap resolutions The sooner the temperance cause casts off, as moral excrescences, those who seek to drag it through the mire of ward politics, the better for its interests.

While the Tories, who foisted their influence and advice upon the Royal Templars in the interests of their party, were at it they might just as well have passed a resolution condemning the town council for appointing nothing but Tories to town offices. What claim has Mr. Montgomery to the office to which he was recently appointed except the fact of his being a Tory? Is it not a singular—or rather plural—circumstance that all the recently appointed town officials are Tories. Police Constable Adams and Stewart, Street Inspector Pope, Town Clerk Armstrong, Chief Rutherford and so on through the whole list? It is a crime for a Grit to hold an office or a license and if the license system could have been worked to elect a Tory candidate to the Local Legislature the Tories would have gladly done so, as they did everything they possibly could do. The honest temperance men will find that the commissioners will discharge their duty faithfully and satisfactorily and that only disgruntled and interested political temperance parasites will find any cause for complaint.

SPRIGHTLY SUMMER SPORTS.

On the Lacrosse Field, the Crease and the Diamond—Triple A. Topics—The Bicycle and Football.

LACROSSE.

The Granites of Peterborough added another to a list of their victories yesterday in defeating the junior Millbrooks on the P.A.A.A. grounds by three straight games. About 250 spectators witnessed the game, including a fair sprinkling of ladies, and a very good exhibition of the game it was, both teams playing excellent lacrosse. They were evenly matched. Following is the names of the teams:

| MILLBROOK. | | GRANITES. |
|---|---|---|
| Hanley | goal | Poussette |
| Holman | point | Sawer |
| Irwin | cover point | Knapp |
| Cochrane | defence field. | Green |
| Duncan | | Stinson |
| Kell- | | |
| Melville | centre | Savigny |
| Scott | home field | Galley |
| | | Sawer |
| Armstrong | | Lang |
| Leech | outside home | Belleghem |
| Clarry | inside home | Lannin |
| C Leech | field captain | W Galley |
| Nattrass | goal Umpire | W Nesbitt |

Referee—L. King.

At the face off for the first game Savigny secured the ball and carried it towards the Millbrook's flags, where it hovered for a time, being sent up the field to the Granites' territory by Duncan, the clever Millbrook player. It was quickly returned again, and after some clever playing by Win. Sawer, Lang, Belleghem and Lannin, the first game was taken by Sawer in 10 minutes.

The ball was quickly faced for the second game and immediately travelled in the direction of the visitors' goal. It was sent up the field again, and some splendid playing was executed by Walter Sawer, Knapp, Green and Stinson. The ball was sent again into Millbrook's territory, where it remained a short time, and after two minutes play Sawer from point ran down to goal and scored

In the third game Savigny carried the ball to the visitors' flags, where it remained during the rest of the game, the splendid defence and goal keeper of the Millbrooks doing all the work, some very pretty pass work being done by Savigny and Galley. Holman and Duncan of the visitors were doing fine work, and Poussette, the Granite's goal-keeper, was a regular star. Shots rained thick and fast upon the Millbrook's goal, both teams playing fast lacrosse, and after 20 minutes play Sawer scored again.

The ball was again faced and was kept at their goal for about 20 minutes, when time was called, neither team having scored in that time.

The Millbrooks are gentlemanly lacrosse players and know how to conduct themselves on the field.

Every member of the Granites put up a star game yesterday and the Sawer brothers seemed to have a monopoly of the games scored.

A pleasant feature of the game was the good feeling which existed among the players on the field.

The Millbrooks play clean lacrosse, but the superior combination work of the Granites told against them.

It is now practically settled that Peterborough and Port Hope will have to play off the draw at an early date, and it behooves every member of the Peterborough's to turn out to practice in the evening and put every effort forth to win the match. Peterborough team if they go into the fight, after a few nights of combined team practice, will certainly win, and the chances of their not only winning this coming game, but also the championship of the district are exceedingly bright. Practice makes perfect, boys, so turn out and be prepared for the coming struggle. The date is not yet announced, but it will not do to wait for it.

The Peterboroughs have completed arrangements with the Talagoos of Newmarket for a match here on Thursday next, Civic Holiday. The match will be played on the Driving Park in the morning of the 10th. The members of the Talagoos are first-class players and a good a good match will be witnessed.

The senior Peterboroughs are endeavouring to make arrangements for a game with a first-class team here on Monday and it is likely a game will be arranged.

Beaverton and Orillia play on Wednesday,, Aug. 15th.

SPRINTING.

A good number witnessed the matched foot race, yesterday afternoon, on the Driving Park, between Messrs. L. LeBar and George Patterson, town. The race resulted in LeBar winning it in three straight heats. The first heat was a close one, but the other two were won easily by LeBar.

Mr. L. LeBar wishes it stated that if Mr. Geo. Patterson is dissatisfied with yesterday's race he is willing to run him again at any time for any sum between twenty and a hundred dollars.

THE WHEEL.

There will be a bicycle meet in Peterborough on Thursday, the 16th. We understand our leading Millbrook bicyclists intend taking it in.—Reporter.

The Civic Holiday celebration committee, Mr. G. J. Horkins, secretary, have everything completed for the celebration on that day. A large number of bicyclists from all over the province, some of them being men with records, are expected to be here on that day and the races will be well worth seeing. It is expected that one or two bicycle bands will be present to compete for a prize.

BASEBALL.

The Guelph Mercury in its report of the match at Port Hope between the Maple Leaf of that city and the Port Hope team says: "The Leafs did not get very good treatment at Port Hope, and went on to Bowmanville in the evening right after the match."

THE GUN.

The following is the result of the shoot on Riverside Park yesterday by members of the Gun Club:

ALL WISE HEADS agree that the use of a liver pill after dinner, or to accomplish special results, is an important step in civilization. An active liver prevents impurities and poisons from entering the blood. "Pleasant Pellets" have a tonic effect upon the liver and the general system. The Universal Charm.

A lot of young women were discussing, on the piazza of the summer hotel, one of the gentleman guests of the same.

"His manners are perfect," ventured one.

"He's rather too independent, I think," came a dissenting opinion; "but he has fascinating eyes."

"They would be much more so if they were brown instead of blue," dissented another, "but his figure is splendid."

"Don't you think he is a shade too stumpy?" asked another dissenter, "I don't like stumpy men; I do think, though, that his teeth are very fine."

"Most too small for a man's teeth," opposed a girl with a big mouth; "but he has a nose that a Greek god might envy."

"Greek enough," dissented another, "but it lacks character. He would have a stronger face if his nose were more Roman. His hair is his most attractive feature, I think, and he can let it wave about his white forehead beautifully."

"Huh," sniffed another objector, "and he's so conceited about it, I do like his forehead, though."

"Altogether too low," objected an intellectual dissenter. "Don't you think he has a fine chin?"

"On the contrary, it's coarse," antagonized a sweet voiced maiden, "and that kind of a chin means tyranny, if the man has a wife who is at all yielding. His hands have always pleased me by their shapeliness."

"Too much like a woman's," objected a masculine looking maid. "I think—"

"What I like about him most," interrupted a stately beauty, "is his million dollars."

"Isn't it perfectly lovely?" assented every girl in the group with enthusiastic unanimity.

The Umbrella Told Their Secret.

A young couple were stopping at one of Detroit's leading hotels, and trying to pass off for people who had been married for years. He had even read the morning paper at the breakfast table, and when she addressed him, had said in a brutal, manly way: "Haven't I asked you not to disturb me when I am reading."

But she came very near betraying herself when she asked him if he ate sugar on his sliced tomatoes. However, he carried it off very well, for the waiters and guests at that table all heard his answer.

"Did you ever know me in all the years we have been married to eat sugar on my tomatoes?" he asked brazenly.

She giggled, but turned it off with a sneeze, but not before she had seen one waiter wink at another, as if he knew more than he cared to tell.

The climax came later. They went out together with the eyes of bellboys, hall porters and clerks fixed upon them. There was a shower coming up, and she was struggling to open a new umbrella.

"Here," he said brusquely, in his role of old married man, "let me open it." He gave a mighty wrench and it flew up. At the same time a shower of rice descended from the inside of the umbrella, and covered them with its telltale particles.

"Bride and groom," commented the crowd, as the crestfallen pair hurried off, denoting their friends who had thus conspired to betray them.

YOUNG LAMONT'S CASE.

Neighbors Much Interested in the Story. Everyone Thought the Youngster Would Die but he's Very Much Alive Now.

DUNDALK, July 30.—Hugh Lamont, of McIntyre, has a young son who is an object of interest throughout this whole section of country. From infancy the boy had dropsy, and was bloated and swollen all over. It seemed to the parents that death could be the only release to one attacked so young by this disease. They heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and began giving them to the child. With the first box, the bloating and swelling began to disappear. Six boxes effected a perfect cure and the boy is now just as healthy a youngster as stirs up the dust on the high roads of Western Ontario.

I was attacked severely last winter with Diarrhœa, Cramps, and Colic and thought I was going to die, but fortunately I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and now I thank this excellent remedy for saving my life.

TURKISH LADIES.

They Get More Enjoyment Out of Life Than They are Credited With.

Nor let the maidens and matrons of the West entertain too much the old ideas about their sisters in Mohammedan countries. There was always a considerable degree of error in the views commonly held about the position of women in the East. People even went so far as to affirm that the Koran, and Mohammedan opinion after it, denied to women the possession of souls. Nothing could be a greater blunder; the Paradise of Islam is open to one sex as widely as the other. Among the four perfect women in heaven the prophet names his own wife, and the institutions of his law are just and tender to a degree towards females.

If a well-informed person were called upon to name the country in which womankind has her rights most clearly defined and most jealously guarded—the country where, taking all in all, women are most happy, most safe and best contented—he would name Turkey. If such a selection startled his questioner, he would quote from the Mohammedan Civil Law precept after precept, not only favorable to women, but in the highest degree protective of them and equitable to all their claims. Nominally, no doubt, polygamy prevails, but practically it is rare.

Divorce, again, is largely allowed by the rules of the Koran, but as a matter of fact it is not so common as with us and the Americans; and it is with the utmost reluctance, because of the opinion of his neighbors, that a respectable Muslim resorts to such a step. Among many characteristic precepts is that which enacts that, if a divorced woman bears a child soon after the divorce, the husband must maintain it and her for two whole years.

Nor as regards social privileges have Turkish women any particular reason nowadays to envy their western sisters. In the middle and lower classes they pass in complete freedom about the towns and cities, preserving only their incognito with the "yashmak," or face veil. In the upper circles this relic of the past and badge of respectability has been refined from a thick mask into the lightest and flimsiest muslin, very feebly concealing the fair features which often accompany the invariably brilliant eyes. A Turkish lady of the present time does not indeed ride a bicycle in knickerbockers nor read the novels of the modern woman, nor hunt, nor openly flirt; but she comes and goes almost as she pleases, she plays at ball by the "Sweet Waters," shops in the bazaar, reads, writes, embroiders, plays and sings, and, above all, cooks skilfully. She does not possess nor wish for some of the liberties of the western women, which she would call "license."

But better wives and mothers are nowhere to be found than in some of the modern Mohammedan homes, which often enjoy in their placid and established refinement a peace and dignity unknown to the restless life of Europe.

Zebras Broken to Harness.

A zebra driven in London would create an excitement, but there is no reason why this animal should not make its appearance; neatly harnessed in brown, and drawing a smart cart, it would not look unsightly. That these animals are now used in Africa is well known, and in a recent issue of the Field someone in South Africa advertises teams of fine zebras broken to harness. —London Court Journal.

THE HILLS VENDETTA.

GUNS WERE THROWN ASIDE FOR A BATTLE WITH THE FISTS.

The Last of the Lewallens and of the Stetsons Come Together in a Mighty Mill Upon the Edge of a Cliff—A Hidden Friend Prevents Treachery.

The story of "A Cumberland Vendetta" which John Fox, jr., has written for the Century Magazine, and which has attracted general attention from the press of the country, is brought to a conclusion in the August number. One of the most dramatic incidents in the entire story is the following account of the ending of a family feud, which had been waged with great bitterness for years:

Very quietly Rome crawled back to the face of the cliff behind him, and cronched behind a rock with his cocked rifle across his knees. The man must climb over the ledge; there would be a bare, level floor of rock between them—the Lewallen would be at his mercy—and Rome, with straining ears, waited. There was a footfall on the other side of the ledge; a soft clink of metal against stone. The Lewallen was climbing slowly—slowly. Rome could hear his heavy breathing. A grimy hand slipped over the sharp comb of the ledge; another appeared, clinched about a Winchester—then the slouched hat, and under it the dark, crafty face of young Jasper. Rome sat like the stone before him with a half smile on his lips. Jasper peered about with the sly caution of a fox, and his face grew puzzled and chagrined as he looked at the cliffs above him.

"Stop thar!"

He was drawing himself over the ledge, and the low, stern voice startled him, as a knife might have done, thrust suddenly from the empty air at his breast. Rome rose upright against the cliff, with his resolute face against the stock of a Winchester.

"Drap thet gun!"

The order was given along Stetson's barrel, and the weapon was dropped, the steel ringing on the stone floor. Rome lowered his gun to the hollow of his arm and the two young leaders faced each other for the first time in the life of either.

"Seem kinder s'prised to see me," said the Stetson, grimly. "Hev ye got a pistol?"

Young Jasper glared at him in helpless ferocity.

"Naw!"

"Knife?"

He drew a long-bladed penknife from his pocket and tossed it at Rome's feet.

"Move over thar!"

The Lewallen took his stand against the cliff. Rome picked up the fallen rifle and leaned it against the ledge.

"Now, Jas Lewallen, thar's nobody left in this leetle trouble 'cept you'n me, an' ef one of us was dead I reckon t' other could live hyar, 'n' thar'd be peace in the mount'ins. I thought o' that when I hed ye at the eend o' this Winchester. I reckon you would a' shot me dead ef I had poked my head over a rock as keerless as you." That is just what he would have done, and Jasper did not answer. "I've swore to kill ye, too," added Rome, tapping his gun; "I've got a cross fer ye hyar."

The Lewallen was no coward. Outcry or resistance was useless. The Stetson meant to taunt him, to make death more bitter; for Jesper expected death, and he sullenly waited for it against the cliff.

"You 've been a-banterin' me a long time now, 'lowin' as how ye air the better man o' the two: 'n' I've got a notion o' givin' ye a chance to prove yer tall talk. Hit 's not our way to kill a man in cold blood, 'n' I don't want to kill ye anyways ef I kin he'p it. Seem s'prised ag'in? Reckon ye don't believe me? I don't wonder when I think o' my own dad, 'n' all the meanness yer folks have done mine; but I've got a good reason fer not killin' ye—ef I kin h'p it. Ye don't know what it is, 'n' ye'll never know; but I'll give ye a chance now for yer life ef ye'll swar on a stack o' Bibles as high as thet tree thar thet ye'll leave these mount'ins ef I whoops ye, 'n' never come back ag'in as long as ye live. I'll leave ef ye whoops me. Now, what do ye say? Will ye swar?"

"I reckon I will, seein' as I've got to," was the surly answer.

* * * * * * *

The two sprang for each other. It was like the struggle of primeval men who had not yet learned even the use of clubs. For an instant both stood close like two wild beasts, crouched for a spring, and circling about to get at each other's throats, with mouths set, eyes watching eyes, and hands twitching nervously. Young Jasper leaped first, and the Stetson, warp of closing with him, shrank back. There were a few quick heavy blows, and the Lewallen was beaten away with blood at his lips. Then each knew the advantage of the other. The Stetson's reach was longer; the Lewallen was shorter and heavier, and again he closed in. Again Rome sent out his long arm. A turn of Jasper's head let the heavy fist pass over his shoulder. The force of the blow drove Rome forward: the two clinched and Jasper's arms tightened about the Stetson's waist. With a quick gasp for breath, Rome loosed his hold, and, bending his enemy's head back with one hand, rained blow after blow in his face with the other. One terrible stroke on the jaw, and Jasper's arms were loosed; the two fell apart, the one stunned, the other breathless. One dazed moment only, and for a third time the Lewallen came on.

Rome had been fighting a man; now he faced a demon. Jasper's brows stood out like bristles and the eyes under them were red and fierce, like a mad bull's. Again Rome's blows fell, but again the Lewallen reached him, and this time he got his under the Stetson's chin, and the heavy fist fell upon the back of his head and upon his neck, as upon wood and leather. Again Rome had to gasp for breath, and again the two were fiercely locked—their corded arms as tense as serpents. Around and around they whirled, straining, tripping, breaking the silence only with deep, quick breaths, and the stamping of feet, Jasper firm on the rock, and Rome's agility saving him from being lifted in the air and tossed from the cliff. There was no pause for rest. It was a struggle to the end, and a quick one; and under stress of excitement the figure at the pine tree had risen to his knees—jumping even to his feet in plain view, when the short powerful arms of the Lewallen began at last to draw the Stetson closer still, and to bend him backward. The Stetson was giving away at last. The Lewallen's vindictive face grew blacker, and his white teeth showed between his snarling lips, as he fastened one leg behind his enemy's, and, with chin against his shoulder, bent him slowly, slowly back. The two breathed in short, painful gasps: their swollen muscles trembled under the strain as with ague. Back—back—the Stetson was falling; he seemed almost down, when—the trick is an old one—whirling with the quickness of light, he fell heavily upon his opponent, and caught him by the throat with both hands.

"'Nough?" he asked hoarsely. It was the first word uttered.

The only answer was a fierce struggle. Rome felt the Lewallen's teeth sinking in his arms and his fingers tightened like twisting steel, till Jaspar caught his breath as though strangling to death.

"'Nough?" asked the hoarse voice again.

No answer; tighter clinched the fingers. The Lewallen shook his head feebly; his purple face paled suddenly as Rome loosed his hold, and his lips moved in a whisper:

"'Nough!"

Rome rose dizzily to one knee. Jasper turned, gasping, and lay with his face to the rock. For a while both were quiet, Rome panting with open month, and white with exhaustion, looking down now and then at the Lewallen, whose face was turned away with shame.

* * * * * *

"Oh!——"

A wild curse burst from Rome's lips, and both leaped for the guns. The Lewallen had the start of a few feet, and Rome, lamed in the fight, stumbled and fell. Before he could rise Jasper had whirled with one of the Winchesters above his head, and his face aflame with fury. Asking no mercy, Rome hid his face with one arm, and waited stricken faint all at once, and numb. One report struck his ears, unfiled, whiplike. A dull wonder came to him that Lewallen could have missed at such close range, and he waited for another. Someone shouted a shrill halloo. A loud laugh followed; a light seemed breaking before Rome's eyes, and he lifted his head. Jasper was on his face again, motionless: and Steve Marcum's tall figure was climbing over a boulder.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER
Rejoice Together.

Nine Year Old Maggie McRitchie, a Victim of Chronic Fainting Spells and Nervous Weakness, Completely Cured by South American Nervine After all Other Efforts had failed. The Mother, a Sufferer From Nervous Prostration and Indigestion, Likewise Cured. Hear What the Thankful Father Has to Say.

MRS. JAMES McRITCHIE AND DAUGHTER.

A leading local physician, whose profession takes him among the children of the various public institutions, remarked to the writer, that one would hardly believe that so many children were affected by nervous troubles, which sap the system and prevent proper development. In many cases the doctors are powerless to cure these troubles. They can relieve the suffering little ones, but in South American Nervine we have a medicine that does more than simply give relief. Its peculiar strength is that it completely cures where physicians relieve. A case in point came to us the 24th ult., in a letter from Mr. James W. McRitchie of Bothwell, Ont. He says:—"My daughter Maggie, aged 9 years, was afflicted with nervous fainting spells for over a year, which left her in such a condition of weakness afterwards that the child was practically an invalid. We tried several remedies and doctored with her in one way and another, but nothing gave relief. Seeing South American Nervine advertised, as particularly efficacious in nervous diseases, I decided on trying it for her, and I must say that I noticed a decided change in my daughter for the better after she had taken only a few doses. As a result of using this medicine, she is now entirely free from those fainting spells and possessed of that life and brightness that is the happy lot of childhood. I am satisfied it is an excellent medicine for any nervous weakness. My experience has been further supplemented in the fact that my wife has also been using South American Nervine for indigestion, dyspepsia and nervous prostration, and has found very great relief."

Whether the patient be man or woman, young or old, South American Nervine provides a complete medium for restoration to health. It is a medicine differing absolutely from every other. A cure is effected by application to the nerve centres of the human system, and science has proved that when these nerve centres are kept healthy the whole body is healthy. For these reasons failure is impossible.

The Mud Bath Treatment.

There is nothing particularly enticing in the sound of "mud baths," and those who have tried them at Homburg and other places find them not agreeable as experiences, however efficacious they may be as a treatment. At most spas the process is simply that of pouring mud into one's bath, but at some Italian baths to which the fashionably sick are turning, a traveler who has taken them finds that they are quite different. The mud, in a very hot and almost dry form, much of the consistency of brick clay, is applied locally to those parts of the body which are affected. The patient lies on a straw bed, on which is placed a sheet. The attendant having ascertained the suffering parts daubs them to the thickness of several inches with the mud. The invalid, covered with a hot sheet or blankets, lies for half an hour, perspiring freely, then gets into a hot sulphur bath, is thoroughly cleansed, rubbed dry, and returns to a bed artificially warmed, where the perspiration continues for an hour or so longer. This treatment is repeated almost every morning for about twenty days, and is of great value in all manifestations of rheumatism. The mud is dug out of a mountain a few miles from the spa, and brought to the establishment and allowed to soak for several years in tanks of boiling sulphur water until required for use.

An Efficient Stove.

An inventor in Mexico has patented a heating stove that has an equally strong draft with any chimney and which will heat a large room in five minutes with very little fuel. In fact he guarantees that one of his stoves will save half the fuel of a family, and two neighbors may pool their interests, buy two stoves and save all their fuel.

The Raw, Cutting Winds

Bring to the surface every latent pain. A change of even a few degrees marks the difference between comfort and pain to many persons. Happily disease now holds less sway. Science is continually bringing forward new remedies which successfully combat disease. Polson's Nerviline—nerve pain cure—has proved the most successful pain relieving remedy known. Its application is wide, for it is equally efficient in all forms of pain whether internal or external. 25 cents a bottle, at druggists.

CHEMONG PARK AND BRIDGENORTH ITEMS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Wm. Mann, who got so badly burnt about the head, neck and hands at the fire at Mr. Kelly's mill, is gradually improving although he looks as if he had suffered a very close call.

Mr. Trambly, who recently started a boot and shoe and harness business in the village, is already doing a good trade, and keeps quite a large and well selected stock.

As your correspondent has been out in the country for a few days, and some distance from the park, it has been impossible to send you news from this place of interest until to day. I found things very lively, and a pleasanter and happier lot of guests could not be found, eyeryone speaking glowingly of the park and of the very hospitable manner in which they are treated at the hotel.

Mr. Lazier, of Belleville, who in company with Mrs. Lazier are on a driving tour through Ontario, and only proposed remaining one night, but who have now been here a week, are so pleased with the place, that they will now remain another week, and have a friend join them here tomorrow. Mr. Lazier graces the park and the vicinity daily with his superb turnout.

The last three nights the ball room has been kept ablaze with fancy lights, and young ladies and their escorts, passing from 8 to 10.30 p.m. only, tripping the light fantastic toe, and some delightful dances there are. Your correspondent was kindly invited, but being a little too bashful he contented himself looking on, but will try to practice some of the dances when alone, or let some more experienced person take his place.

The latest arrivals registered at the hotel are: C. E. Love, wife and child, Elmira, N.Y.; W. James and wife, and Miss Mary James, Syracuse, N. Y.; J. C. Smith, A. Mann, W. L. Allen, R. S. Donaldson, E. McGill, Peterborough; R. Mitchell and wife, Port Hope; Mrs. W. Moore, nurse and two children, Ottawa; J. P. Vincent, Mrs. J. A. Raymond, New York; J. H. Stauris, R. Williamson, A. F. Clubb, D. Murchison, W. Proctor, G. S. McCurdy and wife, G. A. Smith, Toronto; James Pringle, Fred Pringle, and W. J. Hopwood, wife and two sons, Toronto. In fact the house is well filled and can proudly speak of a large and profitable season, and no appearance of it letting up, as daily letters are to hand to secure rooms. Quite a party is yet to arrive from Rochester, so Chemong Park hotel is daily growing in public favour, as it is well deserving of. It is quiet, comfortable, every convenience, with an excellent menu. No one in the hotel considers anything a trouble to make guests comfortable.

Mr. Fuller, who with his family, is at the hotel, has been in Stratford for a few days, but arrived back to-night and a right warm welcome was given him, showing the high esteem he is held in by all the guests and park residents.

Fishing still keeps up good, a party of three securing yesterday afternoon five maskinonge, weighing 47 pounds, and nine bass that were beauties.

Mr. Ryott spent Sunday last in Toronto.

The steamer Idle Hour which has been overhauled and made not only a perfect safety boat and one of comfort, and for speed she can make any steamer busy to keep in her tracks, took a select and jolly party to Buckhorn and back yesterday and another one to-day to Jacob's Island and return. That of to-day consisted of Mr. and Mrs. McNeil, Master W. McNeil, Miss Hazel McNeil, Mr. W. Croft, Mr. and Mrs. Love, Messrs. Clubb, Murchison, Williamson, Staines, Proctor, of Toronto, Miss Susie Kelly, Master Kelly, and others whose names I did not get. The say it was the pleasantest boat ride of the season. Anyone wanting a good sail just take one on the Idle Hour.

The largest excursion ever yet at the park is expected to be here Wednesday next, 15th, when cheap rates from every point between Peterborough and Cannington will be issued and a first-class brass accompany the party.

Judge Hoyt, a general favourite at the hotel, was suddenly called home Tuesday, but will return later in the season.

ODDFELLOWS' GRAND LODGE.

In Session at Kingston—Grand Master's And Secretary's Report—Gratifying Progress.

The Grand Lodge of Oddfellows', of Canada, began its annual session in Kingston, on Wednesday. After a public parade of the Grand officers and delegates, they assembled in the City Hall, which was profusely decorated, and addresses of welcome were given by Mayor Herald, on behalf of the citizens, and Bro. Meek, D. D. G. M., on behalf of the local Oddfellows. Grand Master Oliver, in replying, referred to the progress of the Order. He said there were now 263 lodges, with about 22,000 members. The association had distributed $376,0[illegible] of benefits among the widows and orphans and dependent relatives of deceased members.

GRAND MASTER'S REPORT.

The Grand Master's report was a very full and exhaustive commentary on the doings of of the year. It opened with an expression of thankfulness for the success achieved during the year, and went on to state that no time in its history had the Order been in a more satisfactory condition than now.

The Grand Master requested that charters be granted to new lodges at MacLaren's Depot, Bobcaygeon, Plattsville, Aultsville, Dickenson's Landing, Crompton, Mooretown, Harrowsmith, Princeton, Millbrook, Harrow and Sheddon.

Rebekah Lodges have been instituted at East Toronto, Cumming's Bridge, Brockville, Wingham, Amherstburg, Toronto and Paris, all with good prospects.

The necessity of subordinate lodges having a guarantee bond from their treasurers was urged upon the delegates.

The Relief Association was reported to have had a very prosperous year, and to have accumulated a reserve fund of $71,000.

Among the various questions submitted to the G.M., the following decisions had been rendered:

That a lodge cannot purchase a tract of land to be used as a cemetery, and to be surveyed and sold in burial plots.

A lodge cannot pay a bonus for bringing in members.

It is not legal for a lodge to pay a benefit to a brother on the death of his wife.

Lodges cannot pass resolutions in favour of prohibition.

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Grand Secretary King's report stated that twenty years ago the Grand Lodge met in Kingston, and it contrasted the condition of Oddfellowship then with the present. Then the Relief Association was scarcely an experiment—now an association second to none under the jurisdiction of Oddfellowship. The value of this association in the upbuilding of the order in Canada cannot be too highly appreciated or over-estimated. The work of the association should be encouraged in every possible manner by the Grand Lodge. Then 115 lodges in the Province, having 8,578 members; now 263 lodges, with nearly 22,000 members, while the assets of the lodges have increased from $123,736 to over $825,000. Surely such prosperity could be attained by a purely benevolent society in so short time, only by its inherent worth.

The history of the past was full of lessons for the future, which, if heeded as they should be, will make Oddfellowship what it is the hope of every Oddfellow it will be—the greatest benevolent society of the age.

O[illegible] Rebekah, Bro. King reported:—The past half year has been one of great activity among the fair Rebekahs. The membership has increased from 1,786 in December, 1893, to 2,048 on the 30th June, 1894. I cannot give more full statistics of the work of the half year owing to the fact that some of the returns were so late in coming in.

The membership of the order on Dec. 31st, 1893, was 20,556, of which 1,101 had been added during the year. The total amount paid out in sick benefits to widows and orphans, etc., was $75,176.75, or an average of $205.30 per day.

Funds and how invested—Cash in bank and in Treasurer's hands, $203,834.21; invested in mortgages and securities, $188,228.91; invested in buildings, land, etc., $251,806; invested in furniture, regalia, etc., $169,571.22; total, $813,530.34.

Funds—General benefit fund, $693,058.20; widows' and orphans' fund, $113,232.03; contingent fund, $7,240.11; total, $813,530.34.

Grand Treasurer Wm. Badenach's report showed the year's receipts to July 21 last to be $23,020. Of this there remains a balance in hand of $9,97[illegible] The balance on hand at the commencement of the year just expired was $10,496.

ODDFELLOWS' RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

The twentieth annual meeting of the Oddfellows' Relief Association of Canada was held last evening. There was a larger attendance of members than at any previous time since the association was started. Chairman T. Donnelly referred to the prosperous condition of the association, and stated there were now 7,302 members. He pointed out the extraordinary growth of the reserve fund. In 1890 the fund was over $9,000; 1891, over $12,000; 1892, $25,000; 1893, $40,000; 1894, $70,000. The report of the directors showed that last year 1,279 applications were received and of these 39 were rejected. There was distributed last year among the beneficiaries of deceased members $58,500, and the total expenditure from the mortuary fund since the organization of the association has been $376,000. The new insurance represented by the certificates issued last year was $1,122,500, which, added to the amount reported on June 30, 1893, makes a total of $10,047,500. The reserve fund is gradually increasing and is now $70,000, the sum of $28,532.93 having been added thereto since the last meeting of the association. The surplus of assets over liabilities of every kind, added to the reserve, makes the total amount to the credit of the association on June 30, 1894, $71,174.95.

The Secretary, R. Meek, reported that the membership of the association, on June 30, 1893, was 6,483. Total membership on June 30, 1894, 7,322. Total insurance in force on June 30, 1894, $10,047,500. Net amount of assessment on June 30, 1894, $15,057,048.

The question of amalgamation of the Oddfellows' Insurance Association of British Columbia with the Oddfellows' Relief Association of Canada, was discussed at length, and it was decided that the amalgamation of the associations would not be a wise proceeding at the present time. The consideration of the matter was deferred for a year.

It was decided that the directors continue negotiations for the reception, on equitable terms, of the members of the Insurance Association, of British Columbia, as members of the Oddfellows' Relief Association.

HERBERT'S RETIREMENT.

The General Has No Information About the Proposed Changes.

OTTAWA, Aug. 10.—On being interviewed to-day Major General Herbert stated that he had no information about the matter of his retiring to go to England than what was said in the newspapers. The Journal says: "Gen. Herbert is not unpopular. Canadians respect him as sincere and able and desirous of improving our militia system, but some Canadians, possibly a majority, think that the General as a regular soldier may not have made enough allowance in some matters for the special conditions of a volunteer militia. That, if a fault, is a fault that time will remedy, and it is not a fault that interferes with Canadian appreciation of General Herbert's soldierly ability."

Millionaire Lumber King J. R. Booth, who controls most of the water power at the Chaudiere, has definitely decided not to rebuild his recently destroyed mills. The loss of such an extensive industry will be seriously felt in Ottawa. Next to the civil service it was the life of the capital.

A TORONTO PRIEST'S DEATH.

He Was Found Penniless and Mentally Deranged Near Kane, Pa.

BRADFORD, Pa., Aug. 10.—A strange priest, giving his name as Rev. M. Fell, of Toronto, was found near Kane, Pa., last evening very ill and deranged mentally. While being taken to the hospital he died. A letter from Archbishop Walsh, of Toronto, disclosed the man's identity.

The doctors gave the cause of death as Bright's disease and apoplexy. He was around Bradford hotels the last week and gave his name as Rev. Michael Fitzgerald. It is alleged that he was driven to Tally-Ho, a small town near Kane, from Bradford last Wednesday. It is also alleged he had $400 or $500 in his pocket while at Bradford. When at Tally-Ho he was penniless and did not appear to know anyone in the village.

Archbishop Walsh has been communicated with, but as yet no reply has been received. It is said the man has friends at Niagara Falls and Buffalo. The authorities are investigating the matter.

The Premier at a Muskoka Picnic.

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 10.—The picnic held here yesterday under the auspices of Father McGuire, priest of Bracebridge parish, was a great success. Large crowds came from as far north as North Bay and as far south as Barrie. An additional interest was lent to the occasion by the presence of Sir John Thompson, His Honor the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario and Senator Sanford. Sir John was called upon to address the gathering, and although announcing his determination not to make a speech, spoke at considerable length upon general topics, although avoiding any reference to matters of political controversy. The Lieut.-Governor also addressed the assemblage and complimented them on the good feeling which evidently prevailed amongst all religious classes.

Oddfellows' Officers Elected.

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 10.—At the grand lodge of Oddfellows yesterday the report of the committee on elections showed the following result: Grand Master, W. H. Hoyle of Cannington; Deputy Grand Master, T. Woodyatt, Brantford; Grand Secretary, J. B. King, Toronto; Grand Treasurer, W. Badenach; Grand Warden, H. White, Port Hope. The report of the committee was adopted and the Grand Lodge proceeded to ballot for the Grand Representatives, the subordinate lodge vote being ineffective. The vote was by ballot and consumed a considerable time. John Darragh was the first to receive the necessary number of votes and was declared elected amid applause.

Election Protests.

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—There were no election protests filed yesterday, but one or two more are to be put in yet. Major Hiscott's seat in Lincoln will be attacked by the Liberals and so will that held by Mr. Savage in West Algoma. The time for protesting the latter does not expire for over a week yet, but before that time the petition will be filed. James Conmee will claim the seat. It will be alleged that had the ballots been properly counted Conmee would have had a majority. In North Ontario Lawyer T. W. Chapple will have to fight for his Liberal seat. None of the protests on either side have been allowed to lapse yet save that against Gurd in West Lambton.

A Fishing Schooner Wrecked.

HALIFAX, Aug. 10.—The Glocester fishing schooner Wm. H Foye, is a total loss at Magdalen Islands. She went ashore, while rounding Amherst Island, looking for bait. Approaching Amherst Island they saw another schooner close into the bar and thought there was safe water in the vicinity. The other schooner was really ashore, but gave no warning to the Foye. The latter continued on and struck a sand bar. She soon began to fill and the crew had time only to save themselves.

Cured at the Shrine of St. Anne.

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—Dr. L. D. Mirault, physician, Hotel Dieu, certifies to the miraculous cure of Sister Marie Chapleau, at the Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre. The sister had been suffering for a long time from a malady which deprived her of the use of her left leg and obliged her to use a wooden leg and a crutch. Dr. Mirault states that physicians' efforts were of no avail. Finally she visited the Shrine of St. Anne and was immediately cured. The doctor considers the sudden cure attributable to no natural agency.

A Peculiar Accident at Warkworth.

WARKWORTH, Ont., Aug. 10.—A very serious accident occurred here yesterday, which might have been fatal. As David and Harry, youngest sons of Mrs. W. Jones, were lifting a whey tub attached to a spring bar to the ground the tub dropped suddenly, throwing the boys some twenty-five feet in the air. David escaped with a broken leg and a few scratches, while Harry was badly hurt inwardly and had his shoulder dislocated.

The Booth's Crew All Right.

SELKIRK, Ont., Aug. 10.—Reports from Point Hoover, about four miles from which the Salvation Army cruiser, Wm. Booth, is ashore, state that the boat is resting easily on the roof where she is aground and is in no immediate danger. A tug has gone from Port Colborne to the relief of the Booth and it is expected she will be got off safely. The are all right.

Newfoundland Legislature Prorogued.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Aug. 10.—The Newfoundland Legislature prorogued yesterday after a week's session. Governor O'Brien assented to all bills passed, including one making legal the illegal collection of taxes during the past three months. The speech intimated that the Governor would shortly leave to accept another position.

THE AMERICAN TARIFF

Possibly the End of the Protracted Struggle is in Sight.

SENATOR VEST IS WEARY

He is Willing to Sign Any Kind of a Report From the Conference—The Senate's Intention is Said to be to Kill the Bill Outright.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—To-day is looked upon as the time set for the battle royal in the protracted struggle over the tariff. Last night there were numerous conferences on the part of both the friends and the enemies of the bill and the air is full of rumors of plots and counterplots that have for their purpose the safety or destruction of the tariff measure. One of these conferences is said to have been held at the White House while another on the part of those interested in the preservation of the house bill was held at the Arlington Hotel at which Chairman Wilson and Mrs. Isador Strauss were present. In an upper room of the hotel another conference was engaging the attention of certain Republican Senators aided by ex-Speaker Reed and it is needless to say that this talk boded no good for the success of the tariff bill.

One of the most startling rumors, which was vouched for by a prominent Senator was a plot in process of incubation that meant nothing more or less than the laying of violent hands on the tariff bill and its presentation to the House for the purpose of having that body accept the Senate amendments and pass the bill. It is said that the House conferees have become possessed of information that leaves them no room for doubt that it is the intention of the Senate to defeat any report that its conferees may make and then kill the tariff bill outright.

The vote in the Senate yesterday of 32 to 31 by which the Senate refused to go into executive session and thereby shut out Mr. Hill and his resolution is looked upon as very significant. It is predicted by Senators representing both the Democratic and Republican parties that Mr. Hill's resolution will prevail by a good majority and that if the final vote of the day can be reached the bill will be killed.

When the Senate conferees left their associates shortly before 6 o'clock there was every evidence of bad feeling. When an adjournment was taken there was no arrangement that the Senate conferees should meet with the House men to day. One of the House conferees admitted that there was to be no joint meeting, but thought that the two bodies might meet informally late in the afternoon.

It is understood that at the meeting of the conferees in the morning Mr. Vest told the House people to write out their report—any sort of a report they wanted—and he would sign it. He was tired of the delay and thought the Senate should be permitted to deal with the subject, inasmuch as the conferees could make no headway.

The situation last night was anything but encouraging to the Democratic managers of the tariff bill.

Bradstreet's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Evidence continues to accumulate that the earlier portion of July witnessed the lowest point in the ebb of the commercial tide, in the reaction after the moderate revival in the spring. Clearing totals this week at all points (New York City excepted) furnish an aggregate of 13 per cent larger than in the second week of August last year. Reports of gross earnings of 123 railroad companies during July point the same way. Groups most affected by the strike make a better showing than in June while a marked improvement is displayed by eastern and southern lines. Rhode Island woolen mills have received numerous orders because of smaller importations due to the expected adjustment of the tariff. Exports of wheat from United States and Canada this week aggregate 3,317,000 bushels, against 2,977,000 bushels last week. The total number of business failures in the United States reported this week is 197, against 220 last week and 474 in the second week of August 1893.

Mishap to a Picnic Party.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 11.—A team of horses attached to a bus containing a picnic party ran away on Dundas yesterday. The bus collided with a telephone pole, throwing the occupants out. Mrs. Barnes, an elderly lady, was internally injured and Miss Clara Stockwell, daughter of Caleb Stockwell, steam dyer, was badly cut about the face. Disarranged harness was the cause of the runaway.

Driving and Implement Sheds Burned.

NIAGARA, Ont., Aug. 11.—A fire occurred about one mile south of here on the farm of Mr. Alfred Ball, completely destroying his driving and implement sheds and corn cribs together with a number of farm implements and a quantity of corn. Fire is supposed to have been caused by some children playing with matches. Loss covered by insurance.

A Blenheim Farmer's Loss.

BLENHEIM, Ont., Aug. 11.—Fire completely destroyed the barns of Thomas Roe, farmer, living near Blenheim yesterday, together with forty tons of hay and the bulk of this year's crop. They had just commenced threshing when a spark from the engine started the fire. Insurance on barns $400. No insurance on contents.

TWELVE WERE KILLED

Frightful Wreck and Holocaust On the Rock Island Route.

THE WORK OF TRAIN WRECKERS

Eleven of the Crew and Passengers Badly Injured, But Will Recover—Brakeman Foote, With a Broken Leg, Performs Heroic Work of Rescue.

ADAIR, Iowa, Neb., Aug. 11.—A fearful wreck, involving the loss of twelve lives, occurred on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, where it crosses on a high trestle the tracks of the Union Pacific and the Burlington and Missouri River railroads. All indications point to train wreckers as the cause.

It was long after daylight before the burning pile at the scene of Thursday night's frightful wreck had sufficiently cooled to allow the gruesome work of removing the debris and search for the victims to begin. The corrected list of dead and injured is as follows:

Dead—C. D. Stannard, conductor, St. Joseph, Mo.
Ike Depew, engineer, Council Bluffs, Ia.
William Craig, fireman, Fairbury.
W. G. Hamble, farmer, Jansen or Fairbury, Neb.
Joseph Minger, farmer, Fairbury.
E. H. Zerneke, abstractor, Lincoln.
Henry Peters, Omaha.
J. D. Matthews, travelling man, Omaha.
Dr. C. N. Birney, Council Bluffs, Ia.
E. H. Morris, travelling man, Kansas City.
A. S. Ebbee, insurance agent, Pawnee City, Neb.
J. M. Bever, clothier, Pawnee City, Neb
All the above were so badly burned as to be almost unrecognizable.

The injured are:—H. C. Foote, J. McDowell, A. Aborn, F. T. Scott, C. H. Cherry, E. H. Bell, Mrs Nellie M. Firts, John Rutherford, J. G. Buetze, Col. J. C. Bills.

None of their injuries are serious.

Train No. 8 drawn by engine 213, is an accommodation called the "Fort Worth Accommodation" and is due to arrive here at 9:40 p. m. It was about 10 minutes late and was making up the time when it struck the trestle that crossed Salt Lake Creek, about four miles from the city. When it struck, the rails immediately spread, and the engine, drawing several cars after it, went thumping along over the cross ties for fifty feet and then, with a crash fell forty feet to the bed of the creek below. The engine burst, and glowing coals spreading, ignited the wooden supports and the coaches behind it, and in a few minutes the bridge, which was as dry as tinder, was a mass of flames.

Willing hands were there to help, but little could be done. The engine had fallen first then the combination car, a smoker and express coach fell partially upon that, and the rear coach falling behind it telescoped that car, thus pinioning those who were in the smoker, so that it was impossible to save them or for them to escape.

Col. C. J. Bills and Jay McDowell, Fairbury, passengers and the brakemen, Harry Foote, were the first to extricate themselves from the rear car. They immediately started to work, and half an hour's efforts the fourteen occupants of the rear coach were saved. It was heroic work. The flames were scorching in their intensity, but those three men struggled hard to save their fellow-sufferers.

The nearest point of connection was the penitentiary and from there the first intimation of the wreck and holocaust reached the city. The fire department was notified, but it was impossible to get a steamer over the rough country roads and no fire apparatus was available. The only thing to do was to let the whole pile burn. It was heartrending. The fireman, engineer and conductor lay prostrated under the burning mass of red hot iron and burning coaches. Their faces were turned out and Stannard, whose legs were being consumed by the fire, kept crying for help.

Harry Foote tried to help the man, but the fierce flames drove him back. Thrice he essayed with his broken foot and leg to extend some assistance, but to go near the burning pile meant sure death.

Fred Scott, the express messenger, saw him and cried out "Harry, help for Christ's sake." The brakeman heard him and acted. Crawling up to the burning pile he caught Scott just as the flames commenced to lick up his legs, burning his trousers and shoes completely off. His back was terribly injured where the timbers had fallen upon him. Foote pulled him out, however, and none too soon. Had help arrived two minutes later he would have perished in the flames.

As soon as Scott could speak he said, "Cherry is in there; save him." Although Foote was suffering torture with his broken leg he returned to the work of rescue. Crawling up to the burning coach, he caught the hand of Cherry, the messenger, who was pinioned by the fallen timbers, and by almost superhuman strength succeeded in extricating him just as the flames commenced to lap around his face and head.

Harry Foote, the injured brakesman, advances the theory that the train was maliciously wrecked. According to his story a rail was removed on the bridge and the fishplates and a crow bar were found in the grounds near by. It is said three men were seen in the vicinity of the bridge in the early evening. They tally with the description of three men seen in the city during the day who said they came from Enid, Ok., and the suspicion was aroused that they had a grievance against the Rock Island Company in the territory.

The injured were brought to Lincoln and the doctors think all will recover.

The coroner's inquest begins to-day.

Arrested a Disorderly Mayor.

PERU, Ill., Aug. 11.—H. E. Ransch, Mayor of this city, was arrested and locked up for disorderly conduct. The mayor, it is alleged, had been drinking and became noisy and abusive, denouncing members of the Law and Order League, who were on duty under orders of the sheriff. A policeman tried to quiet his honor and induce him to go home, but he refused and was arrested.

CHINA IN DEAD EARNEST

And the Viceroy Was Divested of His Jacket to Spur Him On.

JAPANESE MARCHING ON SEOUL

Rumor That They Attack the Chinese at Wei-Hai-Wei, But Are Repulsed—Russia Seizes an Island—Italy Makes an Announcement of Her Neutrality.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Standard's correspondent in Berlin confirms the United Press dedatch of August 3, announcing that Li Hung Chang had been divested of the Yellow Jacket in consequence of his remissness in prosecuting the war. The correspondent says that his information came from a high diplomatic source and is unquestionably authentic. The Emperor's object in treating the Viceroy as he did was not to disgrace him in the eyes of the world, but simply to reprove him for his dilatoriness. The rebuke merely signifies that the war is to be prosecuted in earnest and that the Viceroy will be held primarily answerable for the issue. The correspondent learned from the same diplomatic source that it is China's intention to continue the war until Japan's strength is exhausted and she is compelled perhaps by the powers to sue for mercy and for pardon for the Kow Shing affair which greatly irritated the nation.

The Tien-Tsin correspondence of the Times declares that the report that the rank and privileges of the Viceroy Li Hung Chang have been reduced by imperial command is entirely unfounded.

A despatch from Paris says that the Mikado's cousin, Prince Kouatan, who has been studying maritime forts in Europe, has left Paris for Havre, en route to Japan, returning by way of the United States. Fifty Japanese officers who have been studying in France have started for home.

The Times correspondent at Shanghai says that 12,000 Japanese from Fusan and 8,000 from Gensah are marching on Seoul.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News says: "During the absence of the Chinese fleet the Japanese attacked the Chinese at Wei-Hai-Wei on Thursday morning. They were repulsed at one entrance and then tried the other."

The Times publishes a letter from Pekin which tells in detail of the Emperor's chafing under the leading strings of the Empress Dowager, and of his constant struggle to take the government in his own hands. The writer says the Emperor's knowledge of English leads him to encourage long talks with foreign diplomats, with the result that the diplomatic service is becoming popular. His Majesty has taken the matter of official appointments largely into his own hands and is superseding in a great measure the Grand Council.

Italy Announces Neutrality.

ROME, Aug. 11.—The Official Journal announces that the government will maintain a neutral position in the war between Japan and China.

Russia Helping Herself.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—Advices by the steamer City of Pekin say a telegram received at Yokahama from Seoul states that the Russian flag is to be seen on the Island of Getaubito. It is surmised that Russia has seized it.

The Queen of Corea, in concert with her relations, the Bin family, has appealed to the Russian Minister for Russian protection in case of emergency, and the Minister has consented to grant it.

British Marines Force Their Way.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—A despatch from Pekin states that the last Japanese warship sailed from Yokohama for Chemulpo. The foreign men of-war are all concentrated at Shanghai in order to be ready to protect the interests of their respective countries. Meetings were being held in Yokohama every evening, at which the situation was discussed and the utmost hatred shown to China. British marines numbering 37 crossed the line of defence adopted by the Japanese commander near Seoul. They were remonstrated with and there was a slight collision. The marines forced their way through, however, in order to go on duty to protect the British legation at Seoul. They were not subsequently molested. The excitement in China is not so great as in Japan. The festivities incident to the birthday of the Empress Dowager have been abandoned, her Majesty declaring that the honor of China must be upheld.

Review of Canadian Trade.

TORONTO, Aug. 11.—General trade here is quiet and without feature. There was a slight increase in some departments of business at Montreal, but these are exceptions, and collections are slower than usual. The half year's trade there indicates that many have barely held their own. Aside from favorable crop reports in Nova Scotia there is no change. A fair fall trade is anticipated. Bank clearings at Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax amount to $16,809,000, a gain of nearly 5 per cent. over the week before, but a falling off of 20 per cent. compared with the corresponding week last year. There are 40 business failures reported in the Dominion this week, against 31 last week, 25 in the week a year ago and 23 in the week before last.

Drowning at Minden.

MINDEN, Ont., Aug 11.—Henry Tall, a young man working on one of Gilmour's log drives, was drowned in Twelve Mile lake, near here, yesterday. He attempted to swim from the shore to the steamboat moored some little distance out and it is supposed was seized with cramps, as he was an excellent swimmer. Owing to the dense fog prevailing the efforts of his comrades to save him were fruitless. His parents live at Elmsdale.

Thirty-One Protests Now.

TORONTO, Aug. 11.—There were two further election protests entered at Osgoode Hall, one against Major Hiscott, Conservative, Lincoln, and one against Dr. Willoughby, Conservative, East Northumberland. This makes 31 petitions filed of which only West Lambton has been withdrawn.

Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 11, 1894.

THE discovery of the germs of diphtheria in certain cheeses made in New York state has caused quite a panic and the newspapers are full of angry criticism. The explanation of the matter is simple. Milk is most susceptible of infection with germs of any disease, and as diphtheria was raging in the farm house from which the milk was sent to the cheese factory in the present case it is easy to account for the otherwise peculiar phenomenon. But it is evident that the farmers need telling how great a crime they commit, and how great injury they may do the public if, knowing that they have scarlet fever or any other infectious diseases in their houses, they do not take steps to prevent its dissemination. Hundreds of innocent people may be made to suffer through the selfish and criminal neglect of one farmer. The recent discovery explains many cases of otherwise unaccountable infection, and affords ground for action on the part of our health authorities in Canada.

ENGLAND cannot establish a quarantine against cholera, as it is impossible to draw the line between the ships forming the enormous flotillas which every day carry food and supplies to her shores. But it is evident that she puts herself in a position of great danger. Four cases of Asiatic cholera are now reported at Gravesend within a few miles of that vast mass of humanity cooped up in London. If the disease were to obtain a hold there the results would be fearful. But England boasts that its sanitary arrangements are equal to preventing an epidemic and points to the manner in which the disease has been stamped out wherever it has appeared on her shores during the last few years. If the snake is scotched it is certainly not killed and it has not made any very fierce attack in Europe of late years. If it did perhaps it would be found harder to deal with than are a few isolated cases.

THE Ottawa Citizen says:—"With a gross public debt of over $300,000,000 and a net debt of $240,000,000, and with an annual expenditure exceeding $66,000,000, it becomes necessary to pursue a course of economy and to aid such works only as are absolutely essential and possess a substantial commercial value." Yet the Citizen, as Government organ at the capital, supports the government in its orgie of wasteful and unrighteous expenditure, that is a disgrace to civilization.

THE JUDGE'S STORY.

Hon. John M. Rice Tells How He Was Cured of Sciatic Rheumatism—Crippled for Six Years.

The Hon. John M. Rice, of Louisa, Lawrence county, Kentucky, has for many years served his native county and state in the legislature at Frankfort and Washington, and until his retirement, was a noted figure in political and judicial circles. A few days ago a Kentucky Post reporter called upon Judge Rice, who, in the following words, related the history of the causes that led to his retirement: "It is just about six years since I had an attack of rheumatism, slight at first, but soon developing into sciatic rheumatism, which began first with acute shooting pains in the hips, gradually extending downward to my feet. My condition became so bad that I eventually lost all power of my legs, and then the liver, kidneys and bladder, and in fact my whole system, became deranged. I tried the treatment of many physicians, but receiving no lasting benefit from them, I went to Hot Springs, Ark. I was not much benefitted by some months stay there, when I returned home. In 1891, I went to the Silurian Springs, Wakeshaw, Wis. I stayed there some time, but without improvement. Again I returned home, this time feeling no hopes of recovery. The muscles of my limbs were now reduced by atrophy to mere strings. Sciatic pains tortured me terribly, but it was the disordered condition of my liver that was I felt gradually wearing my life away. Doctors gave me up, all kinds of remedies had been tried without avail, and there was nothing more for me to do but resign myself to fate.

"I lingered on in this condition sustained almost entirely on stimulants until April, 1893. One day I saw an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. This was something new, and as one more drug after so many others could do no harm, I was prevailed upon to try the Pink Pills. The effect of the pills was marvellous, and I could soon eat heartily, a thing I had not done for years. The liver began to perform its functions, and has done so ever since. Without doubt the pills saved my life, and while I do not crave notoriety I cannot refuse to testify to their worth."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post-paid, on receipt of price (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50,) by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schnectady, N.Y.

G. T. R. Absconder Captured.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 11.—A telegram received here from El Paso, Texas, announces the arrest of George A. Hardiker, a defaulter from the city. Hardiker is about 30 years old. He came to Detroit from Hamilton, Ont., when a boy, and entered the office of the Grand Trunk road. He was gradually promoted to the position of assistant cashier. Two years and a half ago Hardiker absconded, leaving a deficit in his accounts of nearly $4,000. The arrest was caused by the Guarantee Company.

Earthquake in Tennessee.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 11.—Three distinct shocks of earthquake were felt here yesterday. The shocks were of 10 seconds duration. Tall buildings swayed and windows rattled, but no damage was done.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, August 11, 1894.

At East Liberty, Pa., the run in sheep was light and the market very slow at unchanged prices.

At St. Louis sheep receipts were 722. This market showed but little change; there were not many good sheep or lambs offered and for the kind on sale prices were about steady as compared with yesterday.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Grain receipts are limited and prices unchanged. One load of white wheat sold at 60c and red is nominal at 59c. Oats firmer, one load of old selling at 38½c and one of new at 36c.

The Chicago grain markets looked more natural than they have on any day this week. There was a total absence of uneasy feeling and nervous action that characterized them early in the week. Wheat closed lower on heavy receipts.

Buffalo.—Cattle—Five cars; more active; strong for choice butchers; veal calves steady at $4.75 to $5 for best. Hogs—Twenty cars; slow, 5 to 10c lower. Sheep and lambs—Fourteen cars; fancy lambs and sheep steady to a trifle lower; common stock 25 to 30c off and very dull.

London stock markets become quieter as the settlement approaches, but the tone remains good throughout. In Americans there was a further improvement, but the close was nearly half a point under the best on profit taking. Atchisons were strong. Official statistics on Indian finance are more favorable than anticipated. The council is selling drafts freely. The financial position causes much less disquietude.

An Unusual Death-Rate.

At this season of the year there are always many deaths, particularly among the children, from Summer Complaint, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, etc., but this season the cases seem to be unusually frequent and fatal, and every one ought to know that a sure and speedy cure can easily be obtained by taking a teaspoonful of Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER in sweetened water (hot water is the best), every half hour until relieved. This remedy has never been known to fail. Full directions are with each bottle. It is kept by every respectable druggist. New Big bottle, old popular price, 25 cents.

The best cough cure is Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. It heals the lungs and cures coughs and colds.

The results were very satisfactory, and I recommend this medicine to all who are afflicted with rheumatism or other

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

A Summer Excursion by "Uncle Thomas," of the Globe—A Racy Resume of the Chief Features of this Waterway.

The Globe, with an enterprise that we are accustomed to regard as a matter of course, has flying correspondents writing up interesting matter on various topics in different quarters. One correspondent is in Quebec, gathering information on the racial relations of Johnny Baptiste to the other Canucks of Confederation. Another correspondent is canoeing through the route, prospective and actual, of the Trent Valley canal. The correspondent started at Port Perry, and has passed up the "tail-race," so to speak, of the canal, and has at last reached Stony Lake. His letters have been interesting, containing a great deal of practical information, slyly conveyed in quaint sentences of broad humour, which generally sugar-coats the pill that the advocates of the feasibility of the canal from either a structural or political point of view is called upon to bolt. "Uncle Thomas'" letter referring to Stony Lake, though just a beginning of this stretch, or rather spread, of the canal, is a good beginning in the way of entertaining writing and is reproduced below, with the comment that the estimates of the utility of the canal are apparently influenced by Toronto porcine opinion.

AT STONY LAKE.

Stony Lake, Aug. 4.—Burleigh is, beyond question, the finest sight on this most picturesque of all canals. Here our Government has shown its ability to teach even the beavers a lesson, if not in industry and economy, at least in backing up and regulating the level of water. The place consists of a group of round granite boulders, great and small, connected where practicable by bridges of all designs, from primitive hewn-timber structures to the most modern designs in steel framing, and separated by deep, rushing channels, through which the waters of Lovesick Lake descend to Stony Lake, thirty feet below. There are a score of channels leaving the lower end of Lovesick Lake, but the canoeist, takes his choice, as they all lead to Burleigh. The islands are not alluvial deposits, but granite rocks, in many cases converted into islands by the artificial raising of the water. The fall is about thirty feet at this season, and in the spring it is said to be about five feet higher. As at Fenelon Falls, two locks are necessary to let vessels up and down, and these are of the regular size—134 by 33 feet. The lock-tender, Mr. Fuller, is an agreeable man, and, as the water was low, he talked freely of the trouble of maintaining the levels in the different sections. At each lock during the low-water season the obduracy of the tender above in refusing to let water down, and the carelessness of the tender below in prodigally wasting his water and calling for more, is a favourite topic of conversation. A few of the older inhabitants are untiring in praise of the beauty of the falls before the streams were reduced to a mechanical level by the locks and booms. They sometimes grow almost eloquent over the multitude of wild streams plunging and writhing down among the great rounded masses of granite It was certain death for a deer driven by hounds or wolves to take the water above the Burleigh Fall. One old hunter declared that the skin was not worth taking off a carcass after it came out of the rapids in the lower level. Although I seriously doubt if a thrifty and frugal settler ever despised the skin of a buck or doe on account of any injury it might receive in going over the rocks, it is evident that no deer could ever survive the descent. The wildness of the place has been by no means removed by the building of locks and regulating dams and a visitor, turning his back on the works, can easily forget that the ground under his feet is under the jurisdiction of a Government engineer. It is not unnatural that the people of the neighborhood, impressed with the strength of the rushing water, should have predicted that no human contrivance could enable a steamboat to pass through. And when the engineers pronounced it feasible and the great masonary work was under construction, it was only natural that visions of the sale of corner lots with future lives of comfort outside the mosquito belt, should have filled their dreaming moments. But the general verdict is that, although times were lively while the work of construction was in progress, they have now relapsed into their former quietude, apparently more depressed by the contrast. Here, and at most points along the canal, the people make a remarkably accurate estimate of the actual value of the work as a stimulant to local development. There may have been a time when they could be made to believe that cities would grow along a through canal, as grapes on a vine, but that time is certainly past. A bonus-hunter could find far more plastic material in Toronto than in the little villages along this waterway. It may be that I am generalizing from an insufficient number of personal views, but I selected indiscriminately, and came to this conclusion from the unanimity of opinions expressed. The people are alive to the advantage of having in their vicinity a large number of workmen drawing Government pay. This knowledge was impressed during the construction of the locks and the cutting of the channels. But the massive solidity of the work puts all hope of re-building out of their minds, although one old man expressed a hopeless wish for some catastrophe which would bring the workmen back again.

ADVANTAGES OF THROUGH TRAFFIC.

With regard to the completion of the through line from the bay of Quinte, on Lake Ontario, to Georgian Bay, they rightly believe that it would impose on the lock-tenders the necessity of opening and closing the gates more frequently, but would have no other appreciable result. In Canada, the people of this generation have seen the result of through communication and traffic by railway lines. They have seen it accelerating the cityward tendency. They have seen it building up cities at the expense of the small towns and villages. And along the line of the Trent Valley Canal the people expect no other result from the opening of the entire line. In fact, some of the men interested in local steamboats do not conceal their antipathy to the project of terminal competition. Although their larger boats must now live and die within the confines of these stretches of navigable water, the owners know that this restriction is more than counterbalanced by absolute freedom from outside competition. Were the waters accessible from Lake Ontario or Lake Huron, small steamers would be continually entering and experimenting with the local traffic along the route. When the excursion season was unusually brisk, outside competitions would cut down the profits. Besides, the perpetual innovations of outside managers would disturb the peaceful, quiet state into which the local traffic has comfortably settled. It might promote a more fastidious taste among excursionists, and make them object to dancing on a scow while its plank-deck bore the marks of cordwood and other heavy lines of freight.

At Burleigh the name is eminently fitted to the place, while the untamed ruggedness of the lake, lock and falls, two miles higher up the canal, could scarcely find a less appropriate name than "Lovesick." The picturesque falls at Burleigh are the gateway to Stony Lake, and mark the end of the lonesome middle section of the canal. From where the small steamer leaves the main line to connect with railway traffic at Bridgenorth, the way is deserted until the "summer residence" section of Stony Lake is reached below Burleigh locks. Here the traffic is sufficient to maintain a regular service by two steamers, one a fair-sized inland vessel. After passing Burleigh the granite islands begin to show traces of civilization., and summer cottages become numerous. They gather as near together as the situation will allow, showing that illogical humanity, in striving to escape from the city, takes as much as possible of it with him. A summer resident told us there were no less than three groceries on different islands along our route which it was impossible for us to miss, they bearing distinct grocery signs. But it is the easiest conceivable operation to miss a thing one wishes to find in a strange place. Although we looked with earnest, and I truthfully say, hungry eyes for the sign, we discerned nothing but the most airily poetic of summer names—not in the least suggestive of condensed milk or canned fish. Another feature of this part of the trip, even more distressing than a shortage of food supplies, was the number of granite rocks rising out of the water, as if to bear a sign "For sale" and the address of real estate agents. There is something savouring of sacrilege in thus placarding nature's masterpieces. The commercialism which tickets the price on masterpieces of art may be pardoned, but nature's finest pictures are even more sacred. I am not of those who look to Governments for the reform of evils, but I think something should be done to purge nature's temple of these profaning money-changers.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose topay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

The I. O. O. F. excursion, on Thursday next, Aug. 16th, is the talk of the town. Everybody is going. The grand circuit Race-meeting closes on these two days with the two greatest trotting events of the year, viz.,—"2.17 trot and free-for-all," pace, in which the fastest horses on earth will compete. See large posters and race programmes around town for full particulars. Train leaves G. T. R. depot at 7 a. m. Fare only $1.75. Tickets now on sale.

Don't Miss the Great Sight-seeing Trip.

Toronto tickets good for two days, Niagara and Buffalo tickets good for three days. Those who desire may go by trains evening previous to the day of excursion. Let those now go who never went before; and those who always went now once more.

A Narrow Escape.

Last evening between four and five o'clock Mr. Wm. Ball, an employee of Mr. W. B. Kelly, Bridgenorth, while unloading lumber at Rathbun & Co.,s warehouse, Murray street, had a narrow escape. He had driven his team in between the track and the storehouse and while unloading the lumber a G.T.R. train approached. Mr. Ball stepped from the wagon on to a pile of lumber and Mr. C. E. Hubbs, the local agent for the Rathbun Co., went in front of the team and attempted to control them. The escaping steam from the engine and the revolving of the wheels started the horses. They made a plunge forward and in so doing caused the lumber pile on which Mr. Ball was standing to fall over on the locomotive, carrying that gentleman with it. He was picked up and Mr. D. W. Dumble, who happened to be near at hand at the time, conveyed him to the residence of Dr. Scott where his injuries were attended to. Beyond a severe shaking up they are not considered dangerous.

Canada's Great Fair for 1894.

The Toronto Industrial Exhibition, which is to be held from the 3rd to the 15th of September, will no doubt be the greatest fair of the present year, and from present indications it promises to excel all others, both in point of exhibits and in attendance of visitors. The grounds have been vastly improved since last year, and already most of the space in all the buildings has been applied for. All entries close on the 11th of August. A good programme of special attractions, both novel and interesting, will be provided as usual. It is only a little over a month to the time of the fair and our readers cannot choose a better holiday trip than this offers. Cheap excursions will as usual be run on all railways at rates in keeping with the times. This great fair has now become one of the best and most popular educational and entertainment enterprises on this continent, and attracts visitors each year, not only from all parts of the Dominion, but from the United States as well, and those who have never been there would be surprised at its magnitude and attractiveness, being almost like a World's Fair, only on a smaller scale.

Information has been received by Mr. G. H. Noble, town, from the firm of Russell, Wheeler & Son, stove and furnace manufacturers, Utica, N.Y., regarding the death of Mr. Jas. It has been learned that Mr. McAndrew died very suddenly at a restaurant where he was in the habit of taking his meals. While eating his supper he suddenly expired. He had been working all day, and made no complaints, excepting that he had told some of his fellow workmen that he felt a sharp pain through his chest, but Mr. McAndrew nor any of the men did not suppose it was serious. The body was embalmed and held for several days, and then it was decided to have it interred in the city, the funeral taking place from one of the leading undertaker's offices to Forest Hill cemetery, Utica, N. Y. Heart disease is supposed to be the cause of his death. The late Mr. McAndrew was a son-in-law of Mr. Geo. H. Noble, town.

WHY NOT PETERBOROUGH?

According to the Canada Gazette of Aug. 4th, the Dominion Government has decided to enroll a new company of the Royal Regiment of Canadian Infantry and 11 horses and 11 men to be added to "A Troop. The new company will consist of 100 men with the necessary complement of officers.

The moment the secretary of the Peterborough Board of Trade, Mr. T. A. Tay, received the information he wrote to the Minister of Militia, pointing out the advantages of Peterborough as the garrison of the new company. This morning he received a reply to the effect that when the question of location came up he, the Minister, "would be happy indeed to bring the claim of Peterborough before His Excellency in Council," and concluded with a warm eulogy of the beauty of situation of Peterborough and the enterprise of its citizens, "which are unsurpassed by any town in Ontario." Since the military authorities are so favourably impressed with this town we might ask them why not garrison the new company in Peterborough? That the town is admirably situated for the purpose in question, goes without saying. We can furnish a site, or for the matter of that, several sites that cannot be surpassed. Besides our geographical position, in relation to the other garrisons of the regiment, is most undeniably excellent and central. One company is now stationed at Fredricton, N.B.; one at St. John's, Quebec, about 30 miles or less from Montreal, which puts the latter city, (which is claiming the location) out of the running; one in Toronto and one in London. The artillery and cavalry are distributed in Quebec, Kingston, Victoria, B.C., one cavalry troop in Toronto and one Mounted Infantry company in Winnipeg. So that Peterborough is the place best adapted for the garrison of the new infantry company, All the other points named, except London, are on the frontier. Peterborough is the centre of the district between the northern waters and the southern frontier. The town has exceptional traffic facilities, railway lines, radiating in seven different directions, making the best possible system of communication or facilities for moving of troops. We could furnish excellent sites for a garrison, and we have a splendid country surrounding us, from which to draw recruits, besides a town of between 12,000 and 15,000 inhabitants. The quality of our material for soldiers is shown by the fact that the 57th Battalion recruited from the town, won the cup last year as the best corps in the 3rd Military District, and this year won first place in the Martini series of the Military Rifle League competition. In addition to these claims for the garrison, Peterborough has a moral claim upon the Government. There has been no Government institution established here so far, and our deserts in this matter should receive consideration. In selecting a site for the new company of the Royal Regiment of Canadian Infantry, the claims of Peterborough, material and moral, should receive, we submit, on their merits, preferential consideration. The presence of such a military establishment in the town, besides giving tone, would confer sundry substantial advantages. The expenditure for maintenance would be something like $30,000, a year which would make no inconsiderable item in commercial transactions. Under such circumstances it is wisdom to bring all the influences possible to bear upon the Government to convince it that Peterborough is a most eligible and proper place for the permanent home of the new company of the Royal Regiment of Canadian Infantry and the eleven troopers and horses to be added to the establishment of the Canadian "regular army." Those who have influence should exercise it in the interests of our town. Our Dominion representative should also impress upon the Government that this district, as the EXAMINER notes with regret, supplies a pretty solid contingent of supporters, and that the establishment of the corps in question in Peterborough, would be accepted in part payment, as a quid pro quo.

Home and Abroad.

It is the duty of everyone, whether at home or travelling for pleasure or business, to equip himself with the remedy which will keep up strength and prevent illness, and cure such ills as are liable to come upon all in everyday life. For instance, Hood's Sarsaparilla as a general tonic, and to keep the blood pure and less liable to absorb the germs of disease, will be well nigh invaluable. Change of drinking water often causes serious trouble, especially if one has been used to spring water in the country. From a few drops to a teaspoonful of Hood's Sarsaparilla in a tumbler of water will prevent the water having an injurious effect.

Hood's Vegetable Pills, as a cathartic, cause no discomfort, no disturbance, no loss of sleep, but assist the digestive organs, so that satisfactory results are effected in a natural and regular manner.

BRITANNIA'S LONE RACE.

She Sails Around the Isle of Wight for the Meteor Challenge Shield.

COWES, Aug. 11.—The Prince of Wales' cutter had no competitor in her sail around the Isle of Wight yesterday for the Meteor challenge shield, presented by the German Emperor. Although the general impression was that the Vigilant would compete for the shield she was in fact specifically excluded by the conditions which require that every competing boat be of European build and owned by a member of European yacht clubs.

The starting signal was given at 6 a.m. In order to fulfill the conditions of the race as regards the number of starters the cutter Inverna and the yawl Viking, appeared at the starting line. Neither of these smaller boats had any show against the Britannia. They immediately returned to their moorings after the starting gun was fired and the Britannia sailed away without them. She made her voyage alone and came over the finish line 5.36 without exciting more than a passing notice.

Monday's Match Race Off.

COWES, Aug. 11.—The match race between the Vigilant and the Britannia which was arranged for Monday is off. George Gould wired to have the conditions reversed so that the yachts might have a run out from the Needles and a beat back. The Prince of Wales declined to take part in such a match.

Cruelties at Bluefields.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—A Colon, Colombia, special says the Nicaraguans about Bluefields are inflicting terrible cruelties, it is reported, upon the Mosquito Indians and the Jamaican negroes taken prisoners. It is believed the Nicaraguans intend to destroy the fruit crop so as to financially cripple the Indians. The whole coast is in a state of anarchy. The Indians repulsed the first attack on the town, it is said, the Nicaraguans sustaining heavy loss. Refugees arriving in Costa Rica, principally women and children, say Bluefields is to be bombarded.

AS A CLEANSER

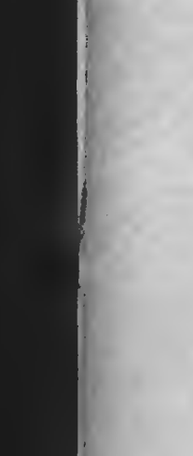
of the blood, nothing sweeps as clean as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It purifies the blood as well as enriches it. The truth is, an emulsion of Cod liver oil is good for building up fat — no doubt about it. But—ugh! a weak stomach loathes it. Fortunately, there's a tissue-builder, that's even better for making healthy flesh. Pleasant in taste—effective in result. That's the "Discovery." It goes to work in the right way, by regulating, cleansing, and repairing all the organs of the body.



When the germs of disease are round about us we do not all get them. Why? Some of us are in too good a condition. The germs of Consumption, Grippe, Malaria, and all the infectious diseases, pass you by if you are strong to resist their attack. Render yourself germ-proof by putting your blood and liver in a healthy state.

In all blood-taints and diseases, if the "Discovery" fails to benefit or cure, your money is returned.

No other medicine of its kind can be sold so.

THE FUTURE LONDON.

In 1941 it is Computed that the Population Will Be 17,500,000.

Some interesting statistics regarding London have recently been prepared by the County Council, with some conjectures as to the population which the city may have in 1941. According to these figures, London already contains 1½ per cent. of all the population of England and Wales. If the city grows at the rate of the last three decades, in 1941 it will have a population of 17,500,000. If there be no additions from the outside, as there have been in the past, but merely the natural increase is added which comes from the excess of births over deaths it will contain nearly 11,000,000.

Considering that New York is fast becoming the seat of wealth in this country that London is in England, one can gain an idea of how the burden of taxation would fall upon New York if the socialistic income tax bill should become a law. London pays 42 per cent. of the income tax of England and Wales, and we should not have the advantage which the tables show that city to have in escaping a large portion of the cost of local government by receiving a share of imperial taxation, and many from other sources. London's government costs about $55,000,000 a year, but of this sum the ratepayers pay only about five-sixths.

London contains about one-quarter of all the paupers of England and Wales, and it furnishes a large percentage of the criminals. The women sentenced to penal servitude from there constitute 25.86 per cent. of the whole number from the two countries, and the men 29.75 per cent. The metropolitan poor law debt is nearly one-half of all owed for that purpose in England, and the law debt is nearly one-half of all owed, police force costs 41.97 per cent. of the total cost of police in the country. The fire brigade costs 53.24 per cent.

Twenty two persons in a thousand died in London in 1892. Bronchitis carried off 10,000, consumption 8000, pneumonia 6000, and influenza and cancer 3000 each.

Ben Hafiz, the Muezzin.

Far lifted from the city's jar and fret
Ben Hafiz waited on the minaret;

And gazing where the Prophet's city stands,
A benediction waved from wrinkled hands.

His prayerful voice was raised—the hour was nigh—
To Allah lifted his imploring eye.

Below him sparkled many a twinkling fire,
Where pilgrims camped around the sacred spire.

"Oh, where is God?" the old Muezzin cries;
With eagle glance he scans the vaulted skies.

All silent trembling the thin realms of air—
Ben Hafiz vainly sought an answer there!

Beneath his feet stretched far the sapphire sea—
"Lo! In its depths—Divinity may be!"

The blue waves rippled on the lonely shore;
No token reached him in their hollow roar!

The campfires leaped, their red glow mounting higher,
He pondered: "There! Perchance, is Allah nigher?"

Bright gleams lit up the sleeping host in vain—
Not a response! Ben Hafiz asked again.

The mountains, hung above him, creasted round,
Caught his quick eye—"Is God there hidden, found?"

But scarped rocks and peaks all silent lay—
With no reply, Ben Hafiz turned away!

"Alas! All silent!" the Muezzin cried,
The hopes which warmed his heart in sadness died.

"Earth, air and fire—the waters, I explore—
For God, whose footsteps here return no more!"

When, like a lark, a sweet voice thrilled above!
An angel sang—"Ben Hafiz! God is love!"

YOUNG LAMONT'S CASE.

Neighbors Much Interested in the Story — Everyone Thought the Youngster Would Die but he's Very Much Alive Now.

DUNDALK, July 30.—Hugh Lamont, of McIntyre, has a young son who is an object of interest throughout this whole section of country. From infancy the boy had dropsy, and was bloated and swollen all over. It seemed to the parents that death could be the only release to one attacked so young by this disease. They heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and began giving them to the child. With the first box, the bloating and swelling began to disappear. Six boxes effected a perfect cure and the boy is now just as healthy a youngster as stirs up the dust on the high roads of Western Ontario.

I was attacked severely last winter with Diarrhœa, Cramps, and Colic and thought I was going to die, but fortunately I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and now I thank this excellent remedy for saving my life.

The Best Medicine.

J. O. WILSON, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas, thus speaks of Ayer's Pills:

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever tried; and, in my judgment, no better general remedy could be devised. I have used them in my family and recommended them to my friends and employes for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge, many cases of the following complaints have been completely and by the use of Ayer's Pills alone: Third day chills, dumb ague, bilious fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flux, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard colds. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disorders I have named above."

Permanently Cured

"I have been selling medicine for eight years, and I can safely say that Ayer's Pills give better satisfaction than any other Pill I ever sold."—J. J. Perry, Spottsylvania C. H., Va.

A FIGHTING GAME FISH

WHERE THE MUSKALLONGE LURKS AND HOW TO FIND HIM.

Fishing With Minnow and Spoon Among the Thousand Islands—Stout Tackle Needed—The Exciting Sport and How It Is Scientifically Conducted.

The lakes and streams of Canada are the natural homes of a ravenous, fighting game fish which is almost exclusively our own. Seldom elsewhere do we hear of anglers taking the muskallonge. He is a big, mottled, shy, sharkish fellow, wide of jaw, deep of throat, and strong of fin. In brief, he may be said to be a giant species of pickerel, differing mainly from the ordinary type of that fish in being proportionally deeper or wider from back to belly and in growing to far greater size.

One of the loveliest spots where you will always find him lying in his rock-paved lairs or pursuing the terrified minnows in the shallows is the Thousand Islands in the St. Lawrence.

There are days when the fierce black bass, the most erratic of fish, will not rise to any lure, and then the most eager lover of bass fishing will try for muckallonge.

The outfit required is not high-priced nor very elaborate. What is called the "St. Lawrence trolling rod" is the favorite rod of this region, and is a stiff, well hung, split bamboo of from eleven to twelve feet in length, light but very sturdy and full of "backbone." It is fitted with large raised guides, and a reel seat above the hand, not below as used in fly fishing. Perhaps not until you have tried and failed to keep a maddened muskallonge from fouling the anchor rope or tearing the line or the bottom of your skiff will you realize why so long and so stiff a rod is in vogue. Fifteen dollars will procure you a sound, well-made rod of this kind, one that with care, revarnishing each season, and oiling in damp weather, will endure several years. As with all tackle, the best is cheapest in long hard use.

Any good make of reel will answer, provided it runs freely, multiply and have a heavy drag and stop attachment. It will be large enough if it hold fifty yards of double "D" braided silk line. This is the proper length and size of line, and it is now very cheap, something like four cents a yard. This is a very stout line, and, of course, would be useless for fly casting, but is none too solid to resist the sudden onslaught of a hungry "longe."

Much of the time you will find trolling with artificial spoon bait the easiest and prettiest sport, but for variety you will try bait casting, bait trolling, and skittering. For these latter methods you will need hooks, and let it be added just here that they must be big, long, heavy hooks. Any of the Sproat or Kirby shapes would be good enough were it not for the shark-like teeth and horny jaws of the "longe" which would part line or leader above the hook quicker than a flash. Use only the long-shanked shapes such as Limerick or Aberdeen, and have them snelled on thick wire gimp, two feet long. Above this hang a four-strand, twisted leader of polished gut. The hooks must not be smaller than No. 6—0.

On a day's fishing you will carry live bait as well as a stock of trolling spoons. The St. Lawrence skiff, the only craft used in the Thousand Islands, excepting an occasional canoe, is an ideal little vessel. She has lightness, speed, room, and stanchness. Let us suppose you push off from shore, say at Cape St. Vincent, in the early mists of a morning. You are fishing alone, being athletic enough to propel your light skiff at the slow rate required, and not desirous of being in bondage all day to a profane guide. Your rod put together, and equipped with line and two hooks hung close together, lies beside you. On the other side is the shining steel gaff, keen and broad of bend, a deadly and indispensable weapon. The bait can and tackle case lies before you, and all around and under you curl the blue waters of the St. Lawrence. So clear, so absolutely undefiled is the water, that in a rushing rapid of ten feet depth the pebbles and weeds on the bottom are distinctly visible. This fact is a warning to be regarded, for the muskallonge has eyes.

Slowly you move along, letting the stream carry you for the most part, but working over toward a low, rocky island. As you near the shore you look down and seem to be floating, as it were, in mid-air over a meadow of long waving brown and yellow grass. That curling growth that twines and twists and looks so near is two full fathoms down! This is the shadowed lurking place, the aquatic jungle where the tiger of the river lies in wait.

Now a long, slender streak of gray darts from a bunch of weed and is gone. That spectre was a "longe."

With eager hand you catch a minnow of five inches in length and lightly hook him through the upper lip just back of the dorsal fin. Gently you pull off a couple of rods' length of line, and with the right hand toss the bait to the line's length toward the shore. It settles down, drifting with the current, and you pay out yard after yard of the line until the minnow is 50 feet down stream. Raising the rod a sudden resistance is felt; you draw tighter, the pull increases, and with a firm hand you drive home the barb. Now you reel in, and nothing gives but the quivering rod. Slowly your skiff floats over the monster that holds the bait, and you find only a tall, big-leaved pickerel weed has caught the hook. Sometimes you lose the hook, but oftener it pulls loose, and you try again, now keeping better control of your line and bait.

All at once comes a rush and a tightening of the line. Twenty feet was torn from the reel, and now the line lies still. Only a moment is the reel dumb while the big fish is gorging the bait, and then it screams as he darts away through the weeds.

Calmly you press the knob that puts the heavy drag against his panting gills, a solid 10-pound pull that is never relaxed. He will not run many yards ere he falters and takes another course. With careful hand you guard the reel and gather in every foot of slack.

With a start one has when the big fish looms up alongside, a long, dusky-backed savage with wild eyes! Lose not an instant when once he is alongside to niv the gaff. Often a brief dessh rally or spasm will send him under the boat when you are unprepared, and the dying fish will make off with part of your tackle. When he is landed a sharp knock on the nose with an oar or gaff will kill him and put him out of misery, and at the same time prevent him from flopping overboard or upsetting the minnow pail.

Now the minnow no longer takes, and forsaking the island shore, you head for a shoal bay across the river. Here, in ten feet of water, over thick grass and weed, you drop over a big copper spoon, polished till it gleams like fire. As you pay out line behind you be prepared at any moment to feel a mighty shock. Gradually, like a living coal, the copper fades behind the skiff, and you fix the pole firmly pointing astern, with the drag on full force. Row as gently as your arms allow, for every motion of the skiff jars the spinning spoon. A bit of lead on the leader will help to keep the copper down where the "longe" lie.

When the "longe" leaps you must grab the rod. No allowing him time to swallow this unsavory bait. He jumps clear into the air in a curving green crescent when he feels the treble gang of hooks against his tongue. He fumes and frets below and surges on the top, tossing his head to rid himself of the bitter bite. It will not shake out, and with the big hooks prying open his jaw, you soon drop him in the current. He dies much quicker on the spoon than when hooked on the bait.

Not so dainty or so fickle as the more stubborn bass, the "longe" will feed in all weathers, in every wind, only hiding in the depths during a storm. After a wild storm, when the sun suddenly flashes out, if you will visit the river and troll near shore with a brass spoon, you may kill the biggest and bravest of muskallonge.

The Lover's Trick.

That all is fair in love and war was recently exemplified in the case of an uptown young man, who had had a falling-out with his best girl, all on account of another fair charmer.

Girl No. 1 heard of the existence of Girl No. 2, and immediately became as cool toward the unfortunate young man as one well can be in this kind of weather. The swain in question was most anxious to be restored to the good graces of his best girl, but all his advances met with a frigid reception. For several days he was in despair, thoroughly convinced that there was no balm in Gilead. Finally he hit upon a brilliant scheme. Inditing a letter to Girl No. 2, in which he requested her to cease annoying him with her unwelcome attentions, he placed it in an envelope and carefully addressed it to Girl No. 1. The next day he sent her a telegram saying that he had made a mistake in placing two letters in their envelopes, and that she had probably received a letter not intended for her. Would she please return it?

The scheme worked like a charm. The foxy epistle was returned with a very gracious note, and now everything is moving along smoothly once more.—Philadelphia Record.

Dates to Taste.

The first Bible printed with a date was finished by Faust in 1462.

Morse patents for an electric telegraph were taken out in 1837.

Naval salutes to the flag are as old as the time of Alfred the Great.

The Calotype process of photography was perfected and patented in 1841.

The postage stamp oldest in use and still used is the 5d of New South Wales.

In 1035 there was a frost in England July 1 that destroyed nearly all the vegetation.

Sun pictures were brought to comparative perfection by Daguerre, of Paris, in 1839.

Gutta percha was brought into general use for overshoes, clothing, and other articles in 1845.

They Held On.

The first experience of riding in a railway train is undoubtedly very exciting to the person himself, and sometimes the novice affords amusement to his fellow-passengers. A correspondent sends us the following anecdote:

I was on a Western train when we stopped at a small station where two young fellows entered and took seats near me. They were unaccustomed to railway travel and were constantly on the watch for some accident.

Every few minutes they would raise the window and look out. Presently, as the train came around a curve, one of them saw a fence which he seemed to suppose crossed the track. Jerking his head in, he said in a frightened tone loud enough to be heard by every one in the car:

"Hold on tight, Bill, she's goin' to jump a fence.—Youth's Companion.

Pope's father was a merchant.
Neander's father was a carter.
Lucian was a sculptor's son.

But the Gown Had Fits.

The English language is a curious and wonderful thing. A Spanish girl in a very pretty dress joined a party at dinner at the Waldorf the other night.

"Why, dear me, Dolores," said her chaperon, pleasantly, "what an awfully fetching gown."

"Ah! do you think so?" said the other doubtfully. "Yes, perhaps it would be if it had fits."

She clearly meant to say that the gown did not fit her and wondered why everybody looked away to hide their smiles.

The Raw, Cutting Winds

Bring to the surface every latent pain. A change of even a few degrees marks the difference between comfort and pain to many persons. Happily disease now holds less sway. Science is continually bringing forward new remedies which successfully combat disease. Polson's Nerviline—nerve pain cure—has proved the most successful pain relieving remedy known. Its application is wide, for it is equally efficient in all forms of pain whether internal or external. 25 cents a bottle, at druggists.

Skin Diseases are more or less occasioned by bad blood. B.B.B. cures the following skin diseases: Shingles, Erysipelas, Itching Rashes, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Eruptions, Pimples and Blotches, by removing all impurities from the blood from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore.

FATHER KELLY'S PICNIC AT TROUT CREEK.

Report of a Picnic in the Parish of a Former Peterborough Priest.

The following refers to the annual picnic of the congregation of Rev. Father Kelly, formerly of St. Peter's Cathedral, but now of North Bay:

"The picnic under the auspices of the congregation of the Sacred Heart, Trout Creek, held on the church grounds recently fitted up for a park through the energy of the rector and his parishioners, passed off very successfully. The morning trains from the north and south brought a large number of excursionists for the picnic, and the attendance from the village and neighbouring parts was also large. At 10.30 a.m. the rev. rector requested the leading men present to come to the platform erected for the speakers. Mr. J. M. McNamara, of North Bay, was appointed chairman, and opened the meeting by calling upon Rev. Father Kelly, rector of Trout Creek, who in a few well chosen words welcomed the visitors to his first pic-nic in the northern district. He spoke of the good feeling existing in Trout Creek between the citizens in general, and he sincerely hoped that this fraternity and union would always exist. While he saw so many who had come ready and willing to aid him in his new parish, he expressed his gratitude to the good people of North Bay, Huntsville, Sundridge and Powassan. Wishing all present a grand day of amusement and pleasure, hoping to see them on future occasions. The chairman then called for Fathers McGuire, of Bracebridge, and Bloem, who made short speeches. At the close of the speeches, three rousing cheers were given for Father Kelly. At 11:20 a.m., a baseball match was played between Sundridge and South River, resulting in favour of the former; $10 prize. Two matches of football, the first between Huntsville and Sundridge, and the second between Huntsville and Trout Creek. At 11.35 a.m. dinner was served in the large dining hall, which would accommodate 130 guests. The different games advertised were run off during the afternoon. The famous cake was won by Father Kelly, who gave it back for the benefit of the picnic and by auction the committee made $20 more—thus making $47.75 on the cake. Everyone was delighted with the picnic and spoke highly of its management. $335.78 were the net proceeds which were paid on the church debt left by Father Kelly's predecessor, and now the church which had a debt of $400.19 only $78 remains to be paid.

In referring to Rev. Father Kelly's picnic the Sundridge Echo has the following in last week's issue: On Wednesday the first picnic ever held under the auspices of the congregation of the Sacred Heart church, Trout Creek, was a thorough success. There were quite a number of visitors from North Bay and other points along the line. Father Bloem of North North Bay was present, also Father McGuire of Bracebridge. The first item in the day's sport was an interesting game of ball between South River and Sundridge. The score stood at the end seven to eleven in favour of Sundridge. Huntsville and Sundridge then played football which resulted in two goals for Huntsville and none for Sundridge. Huntsville and Trout Creek next played, result, three goals for Trout Creek and none for Huntsville. A long programme of races was carried out. The ladies who provided the meals and the committees who worked so well to carry out the programme deserve the success which attended their effort, but there is no doubt the popularity of Rev. A. F. Kelly, rector in charge, went far towards making the picnic the success it was. He is a young man of fine personal appearance, a good speaker, with captivating manner and having many varied accomplishments at his command, he has it in his power to do much good.—North Bay Times.

HE'S ALL RIGHT.

Richard Harrison has Backache for Some Years—It was Due to Kidney Disease—No More Backaches Now.

HALL'S BRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 6.—Richard Harrison is well known here and everywhere highly respected. That he has been a sufferer for some years from backache and other kidney troubles was a well known fact, that gained much sympathy for him. Lately he has been moving around here as spry as a kitten and in the best of health. All his kidney troubles had disappeared, so he said, when questioned, and he further said that the cause of their disappearance was his having used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reputation of these pills as a specific in all kidney disorders is now firmly established in this part of Ontario.

SATURDAY'S MARKET.

The Square Crowded With Buyers and Sellers This Morning.

There was an unusually large market this morning, and the square was dotted with vehicles heavily laden with produce. Very little grain offered, but the large amount of garden produce, on the square, found ready buyers, especially among those who intend catering to the wants of the large number of visitors here next week. Oats took a jump to-day, selling from 30 to 33c; but no other grain is offering. New hay, $7 to $8; old, $8 to $10; potatoes were plentiful and were selling for 80c per bag; cabbages were plentiful and brought 5c a head; apples, 15c per peck; upstairs eggs were selling at 10c per doz.; butter, 20c per pound and chickens 40 to 50c; lamb brought 8 to 10c, and mutton 7 to 8c. In order to accommodate the large number expected in town next week, market will be held every day and all those interested are requested to take notice.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

Gives Instant Relief.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affection, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the skin is warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—bleed and ulcerate, form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause than Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

Resignation of a Master in Chancery—Montreal Cattle Returns.

OTTAWA, Ont. 11.—It is learned on good authority that W. M Matheson, Master in Chancery and Registrar High Court of Justice intends resigning his position at once, if indeed the resignation is not now on its way to Toronto. Mr. Matheson's reason for resigning is indifferent health. He has filled the position to the entire satisfaction of the bar and the people and the regret will be general when it is known that his health is such as to prevent him from attending to the duties very much longer. Mr. Matcheson came to Ottawa from Perth. There are, of course, a number of names for the position, which is an Ontario Government one. It is said to be worth about $3,500 a year, but the occupant of the office will not be able to practise at the bar. In this respect it differs from the County Attorneyship.

The Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals has returned from his inspection of the Soulanges Canal contracts.

A return received at the Department of Agriculture from the Cattle Inspector in Montreal shows that during the month of July the shipments of live stock to Europe from that port numbered: Cattle, 13,851; horses, 1,007; sheep, 16,182.

In February last the ship Mary E. Chipman, of St. John, N.B., was cast away on the sands of the Georgian coast, and but for the heroic conduct of Dr. Graham, of Savannah quarantine station, and his colored boy, Pete Dodge, the crew would undoubtedly have perished. Dr. Graham has received a massive gold medal from the Minister of Marine and his little colored assistant a silver medal.

The controller of inland revenue has commenced the work of organizing a bureau of electric light inspection under authority of the Act passed last session. Hon. Mr. Wood is in communication with Prof. Loudon, of Toronto University, in regard to the equipment requisite for the work of inspection. Beyond an expert, whose duty it will be to instruct the inspectors, no new appointments to the outside staff of the department will be necessary in order to carry on the work of inspection, the intention of the controller being that the inspection of electric lighting shall be performed by the gas inspectors now in office. Mr. Wood believes that once the operation of the testing apparatus has been explained to them the inspectors will have no more difficulty in testing the electric lights than they encounter in the inspection of gas.

Members of the Metropolitan Rifle Association commenced their annual prize competition at the Rideau rifle range yesterday. They were greeted with a cloudless sky and the air was just cool enough to be pleasant. The first match was the W. A. Allen (Nursery), open to members who have never won a prize at a Provincial or Dominion meeting; 7 rounds at 400 yards, with Snider or Martini rifles. Sergt. Bell, of the 45rd, got the first prize with 31 points, and Pte. Quinney, of the 43rd, second with 30 points. Pte. T. McJanet, of the 43rd, won the first in the Hon. J. C. Patterson match with 63 points; Pte. Moodie, of the 43rd, was second with 62.

Burned to Death at Beamsville.

BEAMSVILLE, Aug. 11.—The house of Lewis Cornwell, blacksmith, here, caught fire. The only inmates of the house were Cornwell and his wife, the former sleeping in an upstairs room and the latter downstairs. Mrs. Cornwell escaped, but in the excitement it was not known until a late hour whether Cornwell had escaped or not. When the building fell in, however, the remains were seen and removed. There was but little left of the unfortunate man but bones, the flesh having been burned to a cinder. Cornwell was a carriage blacksmith by trade. He was 62 years old and had been a resident of this place for some 50 years. It is not known how the fire originated, but it is supposed to have been caused by the explosion of a lamp. The building was insured.

Grain Elevator in Forest Burned.

FOREST, Ont., Aug. 11.—Fire broke out in one of the large grain elevators on the Grand Trunk property here. The firemen were quickly on hand, but the fire had made such headway that in spite of all that could be done the building was a smouldering ruin in one hour. Stored in the elevator were 6,000 bushels of wheat and 27,000 bushels of oats. The building cost $1,700 and was owned by the Forest Elevator and Milling Company, composed of a large number of farmers holding small amounts in stock. The grain was owned by R. A. Hill, reeve of Forest, who had the elevator leased from the company. Loss over $6,000; insurance, $1,000 on building and $4,000 on contents.

Father Fell Not Known in Toronto.

TORONTO, Aug. 11.—The priest who died near Kane, Pa., said to have lived in Toronto and known in one place as Rev. Father Fell and another as Father Fitzgerald, and who had in his pocket a communication from Archbishop Walsh is not on the list of reverend fathers stationed in Ontario. He is not known by the priests in the city either. Archbishop Walsh is not at present in Toronto, and Father Walsh did not know that the despatch to him had been answered.

Ticket Agents to Meet in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 11.—Arrangements are completed for the visit of the Railroad Ticket Agents' Association to this city. About 250 of the 6,000 members will arrive on Sunday the 19th. Mr. D. C. Pease, the district agent, has taken charge of the reception. The local agents have signified their intention of giving him every assistance in preparing an enjoyable time for the visiting brethren.

Why They Oppose a Mail Service.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Allan Steamship Company in a long letter to the Times repudiates the suggestion that they oppose a Canadian mail service in the fear that their own interests would be affected. They give in detail the reasons why they believe the service would be unsuccessful. The main reasons are the frequent presence of ice and fog in the St. Lawrence river and gulf, which would not allow twenty knots to be maintained safely, and difficulty in connection with railway carriage between the summer and winter termini, Quebec and Halifax.

The Pope Receiving Anglican Converts

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says that the Pope received several clergymen who were recently converted from the Church of England. The Pope said he rejoiced at their conversion. He and his successors would be prepared to sacrifice all except the custody of the sacred deposit of truth to welcome back those separated from the fold by schism and historical events.

Toronto's Mayor in Old London.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—At yesterday's meeting of the economic section of the British Association now in session at Oxford Mr. Kennedy, mayor of Toronto, Canada, severely criticized church, army and labor in the colonies. The Mansion House scheme of 1883 he said in no way solved the unemployed problem, but tended to increase pauperism.

BRITAIN FAVORS CHINA

Why Her Sympathies Are With the Celestials in the Struggle.

REPORT OF A BIG NAVAL EIGHT

Twenty-One Large Men-of-War and Many Small Craft Engaged—Further Confirmation of the Yellow Coat Story—The Attack at Wei-Hai-Wei.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The British dailies continue to publish vehement denunciations of Japan. Every repulse of the Japanese in Corea or Corean waters is welcomed editorially as would be a triumph of British arms and every Japanese success evokes a storm of disapproval and appeals to international law.

The opinion of the press are not reflected by the British public. The average Englishmen is either unpartizan or hopes that Japan will humble China in the present war. Among diplomats and others who speak with authority on Oriental affairs, however, there is a feeling of hostility and apprehension toward Japan. With few exceptions the men who have lived long at Eastern courts or traveled much in Asiatic countries, while imbued with no love for China, express the belief that Japan success in the present struggle would be bound to lead to trouble between England and Russia.

The government's views are similar. In official circles the impression is that the expulsion of the Chinese from Corea would be followed speedily by the appearance of a Russian fleet in Corean waters and perhaps of Russian soldiers on Corean soil. Russia would not allow Japan to make herself at home in the peninsula. She has regarded herself too long as the natural heir to Corea. At present she is anxious to see the status quo maintained and would be greatly displeased with any attempt of China or Japan to take possession of the land. Despite the great cost of the defence at Vladivostock and the skilfulness of the engineers engaged in the work that port is not a satisfactory naval station. The climate is harsh and wearing and the roadstead is blocked with ice during the cold season. Russia knows that only further south on the Corean coast there are several harbors exactly suited for her purpose. Port Lazareff on Broughton Bay is one of them. Russia has had eyes on it for years. Few Russian officers doubt that Port Lazareff would be of immense service to Russia in a war with England, who, with such a position in the hands of an enemy, would be obliged either to send a large part of her navy to Asiatic waters or to leave India, Australia and the Straits settlements open to Russia's naval attack.

In this situation lies the reason of England's great anxiety and enmity to the Japan cause. She is most eager to prevent Japan from giving Russia an excuse for interference. She realized that Russia might justify such interference quite plausible inasmuch as nobody at St Petersburg had the remotest influence in fomenting the war. The bitterness of the anti-Japanese writers in London have been declaring all the week that Japan is already scheming to play Russia and England against each other.

LI HUNG'S DEGRADATION.

The Story Confirmed From What Purports to be an Official Source.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News has been enabled to obtain from an official Chinese source a full confirmation of the report that Li Hung Chang had been reproved and degraded by the Emperor for dilatoriness in prosecuting the war. The correspondent says: "The Emperor expressed his displeasure at the backward condition of the forces, censured Li Hung Chang for remissness, and in a secret degree deprived him of the yellow coat and the peacock feather and reduced him in rank three degrees. Nevertheless Li Hung Chang retains office inasmuch as he has been given entire charge of the naval and military forces and enjoys all the privileges of Viceroy."

The correspondent says that the incident is entirely comprehensible to anybody conversant with Chinese customs.

A Desperate Naval Fight.

At the hour when the Central News correspondent sent his despatch a stubborn fight between Japanese warships and part of the Pei Wang squadron was reported to be in progress. Twenty-one large men-of-war and many small craft were engaged. The Japanese are reported to have lost heavily, although it is not known that they have lost any of their ships. There is no news to indicate which fleet has the advantage.

Great Britain has notified the combatants that warfare within the limits of the water approaches to Shanghai was precluded by Japan's promise not to attack the port and China's reciprocal promise not to obstruct the waterways leading to it. These promises, the note added, would apply to the approaches used by all vessels coming from either north or south.

The Attack at Wei-Hai-Wei.

Another despatch from Shangai, says: It is reported that 26 ships were engaged in the attack on Wei-Hai-Wei. Whether or not all were warships is not known. The forts and vessels exchanged about 50 shots. The forts fired badly; their shells fell short or wide. The attacks it is thought were a ruse to draw fire in order to ascertain the strength and position of the Chinese guns. No damage is reported to have been done at either Wei-Hai-Wei or Port Arthur. Two small Chinese gunboats were sighted Aug. 9 speeding towards Tien-Tsin.

The Times says that one Japanese ship was hit three times and another once in the Wei-Hai-Wei, and that the forts were not damaged.

In British naval circles the Japanese attacks upon Wei-Hai-Wei and Port Arthur are regarded as daring to rashness and the pluck of the Japanese is praised unstintedly. Wei-Hai-Wei and Port Arthur have exceedingly strong defences. Moreover according to testimony of Captain Lang and others conversant with the facts the Chinese are expert torpedoists and gunners. It is assumed that Japanese attack is part of a scheme to keep the Chinese fleet in the Gulf of Pee Chi-Li while Japan pours troops into Corea.

Wants the War Stopped.

The Daily News recommends concerted action by the European powers to stop the war between China and Japan. It says: "China and Japan respectively embody conservative and innovating forces. It is therefore natural that western nations should sympathize with Japan. If her ultimate victory were probable or even within the range of practical possibilities there might be plausible arguments against intervention. But the permanent defeat of China is almost impossible and the results, unless the powers interpose, will probably be the extinction of Japanese autonomy and jealous exclusion of foreign devils from Japan as well as from China. If mutual jealousy prevents the European powers from acting there remains the alternative of possible action by the United States. That may be contrary to one aspect of the Monroe doctrine and opposed to American ideas, but the situation is exceptional enough to justify a departure from precedent and usage. The fight cannot continue without seriously injuring the trade of the world."

The Japanese Repulsed.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 13.—A despatch received here from Chee Foo says that the Japanese attacked Port Hamilton (Port Arthur) on Friday evening and were repulsed. A special despatch from Chee Foo confirms the report that the Japanese fleet attacked the Chinese fleet at Wei-Hai-Wei and that the former was repulsed at one entrance of the harbor and subsequently attacked the other entrance.

The special despatch says that the Japanese made a daring attempt to capture the forts and arsenals at Wei-Hai-Wei.

The Japanese attacked in force, four cruisers and several smaller vessels heading the advance. The first shots were exchanged at daylight, but the Chinese were on the alert and their gunners returned a vigorous fire from the forts.

The Japanese apparently expected to take the Chinese by surprise while the latter's warships were away, as the Chinese squadron, with the exception of some small gunboats and torpedo vessels, sailed the day before for another port.

But the gunboats and forts kept up such a well-directed fire that the Japanese were unable to enter the harbor. The Chinese torpedo boats were then ordered to advance and when they did so the Japanese fleet retired.

TRIAL OF THE ANARCHISTS.

All Acquitted of the Charge of Anarchy—Three Guilty of Other Crimes.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—The anarchist trial ended yesterday in the acquittal of all the 30 defendants on the charge of Anarchy. Three of the prisoners, however, were found guilty of other charges.

The morning session of the court was devoted to the finishing of the speeches for the defence. The prisoner Jean Grave made in his own behalf a short but impressive statement concluding with the words: "My communism belongs not to the history of crime, but to that of thought."

The prisoner Sebastian Faure spoke eloquently. "My only crime" he said, "is preaching, like Christ, universal happiness."

The presiding judge submitted 60 questions to the jury. After two hours deliberation the jury acquitted all the prisoners of anarchy but convicted Ortiz of burglary, and Chenicotti and Bertani of receiving stolen property. Ortiz was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment, Chenicotti to eight years at hard labor and Bertani to six months imprisonment.

Anarchists After the Czar.

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Koesnische Zeitung says much ill-feeling was caused by the Czar's refusal at the time of the Grand Duchess Xenia's marriage to declare an amnesty for minor criminals. Such an amnesty was fully expected. Since the wedding many anonymous letters threatening revenge have been received by the Czar. The St. Petersburg police have been notified from Paris that several of the ngliest French anarchists have left Paris for Russia. French detectives who know the faces of the most desperate French anarchists have been stationed at the entrance of the Peterhoff palace.

Two of the Cook Gang Left.

PARIS, Texas, Aug. 13.—Last Thursday morning, about eight miles from Sapulpa, Henry Munson and Alonzo Gordon were shot and instantly killed by the Uchee scouts under command of Jim Sapulpa. Munson and Gordon belonged to the notorious Bill Cook gang of outlaws, who lately robbed the Chandler Bank and were on their way to the rendezvous of the gang. This leaves only two of the Cook gang at large, Bill Cook and Cherokee Bill.

Burglars Scared From Their Booty.

UTICA, N.Y., Aug. 13.—The outer doors of the vault in the bank at West Winfield were blown open on Saturday with dynamite. A second cartridge with a fuse was placed in the last door when the villagers, who had been alarmed by a young man who had seen a light in the bank at 3 a.m., scared the burglars away. Not a cent was secured at the bank, and its business is in no way interfered with.

Taking Back Their Switchmen.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—The Lake Shore Railroad took back seven of its old switchmen this morning. These are the first of the men to return to work on this road since the strike was declared off. The company shows a disposition to let the old employes who left them remain idle for a time. None of the men hired during the strike are being discharged.

My feet were so badly swollen that I could not wear my shoes. I got Yellow Oil, and to my astonishment it gave instant relief, and two bottles completely cured me. Mrs. W. G. McKay, Berwick, Ont.

FIJI NATIVES REBELLED

And Reverted to Devil Worship to Get Even With the Government

SEVERAL TOWNS WERE RAIDED

And the Inhabitants Massacred and Eaten Before the Rebellion Was Crushed. —Serious Trouble Reported in the Sheep-Raising Districts of Queensland.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 13.—The Australian steamer Arawa arrived at noon yesterday.

The Arawa touched at Suva, Fiji, July 26. She brings word thence of the suppression of a native revolution on Vanua Leva Island, Fiji. The trouble arose over the delimitation of provinces by the Fiji government. By this measure the district of Sequaga was included in that of Macuata against the people's wish. Incited by some of their chiefs the natives returned to their old time devil worship or "Lave Ni Wai" as a way out of the difficulty, the pretender saying he had received revelations from the old gods of Fiji.

His followers then revolted against the constituted authority. Sir J. B. Thurston finally put them down with a constabulary force, after the revolting natives had raided several towns, massacring people and mutilating and eating the dead, after the custom of fifty years ago. This was the first act of general cannibalism since 1876.

There is serious trouble in Queensland between the shearers and the Pastoralists' Association. The shearers refuse to agree to sign a proffered form of agreement. In consequence sheep owners have brought in outsiders to work and strikes followed. An incendiary leaflet circulated through pastoral centres calls upon the shearers to make every man join the union and thus build up a fund to obtain rifles and ammunition, "to fight squatters when the time comes." In addition it advises that "blacklegs" be picked off as they pass through the bush. It also advocates the destruction of property.

FIRE AT PILLEY'S ISLAND.

Premises of a Trading Company Destroyed by an Incendiary.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Aug. 13.—Wednesday night a large fire occurred at Pilley's Island, destroying the premises of the Notre Dame Trading Company, shop, dwelling, two stores and all their contents. It is estimated the loss is $20,000; no insurance. The fire spread with great rapidity and threatened to destroy the whole mining settlement. It ignited the schoolhouse but headway was prevented. It also caught the adjacent woods and it was hours before it was stamped out.

Investigation disclosed the fact that the fire was the work of an incendiary. Suspicion pointed to John Raines, who when arrested admitted his guilt, but claimed another man named Shaw, who was indebted to the company, instigated him to perform the deed. He threw a lighted match into the store after breaking a window. It caught a quantity of inflammable material and caused the fire. Raines was committed for trial and a warrant was issued for Snow's arrest. Intelligence of the affair only reached here last night and created much excitement.

DISTRESS IN THE WEST.

The Prolonged Drought Drives Settlers Out of Nebraska and Colorado.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Aug. 13.—Long trains of canvas-covered wagons pass daily through this city eastward. They belong to the army of settlers who have been forced from their homes in Western Nebraska and Eastern Colorado by the unprecedented drought of the present season. Many have no particular destination in view. Their sole object is to reach some locality east of the Mississippi where they can eke out an existence until another season, and escape the hardship of the winter on the prairie. Since this exodus began it has been estimated that 10,000 people have left the State.

A Bad Runaway in London.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—George Murtch, blacksmith, of Lobo, drove into the city Saturday with his two daughters, Misses Sarah and Mary Murtch. When riding down Talbot street a wheel collapsed near Lichfield street. Mr. Murtch and Miss Sarah fell out, but the farmer recovered and grabbed the horse. He was dragged nearly a block before the animal was stopped by a telephone pole near Maple street. Miss Mary was here thrown violently on the sidewalk. She was badly bruised and her back was injured painfully. Miss Sarah escaped with lighter injuries. Mr. Murtch was unhurt. The vehicle was completely demolished.

Threw Herself Before a Trolley.

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—A woman named Clarke made a most determined attempt at suicide on Saturday. She threw herself in front of a motor car on the Queen street east line, at the corner of Greenwood. Nothing but the presence of mind on the part of the driver saved her life. But, although the motor was promptly reversed, the fender was within a foot of her prostrate form before the car stopped. The woman was then removed from the rails by force.

A Baptist Church in Danger.

MONTREAL, Aug. 13.—The mayor and chief of police of Sorel have warned Rev. Louis Cote, of the Sorel Baptist church, that his church is likely to be mobbed, and that unless he takes down a placard on the door, containing two texts, which they consider offensive, they will not protect the building.

The New "Soo" Canal.

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—Speaking regarding the opening of the Soo canal, Minister Bowell said the question had not yet been considered by Council as to whether or not the canal would be free. He could not see how the Canadian Government could impose a toll while the American canal immediately alongside of it was free.

Did you get one of those Medicine Measuring Glasses W. Madill is giving free with each bottle of medicine.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

THE GLOBE'S CORRESPONDENT DIGS ANOTHER SECTION OR TWO.

And, with his Facile Pen—Canoeing Through Stony Lake—Running the Rapids of the Otonabee—Through the Little Lake.

The following letter is from the Globe's special correspondent, who is testing the practicability of the Trent Valley canal as a means of communication of travel—with a canoe. From one part of his letter we should judge that he felt quite at home in Peterborough, where, he says, the grocers overcharged him for supplies (as he and his companion "eat themselves," and generally played the hog upon him as is the manner of the city he comes from, Toronto — according to the Hamilton papers:

Little Lake, Peterborough, Aug. 6th.—Stony Lake is an irregular sheet of water about ten miles in length. But the course of the through canal runs only about three miles eastward among the granite islands at its upper or western extremity before turning southward, along Clear Lake. This little lake is worthy of its name. It is about five miles in length, and along its shores the granite, which has become familiar since leaving Buckhorn, again changes to shelving limestone. Clear Lake has a bad reputation in regard to sudden storms, and canoe navigators are advised by men of experience to keep close to the shore. A man from Toronto Bay is impressed with the rigid caution of the residents along the interior lakes in regard to canoe sailing. But this merely emphasizes the absolute necessity of avoiding accidents in lonely places. In the crowded Bay the canoeist, experienced or otherwise, hoists a sail, if he has one, and trusts to his friends to pull him and his passenger out when the wrong side comes uppermost. The entire absence of outside assistance naturally impresses a salutary caution. Clear Lake narrows gradually and regularly till its waters discharge into the Otonabee River at Young's Point. This is the end of the northern chain of lakes which begin their irregular westerly course at Balsam Lake in the centre of Victoria County, about 60 miles further up stream, and 18 miles from Lake Simcoe. This eighteen mile section will, if completed, make Lake Simcoe another link in the chain. A large section of the comfortable appropriation is promised for this section, and as it will require eleven locks the money will have ample and numerous discharging channels. Major Sam Hughes does not object to having his constituency cleft in twain by the artificial waterway. The many worthy men whose qualities he will be able to recommend and guarantee to the engineers and contractors will be sufficient to gladden the heart of anyone who delights in bestowing friendship, even if it should be bestowed during the questionable days preceding a general election. But Lake Simcoe is still separated from the eastern chain and the Major still holds the constituency. At Young's Point a lock is maintained by the Ontario Government, and as no fees are imposed there is no impediment to the regular steamboat service between Lakefield, five miles down the river, and the summer residences on the islands of Stony Lake. Mr. Young, the lock tender, succeeded to the position on the death of his father several years ago. The elder Mr. Young gave his name to the village. He was one of the first settlers in that locality, and in the earlier and more primitive times made granite mill-stones for the small grist mills along the rivers and streams of the sparsely-settled districts. He was appointed lock-tender by the Sandfield Macdonald Ministry. And the present Mr. Young's strong Conservative leanings did not prevent him from succeeding his father, as the best qualified man for the position, under the Mowat Ministry. The village is only three miles by land from Bridgenorth, on Chemong Lake, but by water, through the Burleigh, Lovesick and Buckhorn locks, the distance is about twenty miles.

AT THE OTONABEE.

Along the five-mile course from Young's Point to Lakefield the Otonabee River widens out into Lake Katchawanoka. I cannot interpret the name, but the combination of sounds seems suited to the irregular and uncertain, marshy shores. The Dominion Government maintains a boom about four miles in length extending down the centre of this river-lake. It is held in position by occasional piers and islands, the object being to prevent logs from straying across into the steamboat channel. The shores have been flooded by the dam at Lakefield, and the extensive marshes are a favorite breeding ground for black ducks. The young of this season are now full-grown, and are moving about the river in small flocks, with that quick, darting flight always attractive to the eye of a sportsman. Herons are abundant, and the steady, undulating motions of their grey wings show in marked outline against the dark-green of the cedars and maples bordering the marshy shore. Sometimes the young do not take on the coy nature of their species, and, by ceasing to paddle, we were often able to sail within a few feet of them. The canoe, with its little sail, seemed to excite their curiosity, but often before it was past they would resume their slow, deliberate wading step, with eye directed toward the water in search of tadpoles and minnows. At the village of Lakefield this lake of extravagant name and the long, navigable section of the canal both come to an end. The dam maintaining the water to Young's Point, the landing pier and cribs are extensive government works, but, apparently, small in comparison with the works back in the lonesome regions of Lovesick and Burleigh. From Lakefield back to Balsam Lake there is about 100 miles of direct and tributary navigable water.

UNNAVIGABLE WATER.

Down stream to Peterborough about ten miles distant there is a shallow, rapid stream, which will require, according to engineers' estimates, thirteen locks. This is one of the sections for which the big appropriation has been passed in the supplementary estimates and the activity of surveying operations is regarded as evidence of an approaching election.

After making a portage at the Lakefield dam, there is an exciting run down the rapids for three apparently long miles. Here at this season the bow man must keep a sharp lookout for the rocks, or they will be apt to detain an essential section of his canoe. The rocks projecting above the surface are as harmless as the hum of a mosquito. They are only dangerous when they hide a few inches under water. If a man had leisure to indulge his feelings he would, doubtless, feel a creeping sensation when his canoe darted past one of these round stones, showing its yellow face under the curling water. But attention to the rocks in front crowd out all thought of those successfully passed. It does not do to trust entirely to surface indications, for sometimes the ominous grating sensation tells of a too close acquaintance where everything looked smooth and undisturbed. Tales of skill in shooting rapids are familiar all along the line of canoe navigation, but I think that a boat which will stand a good hard bump without failing to pieces is the perfection of human ingenuity in that regard. After the first rush of the Lakefield rapids, the water grows comparatively quiet, and there is smooth sailing till within a few miles of Peterborough. Here a succession of dams, booms and logs, apparently put in the river for no other purpose than to vex and annoy canoeists, makes the passage one of hard manual labour. Anyone desiring exercise can find it here without stint in lifting a canoe out of and into the water half a dozen times in a two-mile trip. At Peterborough we again encounter advanced civilization, with its inevitable accompaniment of man's hand turned against his neighbour. The man, sunburned and in need of a shave, who is injudicious enough to speak grammatically to a grocer, is at once detected as a camper. He is charged double prices for corned beef and canned salmon and is loaded with every piece of American silver about the place if sufficiently injudicious to produce a bill. Every one is anxious to do something for him at 75 per cent. advance on ordinary rates, The people do not run after him if he tries to escape, as at Niagara Falls, but they lie in wait for him. And, in the slang of the age, they get there, notwithstanding. In fact, a canoeist from Toronto entering Peterborough short of rations is certain to get a suggestive reminder of his city home. It also reminds him by contrast of the farmers who occasionally came to his camp at dusk and, instead of serving a notice to quit, or a bill for one night's rent of an eight-foot square of wilderness, presented him with a pitcher of milk or a small basket of apples. But a wide variety of people can be encountered, even on a canoe voyage.

THE CANAL AGAIN.

At Peterborough, below the C. P. Railway bridge, navigable water is again encountered, and it continues to Healey's Falls, on the Trent River, a distance of 52 miles. Although there is a general impression all along the canal that the appropriation will be spent "right along here," it is generally understood in better informed circles that the greatest amount of bustle and activity will be between Peterborough and Lakefield. This section is a hiatus in the canal. It separates the upper navigable section, comprising Balsam, Cameron, Sturgeon, Pigeon, Buckhorn, Deer, Lovesick, Stony and Clear Lakes, from the lower navigable section, made up of the Otonabee River, Rice Lake and Trent River. If this ten miles of shallow rapids were made navigable it would make about 225 miles of direct and tributary navigable water. That is the explanation offered to those who inquire the reason for concentrating attention on this middle section. To those who estimate all projects in proportion to their size, the explanation is ample. The lock and dam at Whitlas' Rapids below Peterborough, back up the water in Little Lake, and enable the two steamers, running on the river and Rice Lake to Hastings, to reach the dock close to the railway stations. Little Lake is an elarged elbow of the river, and circles round the cemetery, bearing the same name. To please a Peterborough man it is necessary to praise this cemetery, and it really deserves all the pleasant things which have been said about it. A remarkably favourable situation has been improved by art, with the rare judgment which spares the natural features, not reducing them to a mechanical level, according to the rules of procedure in landscape gardening. The commercial spirit which seems to animate the people of Peterborough in their dealings with water-gipsies, has not prompted them to take a post-mortem advantage of those citizens who are sufficiently unfortunate to die. The cemetery is not run on commercial principles, this safest of all enterprises being abandoned in the cause of rustic art. It is arranged that all the receipts shall be expended in maintaining and beautifying the grounds. The result is a burial place of unusual beauty and artistic arrangement. In the compact grove of pines on the southern slope, a visitor looking through the shrubbery at the encircling river can easily forget the proximity of both the living and the dead. And there are many other pleasant spots where nature has been the only artist. I hope my admiration for this cemetery, the pride of Peterborough, will atone for the sin of revealing my experience in replenishing the commissariat supplies.

"A little farm well tilled,

A little wife well willed."

What could you wish a man better than that? The last is not the least by any means, but how can a wife be well willed if she be the victim of those distressing maladies that make her life a burden? Let her take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and cure all painful irregularities, uterine disorders, inflammation and ulceration, prolapsus and kindred weaknesses. It is a boon and a blessing to women. Thousands are in the bloom of health through using it, when otherwise they would be under the sod. Are you a sufferer? Use it, or some day we may read—

A Denim Dress.

A young lady who teaches during the regular school term, in order to earn the money to attend an art school in the city through the summer months, was invited to join a class on a sketching tour. The expense was slight, the objective point being a near-by mountain town, but she had no suitable dress. Something was required that would stand rain, sun and daubs of paint. Being a woman of resources and determined to go, she bought six yards of denim, overalls stuff. The goods were first washed and boiled, after which she cut out a short bell skirt, turning the wrong side of the goods out and turning up at the bottom a wide hem of right side. Then she made a blazer of the same with wide collar and cuffs of the dark blue. A shirt waist of blue and white seersucker, three yards at twelve cents a yard—completed this artistic suit at a cost of one dollar and thirty-four cents.—Country Gentleman.

Good Mutton.

A fat young ewe affords the best ripe mutton; next a good wether. The sheep selected for mutton should be kept quiet and cool in a dark place, twenty-four hours without anything to eat, but with all the water it will drink; above all things it should not be worried and heated. The neck being laid across a block, may be severed at a blow with an axe, and the flow of blood should be made as complete as possible by the butcher seizing the hind leg and gently pulling and pushing with a foot on the carcass. The disemboweling and skinning should be quickly dispatched. Let the sheep be hung up, ripped and the bowels removed; then the skinning can be performed afterward. Immediately after the sheep is hung up, if a hole is made between the hind legs and the abdomen filled up with very cold water it will assist in preventing the "sheepy" taste.—Ohio Farmer.

The Difference Between Knots and Miles.

One of the things which it seems difficult for the public mind to grasp is that there is a decided difference between the knot and the mile. It is certainly about time to have it thoroughly understood that the two are not the same thing. It seems easy enough to remember that a mile is only about 87 per cent. of a knot, the latter being approximately 6,082 feet in length, while the statute mile measures 5,280 feet.—Carrier's Magazine.

Cut Flowers.

You should always pull the leaves off the stalks of flowers before putting them in water—those which would be in the water, not those above it. And with flowers from any hard-stalked sort of shrub the bark should be pealed off as well as the leaves. The flowers live ever so much longer if these precautions are taken. A scrap of charcoal in the water is also a great preservative.

Measuring a Room.

In a catalogue recently issued the following rules are given for the measurement of rooms to determine the exact amount of paper required to cover the surfaces. As most paper when trimmed is eighteen inches wide and twenty-four feet to the single piece, a piece will contain thirty-six square feet.

Measure the length and height of each wall in feet and multiply. Add together the number of square feet of each wall, getting the total number of square feet. Divide the total by thirty-six, which will give you the number of pieces required for side wall. Allow one-half piece of paper for each door and window.

To allow for waste and matching it is safer to divide by thirty-three instead of thirty-six.

To find number of single pieces required for ceiling, multiply length by width in feet and divide by thirty-three.

Dickens Copyrights.

The copyright of nine of Dickens' novels, and also of the "American Notes" and all his Christmas stories, has expired, but there are still nine works on which it remains, namely, "Bleak House" (expires this year); "Child's History of England" (1895); "Hard Times," "Little Dorrit," "Tales of Two Cities," "Great Expectations" (1903); "Our Mutual Friend" (1907); "Uncommercial Traveler" (1911); and "Edwin Drood" (1913).

Musical Fish of Ceylon.

Every bay and inlet on the coast of Ceylon abounds with musical fish. Their song, if it can be called a song, is not one sustained note like a bird's but a multitude of tiny, soft, sweet sounds, each clear and distinct in itself, something like the vibrations of a wineglass when its rim is rubbed with the moistened finger. In the harbor at Bombay, India, there is a fish with song like the sound produced by an æolian harp.

The earlier symptoms of dyspepsia, heartburn and occasional headaches, should not be neglected. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla to be cured.

THE MARRIAGE WAS BOGUS.

Jeanette Stover Trusted the Man to Whom Her Relatives Objected.

SARNIA, Aug. 11.—About two months ago a young man about 25 years of age giving the name of Frank Hill and claiming to follow the calling of a horse trainer and jockey, made his appearance in the village of Sombra, county of Lambton, and obtained employment.

He mingled with some of the most respectable people in the community and paid great attention to Miss Jeanette Stover, an estimable young girl of 18 years. He finally proposed marriage and as the young lady's relatives were opposed to her receiving his attentions induced her to have the ceremony performed secretly.

It now turns out that this marriage was bogus and was brought about by means of a forged certificate. By this means he accomplished the young girl's ruin. The relatives of the girl became suspicious and things were getting so warm for him that on the 6th inst. he sought to cover up his crime by another secret but genuine marriage.

He is now committed for trial for forging a marriage certificate and also for attempting to escape from the constable who made the arrest Friday morning. He refuses to give any information as to his former history or as to where he came from. Report has it that he has a wife and child living either in the neighborhood of Brantford or Niagara. Information on this point is awaited by the injured girl and her friends. The case will be investigated by the Crown authorities at Sarnia.

Firing a 100-Ton Gun.

"The man who has never been in close proximity to a 100-ton gun when it is fired can have little conception of the noise and vibration," said Lieutenant John W. Leigh, a retired naval officer. "Partly by courtesy and partly by chance, I was on the Thunderer at the siege of Alexandria, some twelve or thirteen years ago. Two sets of advice were given me as to how to act when the big guns were fired. Old experienced seamen can stand the shock by raising on their toes the moment the word is given to fire. The majority of people, however, find it necessary in order to preserve their ear drums from perforation, to lie down, resting most of the weight on their hands and toes. Even with this precaution, the sensation is most unpleasant until one gets used to it. Even with the comparatively small guns in general use in our navy, the concussion on board a ship when a shot is fired is very annoying, but the enormous guns used so generally in European navies are a source of terrible danger to the crew as well as the enemy, and I doubt if they could possibly be used in a hand to hand encounter, useful as they are in destroying distant ports."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Care of the Deciduous Teeth.

The child receives its first temporary tooth about the fifth month after birth, the dentition being completed at the age of two years. These teeth should be cleaned with a soft brust and warm water. The child usually retains these teeth until the eruption of the permanent set, the first permanent tooth appearing about the 6th year. The deciduous teeth should be carefully watched, and when a tooth shows decay consult your dentist and have it filled. At this stage the filling is not expensive, and will save the child much pain and trouble from an aching tooth. The early extraction of the deciduous teeth often causes the irregularities of the permanent set. They should be retained until the jaw has fully expanded to receive the permanent teeth. Teach the child the necessity of keeping the teeth clean and pure. The early use of the tooth brush will establish a habit that will, in after years, be considered a necessity to health and personal cleanliness.—New York Herald.

Grains of Gold.

The loud talker is seldom a strong thinker.

A mistake is apt to attract more attention to us than a virtue.

Good manners are a part of good morals, and it is as much your duty as your interest to practice both.

Life has two surprises. In youth one is surprised that he knows so much. When he has reached matured life he is surprised that there are so many things that he doesn't know.

Man and horse are wonderfully alike. Whatever distresses one would distress the other. God designed them to be the best of friends, and to abuse a horse is mean and cowardly to the last degree.

A Wise Old Father.

He—And did you tell your father that although I am penniless, with your love I would be the richest man in the world? She—Yes, but it did no good. He said I'd be a fool to enter into a life partnership in which I had to furnish all the capital.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

'PRENTICE BOYS AT WORSHIP.

Annual Parade for Divine Service—A Fine Turn Out to George Street Methodist Church—Eloquent Sermon by Rev. J. J. Rae—List of the Orange Bodies Represented.

Yesterday was the 206th anniversary of the opening of the Gates of Derry, and the members of Jubilee Lodge attended divine service at the George street Methodist church, where the annual sermon was preached to them by the Rev. J. J. Rae, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church.

Shortly before 7 o'clock the members of Jubilee Lodge No. 7, 'Prentice Boys, with the other Orange Lodges of the town, assembled at the corner of Simcoe and George streets, and marched to the church in the following order:

Fire Brigade Band.
Jubilee Lodge, 'Prentice Boys, No. 7.
Queen's Own Lodge, L. T. B., No. 48.
Rising Sons, L. T. B., No. 9.
Nassau, L. O. L., No. 457.
Members of L. O. L.'s Nos. 30 and 49.

On arriving at the church the brethren to the number of over two hundred, occupied the centre range of seats. After devotional exercises and the singing of a number of hymns by the full choir, the speaker took as his text the 8th verse of the 18th chapter of St. Luke. He referred to the absence through illness of the pastor, Rev. W. R. Young, whose place he was filling, and whom they would all like to see present that evening. After explaining the lessons taught in the text quoted, the reverend gentleman dwelt eloquently on the command of God to men to go forward in their mission of advancing God's interests and fulfil His commands. He then alluded to the antipathy existing among mankind against the Word of God. The infidelity now existing in the world was, he said, not so dangerous as it was sad and the consequence was that the prospects of fulfilling God's Word were not as discouraging as they might be. There are those who are living a sluggish life and who do not seek the Word of God and to-day the very foundations of the church are being shaken with infidelism. Then there was the opposition of men who oppose Christianity and the actual carelessness and antipathy of others. The reverend gentlemen referred to the dividing line between the Roman Catholic church and Protestantism and said they were there to note the former church's virtues in reforming and uplifting mankind and her professedly Christian stand, and to deplore her antagonism. He then asked those present to look at Protestantism, to see if it was united as Catholicism. Look at the divisions along the line of labour and capital, and its position even in independent Canada.—look at the opposition to temperance, and the political and social leprosy of the day. The world was by no means perfect. The needs of the hour was a mightier grasp of truth. There has been considerable said, the reverend speaker then remarked, about the lines of reform, and of the power in ballots; but what was needed was the Bible—the foundation of the principles of the progress of mankind. The ethics of the Bible stood the test, and stand to-day unchanged through all the criticisms of the centuries. It is little understood by man, and how many acted as if they believed in it? Christ said, "My kingdom is not of this world, and love, not power, should sway men," but they replied that love was good enough for children and womanly woman. Men let power assert itself—to subjugate their fellow men, and were not trying to meet their difficulty. How many persons, the speaker asked, thought of the Word of God in business and in the society circle? We need to press the word of God to our hearts defend it, and live as we often desire to live in the sight of God. We could not remove ourselves from the Word of God, because the Word should judge us on the last day. The world required a better class of men with a greater grasp of truth. Rev. Lyman Abbott stated there were three classes of men in this world. One class endeavoured to go through life shouldering their burden on others. The second class started out with teeth set and face firm, not asking aid to carry the responsibility of this life, and the third class carried the burdens of their own life and the responsibilities of others. How few there were of the latter class. Men need to be charged with the electric power of the Infinite one. A better class of men was needed. D'Israeli once said, we based too much on system and too little on men. Until we grasp the truth of God we cannot bring forth the kind of men. We want more of God's power in the world. God has shut himself up to men. He has had a poor class of men to deal with in this world—men not true to their opportunities. In refering to the organization before him the speaker stated he was in sympathy with their work, and the world needed them. If they were men whom God could use and speak by he would extend them the right hand of fellowship and congratulate them upon the progress made. They did not claim a monopoly of any virtue, and the speaker besought them to understand the work they undertook in the fulfillment of the divine command. The speaker stated he often wished when addressing large congregations that God would, like the general on the field of battle, call halt. What would be the condition of our life at that moment?

In bringing his remarks to a close the eloquent speaker, in a beautiful word picture, described the journeying of travellers in the catacombs, and in chaste diction pictured their travelling in the darkness until one of the number perceived a gleaming shadow of light, which showed them the way from darkness into God's sunlight, leaving the dark shadow of the catacombs behind them. God has gleamed his light into the world. If you would know the Word follow the light till the clouds pass away. The Sun never sets in the City of God, and the light of this world is Jesus Christ.

Rev. Mr. Rae's sermon was an eloquent and powerful effort, and a condensed synopsis can give no idea of the grandeur and depth of thought as well as the valuable instruction imparted in the sermon of last evening.

While the collection was being taken up Mrs. Chambers, of Montreal, contributed a solo in excellent voice and sympathetic expression, and at the close of the service a cornet solo was rendered with taste and skill by Mr. John Millar.

The brethren reformed outside the church and marched back to their lodge rooms where the usual vote of thanks was passed.

FIRE IN OTONABEE.

The Barns and Stables of Mr. B. Matchet Destroyed by Fire Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon lightning struck the stables and barns of Mr. A. Matchett, River Road, Otonabee, which were entirely consumed. They included a barn, cow stable and horse stable. The barn contained about two hundred and fifty bushels of threshed grain, fourteen loads of hay and a number of farming implements. The storm which visited that section was a very severe one. At the time of the fire and the family were at church with the exception of the old gentleman and a little girl. A number of the people at the church noticed the lightning strike the building. Four other places were also struck in the vicinity including Mr. John Shaugnessy's barn, but no damage was done. The buildings and contents belonging to Mr. Matchett were partly covered by insurance.

DERBY DAY DOINGS.

The 206th Anniversary of the Opening of the Gates of Derry Celebrated To-day—The Town En Fete and Crowded With Visitors—A Successful Celebration.

To-day is the 206th anniversary of the opening of the Gates of Derry—a day held sacred by Orangemen the world over, but more especially by the Order of 'Prentice Boys. At an early hour this morning the local lodges of True Blues and 'Prentice Boys, under whose auspices the demonstration is being held in Peterborough, gathered at their respective lodge rooms in order to have everything in readiness for the reception of their brethren. The decorations were completed Saturday evening and to-day the streets presented an imposing appearance. Flags and buntings also adorned many of the hotels and places of business.

Shortly after eight o'clock the 'Prentice Boys, True Blues, and members of the Sons of Ireland Protestant Association marched to the G. T. R. station to welcome the visitors from Fraserville and other points along the line. The Orangemen and True Blues from Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon came in from Chemong and the brethren from Lakefield, Buckhorn and Youngs' Point arrived on the Lakefield train and marched over from Ashburnham. All these trains brought hundreds of excursionists to town.

After dinner the various bands having been rested and refreshed paraded the streets playing party tunes, with the most vicorous double forte efforts, the drummers particularly making the air resonant with resounding punishment of the goat skin. The streets were thronged with spectators and the scene altogether was a most animated one. About 2.10 the different lodges and drill corps assembled in the park and lined up for the parade, a reference to which will appear in to-morrow's issue.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Rev. Mr. Beer occupied the pulpit in the Mark street church yesterday, his sermon being a thoughtful and learned discourse.

At the morning service in the George street Methodist church, yesterday, an eloquent and forcible sermon was preached by Rev. R. E. Spence, of Manitoba.

At St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday Rev. Father J. Collins, Professor in Assumption College, Sandwich, preached two eloquent and scholarly sermons at the 8 and 10:30 o'clock masses.

Rev. W. A. Hunter, M. A., occupied the pulpit in St. Andrew's church both morning and evening. His discourses were thoughtful and practical. The choir rendered excellent music at both services.

CHARLOTTE STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

The services of yesterday began with the love feast at 9.30 a.m., a goodly number present. The pastor conducted the service and gave an address on the 3rd chapter of the 1st Epistle of St. John, pointing out the privileges of Christians, who are called sons of God. The service at 11 a.m. was well attended. The preacher chose for his text the following words, found in the first book of Kings, 18th chapter and 42nd verse: "So Ahab went up to eat and drink, but Elijah went up to pray." After describing the sacred memories and associations connected with Mount Carmel, the preacher graphically portrayed by words of deep spiritual power the scene of the sacrifices of the prophets of Bael, where the only representative of the true God was present, and where God vindicated his almighty power by sending down fire from heaven to consume the sacrifice. The preacher pointed out the power of prayer, first humility, earnestness and importunity, which were crowned by success in God answering the prayer of his servant in sending rain. The sermon was practical, helpful, and given from a living personal experience. The anthem sung by the choir was an inspiration to pastor and people. During the offertory Miss A. Fawcett and Mr. A. L. Davis sang "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." The evening service was taken by Rev. R. E. Spence who spoke from Proverbs, 23rd chapter, 7th verse, "For as he thinketh in his heart so is he, etc." The subject was practical and the illustrations were faithfully given. The choir again gave a fine quartette.

STILL MORE LICENSE REDUCTION TWADDLE.

It appears that the Review has not yet made enough party capital out of the license reduction matter and on Saturday it returned to the subject in defence of its co-workers in this direction, the Royal Templars, whom it accuses the EXAMINER of attacking and abusing. There is no justification for such a charge. The EXAMINER merely pointed out that the organization, misled by the partizan zeal of some of its members, was lending itself to the promotion of partizan ends. We were guilty of no disparagement or abuse of an institution which, if rightly carried on, is doing a good work in the interests of morality and temperance. But when, forgetful of its mission, the Royal Templars, or any other organization lends itself to the schemes of party heelers, it must expect the criticism such a course of action invites.

The Review claims to be anxious that the spirit of the reduction by-law should be carried out and in the course of its article of Saturday, says as follows:—

"The EXAMINER or Mr. Stratton or the License Commissioners or anyone else can never show to the satisfaction of the public that the spirit of the reduction by-law was carried out. The places without the accommodation were left with licenses on account of political and personal reasons, while some of the best hotels in town were deprived of licenses. Good or bad records made little difference to the Commissioners for a year or two ago the proprietor of one of the houses now cut off, Mr. Cavanagh, was convicted of a third offence, and the law says distinctly he shall not receive a license. Now what did these commissioners so zealous now for "pious living" and "morality" do? Did they then cut this man off as the law said they must do? As in the case of the reduction by-law, they nominally complied with the law but disregarded the spirit of the enactment. They gave the license to a son and the hotel man ran the house as usual. This was moral and pious at that time, but now the owners of the house are the object of consideration and the house is deprived of its license. This is the kind of morality and piety that animates the men or men who dispense licenses here."

Our contemporary knows it is maliciously false in statement and misleading in intention when it writes such rubbish. The commissioners claim, and justly, that they were influenced by the reputation of the houses dealt with in the matter of of license reduction. It is well known that, as the Review asserts, a license was denied Mr. T. Cavanagh two years ago on account of his bad record, but it is not correct in saying that the license was for "political and personal reasons" granted to the son in evasion of the spirit of the law. The license was granted to the son in deference to specifically expressed public opinion. The license was issued to the son in compliance with the following petition:—

May 15th, 1893.

To the License Commissioners of West Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—We, the undersigned ratepayers of the town of Peterborough, having reason to believe that Mr. Richard Cavanagh, if granted a license for the Balmoral Hotel, would see that the provisions of the license law would be strictly adhered to, respectfully request that you re-consider your decision in his case and grant a hotel license to the Balmoral for the ensuing year:—

Now, if the right of petition is sacred, the granting of a petition is sometimes justifiable. The commissioners in 1893 refused to give the elder Cavanagh a license on account of his habitual breach of the provisions of the law, and refused to entertain the idea of a licence in the son's name till they received the petition. Then in deference to the prayer of the above petition signed, as will be seen, by the names of a large number of highly respectable and law abiding citizens, and doubtless thinking that it might be fair to give the younger Cavanagh a trial, a license was accordingly issued. But the result did not justify the sanguine expectations of the petitioners nor justify the hope of the commissioners that the son would conduct the house properly, for he was guilty of repeated breeches of the law, and it is only recently that he was convicted of a breach of the Sunday clauses of the license act. Now if the Review has any blame to put upon any body because the younger Cavanagh, has had a license which he has abused, it must blame the petitioners and not the commissioners, who only yielded to the influence of a numerously signed petition and its desire to give the younger Cavanagh a chance, which he has abused and, consequently, he has been deprived of his license on that account. And if blame is to be placed, no small share is to be apportioned to the temperance people. At the time the commissioners, in response to the above printed petition were considering the issue of a license to the younger Cavanagh, the inspector took the trouble to notify the temperance people, so that, if they wished to take action, they might be able to do so, but no action was taken and now two years after, the champion of the Royal Templars, abuses the commissioners for acting on a largely signed petition, which action the temperance people at that time did not see fit to oppose nor endeavour to influence. The Review is all wrong when it asserts that in this case the refusal to grant a license to the Balmoral hotel was virtually a refusal to the owners of the house, the Chamberlen estate. This is not the truth. Everybody knows that as the Review says, the younger Cavanagh was licensee of the Balmoral hotel only in name and that it was really conducted by the [illegible]elder Cavanagh, under whose management the law is sure to be broken. Therefore the commissioners doubtless felt that in granting a license to the son the father would conduct the hotel and that there would be a repetition of the record of the breaking of the license law on Saturday nights, and especially Sunday. This is the real reason why the license was refused to the Balmoral hotel, and not on account of the ownership of the hotel property. No doubt the commissioners acted according to their best judgment in the matter and with a desire to do what was right. While on account of the character of the proposed licensee of the Balmoral hotel a license was withheld from this property, a license was granted to the Southern hotel, a property under the same ownership; and it might be arranged to permit of the estate cancelling the lease of the Southern House and re-opening the Balmoral. The objection was not to the Balmoral Hotel but to the former virtual licensee, who was again an applicant, and who had shown himself unable to conduct the hotel according to the requirements of the law.

MORE ELECTION PETITIONS.

Making the Number of Protests Thirty-two.

The Registrar of the Court of Appeal yesterday received and filed two more petitions relating to the recent Provincial elections. Albert Patterson of St. Catharines, mariner, complains of the return by illegal and corrupt means of James Hiscott, Conservative, as member for Lincoln in the Legislative Assembly for Ontario. Besides the usual allegations, it is charged that the polling booth for one of the subdivisions of the Township of Louth was kept open after the hour of 5 p.m., and that votes were illegally cast for the respondent after that hour, and also that the respondent was a P.P.A., the other members of which acted as his agents and procured his election by threats of expulsion from the order, etc. Messrs. Kerr, Macdonald, Davidson & Patterson are the petitioner's solicitors. Messrs. Webb, Hooey & Mills filed the petition of William Shannon, of the village of Colborne, fruit-grower, which in the usual form alleges bribery and corruption by Dr. William A. Willoughby, Conservative member-elect for East Northumberland, and his agents, and asks to have his election and return declared void.

The protest against Mr. C. F. Farwell, the Liberal member-elect for East Algoma, has been dropped, the necessary deposit not having been made yesterday, the limit of the time allowed. The total number of protests entered is thirty-two, about a third of the total number of members-elect.

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Suspected—At Times He Was Prostrated by His Sufferings—Now He is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13. The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grevious and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

HOW WE WALK.

The Muscles Used and the Mechanical Work They Do.

The chief muscles concerned in walking are those in the calf and back of leg, which by pulling up the heel, also pull up the bones of the foot connected with it, and then the whole body, the weight of which is passed on through the bones of the leg. When walking the trunk is thrown forward so that it would fall down prostrate were not the right foot planted in time to support it. The calf muscles are helped in this action by those on the front of the trunk and legs, which contract and pull the body forward, and the trunk slanting forward when the heel is raised by the calf muscles, the whole body will be raised and pushed forward and upward. This advancement of each leg is effected partly by muscular action, the muscles used being (1) those on the front of the thigh, bending it forward on the pelvis; (2) the hamstring muscles, which slightly bend the leg on the thigh; (3) the muscles on the front of the leg, which raise the front of the foot and toes, preventing the latter, in swinging forward, from hitching in the ground. When one foot has reached the ground the action of the other has not ceased.

There is another point in walking. The body is constantly supported and balanced on each leg alternately, and, therefore, on only one at once. Hence there must be some means for throwing the centre of gravity over the line of support formed by the bones of each leg as it supports the weight of the body. This is done in various ways, and hence the differences in the walk of different people. There may be slight rotation at the hip joint, bringing the centre of gravity of the body over the foot of this side. This "rocking" motion of the trunk and thigh is accompanied by a movement of the whole trunk and leg over the foot planted on the ground, and is accompanied by a compensating outward movement at the hip. The body rises and swings alternately from one side to the other as its centre of gravity comes alternately over one or the other leg, and the curvature of the spinal bones is altered with the varying position of the weight.

Strongest of Living Creatures.

What living creature is possessed of the greatest bodily strength in proportion to its size? was a question asked by a reader of Pearson's Weekly. The answer was as follows: This honor must be divided between the cockchafer, the hive bee and the flea. It is rather difficult to apply a test to prove which particular insect among the borers, the jumpers and carriers is the strongest, but there is no question that in proportion to their size insects undoubtedly possess the greatest strength among living creatures. The flea can jump a foot high, more than 100 times its own length, it is as if a man jumped as high as the gallery of the monument. The spring of the tiger and the leap of the kangaroo are insignificant when compared with this. A cockchafer is strong enough to lift 24.3 times its own weight, a small hive bee 22.5 times the weight of itself. Judged by this standard, there is nothing comparable to it among other insects or among the larger animals, and it may be safely asserted that these three insects divide the honors between them, for though boring insects pierce the hardest wood, it is by the wonderful adaptation of their boring instrument rather than by abnormal strength.

HE'S ALL RIGHT.

Richard Harrison has Backache for Some Years—It was Due to Kidney Disease—No More Backaches Now.

HALL'S BRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 6.—Richard Harrison is well known here and everywhere highly respected. That he has been a sufferer for some years from backache and other kidney troubles was a well known fact, that gained much sympathy for him. Lately he has been moving around here as spry as a kitten and in the best of health. All his kidney troubles had disappeared, so he said, when questioned, and he further said that the cause of their disappearance was his having used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reputation of these pills as a specific in all kidney disorders is now firmly established in this part of Ontario.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, and all looseness of the bowels. Never travel without it. Price 35c.

Swimming in the Dead Sea.

From Jerusalem we had a thoroughly delightful trip of three days to Jericho, the Dead Sea and the Jordan. In the saddle most of the time, and under a blazing sun, the fatigue was certainly great; but the interest was far greater. It was good to be out among the mountains, stern and naked as they were, and to make the descent of nearly 4,000 feet to the wilderness in which John the Baptist had preached and in which the Essene communities had wrought out so many of the peaceful tenets of the gospels. As for the Dead Sea, it will, in contradiction of the name, forever preserve a green and living memory in my mind. No fish can survive in it, we all know; but for a place for a swim, or, above all, for a float, commend me to it beyond all the Winnepesaukees in the world. How it bears you up in its arms! How it annihilates the tiresome ponderosity and dignity of the laws of gravitation! How it introduces you into the inner consciousness of dainty Ariel and thistledown, and all other airy-fairy creatures! The more you weigh the less you weigh; there is the real hydrostatic paradox. An elephant in the Dead Sea would feel himself a gazelle. Then what a mirror its steely surface was that morning, and how beautiful its reflections of the mountains of Palestine on one hand and of Moab on the other.—Christian Register.

A Turtle With a Queer Back.

A curious specimen of monstrosity in a turtle (Chelone imbricata) picked up in the Atlantic, off Bordeaux, has been sent to the reptile house of the Museum of Natural History, Paris. The carapace, instead of sloping downward like a roof in the ordinary way, curves upward at the edges and forms a kind of inverted clam shell or saucer on the back of the animal, whose body is strangely compressed and lengthened by the deformity, which, however, is not unique, as it has occurred among the Cistudo orbicularis of Europe.—London Globe.

Cockroaches With Six-Inch Wings.

When the transportation company's barges brought ties for the trolley here they also brought some southern cockroaches that dwarf the local specimens. The ties come from North Carolina and Georgia, where these giant cockroaches are abundant. They are about two inches long, and when their wings are spread out in flying they measure nearly six inches across. They are harmless and look something like a beetle when their wings are drawn in.—Hartford Courant.

To Remove Grease From Marble.

Grease may be removed from white marble by applying a mixture of two parts washing soda, one part ground pumice stone, and one part chalk, all first finely powdered, and made into a paste with water; rub well over the marble, and finally wash off with soap and water.

Swedes as Heavy-Drinkers.

The largest death rate of any city in the world, from the use of alcohol is recorded in Stockholm, the Swedish capital. The number of deaths from this cause is ninety in 1000.

Tired, Weak, Nervous.

Means impure blood, and overwork or to much strain on brain and body. The only way to cure is to feed the nerves on pure blood. Thousands of people certify that the best blood purifier, the best nerve tonic and strength builder is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What it has done for others it will also do for you—Hood's Cures.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring peristaltic action of the alimentary canal.

To remove worms of all kinds from children or adults Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is a safe and sure remedy.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

For Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Cramps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery and Summer Complaint, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt, safe and sure cure that has been a popular favorite for over 40 years.

"Only the Scars Remain,"

Says HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., who certifies as follows:

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc., none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

Mother Urged Me

TITANS OF THE NORTH.

LIEUT. SCHWATKA WRITES OF GIGANTIC ICEBERGS.

The Frozen Mountains That Inspire Awe Around the North Pole—Thrilling Arctic Scenes—The Terrible Dangers Which Attend the Submerged Monsters.

An immense iceberg is one of the stupendous spectacles of nature, and can only be compared with other awe-inspiring sights, as an earthquake, an avalanche, or some of earth's convulsions in presence of which puny man stands dumb and overpowered with the sense of his own weakness and littleness. One who has ever seen an immense stately mountain of ice would not credit it with eratic movements or capers of an undignified nature, so impressive is it in its awful grandeur. Still, they will often vary their monotonous movements by double somersaults and tricks of the most grotesque character on the over-turning and breaking up of a moving mountain.

I have never witnessed but one such sight, and surely it looked as if the "great waters of the deep were breaking up" and the end of all things had come. Immense green waves went thundering by as if a hurricane had been raging for hours across the sea that but a short time before was as quiet as a mill pond. Great flying flecks of foam were dashed down from dizzy heights above, and the slippery sides were almost covered with cascades formed from the waters that had been lifted up by the rapidly overturning mass.

Our first intimation of the coming convulsion was a dull shock against our ship's side under the water, somewhat as if a sub-marine blast had been exploded, and a moment after a huge rising of the sea near one side of the iceberg was apparent, and through this vast mass of uplifted waters broke a snow-white berg that had been detached from the crystal mountain far down in the ocean's depth, and that came swirling to the surface with a swiftness that apparently lifted it half way out of the sea and kept it spinning and splashing for full five minutes afterwards.

The release of this portion of the mountain from its frozen fetters far below had disturbed the stable equilibrium of the parent berg, and but a few moments afterwards it began its stupendous swaying, as if some earthquake were influencing it until in one of its gigantic careenings it fell over and seemed to be buried in a mass of milk-like foam that sent tremendous tidal waves tearing across the great depths that would have engulfed any vessel near. It only sunk from sight a moment, when it rapidly reappeared with a creamy crest that poured down its icy sides in a shallow sheet of white.

Woe to the ship that ventures too near one of these monsters of the deep just as it has determined to give a display of its Arctic antics, for if it be broadside to the tremendous tidal wave that comes curling outward from the centre of commotion, and has not time to turn end on to meet the rapid rush of waters, it may be thrown upon its beam ends, as a sailor would say, or thrown over on its side, by the steep front of the wave, then filled with water and sunk. Such accidents have been known to happen in the iceberg region, and probably some of the mysterious disappearances of cruisers in polar regions may be accounted for in this way. So it behooves the navigators in Northern seas not to approach too near these Arctic acrobats when they are feeling in their best modes for a little quiet fun of their own.

And they generally do give them a wide berth when sailing in these icy seas, not only fearing the frightful waves which they set in motion, but when they turn a salt water somersault, if they approach directly alongside, one of the ascending masses of ice may come up from below and crush in the bottom of the ship. Then again if the boat has only sailing power, as is the case with the majority of the craft in these Northern seas, she is liable to meet the most erratic gusts of wind and sudden squalls that can upset her quite as suddenly as a tidal wave.

Every one has noticed how much more powerful and erratic are the winds around the base of a very high building in the city than elsewhere. And so with a great iceberg. It catches all the wandering winds of high heaven, and directs them downwards, winding and twisting around its base, until it is very unsafe for a sailing vessel to venture near these eddying gusts. So between the little icebergs popping up from the water below and falling down from above, and the chance of the colossus of them all turning such antics and capers as to fairly set old ocean frantic with excitement, coupled with the twisting tornadoes the berg grinds down to its base, it is altogether an uncertain undertaking to sail too near one of these crystal mountains.

The Arctic whaling masters, who are the best navigators in these ice-laden waters, call the little bergs that break off the big ones, either above or below the water line, "iceberg calves," and they have no friendship for them, for reasons I have already given, although they do pull up alongside a small calf and cut enough ice to fill up their iceboxes and have enough ice water aboard until they encounter another. I have spoken of them as little icebergs, and yet they are much bigger than the largest building in New York or Chicago. Each one of these little (by comparison) icebergs still sheds smaller ones as they slowly crumble to pieces on their march to the equator, and the huge berg itself with which we began the description was only a calf that had once broken off the forward face of a grand glacier, or moving river of ice.

So they keep dividing and subdividing as they march along until the mountain that broke off from the Greenland glacier in the Arctic seas really becomes millions of icebills of ice in the temperate waters of the warmer seas, and then disappears altogether. And every time they split asunder we have another acrobatic performance. It may be only the smaller ones perform if the dismemberment is not of enough importance to disturb the parent berg, while oftentimes they set up a polar dance that lasts some minutes. Some Arctic authorities say that they have seen these mountains fall apart; and when this occurs a thin pale smoke or light vapor goes up from the sides of contact, and if the sun be just right for such effect, beautiful rainbows can be seen arching from one crystal peak to another, which coupled with the foaming waters underneath forms a wonderfully beautiful sight.

The sounds made by the sund-rings of these masses of ice is like the roar of a thousand cannons, and joined with the hissing of a score of tidal waves is a sound that can be heard for many miles. An Arctic iceberg has been seen that was twenty miles wide, and forty miles in length and four hundred feet in height; a square township or two could break off from this and hardly affect it. On one side of this monster was a big berg whose bounding capes were twelve miles apart, and into this an English emigrant ship sailed bound for Australia, and seeking shelter from a storm; but it was a disastrous thing to do, for the ship was wrecked therein and many lives lost.

But of all the strange performances cut by those colossal masses of ice, none is more singular than one I saw in the entrance to Hudson Straits. A furious gale was raging that was driving a drifting icepack before it as if it were a herd of frightened animals. The great flat fields and floes of ice were speeding eastward before the whistling wind almost as fast as our snug little ship, for we were under double-reefed sails, so furious was the storm.

Looming up out of the drifting gusts and whirling eddies of the snow, bearing westward, came the pearly sails of an Arctic ship, a mighty iceberg, that with a superb serenity in the awful storm cut its way directly through all the obstacles that faced its front. It bore down in the very teeth of the wind, crushing the fields and floes as if they had been so many eggshells, and scattering the glacial splinters port and starboard as a swift-rolling wagon-wheel scatters the dust. This mastless hulk was obeying the mandates of a marine current down in the depths of old ocean's bed.

As six-seventhe of an iceberg is submerged, and the superficial current being shallow in the Straits, while the air being so much lighter than water that even a gale can form but a small component of the forces that determine the track of these Titans of the North, we were greatly awed and edified by the singular yet superb spectacle of an iceberg sailing directly against the wind, and forcing its way through solid fields of ice that would have crushed and sunk the mightiest man-of-war of modern times. This scene is one that can never be forgotten, and is so strange a one that few have ever witnessed it.

Let the voyager to the realm of eternal ice and desolation encounter this and the overturning of an immense iceberg, and he can truly say he has seen one of the most wonderful sights that can dazzle the eye of man.

FREDERICK SCHWATKA.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery. Gives Instant Relief.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly afflicted from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately relayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause than Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

A congress of pomologists will be convened simultaneously with the exhibition.

The exhibits will comprise the following sections: Fresh fruits; fresh vegetables; dried fruit and vegetables, preserved or treated by other processes; wine, cider, perry and other fruit beverages; hops and medicinal herbs; seeds; fruit trees and shrubs; horticultural implements and appliances, and technicality of production; literary, scientific and educational accessories, collections, plans, etc.

The Russian government makes the usual concessions in relation to customs and railroad transportation.

The Seat of Melancholia.

The opinion has been expressed by some physicians that this disease, in certain cases, is purely functional, and that these changes which are often found in the nervous system are merely secondary, and are not really the pathology of the ailment. Some interesting investigations have been made of this subject by Richardson, of London, and to these experiments is probably due the attention which has been given to the liver as the seat of melancholia. Noticing that all diseases occurring below the diaphragm are attended by depression of spirits, and that diseases of the thoracic cavity are not thus attended, the result of his observations is expressed in the discovery, as claimed, that the seat of this trouble is the solar plexus—that is, there is an obstructed flow of blood to the solar plexus and a consequent imperfect nourishment of this ganglion. In regard to relation between diseases of the liver and melancholia Hammond is quoted as among those who have taken the view that a considerable number of cases of melancholia are the result of abscess of the liver, and that the aspiration of this abscess, or removal by surgery, will bring about relief of the melancholia.

The Chinese pay their doctor only so long as he keeps them in health. They believe in preventing rather than curing disease. This is sound sense, and one of the strongest recommendations of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, a medicine which not only cures diseases but prevents them.

AMERICAN TARIFF REFORM.

Still a Possibility of No Legislation by This Congress.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The week ended left the tariff bill hanging in mid-air. What its condition will be by the time the present week is ended the most sanguine politician will not predict. There is a strong hope that the time for action has arrived and that the long struggle is about to cease. The situation has become clear to a certain extent, for it is no longer a question of choice between the Senate bill and the Wilson bill, but between the Senate bill and the McKinley law.

At the conference of the Conservatives and the steering committee of the Democrats on Saturday the opinion was general that the Hill resolution would pass by a good majority if a vote is taken and it was believed then that a vote would be reached this afternoon. A member of the conferees on the part of the Senate says that if the Senate passed the resolution the conferees would certainly bring in a disagreeing report and the Senate would hold that it had the bill before it subject to its action. Democrats and Republicans alike now admit that if the bill gets before the Senate again it will be defeated.

The House in caucus will be urged to take up the Senate bill and accept it as it came to that body and thus end the struggle, some of the Democrat authorities on parliamentary law maintaining that this can be done legally although the bill is now in conference. The action of the house caucus is therefore fraught with more importance to the future of the tariff bill.

No business of any kind can be done in the Senate until this tangle is unravelled, for there appears to be votes enough to keep the matter before the Senate a certain number of hours each day. No programme of business has been arranged for the House this week.

It is said by those who are closest to the President that he will approve any bill which comes to him with the sanction of the House conferees. His approval might take the form of permitting it to become law without his signature, but it is not believed that he will veto it. It is openly stated by certain Democratic Senators that if the bill be retained in the Senate it is dead. It is for this reason that the Senate friends of the measure will use their efforts to get it before the House, feeling that if this cannot be accomplished there is no possibility of tariff legislation by this Congress.

FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE.

The Allans Indignant at Sir Hibbert's Assertion.—Mr. Huddart to Reply.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The Times publishes a column letter from the Allan line S. S. Co. of Glasgow, in which they state they are much aggrieved at the statement of Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries, in the Canadian House of Commons on July 11 last—to the effect that they, the Allans, were helping to throw discredit on the safety of the St. Lawrence route because the proposed fast line would hurt their personal interests—they contend, however, that the outlook for a fast Atlantic service to Canada is not very bright because of the prevalence of icebergs, disasters in the St. Lawrence, and the absence of local trade at Halifax and Quebec.

Mr. Jas. Huddart, the promoter of the new line, will reply to the Allans letter. He says he is quite satisfied with the assurances of Sir Charles Hibbert as to the safety of the St. Lawrence route. He further states his speech in reply will be inserted in the prospectus of the Company.

Outlook of Quebec Crops.

MONTREAL, Aug. 13.—The Star publishes crop reports from various parts of the province which show the outlook throughout the country is generally satisfactory. The farmers express themselves as being well pleased. The weather this year for the most part, is all that could be desired. The haying is now all over and from all accounts it is the heaviest yield for some years and of excellent quality. The grain is doing well, as are also the root crops, especially the potatoes. The fruit yield in some sections will be heavy but in others it is not up to the average.

Falling Off in British Emigration.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—There has been a large falling off in emigration from the British Islands thus far in the present year. The number of emigrants to the United States in the first seven months was 76,394 as compared with 144,327 in the same period last year. Less than half the usual number sought homes in British North America, and slightly fewer have gone to the Australasian colonies. The general result is that emigrants to all parts have been 112,440, as against 204,129 in 1893.

Navigation Dangerous in the Arctic.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Aug. 13.—The steamer Grand Lake arrived from Labrador and brought the American hunting and exploring party. They report other exploring parties were north of them. The captain thinks that the whole Northern Sea is covered with icebergs rendering Arctic navigation very dangerous. It reported that the schooner Princess Alice with three of the crew has been lost.

Dummy Engine and Trolley Collide.

HAMILTON, Aug. 13.—The dummy engine on the Hamilton and Dundas railway collided with a trolley car at the corner of Main and James streets yesterday. Both cars reached the crossing at the same time and both stopped, but owing to a misunderstanding both started at the same time. No passengers were hurt, but the trolley car was damaged.

Oarsman Sullivan is Willing.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Thomas Sullivan, the Australian oarsman, says he is willing to accept the challenge of Gaudanr the Canadian oarsman, but cannot allow Gaudaur $250 for expenses. He says he had to pay his own way to England and he thinks Gaudanr ought to do the same.

Gone to Look for Wellman.

TROMSOE, Norway, Aug. 13.—Captain Bottofsen, of the lost steamer Ragnvald Jarl, was despatched by the United States consulate on August 10, aboard the Malygen, with provisions and clothing, to seek Walter Wellman's party and bring them here.

A Revolt in Morocco.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—A despatch from Tangier says: The Kabyles have revolted. Some of the Khalifas have been killed and others are fleeing. Several citadels have been destroyed. The rebels are erecting their own Kaids and defying the Sultan.

Sailors Drowned in the Irish Sea.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The Manx steamer Prince of Wales sank the Hibernia, of Glasgow, 25 miles off Douglass, Isle of Man, yesterday. Two of the Hibernia's crew were drowned and two were severely injured.

Twenty-One Injured in a Smash-up.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—While the Edinburgh express was entering the St. Pancras station, London, last evening, the brakes failed and the train dashed against the buffers. The guards' van and one car was wrecked. Twenty-one persons were injured, six of them seriously. No one was killed.

The Britannia's Next Race.

COWES, Aug. 13.—The match arranged between the Britannia and the Vigilant for a race of fifteen miles to winward and return for a prize of £100 offered by Lord Wolverton, will be decided Wednesday. The sailing committee of the Royal Yacht Squadron will manage the contest. Her Majesty's yacht Osborne will accompany the racers.

Women Carried Off by Brigands.

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—A despatch to the Lokalanzeiger from Belgrade says that a band of brigands openly attacked the village of Pakeravatz, a few days ago, killed many of the inhabitants, pillaged and set fire to the houses and bound the women and girls and carried them off to the mountains.

British Trade Returns.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The July trade returns are important on account of the new tariff. British exports to Canada declined 40 per cent, the heaviest declines being in cottons, woollens, silks, and irons. The imports from Canada are stationary.

The Scourge Increasing in Holland.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 13.—Two deaths from cholera were reported in this city on Saturday. Other infected towns in Holland report as follows: Maastricht, two new cases; Halfweg, five deaths; Haarlem, one new case; Zaandam, one new case.

EVICTION IN PULLMAN

All the Striking Tenants to be Turned Homeless in the Streets.

MANY OF THEM DESTITUTE

Five Thousand Men, Women and Children Will be Homeless if Pullman Carries Out His Intention—The Eviction Likely to Mean Trouble.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Mr. Pullman has decided to turn his striking tenants into the streets. He made up his mind on Saturday to evict them early this week. The legal papers which must be served on the strikers and a preliminary to setting their goods into the street were understood to be in course of preparation in Attorney Runnell's office under positive orders of Mr. Pullman.

When seen at his office Mr. Runnell refused to be interviewed.

Second Vice President Wickes confirmed the report that the tenants would be put out of Mr. Pullman's houses as soon as the company could get rid of them.

Mr. Wickes admitted on Friday afternoon that something of the kind would have to be done if the strikers who are living in company houses did not return to work soon. On Friday Mr. Pullman visited the shops. He evidently determined then to get rid of his unprofitable tenants and settled the question himself, since no meeting of the directors was held in the interval. The reason given for turning the strikers out is that the houses are needed by new workmen who have taken the place of strikers. There are now nearly 400 vacant houses in Pullman. Should the company carry out its programme the town of Pullman would be almost totally depopulated. No less than 5,000 men, women, and children will be turned into the streets. About 1,500 strikers are tenants of the Pullman Company, most of them having large families. Few, if any of them, paid a dollar of rent since the strike was declared. Most of them are on the point of starvation and so poor that they could not pay an expressman for hauling their goods out of town.

The strikers have avoided discussing the possibilities of eviction although they were warned that it would surely come. They have been hoping the trouble would be settled in some way that would not drive them from the town.

"God pity the officials of the company if they attempt to evict us," said Robert Coombs, a member of the strike committee. "I don't like to think of what would happen. I want to get away before anything of that kind begins."

The situation at Pullman keeps on getting worse for the strikers who still hold out. Nearly 1,000 new men were employed from down town and 160 more engaged to report to-day. The company will then have nearly 1,700 or within 300 of the number it expects to work this winter. Most of them are new comers.

THE LINCOLN DISASTER.

Davis, a Colored Negro, Arrested on Suspicion of Wrecking the Train.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 13.—The remains of Andrew Hansen, a farmer of McPherson county, Neb., one of the victims of Thursday night's train wreck, was identified by a watch found lying in the midst of human bones. George Davis, colored, suspected of wrecking the train, was arrested by the police on Friday night. Shortly after the wreck he applied to a hackman and asked to be driven up town. He had been on the train and had lost his coat. He was seen near the place where the wreck occurred, it is claimed, with a crowbar. The police say they have evidence sufficient to convict. His motive is not known.

It is almost certain that Davis is guilty. The inquest is in progress.

The "Good Road's" Army at Work.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 13.—Everybody who has followed the cause of Coxey knows that it was the idea to make the army a "Good road's party," and now Warden Moore, of the Maryland house of correction, intends to accord 88 of the holders an opportunity to show the practicability of the association. On Monday morning the Coxeyites who were arrested at Hyattsville last Thursday and sentenced to three months in Bridewell, will be put to work on widening a private road from Jerusps to the institution. When this work is completed, other employment of like character is promised the men.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, August 11, 1894.

Earnings of the Canadian Pacific for the week ended August 7 were $359,000, a decrease of $60,000.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Grain receipts are limited and prices unchanged. White wheat is quoted at 60c and red at 59c. Oats were firm at 37c to 38½c for old and at 35c for new. Other grains purely nominal.

There was a stampede in Chicago on Saturday among the bulls in corn, a drop of 2 cents in the price of September and ½c for May. This makes a fall of 7½c in the price from the high point last week.

Buffalo—Cattle, 6 cars, steady, unchanged. Hogs, 10 cars, shade easier. Good heavies, bringing top prices, $5.65; choice medium weights and Yorkers and pigs, $5.50 to $5.60. Sheep and lambs, 15 cars, dull; good to fancy lambs, $3.75 to $4.50, choice to best Welser, $3.65 to $4; fair to good mixed, $2.50 to $3.

Business on the London, Eng., Stock Exchange improved decidedly during the week, owing largely to the previous week's reduction of deposit rates. Consols rose ⅛d. Foreign securities were firm. English railways rose strong. American railroads were firm and active, excepting Atchison.

Positively no bad effects from using Phenyo-Caffain for headache, neuralgia, or pain. 25 cents. All druggists.

There is always a best, even among a score of good things, and every pipe smoker who has tried the Mastiff brand acknowledges it to be the sweetest, coolest smoking tobacco made. It does not bite the tongue, and is positively free from any foreign mixture.

MR. HUDDART IN REPLY

The Promoter of the Fast Steamship Scheme Answers the Allans.

HIS INTERVIEW WITH DUNLOP

The Latter, Mr. Huddart Claims, Admitted That it Would be to Their Interests to Discredit the Scheme—Twenty Knots a Safe Speed.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—James E. Huddart the chief promoter of the Canadian Pacific Mail line to Australia has sent a long letter to the Times rebutting the Allan steamship company's arguments against the proposed service. He details an interview had with Mr. Robert Allan and Mr. Dunlop in which Mr. Dunlop said: "It is our business to discredit your project, but if you are going to succeed we cannot afford to be out of it." Mr. Allan admitted the discovery that the company opposed the scheme would greatly discount any arguments the company brought against it.

Mr. Huddart contends that the letter sent by the Allans to the London Times on August 11 is a skilful and adroit effort to kill the scheme in London. He denies that Canada insisted upon a speed of 20 knots an hour. Even if that stipulation were made, he says there is no more liability to disaster with a speed of 20 knots than with a speed of 10 knots where ice and rocks are concerned. In conclusion he says that the moment is opportune in every way to begin the new service. One of his reasons is that the present liners and those which the American company will shortly float are not likely to be surpassed for many years except by those projected for the Canadian service.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Prince Galitzien Pays a Visit to General Herbert—The Fast Mail Line.

OTTAWA, Aug. 14.—Prince Gregorire Galitzien, Premier of the Russian Council of the Senate, arrived in the city yesterday. He does not speak English, but Slavonic, German and French. To a reporter he explained there was not political or international significance in his visit to Canada. He was simply on a pleasure tour. He called upon Major General Herbert, who also said that there was nothing of public importance in the visit of the prince, but that the prince and he were old acquaintances. The prince has expressed his pleasure at what he has seen of Canada. He left last night on the Soo train for the west.

The Journal says: "It will probably be a blessing in one sense to Canada if alarm about the safety of navigating at high speed the St. Lawrence Gulf prevents Mr. Huddart getting capital in England for the proposed line to which Canada is pledged to give three-quarters of a million dollars a year for ten years, and half a million a year after that. Most people feel, we think, that this country can hardly afford eight or ten million dollars to cut down by two days the time of her trans-Atlantic steamers."

Stock Broker's Wife Shoots Herself.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 14.—Mrs. Ellsworth Maltby, wife of a New York stock broker, shot herself in the breast here yesterday and lies at the point of death. Ellsworth Maltby is a son of one of the former largest real estate owners in this country and was regarded as a millionaire until a few days ago. He has dissipated his patrimony largely, although he still runs financial schemes on a large scale. His wife is about 38 years of age and was a former New York society girl.

Severe Cyclone in Ohio.

GENEVA, Ohio, Aug. 14.—A cyclone swept over North Madison, Lake county, yesterday, levelling forests and destroying crops. The storm came from the lake and cut a path three miles long and a quarter of a mile wide. The wind was accompanied by hail. Standing crops were broken down and beaten into the earth, houses and barns unroofed, and not a pane of glass was left in the devastated district. No lives were lost.

A Sexton's Crime.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Thomas Holt, sexton of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Atonement, at Fifth avenue and Seventeenth street, Brooklyn, killed his wife, Caroline, at their home, No. 301 Seventeenth street, in that city. He fired a bullet into her back, two more into her breast, and then cut her throat with a carving knife and a razor.

TARIFF BILL PASSED

The House Accepts the Bill From the Senate Unchanged.

AWAITS GROVER'S SANCTION

Separate Bills Were Taken Up and Passed Placing Coal, Iron Ore, Barbed Wire and Sugar on the Free List—Other Schedules.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Last evening the Senate tariff bill, unchanged, unamended, untouched, was passed by the House and the measure now awaits only the signature of the President or his failure to sign it within ten days to be enacted into a law. It was passed according to the programme arranged and ratified at a caucus of Democrats.

The caucus met at 10 o'clock and adjourned at noon with the understanding that the Senate bill and separate measures placing coal, sugar, iron, ore and barbed wire on the free list should be put through the House before adjournment, but an unexpected obstacle was encountered in the absence from Washington of Mr. Outhwaite, of Ohio, a Democratic member of the committee on rules, whose presence was necessary to enable the committee to bring in a special order for carrying out the caucus arrangements. Mr. Outhwaite, who was absent on account of illness in his family, appeared, however, at two o'clock, and a few minutes later the committee on rules reported the special order and the House entered into one of the greatest days in its history.

The special rule was agreed to after a short debate. Then the Senate bill was debated for two hours and after counter accusations by the Republicans and Democrats and severe arraignments of the majority by several of its own members, the bill was passed by a vote of 181 to 105. A number of Democrats voted against the bill, while the Populists supported the majority. There was much applause when the troublesome measure was finally out of the way.

Then the separate bills placing coal, iron ore, barbed wire and sugar on the free list was taken up in the order named and passed after debate of half an hour on each and what was probably the biggest day in the history of the House, from the standpoint of work accomplished came to an end.

The Bill as it Stands.

The bill, which, barring a presidential veto, is now to be the law of the land in place of the McKinley Act, provides the following rates of duty upon the great staples which have been the bones of contention:

All raw sugars 40 per cent. ad valorem; sugars above No. 16 (refined) 1-8 per cent. additional; sugars produced in bounty paying countries, 1-10 per cent. additional to these rates. Hawaiian sugar is still free under the reciprocity treaty.

Iron ore, 40 cents per ton; pigs, $4 per ton; iron ore, steels rails, 7-20 of one cent per pound. Lead ore and dross 3-4 of one cent per pound; silver load bearing ore, the same duty on the lead contained therein.

Tobacco, for wrappers, $1.50 per pound unstemmed; $2.25 stemmed. Cigars and cigarettes, $4 per pound and 25 per cent ad valorem.

Coal, bituminous and large slack, 15 cents per ton.

Precious stones, cut and unset, 25 per cent ad valorem; set, 30 per cent; uncut, 10 per cent; glaciers and miners' diamonds free.

Tin plate 1 1-25 cents per pound after Oct. first.

Marble, rough, 50 cents; dressed, 85 cents per cubic foot.

White and red lead 1 1-2 cents per pound. Under the internal revenue sections of the bill, playing cards are taxed 2 per cent on incomes above $4,000 is provided for; also a tax on corporations of two per cent.

Whiskey is taxed $1.10 per gallon, and the bonded period is fixed at eight years.

They Can't Stand Peixoto.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—A special from Rio Janerio says: It is reported Gen. Gomerindo Saraiva, the defeated leader of the rebels in Rio Grande do Sul, who escaped wounded and was said to be trying to reach Argentina, has been captured. Although the report has not been confirmed, it has caused a profound sensation here. Congress has resolved that it is impossible to submit longer to the arbitrary conduct of President Peixoto.

Committed Murder and Then Suicided.

VICKSBURG, Mich., Aug. 14.—Charles H. Brainard, a farmer, shot and killed his wife Alma yesterday and then blew out his own brains. The couple had not lived happily together and had agreed to separate. Brainard had evidently made up his mind to commit the murder and suicide as he visited his neighbors yesterday telling them that he would be dead before sundown.

My feet were so badly swollen that I could not wear my shoes. I got Yellow Oil, and to my astonishment it gave instant relief, and two bottles completely cured me. Mrs. W. G. McKay, Berwick, Ont.

EVICTED TENANTS BILL

Debate on the Second Reading in the House of Lords.

WARNING TO THEIR LORDSHIPS

Lord Spencer Fears the Rejection of the Bill Will be Followed by Another Outbreak of Crime in Ireland —A Liberal Commoner Resigns.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Lord Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty, moved the second reading of the evicted tenants bill in the House of Lords yesterday afternoon.

Lord Spencer reviewed and defended the bill. Too often, he said, had their Lordships rejected measures which the majority of the Irish nation considered of vital importance and passed others hateful to them. Now there was an opportunity to make a concession which might not recur. He recalled the fact that the rejection of the compensation for disturbances bill by the House of Lords had been followed by a terrible outbreak of crime in Ireland. He would not prophesy that a similar outbreak would follow the rejection of the bill under discussion; but the rejection of this measure would exasperate the people of Ireland who were now enjoying the greatest quietude they had in twenty years, and were looking to Parliament for a remedy for their grievances. A serious responsibility would rest upon the House of Lords if it rejected the bill.

The Duke of Argyle, Liberal Unionist, strongly opposed the bill. He said that he rejoiced that twice within a year the House of Lords had had a great duty to perform. It had already redeemed Ireland from a great crisis and England from a great disaster and it again would be ready to perform its duty. The debate was continued by the Marquis of Lansdowne, the Marquis of Londonderry, Baron Tweedmouth and others.

A Home Rule Member Resigns.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Sir James Whitehead, Bart., an advanced Liberal and Home-Ruler and ex-Lord Mayor of London has withdrawn from Parliament on account of ill-health. He sat for Leicester.

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

A Strong Chinese Fleet Sets Sail—Britain Will Make a Proposal.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—It is rumored in St. Petersburg that England intends to propose that the powers co-operate in demanding that both China and Japan withdraw their forces from Corea forthwith and entrust the government of that peninsula to an international conference. The opinion is general that Russia would never consent to such a proposition.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Central news says a strong Chinese fleet has left the coast. The impression in Shanghai is that this fleet will seek to intercept the transports which are carrying Japanese troops to Corea.

The Vienna correspondent of the Daily News says: "England, France and Russia have agreed not to tolerate an attack on Pekin. Their respective squadrons have been instructed to interfere if the Japanese attack Taku.

Captain Bottolfsen Well Provisioned.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—A despatch to the Daily News from Tromsoe, Norway, says Captain Bottolfsen, who was despatched to Spitzenbergen on August 10 with supplies for the Wellman expedition, takes sufficient provisions for the entire winter. He will first make Danes Isle and will proceed further if necessary, leaving depots at points previously arranged with Wellman. Consul Agard expresses the opinion that the expedition will be found at Walden Island, where the Jagnvald Jarl was crushed.

Kaffirs Revolt in the Transvaal.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—A despatch from Pretoria, Transvaal republic, says: "The Kaffirs in the north of the Transvaal have revolted. They have burned a number of homesteads and captured many cattle and are besieging the inhabitants who have taken refuge in the government building at Agatha. Troops have been sent to the scene.

Dipped at Tenby Regatta.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—During the Tenby regatta a large rowboat in which the excursionists were being conveyed to a trawlee was upset. All the occupants were thrown into the water, and nearly drowned. The party had prepared many baskets and bundles, which were piled high enough to disturb the balance of the boat.

Czechs Sentenced to Prison.

VIENNA, Aug. 14.—Four Czechs were sentenced in Jung Buntzlau, Bohemia, yesterday to terms of imprisonment ranging from eight years to eight months for smuggling anarchist literature. It was proved that they had circulated the Volne Liste, a sheet printed in America, which is regarded as a seditious publication.

An Accessory of Lucchesi Caught.

ROME, Aug. 14.—Enrico Lucchesi, the anarchist who killed Editor Giuseppe Bendi, said in his confession to the police that he had been delegated by five comrades to murder Bendi. Acting upon this information the police succeeded in arresting the leader of the five, Rosolini Boneto. The others escaped.

Two Steam Yachts Collide.

COWES, Aug. 14.—E. D. Morgan's yacht, May of New York, collided in the roads yesterday with H. E. Woods steam yacht Rona of Glasgow. Her bulwark rail and botts on the port side were partly damaged and the Rona suffered similar injury on her starboard side.

Mexican Indian Depredations.

HERMOSILL, Mexico, Aug. 14.—The forces of government soldiers sent against the Yuquis Indians has met with defeat in all attacks so far made and the Indians, emboldened by their success, are committing depredations upon the unprotected ranchmen.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

THE EVOLUTION OF A GREAT PUBLIC HIGHWAY.

Some Particulars of the Route — How Nature has Contributed to the Work —Causes of Delay in Construction— Action of the Dominion Government — Engineers at Present Preparing Plans.

The following letter appears in Saturday's issue of the Toronto Mail:

SIR,—About the year 1833 this project first received the active endorsement and consideration of the Ministry of the day. At that time the population of Ontario, then called Upper Canada, was less than 300,000. There was not a railway in the country; the Welland Canal had not been built; the Falls of Niagara barred all communication between the Upper Lakes and Lake Ontario.

On the American side the Erie canal was constructed, and on it small passenger boats, called packets, and ordinary barges did the passenger and freight business, then of small proportions. Chicago was not, and the Great West was unsettled and unknown. Illinois was then the Far West, and our western counties were then known as the "Queen's Bush." Of course the demand for great facilities for traffic did not exist, for the trade itself was comparatively small, yet the necessity of connecting the waters of the western lakes with the seaports, via Montreal and Quebec, presented itself, and it was only natural that Canadian statesmen should be impressed with the argument in favour of the Trent Valley canal, which a glance at the map of the province presents at first view.

A chain of lakes and rivers stretches between the mouth of the Trent, emptying into the Bay of Quinte, at Trenton, and the Georgian Bay. Of the whole distance nearly two-thirds are open waters of lake and river easily rendered navigable — and the other third is comparatively level land, offering no great obstacle to the completion of the canal—and for the most part the shores of the canal proper will be of such a nature as to present no obstacle to the use of steam. As compared with the Erie canal the capacity will be enormously greater as steam can be used from end to end, and for most of the way barges may be towed in groups.

Before the railway era water was the natural and ordinary means of transit, and as time was not then deemed so important as in this feverish age, the canal project commended itself to the Administration of that day. The scheme was taken up by the Government under Sir John Colborne, and N. H. Baird, an eminent civil engineer, was employed to conduct the undertaking. He made surveys and estimates for a water way having five feet of water on the lock sills and estimated the cost of the portion between Lake Simcoe and the Bay of Quinte at £405,515. The work was commenced and locks built at Bobcaygeon, Peterborough, Hastings and at other points the work was progressing when the rebellion of 1837 occurred and put a stop to all such undertakings. Nothing more was done for many years, until local requirements secured the construction of several other locks by the Ontario Government.

Meanwhile the Welland canal was built and then came the railway era, which gave us the Grand Trunk and Northern railways, followed subsequently by many others, which answered the wants of the country.

But fifty years made wondrous changes on the continent. The West filled up; great cities sprang into existence; lands that stretched away to the Rocky mountains and were deemed useless and unfit for settlement, were turned by the plough and demonstrated the fact that the greatest, most fertile and most productive portion of the continent lay west of the new city, Chicago, and the vast Lake Superior. Then came the tide of western immigration. Millions of settlers covered the new lands and the produce which sought an outlet to the sea multiplied and increased beyond all calculations until to-day the tonnage passing the most westerly lock on the continent at the "Soo" aggregates more than that of the Suez canal—a canal, by the way, begun more than two thousand years ago, completed and used by small ships for 1,400 years, then abandoned and left to fill up with the drifting sands until the genius of DeLesseps conquered the sands and enabled it to bear the commerce of the world.

Railways covered our country and were pushed north and west; the mountains were pierced and the Atlantic and Pacific joined with bonds of steel. Great ships were built to ply the upper lakes, each of which could carry five times as many bushels of grain as the large vessels which floated on Lake Ontario. Trade developed to such an extent that all means of transit were taxed and then again the eye of the country was directed to the old sleeping project of the Trent Valley Canal.

Wise ones laughed, and said the day of canals is over, the substitution of steel for iron rails and the improvement in locomotives and cars have reduced freights by increasing the carrying power, and the idea of building a canal to take trade that may be done by the C. P. R. or the Northern or Midland railway is absurd. The Midland people saw before them a chain of lakes with connecting rivers which already covered two-thirds of the shortest line between the waters of the Bay of Quinte and the Georgian Bay, and they thought that if nature did two-thirds of the work, it would be a very stupid people who had not foresight and energy enough to complete it. So for many years they have importuned successive Governments to complete the canal, and at last Sir John McDonald, for the importunity, completed several of the links, and then granted a commission to investigate and report as to the practicability of the scheme, as to the water supply, cost of construction, and final utility when built. The commission was composed of Judge Weller, of Peterborough, and the two eminent engineers, John Kennedy and Frank Turner. This commission examined carefully the route and all conditions involved, and found that it was easily practicable, that the cost would be reasonable, that the water supply was sufficient, and, finally, that the requirements of trade justified the construction.

A most careful investigation of the Erie canal was made in New York State, and its trade statistics examined. It was found that this canal, mostly an artificial ditch, brought into New York more grain than all the railways combined, and that it had a very material influence in keeping down freight charges on the railways.

After this commission reported, another very large deputation from the Midland counties urged the claims of the canal, and were pleased to find that the Ministry of Sir John Thompson fully realised the merits of the scheme, and they then and there clearly and positively announced that their Government would construct the canal. An engineering staff is now preparing final plans preparatory to letting contracts for important portions of the work.

Some of the Toronto papers sneer at the project, and affect to say that it is simply an old election dodge oft repeated. It is somewhat peculiar that these papers are slow to realise the importance of any project which does not carry business especially to Toronto.

The long delay in the carrying out of the scheme may give some justification for doubting the bona-fides of the Government, but all things considered there was excuse for the delay. The construction of the Welland canal, the multiplication of railways, and the comparatively slow settlement of the West, made its construction appear uncalled for. The time has come, however, when the construction cannot be delayed.

We believe the present Government are acting in good faith, and that the outspoken and reiterated pledge of Sir John Thompson and his unanimous Cabinet cannot be treated as the hollow promise of the hustings. We think too highly of our country to permit the thought that the Ministry of this Dominion would openly and officially pledge themselves as a Government to a national project without intending to carry out their pledge. We prefer to give them the trust and honour their dignified position entitles them to, and hope to see the fulfilment of their promise in the early completion of this national work.

We believe the canal capable of doing a vast business. Over most of the way a single tug can haul a dozen or more barges, even as the Erie canal barges after leaving Albany, float down the Hudson to New York in flotillas surrounding a puffing tug.

With floating steam elevators these barges can be emptied into larger vessels, the trifling cost being more than compensated for by the ventilation of the grain.

We anticipate the opening of this canal, and predict that in it the most sanguine anticipations will be more than fulfilled.

Yours, etc.,
A MEMBER OF THE PETERBOROUGH BOARD OF TRADE.

THE DOCTOR SAID IT WOULD NOT LIVE.

A MONTREAL BABY SAVED BY LACTATED FOOD.

BABY GIBBS.

Almost every precious little life that has been sacrificed to ignorance, might have been saved to the parents and to the country.

Poor and improper infant dieting is responsible for thousands of little lives. Physicians emphatically say so.

All summer complaints such as cholera infantum, diarrhœa and dysentery, are preventable when pure and life-giving Lactated Food is used for the baby. It is now an established fact, that the infants who are weak, puny and sickly, are soon made strong, fat and healthy on Lactated Food.

Mrs. W. Gibbs, 257 Richmomd street, Montreal, testifies as follows about the good results of Lactated Food:

"I think it my duty, as a mother, to tell you what Lactated Food has done for my baby. I tried first three other foods, and they were no good, and baby got so bad that I sent for a doctor, who said as much that baby would not live.

"A lady friend told me to use Lactated Food. I sent for a sample; baby seemed to like it, and kept it on its stomach, something it could not do with other foods. I have used it ever since, and baby is fat and strong. I am sure Lactated Food has saved its life."

"A little farm well tilled,
A little cellar well filled,
A little wife well willed."

What could you wish a man better than that? The last is not the least by any means, but how can a wife be well willed if she be the victim of those distressing maladies that make her life a burden? Let her take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and cure all painful irregularities, uterine disorders, inflammation and ulceration, prolapsus and kindred weaknesses. It is a boon and a blessing to women. Thousands are in the bloom of health through using it, when otherwise they would be under the sod. Are you a sufferer? Use it, or some day we may read—

A little wife self willed,
Rosewood coffin early filled,
Spite of doctor well skilled.

FOUGHT LIKE DEMONS.

Fifteen Men Engage in a Desperate Scuffle Near Montreal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 14.—On Sunday a free fight occurred at Back River Road about six miles from the city.

Three young men, each under the influence of liquor, entered Mr. Vervais' hotel and called for liquor. Upon refusal they asked for ginger ale, and when this was produced each drew from his pocked a bottle of whisky and poured a quantity into the supplied beverage. In ten minutes they were fighting drunk and when asked for the money for the ginger ale promptly refused to pay and at the same moment one of them sent a bottle crashing through the window.

When Mr. Vervais was called they became violent and though he tried to keep peace it was of no avail. One of them struck him a violent blow on the face but the assailant counted not the cost of his action. In almost the length of time it takes to tell it the three men were bundled head long from the steps of the hotel. Here they used such vile language and threats that men who were on the veranda remonstrated.

Then a free fight ensued. From twelve to fifteen men fought like demons; the foulest language that tongue could speak was heard above all; women who stood near shrieked and pleaded with their escorts not to join in the melee, despite the heartrending cries of a young man named Lacoste, who had been drawn into the fight in an endeavor to save a friend.

Lacoste's life was undoubtedly saved by the approach of an Island Park car, with a trailer attached. The two bore about 60 passengers, and these tell of a fight that was simply awful. Young Lacoste had driven out with some friends, and as soon as possible he was dragged from the struggle, placed in a buggy and driven to the city. How many were hurt will never be known, but it is safe to say that of the fifteen who fought like wild animals not one escaped without injury.

Deed of a Jealous Husband.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 14.—Frank B. Shibley, principal of the Duke street grammar school, was shot and probably fatally wounded yesterday by George Simmons, aged 64. Simmons is an engineer. While drunk he accused his wife of being improperly intimate with Shibley, the charge, it is said, being entirely without foundation. Simmons afterwards fired two shots at Shibley over the fence dividing the yards of their adjoining houses. The first shot missed, but the second took effect in Shibley's head, inflicting a dangerous wound. Simmons then attempted to shoot his wife, but the woman escaped.

Fatal Duel in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 14.—The killing of Jose Varastegui by Congressman Francisco Romero in a duel has produced a profound sensation in official circles, and has provoked severe criticism from the press of the duelling practice. The Government authorities have received instructions from President Diaz to punish the offenders to the extent of the law, and all of those implicated in the affair have been arrested. Several other duels which were to have been fought within the next few days by prominent parties have been postponed until the present unpleasant affair lows over.

Played They Were Whitecaps.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Aug. 14.—Several weeks ago Whitecaps made their appearance over the river in Mason County, Ky., and strung three negroes up to a tree to frighten them, thus hoping to prevent some of the stealing and shooting that had been going on in that vicinity. On Friday two little white boys, named Hysell, living in that vicinity, and a negro boy named Johnson were playing together and they agreed to play whitecaps, the Johnson boy consenting to be hanged. The Hysell boys strung him up with a rope and couldn't let him down again until the rope was unfastened, when their victim was dead.

Trouble Brewing in Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 14.—Eugene F. Kolb's followers still declare that they will see him seated as governor at the expiration of Governor Jones' term, if blood flows in Alabama like rivers. They assert that they are going to control the affairs of that state, and propose to knock the organized democracy to pieces. They make no denials of plans having been formulated to set up a dual government if Oates cannot be ousted. The leaders are still at work, and their movements are very mysterious.

A Bad Parson Expelled.

PANA, Ill., Aug. 14.—Rev. Q. O. Whismont, pastor of the Pana Methodist church, south, was expelled yesterday by the ministry and church on account of betraying Altha Settle, a young member of his flock. He was compelled to marry her. Whismont had been pastor of the church for two years, and was highly respected and exceedingly popular. He was single, 40 years of age, and had been boarding at Miss Settle's home, while his victim is only 16 and still in short clothes.

TWO NEW LION STORIES

THESE ARE FROM "A NOBODY IN MASHONALAND."

Some Lively Experiences—How It Feels to Be Under a Wagon on a Dark Night With a Lion Sniffing at One's Legs.

Here are two new lion stories from "A Nobody in Mashonaland," by C. E. Finlason, the South African journalist:

We came upon a man who was complacently skinning a lion he had shot the night before. It was a big beast, with terrific teeth, and paws as big as a soup plate. Each claw was a curved dagger, and it was easy to imagine what such an animal would do with a man. One blow would crush in the head like an egg shell. The man told us that he was asleep under his wagon, with a little dog sleeping on his chest, when he was awakened by the dog whining in a peculiar way. For a moment he was unable to realize where he was, and was on the point of springing up. Fortunately he had the presence of mind to smother this natural impulse, and remained perfectly still. The moon was at its last quarter, but the sky was obscured by the drifting clouds, so that the light was fitful and poor, even when the clouds left the moon clear for a second. As it happened, he was just in the position to see the lion, which was looking through the wheel of the cart at the horror stricken dog, which remained on the breast of his master, shaking with terror. The man—Robinson, I think, was his name, or Robbins—kept himself from moving even an eyelid. He did not know for certain whether the lion was after him or the dog. He dared not throw the dog off, for fear that the movement would precipitate an attack, and he did not like to reach for his rifle lying by his side for the same reason. Presently the lion moved away from that particular wheel and started circling round the wagon with the utmost deliberation, and so softly that the strained ears of the sweating Robinson could only just hear it. His position was of the most unpleasant kind, for he dared not move, and when the lion stopped at the other side, out of his line of vision, he suffered torture sufficient to turn his hair gray. The lion might at any moment put in his terrible paw and claw out his supper by the leg. The suspense became unendurable, until, little by little, Robinson, was able to obtain possession of his rifle, and get into some sort of position. After circling round for half an hour the lion stopped by its old place, but a little to the left of the wheel, so that Robinson's legs were lying within conveniently easy access. The animal crouched down, and was in the act of reaching for Robinson, when that gentleman fired, with fatal effect.

After a Necklace of Lion's Claws.

A more ghastly story is that told by a prospector in the Manica country. Billy Jones was a careless, devil-may-care fellow, who had a way of going on ahead of his party shooting game.

I often used to warn Billy against going out so far by himself and sleeping by himself all night as he often did. But he didn't give a curse for lions, and never could be brought to believe that lions were capable of attacking a white man. "I wish the brutes had the pluck," he often said, for he had promised his girl in Capetown a necklace of lion's claws, and was keen about killing lions. Well, one day, when we had not had a bit of meat for two days, he started on ahead. In the evening we stopped at a river, and concluded that Billy had camped for the night farther on. In the morning we started on again, and we had not gone ten miles when we came across a still smoking fire. "Hullo," cried Bryne, "Billy's left his billy behind." Just then I found Billy's rifle about twenty yards away from the fire with an exploded cartridge in the breech. I felt somehow that something had gone wrong with my old chum, and we all scattered with the idea of finding or following up his spoor. In half a minute Bryne cried out, "Ouch!" just as if he had stepped upon a snake, and when I got to where he was standing I saw him glaring at one of Billy's boots. "Man," he whispered, "there's the foot in it still!" And sure enough the poor fellow's foot was there. There was blood all over the place, and the spoor of a big lion could easily be seen on the soft ground. We followed up the spoor, and found half of poor Billy's head near a tree. The tall, green grass all around was crushed down, showing that the lion had been lying there. It was the top of Billy's head that was left, and both the eyes were open and seemed to be looking at something on the ground fifty yards away. We buried the poor remnants under a big wild plum tree, and spent a week in tracking that lion; but we never came up with it.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been delated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose topay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Butcher's excellent orchestra accompanied the excursionists and supplied music for dancing, which with social intercourse was the chief enjoyment of the evening, though perhaps the delightful steam down the river in the soft light of the full moon, with the pleasant breeze that was abroad, constituted as great a delight to the members of the party. Everything passed off most successfully and the members are particularly earnest in their praise of the courtesy of Captain Ada and the officers and, in fact, the entire crew, of the City of Peterborough.

THE HIGH COURT OF ONTARIO

OF THE INDEPENDENT ORDER OF FORESTERS.

Annual Session—Seven Hundred Delegates Present—The Opening Proceedings — Reports Presented — The Supreme and High Court Officers—The Officers of the Ontario High Court.

The High Court of the Independent Order of Foresters of Ontario met in annual session this morning. At ten o'clock a procession of the delegates, headed by the Stayner I.O.F. band marched to the opera house. The importance of this grand body, and its liberal distribution throughout Ontario is shown by the fact that when the delegates were seated it was found that there were 738 present by actual count, a larger deliberative body than the Imperial Parliament. And when it is remembered that these represent a membership of over 35,000, the importance of the Order and the beneficient influence it exercises upon the Province may be imagined. Peterborough is proud to welcome the numerous delegates of so important a body, and on its own behalf the EXAMINER extends a cordial welcome to the Supreme and High Court officers and to the delegate brethern.

THE FORMAL OPENING.

The seventeenth annual communication of the High Court of Ontario of the Independent Order of Foresters convened, this morning, at 10 o'clock, in the Opera House. The High Chief Ranger, Rev. Alex. MacGillivray, of Toronto, occupied the chair and was supported by the following High Officers:—Past High Chief Ranger, David Millar, Toronto; High Vice Chief Ranger, H. A. Collins, Toronto; High Secretary, James B. Halkett, Ottawa; High Treasurer, Atwell Fleming, London; High Physician, T. H. Little, M. D., Toronto; High Councillor, W. R. There was also present a large number of Past High officers:—Geo. A. Proctor, Past H.C.R.; Judge W. W. Fitzgerald, P. H. C. R.; E. S. Cumner, P. H. Sec'y.; A. R. Milne, P.H.C.R.; W. Bartram, P. H. Counsellor; E. J. Hearn, P.H. Counsellor.

The Sureme Court was represented by the Supreme Chief himself, Oronhyatekha, in the handsome uniform of a Royal Forester; by P.S.C.R., E. Botterell, House of Commons, Ottawa; S. S., J. A. McGillivray, Q.C., Toronto, Ont.; S. Treas., T. G. Davey, London, Ont.; S. Phy., Thos. Milman, M. D., Toronto; S. Coun., Hon. Judge W. Wedderburn, Hampden, N. B.; Supreme Auditor, B. W. Greer, London.

More than half of the representatives present were new members, and were received into the second or High Court degree of Forestry. The sessions of the Court were fixed as follows: Morning, 9 to 12:30; afternoon, 2 to 6; evening, 8 to adjournment.

The following Standing Committees were struck:—

Before the noon adjournment the committee on Credentials and Distribution had reported and the work of the largest assembly of any fraternal society that has ever met in Canada was well under way.

HIGH CHIEF RANGERS' REPORT.

The High Chief Ranger presented an admirable report from which we glean some very important data concerning the order.

The Independent Order of Foresters, which started in 1881, with 309 members and a deficit of $4,000, has now 35,000 members and a rest or reserve fund of a million. There are 25,000 of these members in Ontario, meeting in 582 courts and represented here to-day by upwards of 750 representatives. In thirteen years the Order has increased seventy fold in Ontario, and in the past two years one third of the membership of the province has been added. During the current year 5,855 new members have joined. The average age for the province is 30 years, and the death rate less than last year, being only 4.80 to the 1,000. During the year now closing, 63 Courts have been organized, the largest number having been initiated by Mr. W. F. W. Carstairs, Provincial Organizer, who has placed ten Courts in Eastern Ontario and greatly increased the membership in that part of the province. The revenue for the year is $14,910.24, an increase of $2,240, this, of course, being wholly exclusive of the beneficiary fund. The work before this session of the High Court is of the most important nature.

The present assembly is so large as to be almost bewildering. It is larger than any parliament in the world with which it could well compare in point of intelligence. Some plan must be adopted to decrease the size and expense of these sessions and expediate business. The High Chief Ranger recommends that biennial sessions be held hereafter, and that Ontario be divided into two High Court jurisdictions. The H.C.R. concluded his very able report by an eloquent and pathetic tribute to those that God's finger has touched — the 111 brethren called away during the year.

HIGH SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The report of the High Secretary, Jas. B. Halkett, contained a reference to the gratifying increase in membership, due to the untiring efforts on the part of the High Chief Ranger, his colleagues, deputies and several members. On the 1st July, 1893, the muster roll contained the names of 21,145 members; there have been initiated since that time 5,381, making the gross total 26,526, reduced by death and other causes to a net total of 25,068 on June 30th, 1894. Sixty-three Courts have been organized during the past year, including 18 by the officers of the Supreme Court.

Messrs. C. C. Whale and R. R. Elliott, High Court Inspectors, also presented reports of their work during the year.

NOTES

Addresses were presented to the High and Supreme Officers from the Canadian Order of Foresters in the town and County of Peterborough, from Court Chemong, I.O.F., and from the Mayor and council of the town.

LACROSSE.

A lacrosse match was played yesterday on the Driving Park between the Peterborough Juniors and the second Tecumsehs of Toronto. There was a good number present and a fine exhibition of the game was witnessed. The first game was taken by Peterborough in fifteen minutes, Guy scoring. In the face off for the second game Toronto got down to work and at the end of five minutes scored.

Some very pretty play was witnessed in the third game, but Wasson scored handily after two minutes play.

The fourth game was a ragged one, the Tecumsehs playing poor lacrosse. After twenty minutes play Peterborough scored.

The score now stood 3 to 1 in favour of Peterborough, and after playing about fifteen minutes more time was called, neither teams scoring. The juniours are to be congratulated over their victory, as this is the first defeat the Tecumsehs sustained this season.

Brockville defeated Perth Saturday. Among the names of the players for Brockville are noticed Messrs. Tite and Jennings of Port Hope.

BASEBALL.

After the lacrosse match had been concluded, the Maroons, of Toronto, and the Peterborough baseball team occupied the diamond. The game was a very good exhibition at the start, and sharp play was witnessed. It was Peterborough's game in the fifth innings, and some splendid work was being done, but Peterborough was smothered to death in the remaining innings and expired in anguish. Score, 15 to 7.

SPRINTING.

Arrangements have been completed for a 100 yards race between Mr. L. LeBar, town, and Mr. Geo. Holden, Toronto, for a gold medal, valued at $20. The race will take place at the Driving Park on Sept. 3rd, Labour Day.

DERRY DAY CELEBRATION.

A Creditable and Imposing Parade—A Large Gathering in Town—Patriotic Speeches in Central Park—A Highly Successful Demonstration.

The True Blues and 'Prentice Boys celebrated the opening of the Gates of Derry and the demonstration was a signal success. As mentioned in yesterday's issue the number of visitors in town was computed at between seven and eight thousand. In the morning the appearances indicated rain, but Old Sol made his appearance and the day was an ideal one. The town was en fete for the occasion, the principal streets being literally covered with decorations and bunting. The different lodges from a distance were welcomed by the local brethren and escorted up street. The presence of the several piccolo bands and drill corps from Toronto added much to the enjoyment of the day and the music and evolutions of the drill corps were witnessed by a large number. Shortly after dinner the different lodges gathered at the park where they lined up for parade. The procession was a very creditable and orderly one, each lodge turning out in good numbers and making a fine appearance. At two o'clock the parade started from the park in the following order:—

Along the line of march the streets were crowded with hundreds of people and the windows and doors of the business blocks filled with people anxious to view the parade, which took twenty minutes to pass a given point. The drill corps were much admired for their splendid marching and were loudly cheered along the route. Nassau Orangemen and Buckhorn True Blues also showed up finely in the parade and came in for their share of praise. After parading the different streets, the procession marched to the park, where they disbanded. The crowd then gathered around the platform to listen to the speeches.

Mr. J. Kelly, P.C.M., Lennox county, presided, and on the platform were noticed, Rev. Mr. Grant, R. Weir, G. M., R.B.K., W. J. Wardsworth, G.V.P., S.O.I., Margaret L. Shepherd and others.

After singing of God Save the Queen, and prayer by Rev. Mr. Grant,

Mr. Kelly addressed the gathering. He was glad to be with them on such an important occasion to celebrate the anniversary of a day on which our forefathers fought and bled for the liberties which they were enjoying at the present day. He urged them all to keep their obligations and not disgrace them, and to live for the honour end glory of God.

Bro. Wardsworth, G.V.P., Sons of Ireland, was next introdnced. He was pleased to be with them that day, and he was sure loyal Peterborough was proud of the men and women who were loyal in spirit and heart to Canada and to the Protestant religion. He stated that he was connected with the Orange order, but came that he came before them as a representative of the Sons of Ireland, the youngest Protestant society in existence. This society was organized to help the orphans and widows. It had been said that national societies are out of date, but he denied that and said that a man who forgot the land of his birth would never make a good or loyal Canadian, especially an Irishman, where they knew that all victories in connection with Protestantism were fought. He had read in a Toronto paper an editorial in which it was stated that Catholics and Protestants should put an end to their parades, forget the past and join together. He hoped he would never live to see the day when Protestants would forget the past, forget Aughrim or the Boyne. Protestants should join together and teach their children what their forefathers fought for. We must all do something to further the cause, because Catholics were getting the upper hand in Canada.

Rev. Mr. Grant said he never expected to be asked to speak, but in doing so it was with a great deal of freedom. He said he had been born twice—born a Protestant and a native of Canada and born of the power of the Holy Ghost. He urged them all to go forward as Protestants in the cause of Jesus Christ, whom, he said, was the truest and noblest Protestant who trod this world. The speaker encouraged them in their work and told them that God should reign King of Kings.

Mrs. Margaret L. Shepherd was the next speaker. She congratulated the societies upon the successful demonstration held and likened the self denial displayed by the defenders of Derry to that of Christ on the cross, whom, she said, was a thorough Protestant gentleman. She dwelt at length on the seige of Derry and the great victories for Protestantism achieved, after which she denounced the tyranny and agression of the church of Rome, especially its influence in Canada. At the close of her address she spoke in reference of the home being built by the Lady True Blues Association for the Protestant orphans, in order to keep them from the clutches of Rome. She reminded them that a collection would be taken up in that behalf. At the close of her remarks she was greeted with applause.

The proceedings closed with three cheers for the Queen and Margaret L. Shepherd.

During the speech-making, the following programme of sports were run off in another part of the park by an energetic committee:—

100 yard race, Orangemen,—R. Cardwell, Omemee.
100 yards race, 'Prentice Boys,—W. Fisher, Peterborough.
100 yard race, True Blues,—R. Pearson, Peterborough.
100 yard race, Sons of Ireland,—James Orr, Toronto.

Best Marching Lodge—Fraserville L.O.L. No. 46.
Best Country Lodge—Nassau L.O.L. No. 457.
Judges.—Capt. Millar and Sergt. Peters.

The band and drill competition was held in the drill shed. Prince Arthur Piccolo Band secured first place, and in the drill competition, the Naval corp carried off the honours. Bandmaster Miller and Mr. J Butcher was band judges and Adjutant Mason and Sergt. Peters fancy drill judges.

At the conclusion of the competition the different lodges marched to their respective hotels for supper after which arrangements were made for their departure for home. The different bands and drill corps from Toronto left for home about eight o'clock, a large crowd being at the station to see them off. At 9.30 the streets were clear, and the 205th anniversary of the Relief of Derry was over.

NOTES.

The Nassau Lodge as usual carried off the palm for fine marching and neat and soldierly appearance.

The Citizens Band of Omemee, under Bandmaster Sherwood, is a first class organization and did themselves credit yesterday.

The drummer in one of the Toronto fife and drum bands was a dandy. He is a veteran drummer from the north of Ireland.

The presence of the Dominion Mouth Organ Band in the parade proved quite a novelty.

The Fourth Line Band of Smith showed up well yesterday.

Buckhorn L.T.B. lodge and the brethren from Emily came in for their share of praise.

The police say they had a very orderly day yesterday. Everything passed off quietly, which is the most pleasant feature of the demonstration.

The hotels did a rushing business yesterday, as well as the confectionery stores and lunch counters.

A dancing platform was erected in the park and was crowded during the afternoon.

The Fire Brigade Band was on the march all day and their music was highly praised on all sides.

The demonstration was in every way a success and the committee is to be congratulated.

A meeting of the True Blues of the town will be held this evening in their hall, Simcoe street. Addresses delivered by Mrs. Margaret L. Shepherd and prominent members of the order.

He Got the Position.

Alertness of thought and the ability to adapt knowledge to any case which may arise, stood an applicant for a lucrative position in good stead a short time ago. When the application was made the applicant was told that the position had just been filled, and that the prospective employer was very sorry, but that there was really no more room. The applicant immediately turned to a water-cooler, which was at hand, and filled the glass to overflowing.

"Is there any more room in that glass?" he asked.

"No, sir. Another drop would make it run over."

He turned again to the cooler and put in just one drop and said: "There was room for one more."

The employer saw the point and placed the man on the pay roll at once.—Philadelphia Call.

PECULIARLY MADE.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are made of refined and concentrated botanical extracts. They're different from the large old-fashioned pills for these Pellets are as tiny as mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They're made in an improved chemical laboratory under the direct supervision of scientific men. Everything else being equal, the smaller the size of a liver pill, the more comfort.

They do not shock the system, but regulate, cleanse and tone up, the liver, stomach, and bowels, in nature's own way.

They're put up in sealed glass vials, easily carried in the vest-pocket.

In Bilious Disorders, Sick Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Dizziness, or for breaking up sudden attacks of Colds, Fevers, and Inflammation, "Pleasant Pellets" are prompt and effective in action.

AFTER THE NEXT GREAT BATTLE.

The Conqueror Will Have No Time to Look After the Wounded.

Let me briefly adumbrate the possibilities—indeed, I may say the probabilities—of the results of a great battle in the next great war, which is sure to be "short, sharp and decisive," says Alexander Forbes in Scribner's. The fighting has been prolonged and bloody with the result that one side is definitely beaten, evacuates its positions and retreats more or less precipitately, leaving on the ground its wounded, none of whom could be cared for while the conflict lasted. The successful commander's ground is littered with his own wounded; he has them on his hands in thousands, and he has also on his hands the thousands of the wounded of the vanquished force which has gone away. The conqueror of the future, if he accepts the old-time conventional burden of his adversary's wounded, will become its victim. He will not accept the incubus. Is it to be imagined that the victor in such circumstance will think twice even about his own wounded, let alone the wounded of the other side? No. He is in the field, not to be a hospital nurse, but to follow up his advantage by hammering on the enemy who has departed, leaving his own wounded behind, and who may come back again to-morrow to strike him while clogged in the live and dead debris of yesterday's battle. The visitor will hasten away to overtake or hang on the skirts of the vanquished army, leaving the wounded of both sides to be dealt with as may be possible by such surgeons as he can afford, in view of future contingencies, to leave behind, and to the ministrations of cosmopolitan amateur philanthrophists of the Red Cross and kindred organizations. For there will be no more military bearer companies. In the hunger for fighting men the 1,000 bearers per army corps of the present will have been incorporated into a strong brigade with arms in their hands and a place in the fighting line.

Treasure Seekers in Mexico.

The discovery of a few scattering gold coins by a party of treasure seekers near Toluca, Mexico, has added new zest to the search for the millions in gold said to be buried on the Hacienda of Jalpa, and for which several large parties are now excavating under military protection. The amount buried is said to be $20,000,000. That amount, according to local traditions, was concealed by bandits many years ago, being the product of innumerable robberies. The treasure is believed to consist of gold and silver as well as jewels. The former possessor, says a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, was Cristobal Nava, the leader of a band of 800 desperadoes, who was put to death in a horrible manner by his followers. They chained him by the neck and left him to starve in one of the caves where they were wont to rendezvous. Pedro Altamirano succeeded him by the unanimous vote of the bandits. This leader, at the outbreak of the war for national independence, induced his followers to abandon, at any rate for the time, their evil courses and fight for their country. The idea was hailed with patriotic enthusiasm and carried into effect. Before commencing their new enterprise they buried their treasure in the ground, intending to recover it upon the coming of peace. Most of them were killed in the battles which followed. The whereabouts of the treasure was communicated to members of their families, but was lost. It was not all put in one place, and search will be made for it at other points from this time on until the booty is finally secured. No more conflicts have occurred between the contesting searchers for the treasure, as the state troops are regularly quartered on the scene of activity.

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Suspected—At Times He Was Prostrated by His Sufferings—Now He is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13. The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grevious and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, and all looseness of the bowels. Never travel without it. Price 35c.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

The Tin Wedding.

The tin wedding comes with the tenth anniversary. If a dinner be given, it is suggested in The Ladies' Home Journal that the table be made beautiful with pink roses and syringa placed in a bright new tin dish in the centre. Four dishes, holding the pink and white bonbons, cakes, etc., may be set in the midst of tin rings (used for baking cakes in circular shape), the edges of the plates resting on those of the tins. These rings filled with roses and syringa will make pretty wreaths around each prominent dish. If a more elaborate decoration be desired, any tinsmith can make a flower holder in the form of the initial of the groom's name and that of the bride's maiden name—one to be placed at each end of the table.

The little round stands of twisted tin wire made for the teapot, turned upside down and lined with pink laced papers, make dainty receptacles for salted almonds or small bonbons. If, as is now fashionable, small "individual" dishes are supplied for the almonds, new heart-shaped "patty pans" will answer the purpose. Cards of heavy bristol board, very lightly covered with mucilage, may be entirely enveloped in tin foil, and so smoothly that the artifice will not be suspected. The guest's names may be scratched upon the surface. A small tin funnel at each lady's place will make a pretty bouquet holder.

The Man in the Moon.

According to Pratorious, the man in the moon is the patriarch Isaac, carrying the bundle of sticks which were to be lighted to sacrifice his own body on the mountain-top. Dante believes him to be Cain, carrying a bundle of thorns, the meanest offering his hands afforded, as a present to God. In Iceland the people claim that they can see the face of Adam in the moon and that of Eve in the sun. Among the Freiburgers there is a superstition which says that the marks and spots on the moon's face are the outlines of the traitor, Judas Iscariot, holding his hands over his face while sneezing just prior to hanging himself. The last belief accords with the old Frankish legend which says that there was no spot on Luna's bright face until after the time of the crucifixion of Christ. Still another story tells us that in the time of the creation God threw an offending angel against the face of the moon, while another is to the effect that the moon witnessed the creation of Adam and Eve and took an impress of their features on her surface, intending to people her own land with similar beings. When she essayed to imitate God's work, she made nothing but a serpent, which since that day has continued to fold and unfold its mighty coils in full view of the descendants of the God created beings.

The Duke's Revenge.

There is a good story told of the Duke of Northumberland, who, in spite of his vast wealth, is very unaffected and simple in his life. Whenever he travels on a railway he usually takes a third class ticket, to the indignation of the railway officials. Upon a day they determined to break him off this frugal habit, and they filled his compartment with chimney sweeps carrying bags of soot. When the duke arrived at his destination he took the sweeps to the booking office and bought them each a first-class ticket back again and put one in each first-class carriage, sacks and all.

Bather Drowned at Halifax.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 13.—Robert Dalyrample, about 50 years of age, driver for the Canadian Express Company, drove down to the eastern passage yesterday and went in bathing. He took a cramp and was drowned. His body was recovered. He leaves a family.

Smash Up on the G. T. R.

MONTREAL, Aug. 13.—Toronto Grand Trunk express was delayed two and a half hours on Saturday owing to the track being blocked at Cornwall by a wrecked freight train. A misplaced switch caused the train to leave the track and smash up ten cars.

That Tired Feeling

Is a dangerous condition directly due to depleted or impure blood. It should not be allowed to continue, as in its debility the system is especially liable to serious attacks of illness. Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared from the best ingredients. 25 cents.

"Only the Scars Remain,"

Says HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., who certifies as follows:

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc., none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

Mother Urged Me

BEAR AND SERPENT IN BATTLE.

Description by an Eyewitness of a Scene in the Indian Jungle.

How the denisons of East Indian jungles settle their differences was told in a letter received in this city recently from Madras, says the New York Tribune. The writer, who saw the fight, had accompanied some Cheuons, who were on a hunt for game and had set a number of traps and nets. They were making the rounds of the nets when their attention was attracted by a succession of hideous noises—roars of rage and pain and a prolonged hissing, like the rush of escaping steam. They hurried to the spot and saw a huge jungle bear fighting for his life with an enormous serpent. The serpent had wound its giant folds around the bear, which dashed itself from side to side, and rolled over and over on the ground in frenzied endeavors to get free, roaring and snapping its jaws like castanets at the serpent's folds. It was unable to reach them however, owing to the way in which they were constricted about its body. In this way they struggled until they reached the edge of the incline, down which the bear threw himself with a speed which evidently disconcerted the serpent, for it unwound a couple of folds and threw its tail around a tree, evidently with the intention of anchoring itself and preventing the unpleasant consequences of a rapid tumble downhill.

This appeared like admirable strategy, but it resulted in the serpent's undoing. The rigid line of tail, straightened out from the tree to the bear's body, gave the infuriated beast a chance to seize hold of its assailant. He promptly accepted the chance, and with a tremendous effort turned and fastened his powerful jaws in the snake's quivering flesh. The hissing was then appalling, as the writhing serpent rapidly unfolded its huge body, and struck savagely at the clenched jaws of its enemy to make it loosen its hold on the mangled mass of flesh. In response the bear, with a muffled roar, kept worrying the mouthful of snake in its jaws in paroxysms of anguished rage. Once more the serpent constricted its folds, the bear howled and gasped, and both rolled, still struggling, out of view into the high grass of the forest. Their track was marked with pools of blood, and when next seen they had parted. The snake, evidently badly hurt, was coiled in an attitude of defence, with his head erect, and was hissing angrily. It had plainly had enough, and was more anxious to be let alone than to renew the conflict. Not so the bear. Though nearly crushed to death, with its tongue lolling out from its blood-flecked foaming jaws, the aroused brute was full of fight. After a moment's pause it rushed upon the serpent. The latter was weak from the loss of blood, and the bear got it by the head and dragged it about with roars of triumph. The undergrowth around was beaten down flat by the convulsive strokes of the great serpent's tail as the bear crushed its head to pieces, and at last it lay an inert and lifeless mass beneath the assaults of the vindictive bear.

Bismarck's Best Smoke.

"The value of a good cigar," said Prince Bismarck in conversation with some friends, "is best understood when it is the last you possess and there is no chance of getting another. At Koniggratz I had only one cigar left in my pocket, which I carefully guarded during the whole of the battle as a miser guards his treasure. I did not feel justified in using it. I painted in glowing colors the happy hour when I should enjoy it after the victory. But I had miscalculated my chances. A poor dragoon lay helpless, with both arms crushed, murmuring for something to refresh him. I felt in my pockets and found that I had only gold, which would be of no use to him. But stay, I had still my cherished cigar. I lighted it for him and placed it between his teeth. You should have seen the poor fellow's grateful smile. I never enjoyed a cigar so much as that one which I did not smoke."

Tobacco as an Insecticide.

The old-time remedy of tobacco is rapidly coming into favor again. For cheapness it can hardly be equaled, as only the refuse stems of the poorest quality need be used. In fact, these are better than the stems of fine Havana because poor tobacco contains a greater quantity of nicotine, which is the active poison that kills the insects. The decoction is made by steeping a pound of stems in a gallon of hot water. After it has cooled the liquid is strained off and applied with an ordinary spraying apparatus. Spraying with tobacco tea is recommended for the flea beetles on tomatoes, potatoes, cabbage and radishes, also as a specific for lice, ticks and other external parasites of animals. This remedy has the recommendation that it is not a dangerous poison to have around where children and innocent animals may get at it.—American Agriculturist.

Hiving the Bees.

The hiving process is easily understood. Place the hive directly under the swarm, if it clusters on a bush near the ground. Jar the limb so the bees will fall directly in front of the hive, and if the hive is nice and clean the bees will not be long in taking possession of their new home. Remove at once to the place which it is to occupy in the apiary. Prepare your sections and place them in the hives when the peach begins to bloom, so as to induce the bees to go to work in the sections at once, to deposit the surplus honey. Honey is cheap, pure, sweet and healthful. It can be had for the taking of it, and is far superior in quality to the molasses that adorns so many tables, and I see no reason why the farmer should not have a bountiful supply. If you have a surplus it will bring you a neat profit when placed upon the market.—Western Rural.

Not That Kind.

Scott's Emulsion does not debilitate the stomach as other cough medicines do; but on the contrary, it improves digestion and strengthens the stomach. Its effects are immediate and pronounced.

Cholera and all summer complaints are so quick in their action that the cold hand of death is upon the victims before they are aware that danger is near. If attacked do not delay in getting the proper medicine. Try a dose of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, and you will get immediate relief. It acts with wonderful rapidity and never fails to effect a cure.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

Gives Instant Relief.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affection, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause than Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

THE HUMAN EYE.

IT POSSESSES ALL THE QUALITIES OF A PERFECT INSTRUMENT.

A Single Impression Although There Are Two Images—Seeing Without Perceiving—An Odd Experience—The Extreme Quickness of Sight.

I have often wondered whether the statement, occasionally made by physicists, that the human eye is not a perfect optical instrument, is an expression of human vanity or of an expert knowledge of the anatomy of the eye and the physiology of vision; and I have come to the conclusion that the latter is the more reasonable theory.

The approach to perfection in modern telescopes and microscopes is wonderful indeed; but as physiologists have advanced the knowledge of vision, the so-called imperfections of the eye have been steadily disappearing, and even now there is not much to learn. Viewed merely as an optical instrument, an apparatus contained in a globe less than an inch in diameter, in which is produced an image practically perfect in form and color, which can be accurately adjusted almost instantly for every distance from five inches to infinity, is movable in every direction, has an area for the detection of the most minute details and at the same time a sufficient appreciation of large objects, is double, but the images in either eye exactly coinciding, enables us to see all shades of color, estimate distance, solidity, and to some extent the consistence of objects, the normal human eye may well be called perfect. The more, indeed, the eye is studied in detail the more thoroughly does one appreciate its perfection as an optical apparatus.

We receive the impression of a single object, although there are two images—one in either eye; but it is necessary that the images be made upon corresponding points in the two retina. If the angle of vision in one eye be deviated even to a slight degree by pressing on one globe with the finger, we see two images. One can appreciate how exactly these points must correspond when it is remembered that two rays of light appear as one only when the distance between them is one thirty-five hundredth of an inch. Not the least of the wonders of the eye are connected with the appreciation of images made upon the retina by certain parts of the brain.

It is literally true that a person may see and yet not perceive. It has happened, in certain injuries of the brain, that a person sees and reads the words in a book and yet does not perceive their significance. This is called word-blindness. In a certain portion of the brain is a part which enables us to recognize the fact that we see an object; yet this object conveys no idea. There are two of these so-called centres of vision, one on either side, and their action is partly crossed. When the centre is destroyed on one side, the inner half of one eye and the outer half of the other eye are blinded. Further back in the brain, however, is a centre which enables us to perceive or understand what is seen.

When this centre is destroyed we see objects and may avoid obstacles in walking, but persons, words, etc., are not recognized. This centre exists only on the left side of the brain.

An impression, however short, made upon the retina is perceived. The letters on a printed page are distinctly seen when illumined by an electric spark, the duration of which is only forty billionth of a second; but the impression remains much longer. Anything in motion appears to us in a way quite different from the single impression that we should have from an electric spark. In a picture representing an animal in motion, as it appears in an instantaneous photograph, the positions seem absurd and like nothing we have ever seen.

In looking at a horse in action, the impressions made by the different positions of the animal run into each other, and art should represent as nearly as possible the sum, or average, of these impressions. It is also true that impressions are diffused in the retina beyond the points upon which they are directly received. This is called irradiation; and the impression is diffused farther for white or light-colored than for black or dark objects. It is well known that a white square looks considerably larger than a dark square of exactly the same size; or the hands in white gloves look larger than in black gloves.

The whole question of the appreciation of colors and of color-blindness is still wrapped in mystery. We know that some persons cannot distinguish between certain colors, but the reason of this is obscure. Perfect sight can exist only when the eye is perfect. The form and color of objects may be distorted so that an inaccurate image is formed upon the retina, and this image, however imperfect it may be, is what is perceived by the brain. In hearing the case is different.

The waves of sound, if they be conducted to the internal ear, and if the nerve of hearing, with its terminations, be normal, cannot be modified in the course of transmission. Sounds are always appreciated at their exact value, except as regards intensity. Enough has been said about the eye, I think, to show that it is perfectly adapted to all requirements, and whatever defects it may seem to have, viewed as an optical instrument, render it more useful to us than if these apparent defects did not exist.—Popular Science Monthly.

The Chinese pay their doctor only so long as he keeps them in health. They believe in preventing rather than curing disease. This is sound sense, and one of the strongest recommendations of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, a medicine which not only cures diseases but prevents them.

RIVER AND LAKE RIPLETS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Geo. Read, Jas. McNeil, Keene; W. G. Read, J. C. Read, Westwood; Geo. Reid, Brockville; R. Redding, C.P.R., Port Arthur; R. English, John Powell. W. Campbell, W. A. Campbell, Percy Campbell, W. Andrews, Geo. Powell, D. Powell, H. Powell, artists, Keene; W. C. McCrea, Costlock, Que.; Mr. Redding, Port Arthur; Miss Shaw, Toronto; Mrs. Powell, T. Campbell, W. Campbell, Dr. Shaw, Keene; Miss S. Campbell, E. C. Read, K. McNeil, E. McCrea, Keene; Sybil and Mamie Redding, Port Arthur; Nellie Read and Bessie Read, Westwood; Misses Flora, Charlotte and Lizzie Powell, Keene; Mary Andrews, Kathleen Powell and M. Doris, Keene, comprised the birthday party of Geo. Read, Keene, to Peterborough, per steamer Beaver, on Monday, Aug. 13th. The party took dinner at the Point, leaving for Peterborough, at 11.50, after spending a most enjoyable time. Everything pertaining to the table was A. 1.; Manager Jackson exceeded himself on this occasion, while the ladies acquitted themselves admirably.

The following are the guests at Hotel Jubilee:—Mr. Geo. Perry and Wm. McCullough, Cobourg; Mr. Frank Herald and Mr. John Dale, Gore's Landing; Mr. J. M. Irwin, Nassau; Mr. Grasett, of the Bank of Ontario, town; Misses Eleanor Dugan, Josie Jellett, and Ethel Balkwell, Boston; Miss E. Wallace, Detroit; Miss M. Wallace, Turtle Rock, Arkansas; Mr. H. S. Rosendar, M. A., Boston; Mr. H. F. Gowans, Cobourg; Misses Tottie Cochrane and Ethel Ball, Camdon.

Miss Mary Collins, Peterborough, is visiting her friend, Miss Josie Jackson, at Jubilee Point.

Miss Jennie McIlwain, after a fortnight's sojourn at the Point, returned to her home at Lakefield, apparently much benefitted by the comforts and enjoyments which Jubilee affords.

The boys of St. John's choir, 24 in all, had a most delightful time on the Point and and returned home highly delighted with their outing. Mr. Harry Long was captain and Rev. Mr. Kenrick performed the duties of master of ceremonies and they saw that every comfort of the lads was attended to and that discipline was maintained. The youngsters had a grand time while on Cow Island and would gladly have remained longer.

Wild ducks are numerous in and about the forks. No trouble to prevent tourists from shooting them from the numerous steamers plying in and about the Point. Bang, bang is the order of the day, now, as well as rod and line.

Miss Cavanagh, of Chicago, who has been sojourning in Peterborough as guest of the Misses Calcutt's, Ashburnham, at Jubilee Point, returned yesterday to her home. She spent a most pleasant outing, being greatly delighted as regards the fishing facilities of the point and contented herself with the thought that she would return again at some future date so delighted was she. She was an expert angler.

The steamer Rob Roy, Capt. Jack Craig in command, and Commodore Roy and with crew and invited guests, Roy paid the island a visit Saturday evening, while on their way to Keene.

The Otonabee is dotted along either sides with tents, and the anglers are making enormous catches.

A party from Millbrook, some 30 in number, ladies and gents, with seven tents in all, are camped a few miles below the city, apparently having a good time, as well as good sport.

The semi-monthly regetta over the Jubilee course took place on Saturday afternoon, and for the third time was won by Mr. Harry Lane, mayor of Harwood, who now remains the possessor of the Beckett challenge cup. The water was decidedly choppy, which militated against the comfort and speed of the competitors. Of the events, five in number, it was deemed necessary to postpone the two most important till some future date. The canoe and skiff races came off, however; the latter of which was simply a procession. There were five competitors, namely, Frank Herald, Jack McAllister, Bill Edmundson, Gore's Landing; "Din" Corkery and Harry Lane of Harwood. A magnificent struggle was maintained throughout. Lane, however, forged ahead—the two boats certainwere on very close terms at the time the Harwoods dropped their oars, passing the string one and a half boat lengths ahead. The course was a mile and a half straight away. The wind blew a fresh southwester and almost a direct head one for the competitors. The time made was, therefore, slow.

To remove worms of all kinds from children or adults Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is a safe and sure remedy.

Accuracy and Measuring.

Many farmers work too much by guessing. They do not know the number of acres in each field, or how large a piece of land has been plowed in a day. By knowing the breadth of a lot, one may know the width of each acre, the quantity of seed required, and the product per acre of each crop. The implements to be used, may be a two-rod surveyor's chain or a pocket tape line, a pole eleven feet long, three lengths of which make two rods, yard-sticks graduated, and a small pocket rule for measuring the size of fruit and roots and for other purposes. A frequent use of these measures enables the owner to judge with much accuracy of the distance measured by pacing or hand measuring.—Country Gentleman.

Five Thieves Sentenced.

WINDSOR, Aug. 14.—Martin Gannon, John Draver, and Rudolph Millbank of Detroit were caught early Sunday morning by the police preparing to row over to Detroit with a bag containing game and fancy fowls which had been stolen at Tecumseh yesterday. Magistrate Bartlet sentenced Gannon to four months and the other two to three months in the Central at Toronto. The thievery of valuable fowls from North Essex has been going on for some time.

Incendiary Fires in Aylmer.

AYLMER, Ont., Aug. 14.—On Sunday evening about 11.15 a fire occurred on the premises of Messrs. Doupe and Alexander Milne, burning both gentlemen's barns. It was evidently the work of an incendiary. Insurance on Doupe's barn $200 and $50 on Milne's, total loss, $500. Much excitement is prevalent over the affair as of late several fires of an incendiary character have taken place and as yet no conviction has been secured.

O'Brien Will Remain in Newfoundland.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Aug. 14.—The Colonial office requests Sir Terence O'Brien to continue to occupy governorship of Newfoundland another year, although the term expires in November, when his age compels him to retire from service. The British authorities waive that in his behalf being desirous to avail of his services in managing Newfoundland affairs. It is understood the Governor will agree.

Firemen's Convention in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 14.—A large number or delegates to the Great Fire Chiefs Convention which opens in this city to-day, arrived by boat last evening and were given a cordial reception by the local committee. The Convention will last for the rest of the week and a number of important topics will be discussed. Delegates will be present from all parts of the United States and Canada.

Killed His Wife and Suicided.

How it Feels to Drown.

"Just one year ago to-day," said Philip L. Newman, a Boston drummer, who was at the Lindell yesterday, "I had as narrow an escape from drowning as anyone ever had. It was a hot afternoon and I went with several companions to bathe in the Ohio river, not far from Cincinnati. In diving from a log I stayed too long under the water, and before I could rise to the surface I felt a shock like a blow on my back, caused by one of my friends diving to my rescue. This drove all the air out of my lungs, and I went to the bottom where I lay in a half conscious state. All the events of my life passed slowly before my eyes, and I could see my parents and friends around me weeping. I recalled with absolute distinctness the smallest facts of my life, even when I was a child at school. I knew that I was drowning, but thought, after all, it was not such a bad death. I wondered if they would be able to find my body, and shuddered at the thought of their failure. Then I pictured my burial, heard the clods falling on my coffin, and thought that I heard parents speak of my death as a warning to their children. At last everything around me became peaceful, noises died away and felt myself rise above the earth and float upwards into space. From that moment I saw or knew nothing until I found myself lying on the bank beside the friend who had rescued me and brought me back to life by means of artificial respiration and friction.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Visibility of Colored Lights.

A local scientist has recently made some very interesting tests with lights at sea, and declares that a white light can be seen further than any other. A red light comes next in carrying power, and green ranks third. From 60 to 80 per cent. of light is absorbed by red and 95 per cent. by green glass. The per centage of absorption, of course, increases in ratio with the density of the color in the glass, and the condition of the atmosphere has considerable influence on the range of visibility of the lights.—Philadelphia Record.

FOUR WERE DROWNED.

A Sad Fatality on the Sydenham River near Wallaceburg.

WALLACEBURG, Ont., Aug. 14.—A very sad drowning accident happened on the north branch of the Sydenham near Thornyhurst about seven miles above Wallaceburg. Two daughters of Henry Winters and his grandchild, a promising girl of about twelve years of age, daughter of Captain M. Sherwood of this town had been visiting at Wm. McAllisters, a son-in-law of Mr. Winters, and were returning home, calling on a Mr. Johnson, an elderly man who lives on the east side of the river below Mr. Winters, to ferry them over. He readily complied. Mrs. Johnson waited some time for her husband's return, and becoming anxious she went out to the river bank and noticed the boat floating off some distance away but no one in sight. Search was immediately made when three hats were found. On further search the four bodies were recovered. Exactly how the accident occurred will never be known as no one saw it. This sad affair has cast gloom over the whole community as the friends of the drowned are well known.

Richard Harrison has Backache for Some Years—It was Due to Kidney Disease—No More Backaches Now.

HALL'S BRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 6.—Richard Harrison is well known here and everywhere highly respected. That he has been a sufferer for some years from backache and other kidney troubles was a well known fact. that gained much sympathy for him. Lately he has been moving around here as spry as a kitten and in the best of health. All his kidney troubles had disappeared. so he said, when questioned, and he further said that the cause of their disappearance was his having used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reputation of these pills as a specific in all kidney disorders is now firmly established in this part of Ontario.

CLEVELAND'S POSITION

Speculations As to What He Will Do With the Tariff Bill

HE DOES NOT APPROVE OF IT

But He May Permit It to Become Law Without Signing It—Mr. Vest Objects to the Measure Being Called "Sugar Trust Tariff Bill."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Now that the tariff bill has been passed by the House the next subject of speculation is as to the President's position regarding it. Will he sign it or permit it to become a law without his signature or will his disapproval of the measure lead him to veto it? There are few who believe he will take so extreme a course of vetoing the bill. There are not many who believe the President will sign the bill. It is thought that his opposition to the measure is so strong that he cannot consistently affix his signature to it, but rather than have no tariff legislation by this Congress he will permit it to become a law without signing it.

The Senate had early official notification yesterday of the passage by the House of four bills placing on the free list sugar, bituminous coal, iron ore and barbed wire. As soon as the reading of the journal was finished a message announcing the passage of those bills and making no reference to the tariff bill was delivered by the chief clerk of the House. Subsequently the bills were laid before the Senate. One after another were read a first time and went over on an objection by Mr. Manderson (Rep., Neb.) to their second reading. Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) indicated a desire to have them taken up at once for consideration, but that was prevented by Mr. Manderson's objection. In connection with these bills notice was given by Mr. Hill (Dem., N.Y.) that he would offer an amendment to each of them repealing all provisions of law in regard to an income tax. An objection to the third reading of the House joint resolution, extending the general appropriations to the 24th of August was made by Mr. Aldrich (Rep., R.I.) and that measure also went over.

Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) manifested much indignation to a resolution offered by Mr. Hale (Rep., Me.) to print 5,000 copies of the tariff bill as passed, and in which resolution the bill was described as the "Sugar trust tariff bill." He declared that the Senator from Maine had no right to give the bill such an appellation and that his doing so was an outrage on the Senate. The resolution went over without action.

There were numerous conferences held on both sides of the Senate chamber, all of which had as their object the ascertainment of what steps shall be taken in regard to the four tariff bills sent over by the House. What the result will be is problematical. One of the prominent leaders of the Republicans expressed the belief that none of the bills would receive the affirmative action of the Senate, and said that they would be either postponed or sent to the finance committee where they would remain until the next session of Congress at least.

Republicans will have the Louisiana senators and the Populists on their side if they begin a fight against the free sugar bill and Mr. Manderson is authority for the statement that if the Democrats attempt to force that bill to the front they will precipitate a debate that will result in the wearing out of a quorum. It is understood some of the Democratic members of the Committee on finance will wait upon the President and urge him to keep congress in Session until the tariff bills have been acted upon. Should this materialize it is said a determined effort at filibustering will begin.

Pullman Strikers Applying for Places.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—The stampede of Pullman strikers continues and fully 2,000 persons have applied for their former places in the works. About 1,800 men were on duty and the company's officials say a force of 3,000 is easily attainable. The Pullman officials have intimated that the strikers who return will not be pushed for overdue rent, and this fact was largely instrumental in causing the rush for positions.

A Pugilist Dies of His Injuries.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 15.—Fletcher Robbins, the pugilist, of Plattsmouth, Neb., who fought with "Jimmy" Lindsey, of Omaha, on August 9, at the former city, died yesterday of internal injuries received during the mill. Seconds Rothery and O'Neill and Referee Griswold were arrested in Omaha and taken to Plattsmouth for a hearing. Lindsey was also arrested and taken to Plattsmouth.

Naval Reserves in Peril.

CENTRE ISLAND, N.Y., Aug. 15.—A cutter's crew of naval reserves from the cutter New York, under command of Lieut. W. H. Slayton, now at the club house, left Fisher's island in a cutter last Saturday afternoon. The men encountered heavy seas and were unable to make a landing. They were twenty-one hours without food and suffered considerably.

Whitecaps Kill a Desperado.

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio, Aug. 15.—John Morgan, a colored desperado, was shot and killed by Whitecaps at Little Africa in Mason county, W. Va. He had threatened to murder several of the white population for stringing up three negroes recently. Morgan is a member of the gang which was terrorizing Mason county farmers for some time and further trouble is expected.

EVICTED TENANTS BILL

The Motion for Second Reading Rejected by the House of Lords.

IRISH LAND ACTS INQUIRY

The Parliamentary Select Committee Adopts the Report Drafted by Mr. Morley—British Capitalists Warned Against American Securities.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The Duke of Devonshire spoke at length in the House of Lords yesterday against the evicted tenants bill. He based his opposition on the ground that the Government was not justified in making the reinstatement of tenants compulsory.

Lord Salisbury complained of the oppressive power conferred upon the arbitrators, which, he said, amounted to despotism. He ridiculed the proposition that the Lords would seal their doom by rejecting the bill.

The Prime Minister, Lord Rosebery, deplored the levity with which the noble Lord who had just spoken had treated a grave question. Not only had he not suggested a compromise, but he seemed to doubt whether anything existed in that regard to make a compromise desirable. When a bill of this kind was rejected without the slightest alternative he was tempted to consider what was the position of the House of Lords. The present bill had come to them approved by the Commons and supported by four-fifths of the Irish members. Their Lordships were playing with edged tools. They were playing with fire at the door of a magazine.

The motion for the second reading of the bill was rejected by a vote of 249 to 30.

The Peers Enemies of Ireland.

The Daily News, in commenting upon the rejection of the evicted tenants bill by the House of Lords, says: "The majority in the House of Peers are concerting with the minority in the House of Commons with the aim of making the government of Ireland impossible. They calculate that if disturbances can be excited in Ireland during the winter, a renewal of the Coercion Act will be demanded and Chief Secretary Morley must, by yielding, quarrel with the Irish members or fail to maintain order and so lower the reputation of the Ministry. The responsibility for the consequence of last night's veto rests upon the Lords, who have been the enemy of Ireland from the beginning and will remain the enemy till the end.

Irish Land Acts Inquiry.

The Parliamentary select committee on the Irish land acts, of which John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, is chairman, met yesterday to consider the report of the proceedings of the committee drafted by Mr. Morley. The report was adopted. The Tory minority of the committee withdrew after presenting a report embodying their protest against the exclusion of evidence which they regarded as essential to complete the inquiry.

Comments on U. S. Legislation.

The Standard warns British investors against buying all kinds of United States securities. It will be a long time, it says, before the country recovers from the suspended animation of the past year and a half.

The Daily Chronicle says: "The Senate has become the naked and undisguised instrument of trusts and syndicates. No more shameful or more selfish conspiracy to enrich a few capitalists at the expense of other people has been witnessed in our time. We do not want to exchange even our own ridiculous and irritating anarchism for such tyrannical power.

THE WAR IN THE ORIENT.

Japan Again Victorious—U. S. Increases Its Naval Force in the East.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—A despatch from Yokohama says that in the engagement between the Japanese and Chinese fleets on August 11 the Japanese were victorious.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The fact that the situation of the Chinese-Japanese affair is considered sufficiently grave to require the augmentation of the United States force in the China Sea is made evident by Secretary Herbert's order, issued last night, requiring the Charleston to start for the scene of hostilities as soon as possible. The Charleston is now at San Francisco. She will touch at Honolulu on her way.

President Carnot's Son Married.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—Mlle. Marguerite Chiris, daughter of Senator Chiris, was married yesterday to Ernest Carnot, son of the late president of the republic. The betrothal of Mlle. Chiris and M. Carnot was announced last spring. After the assassination of the president the families decided to defer the marriage until winter, but eventually Mme. Carnot, it is understood, changed her mind and requested that the wedding be held on the date which was set last March. The ceremony was performed privately. Only the immediate members of the two families were present.

Franco-Congo Treaty.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—A treaty between France and the Congo State, signed yesterday, provides that the French Congo colony's territory shall extend to the Congo and Nile basins and modifies the treaty between the Congo State and England, the Congo State renouncing the lease Great Britain granted which led to the recent dispute with England.

A Good Thing if Successful.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Dr. J. S. Haldane, brother of Richard B. Haldane, M.P., described before the British Association yesterday an invention which it is claimed will enable miners to live from one to three hours in afterdamp. The invention consists of a steel case holding compressed oxygen and a respirator, the whole no larger than a safety lamp.

Two Negroes Lynched.

LAURAVILLE, Fla., Aug. 15.—Two negroes, who assaulted Miss Potts, 14 years of age, in Lafayette county, a few days ago, were caught near Macalpine. They confessed and were carried to the scene of their crime and lynched.

My feet were so badly swollen that I could not wear my shoes. I got Yellow Oil, and to my astonishment it gave instant relief, and two bottles completely cured me. Mrs. W. G. McKay, Berwick, Ont.

BLUEFIELDS RETAKEN

Chief Clarence Taken on Board the British Cruiser Mohawk.

HOISTED THE BRITISH FLAG

American Residents Trample the Mosquito Flag and Raise the Union Jack—American Sympathizers of Chief Clarence Arrested by Nicaraguan Officials.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—A dispatch to the Times from Port Limon, Costa Rica, dated August 12 says: "The British cruiser Mohawk has arrived here from the Mosquito country with Chief Clarence and 112 refugees.

Bluefields was retaken by 2,000 Nicaraguans who arrived from Rama and Greytown aboard transports flying the United States flags. The American marines reembarked on their approach abandoning the American residents, many of whom removed the national flag from their houses and trampled upon it and hoisted the British flag.

The Nicaraguan officials on entering the government house hauled down and tore into shreads the Mosquito flag and arrested numerous Americans and Jamaicans suspected of sympathizing with Chief Clarence.

Captain Stewart of the Mohawk went into the prison and rescued all who were willing to claim British protection. The Mohawk remains at Port Limon awaiting orders from Great Britain. Chief Clarence is still aboard the Mohawk.

HEALTH OFFICERS OF ONTARIO.

The Ninth Annual Meeting of the Association Held at Chatham.

CHATHAM, Ont., Aug. 15.—Yesterday at Harrison hall the ninth annual meeting of the Association of Executive Health Officers of Ontario was begun. After devotional exercises and the reading of minutes and announcements by the secretary, the programme of the day was formally taken up. Papers were read on "The disposal of town garbage and refuse," by Col. Bishop, United States consul, Chatham; "Cremation as a method for disposal of the dead," by Dr. Stewart, Thamesville; "The economy and utility of the separate sewerage system," by H. J. Bowman, C.E., Berlin; "Sewerage and disposal of sewage," by P. D. McKellar, county registrar, Chatham. The papers were discussed briefly by Dr. McDonald, Hamilton; Dr. Coverton, Windsor; Dr. Vaux, Brockville; Dr. Bryce and Mr. A. McDougall, C.E., Toronto. The chairman said he was pleased to hear that Chatham was about to adopt the separate system of sewerage.

Instead of having a session in the afternoon, the members of the association with representative citizens were treated to a trip to Rondeau, via the E. and H., through the courtesy of Manager Ross and the civic entertainment committee. The Opera house last evening was the scene of the civic reception to the visitors.

IRON IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

American Prospectors Open a Mine Producing Valuable Ore.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Aug. 15.—A company of American prospectors recently opened an iron mine at Belle Isle, Conception Bay, Nfld., meeting with most encouraging results. The quantity of the ore is very valuable, containing 54 per cent iron. It is reported that they are working in the interest of Whitney syndicate which is operating the Cape Breton coal mines hoping to secure the free admission of iron ore into the United States. It is also reported that they have prepared to push operations on a large scale, the cheap water carriage of ore giving great advantage over railway transportation. Enough ore is visible to allow the mining of 250 tons daily for the next five years.

Attacked the Gospel Patrol.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—Roughs attacked a Gospel patrol waggon used by ladies and gentlemen who drive about Point St. Charles at night and conduct religious services. These people were assaulted and had stones and dirt thrown at them. No serious injury was done, but the ladies were alarmed. The same gang of roughs, it is supposed, broke into the stable where the horse and waggon are kept, hitched the horse to the waggon, drove over the dyke at the end of Victoria bridge and sent horse and vehicle down into the river. The horse broke loose and escaped injury. The waggon was badly smashed. The police are on the track of the perpetrators.

Serious Accident at Ambleside.

TEESWATER, Ont., Aug. 15.—Mrs. Jacob Lambartas, about 55 years of age, living at Ambleside, about four miles from here, met with a very serious accident. She went to the barn to call the men who were threshing to dinner. As she was near the barn door a violent gust of wind slammed the door shut, striking her and throwing her upon the tumbling rod and her clothes became entangled. The unfortunate woman was terribly maugled, her abdomen being torn open, one arm broken in two places, besides minor injuries. Drs. Stewart and Gillies were quickly summoned and dressed her injuries. Her recovery is very doubtful.

Incendiarism at Strathroy.

STRATHROY, Ont., Aug. 15.—Fire broke out in Mr. J. Sewell's stable in the lane in the rear of his premises and before the streams were played the two barns adjoining were all in flames. The horses and most of contents were saved by willing hands. Loss mostly covered by insurance, and will hardly exceed $500. Fire supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

Sandwich Jail Well Filled.

WINDSOR, Aug. 15.—The Sandwich jail now has within its walls the largest number of prisoners on record, there being now twenty. Two of these will soon be sent to the Central prison at Toronto and most of the remainder are awaiting trial for offences, more or less serious, at the next assizes which will open before Judge Robertson on September 1.

THE SONS OF IRELAND IN CONVENTION.

The Session Held Yesterday—Encouraging Reports Received—Amendments to Constitution—The Session Concluded in the Evening—Grand Officers Elected.

The fifth annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Sons of Ireland Protestant Benevolent Society came to a close last evening and was one of the most successful yet held. About sixty delegates were present from all over Ontario.

After the opening ceremonies in connection with the session, the reports of the different committees were received. The society proved to be in good financial standing and was rapidly increasing in membership, seven new lodges having been formed since the last session. Several amendments to the constitution were also adopted.

After dinner the Grand Lodge resumed its sitting. The first business was the election of officers which resulted as follows:—

Grand President—W. A. Wardsworth, Toronto.
Grand Vice-President—J. M. Dixon, Toronto.
Chaplain—Rev. J. C. Madill, Sarnia.
Grand Secretary—John McFaul, Toronto.
Grand Treasurer—J. Steele, Toronto.
Grand Lecturers—Geo. Bailey, Toronto, and A. Dugan, Peterborough.

The ceremony of installation was then proceeded with by the Grand President, assisted by the Grand Secretary, after which several new members were initiated into the local association. The remainder of the business transacted was the inner work of the association.

During the day, greetings were extended the High Court of the Independent Order of Foresters in session, the work of both societies being of a philanthropic character.

The Grand Lodge adjourned at four o'clock, the members leaving for home on the 4:20 C. P. R., and 5 o'clock G. T. R. trains.

The next annual convention will be held in the place where the first society is organized.

ENNISMORE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

I have a few items of interest for your next issue in regard to some Alsike clover I have grown and my mode of cutting it. It is a seed that shells very easily in cutting, so that there is a great deal of loss as it is a very valuable grain to farmers in these hard times. I have made and patented a table to be attached to a moving bar, that will save at least a half bushel to the acre. Here are a few proofs of its work. My brother W. H. Crough, has cut eleven acres with one of my tables, attached to his mowing machine, and has kept what hulls and heads he saved separate, and has threshed from them ten bushels, which means at a low price, sixty-five dollars. His field yielded 4 bushels per acre. I have also cut for myself eleven acres of a poor looking crop and very dirty, one third wild grass, and off that I have saved six bushels and four lbs., by having this table, per acre, of almost marketable seed. My field returned me within 13 lbs. of 50 bushels. I have bought from Mr. John Flood 5½ acres of alsike clover, and threshed from the hulls 4 bushels, and from the field, altogether, I have threshed twenty-seven bushels and forty-three pounds, which has made an average of 5½ bushels per acre, and it is first-class seed, as the crop was good and extra clean, and was threshed by Mr. Patrick Calligh-han's threshing machine in five hours. This table is my own invention and the witnesses to the weight of the above seed are Mr. Patrick Callighan and Mr. Thos. O'Neil, Downeyville post office.

It was a narrow escape from drowning the other day, of the following ten men, namely, P. Callighan, T. O'Neil, Wm. Crough, Michael Crough, sr., R.O'Donough, Dan. Crough, Michael Shanahan, Patrick Brick, sr., and Patrick Brick, jr., three heavy teams of horses, particularly Mr. Callighan's team, which took first prize for drawing at the Omemee show fair, last fall, and the sinking of two waggons, a self-binder, and a Monitor steam clover mill. The threshers had finished their work at Mr. Flood's, at sundown, and were anxious to return to Emily that night. They came into Ennismore by Cowan's bridge, and intended to return by Pigeon Creek Bridge, and as the last named bridge was not considered very safe for such a weight as the steamer they left their own engine at home, and Mr. W. H. Crough accommodated them with his. We undertook to assist them across the bridge by attaching a long rope to the pole of their separator and to the axle of our waggon, as it is very heavy and there was danger of it sinking if you did not drive quickly, and while we were making preparations to start we sent a messenger across for fear of meeting any rigs, and not being able to stop, for fear of sinking. Our messenger was gone about ten or fifteen minutes when we started, and we went at a quick rate until we crossed the channel and the swing, when to our dismay we beheld a waggon and self-binder loaded on it belonging to Mr. Brick who was returning from his farm in Verulam. Our messenger had not reached the other side before Mr. Brick had started at the far end, he stoped him and told him what was coming and it would not do to stop or attempt to pass, as there are but few passing places on that bridge. They jumped from their load and unhitched and singled their team and drove them back and left their load on the middle of the bridge drive. The other men in the Crough wagon jumped out and ran the load back to the pier. Fortunately enough the bridge held us up. While they got a chain off the forward part of our cable, Mr. Brick hitched his team on the rear of his waggon and drew it back to the cross roads and the way was clear again and all was over without the slightest damage to anything, thanks to a kind Providence.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL.

The Township and the Outfall Sewer—Business Transacted.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The council of North Monaghan met in regular session at the town hall on Monday, Aug. 6th. Present Mr. Jos. Forster, reeve, and Councillors Hunter, McIntosh, Johnston and Waterman. Moved by Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr. McIntosh, that the accounts be passed and orders issued therefor.—Carried. The deputation of ratepayers from South Monaghan asking for a grant to opening the road across the 7th con. of North Monaghan as referred at the last meeting, again appeared. After the matter being discussed it was moved by Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr. Hunter, that in the opinion of this council there is not enough benefit to the ratepayers of North Monaghan to be derived by the opening of the proposed road and that therefore it is not desirable for the council of the municipality of North Monaghan to make a grant and thereby assume the said road as a public highway.—Carried.

Mr. Collins presented his resignation of the office of assessor for North Monaghan. Moved by Mr. Hunter, seconded by Mr. McIntosh, that the resignation of Mr. Collins be accepted. Moved by Mr. McIntosh seconded by Mr. Johnston,—That the Reeve and clerk be and are hereby authorized to issue an order for the collector's salary, $36, as soon as the treasurer presents his certificate for his acceptance of the roll.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr. McIntosh,—That the sum of $15 be granted to Road Division No. 2, and that the Reeve and Councillor Waterman be a commission to expend the same.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr. McIntosh,—That Councillors Waterman and Hunter be a committee to wait upon the council of South Monaghan to solicit their co-operation in the matter of sewerage arbitration with the town of Peterborough.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Waterman,—That Councillors Johnston and McIntosh be a committee to await upon the Council of Otonabee to solicit their co-operation in the matter of sewerage arbitration with the town of Peterborough.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Hunter, seconded by Mr. McIntosh,—That Councillor Johnston be empowered to buy 100 lbs. of flour for W. Close.—Carried. On motion of Mr. McIntosh, seconded by Mr. Johnston, by-law No. 407 appointing W. Collins an arbitrator on behalf of the township of North Monaghan, respecting the proposed extension of a sewer by the town of Peterborough within and through North Monaghan, was passed. Council then adjourned to meet on Monday, the 28th of Aug., 1894.

Fatal Accident to Picnickers.

CLEARVILLE, Aug. 15.—A sad accident occured a few miles east of here. Several families from Aldborough picknicked at Clearville, and returning home foolishly indulged in horse racing. A democrat driven by George Dube, containing his wife, child, Christopher James, Mrs. Dube' father, and others, was completely demolished by the tongue dropping. The occupants were thrown ont against a slightly elevated bank at the side of the road. The child's head was crushed and it died two hours afterwards. Mrs. Dube and Mr. James were both picked up unconscious, being badly bruised and cut about the head, and are now under medical care. Fortunately the rest were but slightly hurt.

Petitions and Cross Petitions.

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—Mr. A. Waldie, of Kingston, has filed with the registrar of the Court of Appeal a notice of his intention to apply to be substituted as petitioner for Wm. McConnell in the petition against the return of Dr. E. H. Smythe for Kingston. Mr. William Manly German, member-elect for Welland, has filed a cross-petition against Mr. Wm. McCleary, the defeated candidate, alleging acts of corruption by Mr. McCleary and his agents, and praying that he may be adjudged disqualified to sit as a member for the Legislature. Mr. Richard Vanalstine, of Kingston, also filed a cross petition against the Hon. Mr. Harty to the same effect.

Wisconsin to Sue the Federal Government.

Like a Miracle
Consumption—Low Condition
Wonderful Results From Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Miss Hannah Wyatt
Toronto, Ont.

"Four years ago while in the old country (England), my daughter Hannah was sent away from the hospital, in a very low condition with consumption of the lungs and bowels, and weak action of the heart. The trip across the water to this country seemed to make her feel better for a while. Then she began to get worse, and for 14 weeks she was unable to get off the bed. She grew worse for five months and lost the use of her limbs and lower part of body, and if she sat up in bed had to be propped up with pillows. Physicians
Said She Was Past All Help
and wanted me to send her to the 'Home for Incurables.' But I said as long as I could hold my hand up she should not go. We then began Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures to give her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She is getting strong, walks around, is out doors every day; has no trouble with her throat and no cough, and her heart seems to be all right again. She has a first class appetite. We regard her cure as nothing short of a miracle." W. WYATT, 39 Marion Street, Parkdale, Toronto, Ontario.

A Council Meeting of Ministers to be Held Next Week—The Price of Coal.

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—Major-General Herbert and Capt. Streatfield, his A.D.C., have left for the Levis camp.

The employes of the civil service are to have a full holiday to-morrow, Ottawa's civic holiday.

The only Ministers in town at present are Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Haggart and Mr. Patterson. Next week will see a majority of the Ministers back in the city. A council meeting is to be held on Tuesday at which considerable accumulated business must be taken up.

Hon. J. C. Patterson, Minister of Militia, writing to Senator McInnes, says that if the Government decides to establish a military school the claims of Hamilton to have it located there will be considered. Senator McInnes thinks Hamilton's chances are good.

Four carloads of horses and 100 men passed up the O. A. and P. S. railway yesterday for the St. Anthony Lumber Company's limits beyond Barry's Bay. It was this company that bought the old Perley limits in that locality and this is the first season that the company will work them. It is evident that the company intends making a big cut this winter since it has begun operations in the bush so early. The company is erecting a saw mill about 60 miles beyond Killaloe, where their logs will be cut and the timber shipped over the O. A. and P. S. railway and C. A. R. to the States.

Mr. John Graham, late proprietor of the Grand Union is very low, and only the faintest hopes of his recovery can be entertained. He is delerious and quite unconscious of anything around.

A prominent coal merchant in speaking about the probable price of coal this season, said that as far as he knew the price of coal at any time this fall or winter will not exceed $6.50 a ton, and it is possible that it may be a good deal cheaper.

LABOR TROUBLES AT ST. HENRI.

Men Employed Paving Notre Dame Street Demand an Increase of Pay.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—There were vague rumors all round the city of bloody affrays at St. Henri. Men were reported killed by the half dozens, houses broken into and robbed, incendiary fires numerous, and city property destroyed. All the men working on the paving of Notre Dame street west were believed to be in open riot against the contractors. A little enquiry showed that although things were bad the reports which reached the city were greatly exaggerated. Charlette and Desormeau have a large force of men at work on the street at the ordinary wages paid to day laborers. A number of these men determined to strike for an increase, and they approached the foreman. He sent for Mr. Charette, who heard their story and told them he would not grant their request. The men at once quit work and declared that they would hold out until their demands were conceded. The men gathered in knots on the street and created a lot of consternation for a couple of hours. Fifteen of the worst cases among the strikers found themselves in the cells on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Others were ordered home and the soberer ones made themselves scarce. The contractors say they will not grant the request for an increase, and if the men persist there is plenty of labor to be had.

Mexican Murderers Shot.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 15.—Advices from San Nicolas del Oro state that one of the Mexicans who assassinated George E. Bendre, the American mining man, at that place, a few days ago, has been captured and shot. The object of the assassination was robbery, and several other Mexicans implicated in the crime will soon be arrested.

Cholera in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 15.—Great excitement prevails at Cokato, Minn., over what is pronounced by doctors to be a case of Asiatic cholera in the family of Eric Erickson, three miles east of that place. The man was taken sick and in less than fifteen hours turned partly black and died in convulsions.

Met With a Terrible Death.

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 15.—MacYounkins, an oil driller, was roasted to death at a well at Herman station yesterday. The crew were driving tubing when the well flowed. Younkins was saturated with oil which ignited from the derrick lamp.

Mr. Allan's Death Denied.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—There is no credit given here to the despatch from London stating that James Allan, the head of the Allan Steamship line, died at Berywck on the 9th inst. The relatives of Mr. Allan in the city say there is no truth in the story.

Dairy Products in New York State.

THOUSAND ISLANDS, Aug. 15.—In the course of a speech here yesterday Governor Flower stated that the value of the butter and cheese product of New York State alone was $65,000,000.

FACTS FOR THE CURIOUS.

The Discovery of Glass Other Equally Interesting Paragraphs.

There is little or nothing known with certainty in regard to the invention or discovery of glass. Some of the oldest specimens are Egyptian, and the age of certain glass vessels made by that people, which are now kept in the British Museum, is believed to be at least 4194 years, dating back to the year 2300 B.C. Transparent glass was first used about 750 B.C.; the credit of this latter discovery being given to the Phœnicians. The old story of its accidental discovery is familiar. Merchants who were resting their cooking pots on blocks of subcarbonate of soda found glass produced by the union, under heat, of the alkali and the sands of the desert.

Tomb of the Builder of Babel's Tower.

In the year 553 A. D., while workmen were engaged in trenching the salt mines in Prussia, they unearthed a triangular building in which was a column of white marble. At the side of the column was a tomb of freestone and over it a slab of agate, inscribed with these words, which were in Latin: "Here Rests the Ashes of Peleg, Grand Architect of the Tower of Babel. The Almighty had pity on him bec ause he became humble."

Vegetable Ivory.

The vegetable ivory of commerce is an albuminous substance formed from a milky fluid in the fruit of a species of palm indigenous to several parts of Central and South America, but which seems to flourish best in New Grenada and Peru. It corresponds to the meat of the cocoanut, which latter is the fruit of another species of palm. When vegetable ivory nuts are ripe they are covered with a brown skin, are bean-shaped, the interior being perfectly white and very hard.

A Delicate Mechanical Feat.

E. A. Williams, a watchmaker, of Broadway, New York city, recently accomplished a remarkable mechanical feat—that of drilling a hole through the entire length of a common pin, from head to point, the opening being just large enough to admit of the passage of a fine hair. Mr. Williams is the mechanic who two years ago cut a sewing needle in two lengthwise and then drilled holes and fastened it together so nicely that the split could not be seen with the naked eye.

How to Find the Day of the Week.

Divide the number expressing the year by four (4), taking no notice of the remainder. Next find the number of days inclusive from the 1st of January to the date in hand, reckoning February always as having only 28 days. Add together the sum, the quotient and the first numbers and divide this by seven (7). The figure of the remainder gives you the day of the week, one (1) standing for Sunday, two (2) for Monday, and so on.

Lang Against Realism.

Andrew Lang is an implacable enemy of realism. In his speech at the annual banquet of the Royal Academy the other day he said: "Shakespeare did not write about contemporary problems. The Athenians fined for his modernity the author of a play on the fall of Miletus, because he reminded them of their misfortunes. But many of our novelists do nothing but remind us of our misfortunes. Novels are becoming tracts on parish councils, free love and other inflammatory topics. The thrifty plan of giving us sermons produces no permanent literature, produces but temporary tracts for the times."

The Pottery Tree of Para.

One of the curiosities of Brazil is a tree whose wood and bark contain so much silica that they are used by potters. Both wood and bark are burned and the ashes are pulverized and mixed in equal proportions with clay, producing a very superior ware. The tree grows to a height of 100 feet, but does not exceed a foot in diameter. The fresh bark cuts like sandstone and when dried is brittle and hard.—Demorest Magazine.

Rice Cultivation in Madagascar.

The cultivation of rice in Madagascar is highly developed in the interior of the island, but much less along the coast, where the lazy, careless natives find the land more fertile and the temperature more favorable. In some places, as in the neighborhood of Tananarive, immense marshes, subject to annual inundations and the source of malignant fevers, have been transformed into rice fields. In the mountainous parts the rice fields are in terraces on the slopes of the mountains and the hills or in the high valleys. The water coming upon the high ones, passes successively to each level. There are some remarkable works of this kind, and one often sees these tiers of rice fields raised to the very summit of the high mountains, where the water is conducted by means of little canals running at the flank of inedeclivities and bringing the water frequently several kilometers.—Scientific American.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.
